GERMANY IS WITH US.

Has No Intention of Interfering In the Philippines.

To Withdraw All Her Vessels From Archipelago.

Subjects Resident There to Be Protected by United States.

News Which Will Effectually Set Disquieting Rumors at Rest.

Washington, March 1.—At the instance of the German government the president has consented to take under the protection of the United States army and navy commanders at Manila and other Philippine points the lives and property of German subjects resident there. The explanation of this movement is the wish of the German government to release such German war vessels as are now stationed in the Philippines for service on the Chinese coast, where they are believed to be needed.

The action taken is regarded here as a stroke in diplomacy by which will be removed all possibility of a clash between German and American interests in and about Manila, and notice to all the world, and especially to any Americans who entertained any suspicions of sinister designs by Germany, of the wish and purpose of the German empire to cultivate the friendship of the United States. By it Germany at once places the protection of all her large interests in the islands almost completely in our hands.

The announcement of this act by the German government came at the close of a day that had been full of sensational rumors of a clash between the Americans and Germans in Manila, the rumors finally going so far as to assert that Admiral Dewey had fired on and sunk a German vessel at Manila. These rumors spread, despite the fact that the cable connecting Manila with the outer world is in the control of the United States government, so that it might be reasonably expected that the government would receive the first news of any disaster or collision at Manila, and that at the White House, war department and navy department positive denials were made of the receipt of any news tending even in the slightest degree to confirm the rumors. Even some of the more cautious naval officers were infected with fear for the moment.

These lingering fears in naval circles were set at rest finally at the close of the day by the receipt of some dispatches from Manila, but without mention of any untoward incident. Based on this fact Secretary Long, Secretary Alger, Captain Crowninshield and General Corbin all took the responsibility of denying the rumors in the strongest terms.

Finally, after the official close of the departments, announcement was made for the reason of the great confidence the officials had of the falsity of the rumors, the statement being authorized that by one bold stroke Germany had removed all possibility of any clash between hotheads at Manila. It was announced that the German government had ordered its ships away from Manila, probably to the new naval station at Kiao-Chau, on the Chinese coast. The announcement was coupled with the statement that the German vessels were needed there. This may be the case, for the story has come to Washington that the Chinese have been abusing some German citizens almost in the shadow of the Chinese capital at Tien-Tsin. The Germans have come to believe that the only way to meet such cases is by punitive measures.

The German government followed its announcement to the state department of a purpose to order its vessels away from the Philippines with a formal application to the United States government to undertake the protection of all the Germans in the Philippines, not only in person, but also in property.

The president very promptly accepted the trust, and there will be no German ships at either Manila or Iloilo to disturb the relations between the two countries, by forming the basis of sensational and false rumors. It is not known here at this moment just what German ships are actually in Philippine waters.

If Berlin accounts are accurate the Kaiserin Augusta is the only representative of the German navy at Manila.

It is possible that by assuming this responsibility the United States government has accepted liability for any damages that may be sustained by the German residents and interests at Manila, but it is probable that the application must have been granted and responsibility assumed anyhow, as it is believed that Admiral Dewey and General Otis has assured the German commander of the Augusta of their ability to protect every interest in Manila, as a reason why German forces and marines should not be landed. It is the official opinion that whatever the responsibility for damages it will not be too large for the benefit which will accrue. There is no doubt that the insurgents cherished the idea that the Germans were favorable to their cause, and this led to the hope that they might actively intervene.

Then, too, this frank action on the part of the German government is calculated to relieve the tension that was beginning to manifest itself in unguarded utterances in the press of both countries. All of this, it is believed, may be expected to disappear now.

It appears that the move originated in Berlin without suggestion from the German authorities here. In some diplomatic quarters it was thought that Great Britain might not entirely appreciate this move, by which German warships are sent to China, which is the great field of action between the powers of Europe having possessions in the far East.

Court's Lunch Counter.

Washington, March 1.—The feature of the court of inquiry into General Miles' beef charges yesterday was an object lesson in canned meats prepared by the court and served to the non-commissioned men who had previously testified. The court had prepared eight plates of beef—fresh beef, canned beef that had been to Cuba and back, and canned beef fresh from the factory. Four plates were prepared hot in a stew and four cold as they came from the can, the fresh beef being boiled to make it resemble the others. The enlisted men were ordered to sample each and say which was the sort they had had in Cuba. Most of the men declared that none of the meat looked anything like what they had eaten in Cuba. By repeated assurances that there was campaign beef in two of the plates and after being urged that they should at least choose "to the best of their belief," the court succeeded in getting an expression of opinion from each of the men. An army surgeon, Dr. Bowden, kept tally on the guesses of the men and changed the position of the plates after each witness had left the room. The result of this record was not made public, however, and will be reserved till Dr. Bowden testifies, probably some time this week. Lieutenant Ramsay, who had served as a commissary officer at Balquiri and Santiago, characterized the canned roast beef as "an unpalatable and uninviting grade of inferior meat" which he would not willingly feed to any man, sick or well.

In Congress.

Washington, March 1.—The house spent practically the entire time of the seven-hour session yesterday passing the public building bills favorably acted upon by the committee of the whole 10 days ago. The opposition sought to consume time by rollcalls and other filibustering tactics at various times, but their numbers were so slim that in no case could they secure a rollcall. At last their efforts to impede the passage of the bills was abandoned and they were passed with great rapidity. Sixty-one bills in all were passed, carrying $9,352,000. The conference report upon the postoffice appropriation bill, agreeing to the senate amendment making an appropriation for the southern mail subsidy, was adopted. The ... now goes to the president. A general deficiency appropriation was reported and will be considered today. It is the last of the budgets to be acted upon by the house and will probably be passed under suspension of the rules.

A bill passing frenzy was on the senate. The bills passed were principally public building measures, and at times during the day and night the scenes in the senate were remarkable. Senators, usually staid and dignified sticklers for order and decorum in the chamber, clamored for consideration of bills providing for the erection of government buildings in which they were interested.

Late in the afternoon a large batch of such measures, passed by the house, were received by the senate. Instantly confusion reigned. Senators crowded about the clerk's desk and began to sort over the bills from the house, picking out their own as if they were choosing valentines from a bargain counter. In the area in front of the president of the senate a half dozen senators were waving bills and endeavoring to obtain recognition from the chair.

The unusual proceeding called out a protest from Senator Platt of Connecticut, who demanded that the senators take their seats and that order be restored. At times throughout the sessions of the day and night these scenes were repeated, as more building bills were reported from the house. Bills carrying an aggregate of $8,000,000 or $10,000,000 were passed, and many more that had not been passed by both houses were placed as amendments on the sundry civil appropriation bill. Finally, at a late hour last night, an amendment to the sundry civil bill was adopted, appropriating nearly $4,000,000 for the preliminary work on the buildings which had been authorized.

The sundry civil bill was passed at 11:15 last night, having been technically under consideration throughout the day and evening.

BOTH SIDES PLEASED.

Manufacturers and Employers Will Profit by Fall River Advance.

New Bedford Mills Yield to Demand of Unions.

Treasurers Announce Restoration of Old Wages, to Go Into Effect April 3.

Fall River, Mass., March 1.—Contentment is reflected in everything about the city today, and the atmosphere is laden with it. Never was faith in labor unions more pronounced, and corporations are regarded as not quite so heartless as they have been represented. The prevailing wish is for a continued rising market. It is felt, too, that the bond of sympathy between capital and labor has been greatly strengthened.

The manufacturers have explained that they refused the first offer to confer, not from personal feeling, but because the time had not arrived, and the Manufacturers' association feared to talk that early, lest the approaching signs of better times be in the smallest measure dissipated by agitation.

The pleasure of the manufacturers over the outcome of the conference seems only second to that of the operatives, and is probably inspired to a considerable extent by the prospect of a sliding scale. The desire on both sides for its adoption seems genuine. With the healthy sentiment prevailing, it is believed it will be brought about early and satisfactorily. The scale will be limited at both extremes. It is the cordial understanding that if the market rises above a certain margin the manufacturers shall have the full benefit, so that when the market drops below the other extreme the price shall stand in favor of the operatives.

This rise in wages will effect 30,000 operatives in the 81 mills in this city, in spite of the fact that seven corporations are not connected with the Manufacturers' association. They are the Iron works, Globe yarn mill, Sanford Spinning company, Conanicut, Seaconnet, Kerr thread and the Bourne. Every reason exists to believe that they will put back the old wage schedule simultaneously with the 33 corporations which are represented in the Manufacturers' association.

It means then, to the operatives, over $1,000,000 a year additional to Fall River operatives. It is anticipated that the various organizations at their next meetings will give their delegates to the Textile Council full power to act jointly in the immediate formation of a sliding scale.

WITHOUT A CONFERENCE.

Wages In New Bedford Mills Will Be Advanced on April 3.

New Bedford, Mass., March 1.—At the conclusion of the meeting of the mill treasurers yesterday, to consider the request made by the Central Labor union for a conference as to the restoration of the old schedule of wages, the following letter was sent by Andrew G. Pierce to the Central Labor union:

"In reply to yours of the 25th on the question of conference with all the treasurers of the cotton mills of the city on the question of an advance in wages to the prices paid in 1897, I am authorized to inform you that at a meeting held this day of the treasurers of all the cotton mills in this city, both the weaving and spinning mills, it was decided unanimously to post in these mills Saturday, March 4, 1899, notices to conform with the following:

"Voted—That wages be advanced on Monday, April 3, 1899, to the standing schedule existing in the cloth mills previous to Jan. 1, 1898."

The action of the manufacturers, of course, does away with the necessity for a conference between the treasurers and the operatives' representatives. Some of the latter, although pleased with the outcome, think a better feeling between capital and labor would have resulted had the conference been held.

The statement that the wages paid in Fall River are in excess of the wages paid here was denied yesterday by one of the mill treasurers who was questioned on that subject.

The advance in wages means that the operatives will receive about $8000 per week additional.

A Marlboro Surprise.

Marlboro, Mass., March 1.—The shoe workers of Marlboro were surprised yesterday upon receiving the following letter from the J. F. Desmond Shoe company: "The shoe business today is in such a condition that we find it necessary to make a reduction in wages. On and after March 2 we will make a new price list." The J. D. Desmond Shoe company has not been concerned in the present strike, and is at this time running with all union labor and the product goes out under a union label.

Skull Fractured.

Boston, March 1.—Edward Yates, 34 years old, was arraigned in court yesterday, charged with having caused the death of William Cunniff, who died from a fractured skull yesterday morning. Yates was represented by counsel and a continuance was asked. He was held in $6000 for examination next Friday.

Good Afternoon.

The budget reported for the young city of North Adams is $407,838.83, an increase from $349,562.17 last year. A big amount and a big increase for a little city.

The aldermen and common council of Malden cannot agree in the election of an overseer of the poor. In Quincy the City Council has to agree, or rather accept the Mayor's appointments and wadlocks are unknown.

It is at this time, in the incipient ge of a disagreement beween the utters and manufacturers, k[illa]rty should step in, and prom[ote] settlement but save the dise[ase] not Mayor Keith use effe[ctive] this direction. Now is we need the Committee the City, suggested in l address. We move that appoint a committee of om each ward, and that act as chairman.

Now Charles Francis Adam[s] advocacy of the reservation of Nantasket Beach says, that, if this purchase were made, it would hardly be necessary to do anything more with it than put a fence around it, and allow nature to do the rest. It was just this kind of an argument that the gentleman used when a citizen of Quincy, relative to the purchase of playgrounds at a cost of $50,000 and then because taxes were so high he immediately removed from town. Quincy has playgounds, so called, but to quote Mayor Keith in his inaugural address, "It would seem that for this large sum no adequate return has been received." In addition to the purchase price of $50,000 there has been expended $7,720 in interest and $500 annually on care and improvement. It is because there have been no improvements that no adequate return is received. So it would be at Nantasket, and is today at Blue Hills.

By request we give today the total city debt for municipal purposes at the end of each year. The summary shows that the debt is growing smaller and that on January 1 it was about the same as January 1, 1892. The maximum was reached during 1893. It is the abnormal annual payments which make the tax rates large. The debt:

December 31, 1890,	191,200.39
December 31, 1891,	262,386.89
December 31, 1892,	323,542.36
ecember 31, 1895,	264,895.61
mber 31, 1896,	306,335.61
ber 31, 1897,	277,515.61

debt limit Jan. 1, 1899, was 54,038.93, and will be largely increased this year. The margin will also be increased by the payment of $81,950.25 which matures.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The Arkansas House has rejected by a vote of 63 to 13 a bill which proposed to limit the support of schools for negro children to the taxes paid by negroes. It is gratifying to record so emphatic a rejection of this illiberal proposition.—Milford Journal.

☞ There is always danger of the failure of the orange crop, the peach crop and the potato crop; but the crop of didn't-know-it-was-loaded fools appear to hold out in spite of everything. Down in Trenton, N. J., a student in a university was fatally shot on Washington's birthday by another student, who pointed a loaded gun at him, supposing it was empty.—Malden News.

☞ We noticed in a daily contemporary the other day an allusion to a man going to "his place of worry," otherwise business office. This characterization is a clever one, for its truth will admit of no question. Most places of business are places of worry, also. We may add, however, that no business man can afford to take his worry home with him. By all means lock it up in the desk at night!—Boot and Shoe Recorder.

☞ The decision of the Fall River manufacturers to raise the wages of textile operatives on April 3d is very encouraging. It is directly in line with the policy urged by the News, as well as by other newspapers that are inclined to advocate fair and generous treatment for workingmen. The general conditions of business warrant a return to the wage scale in force before the exceptional hard times the country has been passing through except in certain lines that have not yet begun to participate in the renewed good times. — South Framingham News.

☞ In this commonwealth there are about 8,000 miles of roads, outside of city streets, and if they are all to be improved at a net cost of $5,700 per mile the rate paid by the highway commission for the work, a magnificent total of nearly $46,000,000 will be reached. If we are to continue in the business as a state, of building highways at the expense of the taxpayers, it would be more economical in the end to pave them with gold than to proceed at the rate we are now going. In that event the people would indeed be upon a gold basis.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ The reform newspaper, the newspaper with "a single idea," or "a mission in life," never seems to live long or to have even a prosperous short life. The newspaper that wins is the one that presents all kinds of news as soon as it can send it out to the people; and the newspaper that sells the most copies is the one that is the vilest and that prints the most sensational and impossible yarns. The newspaper man with any self-respect doesn't care to be employed on this last named "successful" class of newspaper, but the fact remains that it is the kind of paper that a very large and ordinarily respectable class of people like best.—Brockton Enterprise.

Experience Meeting.

Many valuable, interesting and amusing experiences were related, and goodly number of dollars were gained, by the Alliance at their experience meeting [illegible] sale of homemade candy Tuesday evening. Unexpected poetical talent was shown and much ingenuity exhibited to the amusement of the listeners. The climax was capped by some unique experiences, inimitably told, by Mr. Butler of his attempt to solve the tramp problem, proving one could find work if really ready to do whatever was offered.

Music lovers appreciated the piano selections by Mr. Williams and the songs by Mrs. Hunting. The home made candy was all sold; many enjoyed the coffee and cake served at small tables, and although as hastily planned, the succes of the affair was satisfactory to all.

NO AGREEMENT.

Granite Cutters Suspend Work.

Sticking Out for Thirty Cents Per Hour.

Unwilling to Leave It Out to Arbitration.

Quincy has another stone cutters' strike upon its hands, and as both the manufacturers and cutters are firm in their demands, it is an open question when a settlement or agreement will be reached.

The main point, and what might be said to be the only point, upon which the two committees failed to agree, is the minimum price to be paid per hour. The cutters demanded thirty cents and the last offer of the manufacturers was twenty-five cents.

The manufacturers then proposed that this point be left out to arbitration. To this the cutters' committee refused to agree, but did agree to submit the questions in dispute to the union.

In accordance with this, the two matters were submitted to the cutters at a mass meeting held Tuesday evening at Hancock hall.

At this meeting the union voted to remain firm in its demand for thirty cents per hour, and also voted not to leave the question out to arbitration.

This the committee reported to the manufacturers later in the evening, and as the association refused to concede the men over 25 cents, the conference ended.

The union were still in session at Hancock hall, and when the result was reported to them, a suspension of work was ordered.

This morning the men did not report for work, and the 7 o'clock whistle brought no one [illegible] apprentices and non-union men.

A canvass among the sheds at South Quincy this morning found business practically at a stand still. In some of the sheds there were a few apprentices and non-union men at work, but in many cases the sheds were deserted.

The quarries and polishing mills were running as usual, but as they depend upon the cutters they too will soon be idle, unless an agreement is soon reached.

Little groups of men were found upon the street corners discussing the situation, and when approached said that they intended to remain firm in their demand for thirty cents per hour, and that to leave the matter to arbitration would not bring the result desired.

Philip Halvosa, one of the cutters' committee when seen by a representative of the Ledger this morning, said that both committees realized at the outset that the one point of difference would be the minimum price per hour for a day's work, as there was but few changes in the piece work bill and they could easily have been settled. Barre, Vt., manufacturers have agreed to the thirty cents per hour, and there was no reason why Quincy should not. If a man was not worth thirty cents, the manufacturers had the matter in their own hands, as they could put these men on piece work.

When asked as to why the men would not agree to arbitrate this matter, Mr. Halvosa said that the proposition to arbitrate was too indefinite. It did not provide who should arbitrate or when, and if left to arbitration the question might hang on for a year or more before an agreement was reached. If the matter was to be left to arbitration it should have been agreed upon at first, instead of waiting until the eleventh hour.

He did not favor the State board of arbitration as he considered there was too much politics in that board.

In regard to this, he cited a recent decision of that board at Whitman, when, although the board decided in favor of the manufacturers, the manufacturers refused to accept the decision, as it was manifestly unfair to the workmen.

Mr. Halvosa could give no idea when the trouble would be settled, but said the men had made a stand for thirty cents which they considered no more than fair, and that they should stand out for that.

Mr. Alexander Marnock, president of the Granite Manufacturers' Association, said that it was extremely unfortunate for Quincy that the men would not arbitrate. Formerly in Quincy the larger part of the work was what is known as piece work, but of late years it had been tending toward day work, and today seventy-five per cent. of the work was day work. The manufacturers were willing to pay thirty cents to men that were worth that amount, but objected to paying a man thirty cents who was not worth but twenty-five or less.

Asked as to what the prospect was of an early settlement, Mr. Marnock said he could not tell. It might be settled in a few days and it might be prolonged for an indefinite period.

Many of the men who stood on the street corners this morning were inclined to think that there would be a long drawn out fight. They did not propose to remain idle in Quincy, but should seek employment elsewhere. This the single men, who have no one dependent upon them, can do, but the older men, especially those who are bound by family ties, will remain in Quincy and seek employment at any work they can get to do.

It is extremely unfortunate that Quincy should have any labor trouble this year, for the outlook in the granite business was never better than it is at present. A prolonged strike means little short of a death blow to the granite industry.

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

WOLLASTON'S WANT.

The Improvement of Beale Street Agitated.

For several years past Beale street, Wollaston, has been improved in sections. One year that section from the bridge to Hancock street was repaired, another year the section from the bridge to Safford street was rebuilt, then again in another year that part between what is locally known as "the Pines" and Adams street was placed in good order. There is now left to be resurfaced that section between "the Pines" and Safford street. As Beale street is Wollaston's main thoroughfare, as well as one of the highways including Robertson street, from Boston to West Quincy, and also from the latter place to the Merry Mount Park and the sea, it seems as though it deserved more consideration than it has heretofore received from the Council. It is Wollaston's oldest, longest and most travelled thoroughfare. Besides being West Quincy's natural outlet to the park and sea shore and one of its much travelled highways to Boston, via. Farrington street and the Neponset bridge, it is also Wollaston's driveway to the Metropolitan Park reservation in the Blue Hills, to Milton and adjacent towns and to West Quincy.

Under proper treatment this highway can be made one of the most attractive drives in the city, reaching as it does from the seashore in an almost straight line to the Blue Hills reservation via. West Quincy. This of course includes Beale street, tributatory streets, Beach street or Old Colony avenue and Robertson streets.

There yet remains to be done by the city but 3,000 feet of resurfacing.

After this is done the city will have a continuous boulevard on a small scale from the sea to the hills through an undulating country at a minimum expense. This spring the city will be asked to resurface at least 2,000 out of the 3,000 feet, or from Safford to Pine streets. If the street is kept properly watered, the work will last undefinitely. That which was done several years ago is still in good condition. It has been well taken care of.

No Remonstrants.

The Committee on Metropolitan Affairs of the Legislature has given two days to the petition for the reservation of Nantasket beach Monday and Tuesday, and there was a grand array of advocates with no remonstrants. Among those to speak were Hon. J. O. Burdett who appeared for the petitioners, Osborne Howes, Prof. W. T. Sedgwick, Rev. Fr. Bodfish, Charles Francis Adams, Rev. Frederick B. Allen, John F. Merrill of Quincy, Dr. Henry E. Spaulding, R. H. Stearns, Joseph B. Moors, Henry D. Yerxa, Elmer H. Capen, Rev. John W. Day Susan B. Willard, Frederick B. Cunningham, Dr. John G. Blake.

Ex-Senator John F. Merrill of Quincy, who owns land on Sagamore Hill at Nantasket, was the first witness Tuesday, and according to the Journal report, said that all the people owning property on Sagamore Hill and vicinity were in favor of the taking of the beach by the Metropolitan Park Commission. He said the summer residents would like to have the beach in such a condition that respectable people with their families could go to the beach on Sundays or other days, without being subject to the unpleasant conditions existing today.

Not a Nice Old Lady.

The empress dowager of China is not a nice old lady. According to a Chinese "reformer" now under British protection she is in the habit of misappropriating public money. Large sums were allotted for the building of a navy and the construction of railways, but when some money had been spent for these purposes the empress dowager diverted the balance to the embellishment of her gardens. "Il faut cultiver notre jardin," said Candide summing up the philosophy of happiness. It must be admitted that the empress dowager carries this excellent principle rather too far. Then she is fond of making the young emperor drunk at cards, when his passion for reform becomes inconvenient. If Mrs. Gamp had been born in the Chinese purple or introduced into it by imperial favor, she would have been very like the empress dowager.

DEATHS AT CAMP.

Private Mead Among Those Critically Ill.

Camp Wetherill,
Feb. 25th, 1899.

Today is a fine, beautiful, pleasant day, but not very pleasant for the members of the 5th Massachusetts. At daybreak this morning the Hospital department notified Captain Springer of Company C, that one of his men had passed away at midnight. The unfortunate man was Private John Denning of Newton, Mass. He was admitted to the Regimental Hospital on February 20, his sickness being of short duration.

At 10.30 this morning another victim of pneumonia passed out of our midst. The deceased man Private James B. Penderghast of the same company. Company C, which hails from Newton feels deeply grieved over the unhappy event. Both men bear good records.

The suddenness of these deaths and so near mustering out, causes a sadness to fall over the boys of the 5th Massachusetts.

Sergeant Hunting the senior steward of the 5th Massachusetts Hospital Corps was today admitted to the 2d division hospital, the sergeant having a severe case of pneumonia. Sergeant Hunting has always worked hard for the interests of the sick boys, and was acknowledged as a first-class nurse.

Private Roberts of K company was discharged from the hospital and is now with his company.

These are trying days for the boys, for fully half the regiment is suffering from attacks of colds.

This being Saturday, and the weekly inspection day, the boys can rest until Monday. No drills are held on Saturdays or Sundays.

The regiment together with the band, escorted the two bodies of unfortunate men to the depot. Their remains will leave on the 5.22 P. M. train for Massachusetts.

Major Morrison is now in command of the regiment. Lieut. Colonel Weaver is detailed over to brigade headquarters, while Colonel Whitney is acting in the capacity of general over the brigade. Volunteer.

A dispatch of Feb. 28 to the Globe reports the critical illness of others including Private J. V. Mead of Quincy, a member of Co. K. The remains of Private Roberts who died Tuesday have been forwarded.

TO MANILA TO MARRY.

A St. Louis Girl Who Will Travel 10,000 Miles to Her Intended Husband.

Miss Emeline C. Smith, accompanied by her mother, has gone to Manila to be married to Lieutenant Pegram Whitworth of the Eighteenth infantry.

The distance from St. Louis to Manila is 10,235 miles. The journey will consume 43 days.

Miss Smith is the daughter of Lieutenant Colonel H. C. Smith, resident quartermaster of St. Louis. She has been engaged to Lieutenant Whitworth for over a year, and they were to have been married in October, 1898, but Lieutenant Whitworth's regiment was one of the first to be ordered to Manila. He could not obtain leave of absence, but was rushed through the United States straight to Manila. If he could have received leave, they would have been married before he went.

After the war, he again attempted to secure leave to come to St. Louis to be married, but could not secure it. Then he sought to be ordered to San Francisco on quartermaster's duties there or as quartermaster of one of the transports. But again he failed.

Then it occurred to him to ask Miss Smith to come to Manila. He spoke of it in several letters, and after many consultations with her parents Miss Smith decided to go to Manila. She could not go alone, so her mother said she would accompany her.

At Hongkong Mrs. Smith, Miss Smith and their escort, Colonel McGinnis, will be met by Lieutenant Whitworth, who will accompany them on the remainder of their journey.

Lieutenant Colonel Smith, the prospective bride's father, has held his present rank but a short time. His salary is not princely, and the expenses of this wedding would stagger many a merchant whose income is larger. Counting the cost of Miss Smith's journey to Manila with her mother, her mother's return to St. Louis and the bride's trousseau, the bill will not fall short of $1,500.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

RAINSFORD'S WARNING.

Significant Utterances of a Celebrated New York Clergyman.

Before the Consumers' league in Brooklyn the Rev. Dr. William G. Rainsford, rector of St. George's Protestant Episcopal church, in New York, startled his hearers by solemnly declaring that social and economic conditions at present existing in the United States were such as to invite divine vengeance upon the nation.

Dr. Rainsford, who had been specially invited to address the meeting, had just returned from a hunting trip in the south and went before the league without even having had time to change his boots. Church, state and home alike came in for a share of his criticism during the hour in which he spoke, and he predicted for the near future a tremendous political upheaval in this country, which, while it would cause great suffering for a time, would make the world a happier place to live in after it had come to adapt itself to the new conditions.

The church, he said, was "maundering along" without any regard for the changes that are impending, and the church was only useful to the poor in so far as she met their needs. He declared then that the finger of God was pointing now at the United States, because there were not more marriages, more homes and larger families, and he called upon the members of the league to continue their work of getting the little girls out of shops and factories and imbuing them with the home idea.

"There are none of us so highly cultured," said Dr. Rainsford, "that we do not recognize the family as the basis of national life, and if we want to preserve the family idea we must take cognizance of the special forces that are working against it. Hotel life is the direct enemy of family life, and the curse of God will rest upon this nation, as it already does on France, if we foster it."

Then the clergyman told of his own experiences with the young men and women of New York and said that the living wage was such that they could not marry before they were 30 or 35 years old, and he urged a different state of affairs, which would not support hotels, but would furnish a living wage to all, enabling them to be clean, pure and moral. He thought things would work themselves out when the people had satisfied themselves with the allurements of city life and when the educational idea had been adapted to their needs and environment. Foolish people in the north, he said, had gone south to give the negro a higher education and had ruined him instead.

"If the women were better educated," he declared, "we would have better homes. As it is, your girls are the vilest cooks on earth and don't know how to make a pretty dress. The educational idea of America is woefully wrong."—New York Herald.

BOARD IN PORTO RICO.

Demand In Our New Possession For American Cookery.

Consul Hanna writes from San Juan, Porto Rico, that since the island was turned over to the United States "American boarding houses" have been popping into view in all directions. Such a thing as a family or private boarding house was unknown under the Spanish regime, but they are now appearing and advertise that they employ American cooks and serve their meals in American style. The proprietors evidently expect an influx of winter tourists from the States.

The island, however, is hardly prepared to make visitors comfortable until its hotel accommodations are increased. The present hotels are small, few in number, conducted on the Spanish plan, and the accommodations are far from first class. Only a few rooms in a hotel front upon a street, the most of them having no inside windows, but being lighted from an inside court. The average rate for room and board is $2 a day, and Spanish cooking is the rule in nearly all hotels. With its beautiful scenery and fine winter climate our new possession will become a popular winter resort when modern hotels, good livery stables and excellent steamship connections with the United States are supplied.

The Spindles of New England.

Of the 19,410,554 cotton spindles in the country, Massachusetts has 7,907,388. Rhode Island follows with 2,132,350, while New England, as a whole, has 13,431,951. Of cotton looms the state has 182,183; wool cards, 1,898 sets; worsted combs, 412; woolen looms, 20,518, and silk looms, 843. It will be seen that Massachusetts has over 40 per cent of the entire cotton spindleage of the country. It has 22 per cent of all the wool cards, and shows an increase of 61 sets within two years. Of the 1,373 worsted combs in the country, Massachusetts has 412, or about 33 per cent, while New England has nearly 60 per cent of the total. The number of silk looms in Massachusetts has increased about 200 within the last two years, but the increase in the number of looms which are working on cotton and silk or wool and silk must be much larger.—Boston Transcript.

Reunited by Newspaper Notice.

The Goertz family of Brooklyn have been made happy by the return of the father, who deserted them three years ago, and it came about through little Freddie Goertz's message to him printed in a New York paper.

A few days ago Goertz walked into the house and was gladly welcomed and assured of forgiveness. At the time of his disappearance he was under bond to answer a charge of abandonment. Since then he has been engaged as a sailor, making Norfolk his headquarters while ashore. It was in Norfolk on Feb. 3 that he read his young son's pathetic appeal in the paper, and he at once began to make arrangements to return home.

HEART DISEASE.

SOME FACTS REGARDING THE RAPID INCREASE OF HEART TOUBLES.

Do Not Be Alarmed, But Look for the Cause.

Heart troubles at least among the Americans, are certainly increasing and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real organic disease is incurable; but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and Pneumogastric.

In another way, also the heart is effected by the form of poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half deigsted food; There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with the action; hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart. The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which may be found at most drug stores, and which contain valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant, convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Full sized package of these tablets sold by druggists at 50 cents. Little book on stomach troubles mailed free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich. 3t 27-1-3.

Fishermen Suffer.

Provincetown, Mass., March 1.—The ice blockade in the harbor still continues, and the revenue cutter Onondaga has been sent for to break out a channel. In 1875 this harbor was frozen over, but that was not a freeze to be compared with the present state of affairs. The flounder dredgers and the cod fishermen, who number 200, are unable to work, and their loss financially is considerable. There are only about a dozen large craft in the harbor and all these will escape serious damage.

Police Shaken Up.

Everett, Mass., March 1.—Mayor Hatch on Monday night reappointed Chief of Police Edward F. Pendergast, and last night the chief made the most sweeping change in the history of the police department, by reducing to the ranks Sergeant John Brown, a member of the police force for 15 years. Patrolman Bailey is promoted to the position of captain, and Patrolman Monahan to the position of sergeant.

Riley's Smallpox Cases.

Livermore Falls, Me., March 1.—Another case of smallpox has come to the attention of the physicians at Riley's, a small settlement in Franklin county, it being the fifth case within the quarantined district. Many mill workmen disappeared during the night to avoid the strict quarantine orders, and public schools have been closed.

Payrolls Doctored.

Albany, March 1.—Colonel Partridge, superintendent of public works, has removed C. A. Snyder of Herkimer from the office of superintendent of repairs for section 4 of the Erie canal. MRS. MOLINEUX' PAST.

Her Sudden Marriage After Barnet's Death a Subject of Inquiry.

Murder Indictment Will Be Asked Against Husband.

Counsel Asks For Delay Because of Haste Shown by the Prosecution.

New York, March 1.—Mrs. Blanche Molineux is the center of an investigation in progress today. Her relations with Barnet, her antecedents and character are being scrutinized with all closeness. It is the belief of the district attorney's office that Blanche Chesebrough was in love with Barnet, and that Molineux was distinctly her second choice.

Nineteen days after Barnet's death, Blanche Chesebrough and Roland Burnham Molineux were suddenly married.

The investigation now under way is to find out whether the secret of Barnet's murder was used to bring about the marriage.

District Attorney Gardiner did not hesitate to attack Mrs. Molineux's character, picturing her as a woman beneath Molineux on the social scale. That she will be brought further into the case there is little doubt.

The case of Roland B. Molineux will be presented to the grand jury today and an indictment against him for the murder of Mrs. Catherine J. Adams asked for. This step is the result of a series of consultations held yesterday by the prosecution.

George G. Battle, who, with Bartow S. Weeks, represents the prisoner, spent an hour and a half yesterday with Recorder Goff with a view to preventing the presentation of his client's case to the present grand jury. The life of this body is about to expire, and it was thought the case would be left for its successor, which assembles next Monday. Recorder Goff, however, refused to interfere on the ground that it was not within his province to do so.

JOHN W. GOFF.

In his application to Recorder Goff, Mr. Battle declared that Molineux was not allowed to be represented by counsel at the inquest and was not permitted to cross-examine witnesses nor testify in his own behalf, but on the contrary that by far the greater portion of the testimony taken was wholly illegal and improper and consisted of most flagrant hearsay testimony, the opinions, impressions and theories of witnesses concerning the cause of the death of Mrs. Adams.

In conclusion the application states: "That the Hon. Asa Bird Gardiner, in addressing the jury upon the conclusion of the said so-called inquest, stated in open court that the inquest had been purposely conducted in such a manner as to lead the said Molineux to believe he was not suspected and thereby to entrap and deceive him into giving certain evidence to the prosecution to be afterwards used against him. As a matter of fact, the said Molineux was not, in any sense, entrapped or deceived by the acts of the prosecution against him, but furnished such evidence freely and voluntarily in the knowledge of his own innocence. The statements of the district attorney, however, show the animus of the prosecution and the actions to which the prosecution is willing to resort in this case."

A Spanish Yarn.

Madrid, March 1.—The Reforma asserts it has received letters from reliable sources at Manila saying that 30 cannon, 30,000 rifles and several million cartridges from Japan have been landed at Sual, on the gulf of Lingayen, on the west coast of the island of Luzon and about 101 miles from Manila, and have been taken thence to Malolos, the seat of the rebel government. The Reforma adds: Japan evidently intends to act towards the Americans in the Philippines as the Americans acted toward the Spaniards in Cuba.

Soldiers Are Broke.

Havana, March 1.—Several American soldiers who have been discharged without honor have drifted into this city. Under the law they can only be returned on transports, but there are no transports here at present, and these men are without funds, have no food and have no place to sleep. The military authorities are taking measures to obtain immediate transportation for them on commercial steamers.

Four Families Burned Out.

Saco, Me., March 1.—A four-tenement house, owned by Narcise Fontaine, and occupied by four French-Canadian families, was destroyed by fire early this morning. The loss on the building and contents is estimated at $6500, partially covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Men-O'-Warsmen Drowned.

London, March 1.—A dispatch from Vathi, capital of the island of Samos, off the west coast of Asia Minor, says that a boat belonging to the British torpedo boat destroyer Bruiser has foundered in a squall off Samos, and that eight of her crew were drowned.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 1.—There was a lively hearing yesterday before the legislative committee on public health when the remonstrants to the osteopathists' bill were heard. So much time was taken up in deciding a knotty question as to whether each side should cross-examine the other that little evidence was heard. Before the state house committee the state house construction commissioners gave some interesting information regarding the paintings and sculptured ornaments that are contemplated for the beautifying of the state house.

Other hearings of importance were those on the proposed Nantasket beach reservation, on the carrying of freight on street railways, and the withdrawal of the state dairy bureau from the jurisdiction of the state board of agriculture.

When the house came in there was a heated debate on the bill to provide for the registration of horseshoers.

Among the bills advanced to a third reading in the senate was the bill for licensing gas fitters and supervising gas fitting in Brookline, and the bill providing for a viva voce vote in election of city officials by city councils. After a long discussion the body refused to substitute a bill for an adverse report on the petition for the repeal of the law limiting the number of liquor licenses. The house received a favorable report on the bill to increase the salary of the assistant engineer at the state house to $1200, and accepted an adverse report on the bill increasing the number of days within which recounts may be asked of ballots at elections.

Heavy Damage at Holyoke.

Holyoke, Mass., March 1.—Fire broke out in the large clothing store of Besse, Mills & Co., in the Winsor Hotel block, at 9:15 o'clock last night, totally destroying the hotel, and burned out several big stores. The flames spread so rapidly and fiercely that the Holyoke department was unable to cope with the conflagration. Help was asked from Springfield at 11 o'clock, and from that place two steamers were sent. The stores that are totally destroyed are Besse, Mills & Co., clothiers; C. T. Fay, shoes, and McAuslan & Wakelin, dry goods. Many other stores are also gutted. The loss will exceed $250,000, and may reach $500,000.

A Worthy Object.

Atlanta, March 1.—A new association, to be known as the Spanish-American War Veterans' association, is about to be formed, and a call has been issued for a convention to be held in Washington Sept. 4, 5 and 6. The proposed association will have for its objects the wiping out of sectionalism, the promotion of closer fraternal relations, the fostering of a more unselfish patriotism and the corporate effort to secure the enactment of legislation in state and nation in the interests of soldiers, the army and navy generally. Major General Joe Wheeler is chairman of the executive committee.

Terrible Experience.

Lynn, Mass., March 1.—Mrs. L. Coram was engaged in filling a gasoline stove yesterday, and it became ignited and set fire to her clothing. She hurried up stairs into another tenement, where Mrs. Westwood attempted to extinguish the flames by throwing a blanket over Mrs. Coram. The latter broke away from Mrs. Westwood and went up another flight of stairs to the tenement of Mrs. Burrill, who extinguished the fire with a rug. Mrs. Coram's clothing was completely destroyed, and she was terribly, probably fatally, burned about the body.

Crew Probably Perished.

Gloucester, Mass., March 1.—The Hamburg-American line steamer Moravia is a helpless wreck on a sand bar about 12 miles from the northeast light of Sable island. She is already broken in two, and the seas are beating heavily against her. Her crew of 46 men have probably perished. This report is brought by Captain William Corkum of the fishing schooner Mondego, which arrived at this port yesterday morning, after an extremely rough and dangerous fishing trip. The Moravia had no passengers.

Pneumonia Feared.

Rome, March 1.—The pope had a fatiguing day Monday, receiving congratulations on the approaching anniversary of his coronation, and complained of the cold, which has been intense for two days. Yesterday the pontiff complained of a pain in his side. Dr. Lapponi found some fever, and ordered the patient to remain in bed and take a complete rest. It is feared that the pope has pneumonia and will not recover.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The will of Edward H. R. Lyman, who died in Brooklyn, bequeathes real and personal property worth $1,500,000. The bequests for religious and benevolen purposes aggregate about $50,000, and include the following: Unitarian society of Northampton, Mass., $5000; home for respectable aged females, Northampton, Mass., $2500.

President George E. Smith of the Massachusetts senate presided at the annual banquet of the Glendon club, the leading social organization of Everett, Mass. The principal speakers were General W. W. Blackmar of Boston and Major Charles K. Darling of the Sixth Massachusetts volunteers.

Rev. Herbert F. Wood of West Haven has been extended a call to the pastorate of Trinity church, Saco, Me. It is believed Mr. Wood will accept the call.

ALLEGED SWINDLERS

Said to Have Defrauded Newspapers to the Extent of $200,000.

New York, March 1.—The grand jury yesterday indicted Samuel Phillips and George Hastings of the advertising firm of George Hastings & Co. on the charge of obtaining advertising contracts under false pretenses. The amount involved is said to be more than $200,000. Phillips was arrested, but Hastings is in Europe. Ex-Assistant District Attorney Davis last night said Hastings made a contract with the French firm which manufactures "Vin Mariani," a proprietary medicine, to handle their American contracts for advertising. He represented to the newspaper proprietors that he had to wait from three to six months for his money from the French house, and almost every paper in the United States and Canada gave him credit for from three to six months. The first lot of contracts were paid for promptly as they fell due, and a second lot were undertaken readily by the papers. On Dec. 17 last Hastings sailed for Europe. The contracts began to fall due. The French firm informed creditors that it had paid Hastings in full for all the advertising. Mr. Davis said that Hastings and Phillips also formed a diamond company and advertised a stone which was warranted to equal Africa diamonds. They advertised this concern extensively, but failed to pay the papers for printing the advertisements.

Williams at the Head.

Boston, March 1.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Democratic state committee, George F. Williams of Dedham was made the Massachusetts representative on the national committee, in place of John W. Corcoran of Clinton, who was removed at the state convention at Worcester last fall. The state committee at that time was empowered to fill the vacancy, and the election of Mr. Williams yesterday was a unanimous one. The committee organized with A. C. Drinkwater of Braintree as chairman and William S. McNary as secretary, and after the matter of the election of a national committee man had been disposed of the committee took up the question of the organization of city and town committees. A special committee was appointed to have charge of this matter, and will report at some future meeting.

Death of Sarah Jewett.

Boston, March 1.—The death of Sarah Jewett, at one time a prominent figure on the American stage, is announced. Miss Jewett had been critically ill for the past two weeks at Cambridge. Miss Jewett was born in Buffalo. She made her debut on Sept. 3, 1872, at the Fifth Avenue theater, New York. Her first role was Mabel Wyckoff in Bronson Howard's play, "Diamonds." Later she appeared in leading roles with Augustin Daly's and A. M. Palmer's companies, leaving the latter to accept an engagement as leading lady by a syndicate of managers. The venture was a failure and Miss Jewett was left in the midst of a season without an engagement. Misfortune followed her henceforth. A storage warehouse fire destroyed her valuable wardrobe, and her mind gave way. Since then she has lived a life entirely apart from the public.

Crooked Pugilism.

New York, March 1.—The contest between Tommy West of this city and Jack Bonner of Summit, Pa., which took place at the Lenox Athletic club last night, was brought to a sudden termination at the beginning of the eighth round. Bonner's seconds had rubbed "oil of mustard" over the Summit man's gloves, and the fumes of it almost blinded West and Referee White. The latter ordered the men to their corners and declared West the winner. Just what prompted the handlers to use the stuff was not made clear, but it was evidently done to place West at a disadvantage, as up to the close of the preceding round the New Yorker had more than held his own. No arrests were made.

Still Alive.

New York, March 1.—This morning Dr. Dunham, in attendance on Rudyard Kipling, issued a special statement in regard to Mr. Kipling's condition, in which he said that he was not discouraged. "Mr. Kipling," he said, "is better in one sense, and worse in another. We hope to be able to issue a more favorable bulletin tomorrow morning." On being asked what he meant by this, Dr. Dunham said that he could not explain, but physicians would understand. It is taken to mean that Mr. Kipling has not yet passed through the crisis of the disease, but that probably the crisis will be reached before the next bulletin is issued.

Young James Acquitted.

Kansas City, March 1.—The jury in the Jesse James train robbery case has returned a verdict of acquittal.

HE FORESAW DEFEAT.

Premier Sagasta Steps Down After Eighteen Months' Reign.

Ratification of Treaty Proved a Stumbling Block.

Not Believed, However, That Resignation Will Affect Final Result.

Madrid, March 2.—The cabinet crisis, caused by the resignation of Premier Sagasta and his cabinet, is expected to last for several days, as it will be necessary for the queen regent to consult with the presidents of the chambers and other political leaders. In the meanwhile, the chambers will adjourn until a new ministry is formed.

PREMIER SAGASTA.

The resignation of Sagasta, after having acted as premier for a year and a half, was due to the narrow margin of two votes, by which he carried his measure for the cession of the Philippines on Tuesday, but this does not mean the failure of the treaty, as the cortes has already authorized the government to cede territory to the United States under the clause of the protocol. Thus the treaty can be ratified by royal decree.

The Liberal cabinet under Senor Sagasta was formed shortly after the assassination of Senor Canovas del Castillo, who was killed on Aug. 8, 1897, by an Italian anarchist named Golli. General Azcarraga, the then minister of war, was first appointed president of the council, and for a time the cabinet remained unchanged. But on Sept. 29 it resigned, and Senor Sagasta assumed office on Oct. 4, confronted by the troubles in Cuba and in the Philippine islands.

One of the first steps taken by Senor Sagasta was to recall General Weyler, the then captain general of Cuba, who was succeeded by General Blanco. But the situation did not improve, and Spain was courteously, but firmly, warned that the United States could not much longer maintain neutrality in the face of the terrible situation of affairs in Cuba, and the damage which American interests were suffering therefrom.

Spain, however, refused to regard the situation from the American point of view, and diplomatic relations with the United States were broken off on April 21 last. Even then there were rumors of trouble in the Spanish cabinet, and after the victory of the United States fleet under Commodore Dewey on May 1, the situation became more and more strained. The minister of marine, Admiral Bermejo; the minister of war, General Correa, and especially the minister for the colonies, were repeatedly attacked in parliament and out of it, and the cabinet's resignation was tendered May 16, 1898.

The difficulty was to find men who were wiling to assume office under the conditions which then prevailed in Spain. An empty treasury, internal disorders and the loss of the Philippine islands, Cuba and Porto Rico were not the only problems confronting the Spanish ministers, and it was not astonishing, under the circumstances, that a military dictatorship under, possibly, Marshal de Campos, was discussed.

Instead of a dictatorship or a new ministry, however, Senor Sagasta reconstructed his own cabinet. Four members of the old ministry retired. The reconstructed cabinet was announced

As originally announced, the ministry contained the name of Senor Castillo as minister of foreign affairs, but he declined the place, and a few days afterwards the Duke of Almodovar de Rio accepted it.

On July 11 Sagasta again placed his resignation in the hands of the queen regent, but it was not accepted. In October, General Gamazo, minister of public instruction, left the cabinet and formed a new division of the Liberal party.

Bribery Talk.

Concord, N. H., March 2.—Mr. Little of Manchester, a member of the house of representatives, created a sensation yesterday by announcing that he had been offered $100 to vote for the bill giving a salary to the aldermen of the city of Manchester. After a heated debate the bill was indefinitely postponed.

Evansville, Ind., March 2.—At Poseyville yesterday Steve Glowser shot and killed his wife and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Elizabeth Kenchloe, and then set fire to the house, lay down upon a bed and shot and killed himself.

CLEARING THE DECKS.

Both Branches of Congress Disposing of All Business on Hand.

Washington, March 2.—The senate is rapidly clearing its decks for final adjournment. The naval appropriation bill, which consumed the time of the senate for several days, was passed yesterday afternoon after less than five hours of debate.

In that time, however, it was amended radically in one respect. The price to be paid by the government for armor plate was fixed in the bill at $300 a ton, a reduction of the amount fixed by the house of $145 a ton. In addition, the secretary of the navy was authorized, in the event of the refusal of the armor plate companies to supply armor at $300 a ton, to proceed to construct an armor factory to cost $1,500,000, and placing in the secretary's control $2,000,000 with which to operate the government plant. The fight for these amendments was led by Mr. Tillman, who made a characteristically sensational speech in support of the propositions.

The senate adopted resolutions of regret at the death of Lord Herschell, and concluded the day's session by pronouncing eulogies upon the late Representative Dingley of Maine.

The last lingering possibility of an extra session of congress disappeared yesterday when the house passed the senate army reorganization bill. Very considerable and vigorous opposition to the acceptance of the senate bill was voiced on both sides of the hall, and for a time it appeared possible that the bill would not secure the necessary two-thirds to pass it under suspension of the rules.

But the Republican leaders—Messrs. Henderson, Grosvenor and Cannon—came to its support on the Republican side, and Mr. Bailey, the Democratic leader, threw the weight of his influence in favor of it on the Democratic side, arguing that it provided for only a temporary increase of the army, which would be made permanent if congress were convened in extra session.

Another big element in the vote was Mr. Hull's recital of a statement made by the president to him that he would not construe section 12 as authority to conscript the minority in volunteer organizations which should elect to remain in the service. The bill passed, 203 to 32. It now goes to the president.

The desks were also cleared of many other important matters. The general deficiency appropriation bill, carrying $21,089,000, was passed under suspension of the rules, without a word of criticism. This is the last of the appropriation bills. The senate amendment to the river and harbor bill was non-concurred in, and it was sent to conference, the friends of the Nicaraguan canal bill deciding to postpone their fight until the conferees report.

The conference reports on the omnibus claims bills, the naval personnel and many other less important measures were agreed to.

Mayor Elgin, of Weymouth, was given a hearing on the petition of Mrs. Mary Ellen Nash and others, who were victims of an accident in the [illegible] and all that would be lacking would be a recognition by the Spanish government of the legality of that status. That lack would not be of serious moment, judging from the fact that the Spanish-American republics managed to get along without trouble for a quarter of a century after the revolutionists therein had driven the last of the Spanish troops out of the country without the formal admission by Spain that they had achieved their independence.

The senate bill making Dewey a full admiral was passed. The bill now goes to the president for his signature.

In the Nick of Time.

New Bedford, Mass., March 2.—The arrival yesterday of Captain Wood and a crew of six of the schooner Mary Freeland brought to light the wreck of that ship during the recent gales. The men were picked up by the schooner Annie E. Rickerson at a moment when the derelict was about to sink. The Freeland hailed from Keyport, N. J., and was bound to Mobile with a cargo of cement.

Miners' Wages Raised.

Birmingham, Ala., March 2.—The long looked for advanced wages of the coal miners of the Birmingham district has been announced, and will go into effect at once. The advance will be 2½ cents for every ton of coal mined, and it is thought that within the next month or two it will be made effective for every coal miner in the district.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—6:17; sets, 5:37.
Moon rises—Morn.

Relation of the Spanish Crisis to the Peace Treaty.

May Embarrass Somewhat, but Spain Would Be the Ultimate Sufferer.

Washington, March 2.—To carry out the president's promise relative to the protection of German residents and property in the Philippines, a cable dispatch has been sent to Admiral Dewey and one to General Otis instructing them on that point. The published statement that the German proposition included the extension of the protection of the United States over German interests in the Samoan group, it is said at the state department, is erroneous. The German ambassador's proposition touched only the Philippines. The treaty of Berlin imposes upon the three treaty powers which undertook the government of Samoa the duty of maintaining one or more warships there at intervals, and the protocols to the treaty show that no matter what may be the nationality of the vessel that happens to be on the station, in the event of trouble she is to protect the interests of all three treaty powers without discrimination.

The resignation of the Sagasta cabinet, state department officials say, does not necessarily, in their opinion, involve the failure of the peace treaty. They believe that the succeeding cabinet will find the means to forward the treaty to the point of ratification, and that the opposition to the government will express itself as content with the manifestations of disapproval manifested in forcing the cabinet to resign. The reason for this belief is that the Spanish government has much more to lose by the failure of the treaty of Paris than has the United States.

Leaving aside the desire of our people to be regular and correct in all attitudes, it is a question whether our government would not actually profit by the loss of the treaty, provided this loss could be charged to the action of the Spanish government, as would be the case if the cortes refused to ratify it. The United States, it can be stated on the highest authority, would refuse to surrender the Philippines, and on the whole would be relieved from the treaty obligations to pay the Spanish government $20,000,000 on account of the cession of the islands. Cuba would retain her present status, and all that would be lacking would be

Should the Spanish government undertake, however, to reopen the negotiations in the effort to secure another treaty more favorable in terms, and especially as to the cession of the Philippines, than the pending treaty, it will be doomed to disappointment, for it is said here that if the existing terms are withdrawn those to follow will be even harder for Spain to bear.

Crew May Be Safe.

Halifax, March 2.—The Dominion government steamer Aberdeen sailed yesterday afternoon for Sable Island to investigate the wreck of the steamer Moravia. It is possible some of the crew of the steamer got ashore safely, as the position of the Moravia on the bar was not far from the wrecked ship Crofton Hall, the crew of which all got safely away two years ago. The Aberdeen is expected back by Friday if the weather is favorable for making a landing.

When found, the body lay on its back with one hand in the coat pocket and appeared to be in the position it had fallen, and the supposition is, that he fell, and the jar of the fall affected the heart. There were no marks or bruises of any kind upon the body.

Mr. Mead who was about 70years of age, had been having trouble with his heart of late.

IN A WRONG LIGHT

Pres. Marnock Grants An Interview.

Says Mr. Halvosa Misrepresented Situation.

Cutters Effect Organization to Prosecute Strike.

The situation in the granite industry this morning remains practically the same as Wednesday, when the strike was inaugurated. The manufacturers have held no meeting as yet, and it is not known when they will.

Alexander Marnock president of the Quincy Manufacturers' Association was seen by a representative of the Ledger this morning and in response to the query, readily granted an interview. Mr. Marnock said that he particularly desired to answer the interview with Mr. Halvosa, as published in Wednesday's Ledger. Some of the statements made by that gentleman, Mr. Marnock considered as misleading, as they placed the manufacturers in a wrong position before the public.

Mr. Halvosa stated first that "Barre, Vt., manufacturers have agreed to thirty cents per hour." By that the inference is drawn that Barre, Vt., had agreed that the minimum price shall be thirty cents. That is wrong, for Barre, Vt., has no minimum. What Barre did agree was that the pay of the average skilled workman shall be thirty cents per hour. This is just what the Quincy manufacturers purpose. In Barre the manufacturers can employ men as low as twenty-five cents a day if he can not earn more than that at his average, as per bill of prices.

Quincy offered even better than Barre, for we were willing to handicap ourselves for the sake of a settlement, by making a minimum price of twenty-five cents per hour.

Failing to have that proposition adopted, one of the manufacturers moved the adoption of the Barre clause, which in effect was that the pay be thirty cents per hour for an average skilled workman, and that the pay of workmen not able to earn thirty cents should be based upon his earnings as per the bill of prices.

After discussing the matter and finding that neither committee was much in favor of it, the Cutters' committee expressed themselves as very strongly opposed to it, and it was allowed to drop. The cutters then demanded a minimum price of thirty cents, which we could not agree to.

The drift of the talk among business men outside of the granite trade has been, why can not the manufacturers agree to a minimum price of thirty cents and then if they find that a man can not earn that put him upon piece work. In answer to this, Mr. Marnock said, the bills of prices since 1890 have if anything been a gradual increase in price. The bill which has just expired was adopted in 1896 for three years. During this time there has been an depression in the granite business, yet there has been no cut in the bill of prices. We found that we were unable to go to the market and compete with other granite centres which drove us to see if we could not effect a saving in production. Prior to this practically all the work in Quincy was done by what is known as "piece work." We found that the men were better at some branches of the work than others and that by making a division of the work we could reduce the price of producing a monument and at the same time still keep the bill of prices.

As an illustration to the point take the manufacture of shoes, one man does the lasting, another the vamping, another the stitching and so on, so that the manufacturer by this method was enabled to put a shoe upon the market for a much cheaper price than if one man did all parts of the work.

Day work was therefore adopted, and in place of one man taking a stone and finishing it, each did the part to which they were best adapted. This enabled the men to keep at work during the depression in business and permitted us to go into the market and compete with other centres.

We found under day work that there were other items upon which we could save and still live up to the existing bill of prices. For instance under the piece system we found that the piece bill was made to cover the grinding. That is a workman would consume an hour a day in grinding his tools. Under the day system we found that a boy at seventy-five cents per day could do as much grinding as a man who was receiving $3 per day. This was a saving to the manufacturer yet at the same time a skilled workman was earning just as much as under the piece system.

For these reasons we object to returning to the piece system, as it means an increased cost of finished product and gives Quincy a disadvantage with other competing granite centres.

Continuing, Mr. Marnock said, in the published interview with Mr. Halvosa, he gives as his reason for not agreeing to arbitrate that "the proposition was too indefinite. It did not provide who should arbitrate or when, and if left to arbitration the question might hang on for a year or more before an agreement was reached. If the matter was to be left to arbitration it should have been agreed upon at first, etc." What is the use of providing a board of arbitration before we know whether we shall need it. We did not provide for that because we believed a settlement could be reached. At a meeting on Feb. 24, it began to look as though we could not agree, and it was suggested to the workmen that it would be well to provide against trouble.

One of the manufacturers proposed as a resolution, "That in case of failure to agree, all matters left unsettled should be left to arbitration, pending which there should be no strike, lockout or suspension of business."

The Union committee objected to this, and Mr. Halvosa was strongly opposed, saying that it was too early to bring up the subject of arbitration, as there was still three or four days left, holding the same position that the Manufacturers' committee did that it was time enough to arbitrate when we saw we could not settle.

Owing to the time for adjournment being reached, no vote was taken on the resolution. The matter was, however, taken up the first thing at the next meeting, which was Monday night, the 27th. The Union committee again raised the objection that there was time enough, and upon vote they voted against it.

No such objection as indefiniteism was raised at the meeting and judging from Mr. Halvosa's remarks, I am inclined to think that an arbitration clause, to have been acceptable would have had to name the arbitrators and lead their decision before adoption.

THE CUTTERS.

The Cutters' union held a preliminary meeting at Doble's hall Wednesday morning, and Wednesday afternoon a mass meeting at Hancock hall, at which the general situation was discussed. Several committees to carry on the strike were appointed and it was decided to open headquarters at Doble's hall.

At this meeting a proposition was received from some of the manufacturers, not members of the Association, which in effect was that they were willing to sign an agreement with the men at 30 cents per hour for a minimum price.

A committee was appointed to take the proposition under consideration.

This morning it was given out at headquarters that the committee had not completed its work as yet, and that it would probably be late today before arrangements were completed with these firms.

It was stated in the morning papers that the firms who wished to sign were members of the Association, but a member of the Union who was at Wednesday's meeting, informed the Ledger that the firms were not members of the Manufacturers' Association.

Everything is very quiet among the stone sheds, and the men are gathered about the street corners discussing the situation.

The business men of Quincy feel rather blue over the condition of affairs in the granite industry, and one well known business man informed the Ledger that he had just countermanded an order for over $600 of goods which he had given a week ago. It is impossible to estimate the amount of damage to Quincy a prolonged strike will do, and it is the earnest hope of all business men that a settlement will be reached soon.

James Duncan of Baltimore, Secretary of the National Union, has been notified of the strike in Quincy, and he is expected to reach this city some time today.

STRIKE AT BARRE.

Cutters Are at Work But Sharpeners Are Out.

A dispatch of Wednesday from Montpelier says:

All the tool sharpeners at the granite quarries at Barre and in this city struck today, owing to the failure of the manufacturers to come to an agreement on the wage question. A deadlock exists among the quarry owners regarding the acceptance of their committee's report on the new bill of prices, which was to have gone into effect this morning. The manufacturers hold a meeting at Barre this afternoon to discuss the situation. It is thought that the matter will be satisfactorily adjusted. The cutters are still at work.

Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering, several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 292 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." SHOCK AT WOLLASTON

Sudden Death of Rev. James E. Bagley.

Pastor of the Unitarian Church Five Years.

The Leading Spirit in the Unity Club.

The Rev. James E. Bagley, the pastor of the Wollaston Unitarian society died at eight o'clock, Wednesday evening of heart failure. The announcement of his death came as a great shock to the community.

On that day Mr. Bagley took his two little children to Boston for an afternoon of pleasure. Before returning he called at the Atheneum for a new volume which had recently been placed in the library, and then took a train for Wollaston, arriving at his home just before tea was to be served. Mr. Bagley and his little party had enjoyed a most delightful afternoon. Shortly after tea he complained of an attack of sick headache. Picking up the book which he had procured at the Atheneum he retired to his study for the rest which he so much seemed to need for his aching head. Reclining on a couch he endeavored to forget the pain by reading. A little before eight o'clock Mrs. Bagley became alarmed and hastily sent a messenger for Dr. W. G. Curtis. Before Dr. Curtis could reach the house Mr. Bagley had peacefully passed away.

Mr. Bagley's death is a serious loss to the community as well as to the society over which he has so faithfully ministered for the past six years. Although a young man, being but 31 years of age, he was a remarkably forceful speaker. There was never any doubt of his sincerity, nor was there ever any question that he would take a broad view of all subject that he discussed. His reasoning was clear and cogent. He had an original manner in treating all topics, whether in the pulpit or before the organization in which he was the leading spirit,—the Unity club. His personality was in all his discussions. This gave them an atmosphere that belonged peculiarly to the man, and made everything he said attractive. He needed his humor as little as almost any man to give effect to his argument, yet it was always there, illuminating and adding to its effectiveness. His confidence in himself was marked, but there was a simplicity about the man that removed from it the appearance of egotism. He was direct in the pursuit of his ends as he was plain and frank in his manner of setting himself to attain them. He had a winning personality, and an unfailing good nature that charmed all with whom he came into contact.

The Rev. Mr. Bagley was a "Green Mountain boy," having been born in a rural district in the northern part of Vermont, in the beautiful old town of Craftsbury in 1868. At the age of five years he moved with his parents to Colebrook, N. H., a picturesque village north of the White Mountains.

His early education was received at home and later he took a full course of study at the Lancester Academy. After graduating from that institution, Mr. Bagley taught school for a year and then entered the Meadville Theological school taking a course of three years.

In 1889, Mr. Bagley was settled over All Souls church of Sioux Falls, South Dakota, where his wife, a graduate of the Meadville Theological school,—and he were ordained together and installed as joint pastors,—probably the first instance of the kind in the history of the world,—a veritable returning to the old custom of sending the disciples two by two. Mrs. Bagley is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. R. Towey Pentecost of London, Eng.

The following year he accepted a call from the First Parish of Haverhill, Mass., where he remained until 1893 when he went on an extended European tour.

Mr. Bagley was born and bred a Unitarian having preached his first sermon when but eighteen years old, although he was only a student at the time.

On Sept. 18, 1893, the Wollaston Unitarian society voted to extend a call to him to become its pastor. He accepted the call and on Thursday evening Oct 5, 1893, was duly installed before a large and distinguished audience. The invocation was by the Rev. F. W. Pratt; the scripture reading by the Rev. G. H. Hosmer; the sermon by the Rev. E. A. Horton; the installing prayer by the Rev. Grindall Reynolds; the right hand of fellowship by the Rev. F. B. Mott; the address to the people by the Rev. D. M. Wilson; and the concluding prayer by the Rev. William R. Lord.

Mr. Bagley was one of the founders and leaders of Wollaston's well known literary society, the Unity club. On Feb. 14 of the current year he became a member of Wollaston lodge, A. F. and A. M. being the first person upon whom the first degree was worked.

He is survived by a widow and two little children, a boy and a girl.

Funeral services will be held at the Wollaston Unitarian church on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Debate on Imperialism.

The question of Imperialism was discused by the Quincy High School Debating Society Wednesday. After the president, Miss Hail, 1900, had called the society to order, and after Mr. Hayward, 1900, the secretary, had presented his report, the following speakers offered their arguments pro and con:

Affirmative: Miss Comins, Miss Dunn and Miss Fowler.

Negative: Miss Hodgkinson, Miss King, Miss Lingley, all of '99.

In the open debate which was lively and well sustained, there were the following speakers: Mr. Wade, '99; Miss Comins, '99; Mr. Northcott, '99; Mr. Swift, '99; Mr. Lewis, 1900; Mr. Hayward, 1900; Miss Hodgkinson, '99; Miss Mitchell, '99, and Mr. Pitts, '99.

When one considers the fact that the speaking in the open debate is purely voluntary, the large numbers taking part in it are particularly gratifying.

The visitors at the meeting were: Messrs. Marnock and McDonnell of '98. While all visitors are welcome at the High School, the alumni are the most welcome of all.

S. of V. & L. A. S. Notes.

The appointment of Mrs. Leonard C. Hewson, president of Ladies' Aid Society No. 3, to the office of chief of staff of the Massachusetts Division, Ladies' Aid, is a just recognition of her sterling qualities of mind and character and is highly gratifying to the society and the camp she so ably represents.

At the convention of the Massachusetts Division of the Sons of Veterans in Lorimer hall, on the 21st and 22d of February, Camp 27 was represented by delegates George H. Foss and 2d Lieut. Alger Gardiner; Capt. H. R. Holmes, and Past Captains Hart, Parrot and Holmes.

At the last meeting of Society No. 3, the application for membership of Miss Francis Talbot was received.

At a recent meeting of Camp 27 three new members were initiated, namely Mr. Holbrook of Braintree and Mr. Ralph Taylor and Mr. George Nott of Quincy Point.

The Dramatic Committee of the Camp and Society will soon present the one act farce entitled "The Country School."

TODAY'S COURT.

August Smith was arraigned for drunkenness at Quincy, He was released upon conditions that he leave town.

Martin Flynn of Weymouth was given two months in the house of correction for drunkenness.

James Twombly of Milton and John Conelly of Quincy were fined $5 each for drunkenness.

Daniel Foly, Charles Morrell, George Ford, John Spain, Daniel Duggan and James McLaughlin, six West Quincy juveniles, were arraigned for assault on an old man with snow balls. Case continued one week.

—At an election in a Masonic lodge in Richmond, Ky., a few days ago, J. D. Feeney, Jr., was made senior deacon and his father, J. D. Feeney, Sr., was made Junior deacon.

—Negotiations extending over three years were necessary before a Michigan man could buy two islands comprising five acres from the government. The price paid was $550.

—When a very hungry party came into control of the government with President Harrison's administration, the reckless extravagance of appropriation won for it the name of "the billion dollar Congress." The Congress which is now in its last days, the first Congress of the McKinley administration, will beat even this record. In its first session it appropriated $893,231,615; so far in its second session it has rolled up $717,000,000; and if the Nicaragua Canal bill goes through, the total for this Congress will amount to $1,725,000,000.—Boston Courier.

Mess. Halls at Camp Wetherel Now Used.

With Co. K, 5th Regt.,
Greenville, S. C., Feb. 27.

From Saturday night until this morning has been one continual rainstorm, making it necessary for the boys throughout the regiment to vacate their tents, and seek refuge from the fierce storm within their mess houses. Some of these, leaked very badly.

Company C mess hall was opened up yesterday as a hospital ward for the numberless sick boys.

The number was so large that the regular hospital could not accommodate them. The hospital corp members are performing double duty since the epidemic struck camp.

We are sorry to again announce the deaths of two more of our regiment. This making four deaths within 48 hours. The deceased man, Private Thomas Burnett of Company C of Newton, was admitted to the hospital on February 20, and died Feb. 26, at 4.15 P. M. of pneumonia. The other unfortunate man, Private Charles E. Roberts of Company H of Charlestown, was admitted to the hospital on February 21 and died at 3.30 this morning.

Both of these companies are in the same battalion as K, Company C being the right centre, while H is the left company of battalion.

The old state tents being condemned, the companies are busy today pitching new heavy canvas tents.

The members of the regiment are experiencing severe attacks of sickness, besides Co. C mess house and hospital nearly every mess hall contains 4 or 5 sick men. Volunteer.

A dispatch of Wednesday to the Globe reports the death on Tuesday of Private Chisholm of Co. A of Charlestown. Private Mead of Quincy, a member of Co. K is a little more comfortable, but his case is still a very critical one. Others are sick, but whether they are Co. K men or not is unknown. It is hoped the worst is over.

At Newton, Wednesday, Privates James B. Pendergast and John Denning of Co. C, 5th Mass., were buried with military honors.

The Greenville News of Tuesday morning says, Comyany C, 5th Massachusetts, has lost three men within less than a week from pneumonia, and a fourth, Wescott, is now sick from the disease. These four were tent mates, who were victims of an accident in the recent wind storm preceding a heavy rain. In the wind storm a heavy piece of timber was blown across their tent, breaking tho ridge pole and, wet and cold, they were compelled tospend the night in their mess hall.

A wild story was going the rounds yesterday and it wa so persistent th re it gained general credence, to the effect that there were over forty cases of pneumonia in the division hospital and that the epidemic was due to defective tents.

The truth is that there are fifteen cases of pneumonia in the hospital, and none outside of the division hospital, and seven of the fifteen are convalescent. The list includes from the 5th Massachusetts: Boemer, Meade, Mullen, Sharpe, Anderson and Wescott.

—Carthaginians are said to have been the first who paved their towns with stones. London was first paved about the year 1533. Wood pavement commenced in 1839.

—At the great salt deposits of New Iberia, La., the company tried to ascertain the depth of the mass of rock salt, and sank a boring for the purpose. The drill penetrated through 600 feet of solid salt the cores furnishing the evidence.

FIND OUT YOURSELF.
Why ask a physician to find out whether your Kidneys are diseased. Take a glass tumbler and fill it with urine. If there is a sediment after standing twenty-four hours, your Kidneys are sick. A CORDIAL WELCOME

Extended to Ambassador Choate Upon His Arrival In England.

A Timely Address Upon Commercial Interchange.

America Ready to Meet Mother Country More Than Half Way For Mankind's Good.

Southampton, March 2.—The United States ambassador to the court of St. James, Joseph H. Choate, arrived at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon on board the American line steamer St. Paul, from New York. She was boarded by the mayor and sheriff, who welcomed the ambassador on behalf of the corporation. Mr. Choate was met by Lieutenant J. C. Colwell, the United States naval attache.

JOSEPH H. CHOATE.

The president of the Southampton chamber of commerce presented the new ambassador with an address, tendering him the most cordial welcome, and saying:

"Your arrival in the magnificent St. Paul, which recently did such signal service in your navy, gives unique interest to the occasion, and forcibly reminds us of the ever increasing facilities afforded the commerce of the two countries, and the cordiality and friendship whereby we recognize that your nation is akin to us in common ancestry, language and pursuits."

In reply Mr. Choate said, in part: "The ports of New York and Southampton are now closely united by the great steamships flying between them, like the shuttles and weaves of a loom, connecting them by imperishable bonds. This mutual commerce, interchange and travel will do more to strengthen the ties which already unite the two countries than anything else can do.

"If the men and women of your country could visit my country as freely as ours do yours, the good understanding which now exists would never fail.

"Southampton has a special significance for Americans, as it was the point of departure of the Mayflower on the historic voyage which was to end in planting a new nation. It proved to be the first great departure of the English race from their island home and island life. They went to take possession of the continent waiting to be subdued and replenished. The God in whom they trusted prospered the good work. They carried with them the [illegible] English bible, common law, the idea [illegible] representative government and liber[illegible]ty of the individual. Springing fro[illegible]m this stock, a republic of seventy [illegible] millions, allied in blood, institutions, interests and hopes of the future, st[illegible]retches across the Atlantic the right hand of fellowship, and is ready to [illegible]meet the mother country more than h[illegible]alf way in everything which the two [illegible] promote the common good of nations, and the general welfare of mankind.

"The Mayflower of 1620 and the St. Paul of today furnish a symbol of the marvellous change which time has wrought. The crazy little barque of 180 tons, bearing beneath her decks the fortunes of a race, putting in for repairs at Dartmouth and Plymouth, hardly strong enough to hold together across the Atlantic, landed her hundred heroes and heroines, after more than four months, on a rock which was to be the cornerstone of American freedom. Today, the representative of their descendants traverses the same seas in a single week, in a mighty cruiser, just converted from a swift engine of war to a welcome messenger of peace, herself an emblem of that sea power upon which the destinies of the Anglo-Saxon race depend.

"As I go to present my letter of credence from the president to your illustrious sovereign, who after more than 60 years still reigns supreme over the hearts of her subjects, and commands the affectionate admiration of my own countrymen as their ever steadfast and faithful friend, I accept your cordial greeting as the harbinger of that practical friendship which is henceforth to control and govern the conduct of the two nations."

A crowd of people, numbering several thousands, awaited the arrival of the United States ambassador, the Stars and Stripes were displayed on many buildings, and immediately after the arrival of the St. Paul she was boarded by a delegation of 200 of the principal citizens of Southampton, headed by the mayor and other officers in their official robes. They were introduced to the ambassador in the dining saloon by Lieutenant Carter, where the addresses were delivered. Afterwards many members of the welcoming party shook hands with the ambassador. Mr. Choate's references to the friendship existing between the two nations were loudly applauded, as was a graceful tribute which he paid to Queen Victoria, during the course of his reply.

Faith In Americans.

Havana, March 2.—General Maximo Gomez, in reply to a question yesterday as to how long the American military occupation of Cuba would last, said: "I have talked with American generals and high authorities and am deeply, truly convinced that there is no doubt whatever that the United States will loyally keep its promise, and that Cuba will be free and independent. Some among us do not recognize the fact that such a radical change of government cannot be made as rapidly as they desire."

Likely to Recover.

Rome, March 2.—Drs. Mazzoni and Lapponi express satisfaction at the condition of the pope. Sincere sympathy is shown in all circles, Italian as well as papal. There is no sign of anything unusual at the Vatican. The cyst removed from the pope's thigh yesterday was about the size of an orange. Unless complications, of which there is no apprehension, should set in, the pope will recover.

Rios Called Down?

Madrid, March 2.—The Reforma hears that the Spanish government has received a dispatch from the United States protesting against the statements cabled from Manila by General Otis, who formerly commanded the Spanish troops in the Philippines, relative to the situation of affairs there. The Correspondencia asserts that it has received such serious news from Manila that it believes it to be its duty not to publish it until confirmed.

Preparing For Battle.

Manila, March 2.—10:30 a. m.—It was unusually quiet along the whole line last night, only a few shots being fired from a rebel field gun near the cemetery. The enemy are apparently busy preparing their defenses, realizing that the Americans will attack them when the expected reinforcements arrive.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 2.—Governor Wolcott yesterday pardoned Dr. Ella H. Bates of Boston, who is serving a seven-year term in the house of correction for performing a criminal operation. The pardon was granted on the grounds of ill health.

The governor appointed Edwin G. Whittaker of Wrenham special justice of the western Norfolk district court, and R. C. Hurd of Newburyport medical examiner for the Third Essex district.

So far as yesterday's hearings were concerned the liveliest interest was shown in the bill that calls for compulsory instruction in the effects of alochol on the human body. The hearing brought out some strong arguments against the measure. The opposition was not to the principal of having the children taught the effects of intemperance, but almost wholly to the proposed method, which, it was held, would make temperance instruction the dominant subject in textbooks as well as schoolrooms.

In other hearings the Boston park commission argued in favor of allowing Boston to borrow another $1,000,000 outside the debt limit for completing the Boston parks; arguments were made against the passage of the resolutions regarding the attitude of this country in regard to the Philippines and kindred subjects—resolutions that have almost died of old age since being intrusted to the committee; the Boston Elevated railway officers detailed their objections to the bill compelling them to adopt vestibules on their cars; and some vigorous opposition was made on the old question of exempting college property from taxation. Arguments in favor of direct caucus nominations for state representatives and senators were made, also in favor of expenditures for repairing the ravages of the recent storms on the south shore harbors, and there were several minor hearings.

The house has rejected the bill to provide for the state registration of horseshoers, 103 to 31; the bill for the election of a street superintendent in Taunton by popular vote was rejected on rollcall, 102 to 74; leave to withdraw was reported on the bill to authorize cities and towns to furnish water free of charge for domestic and public purposes, and on the bill providing for the use of metres in the distribution of city water. An adverse report was given on the proposed woman suffrage amendment to the constitution.

A. O. U. W. Officials.

Boston, March 2.—At the annual session of the A. O. U. W. grand lodge the following officers were elected without opposition: Master workman, Nathan Crary, Chicopee, Mass.; foreman, Walter Leigh, New Haven; overseer, O. A. Ward, Boston; receiver, T. F. Temple, Boston; representatives to the supreme body, E. F. Danforth, Skowhegan, Me.; J. C. Gallagher, New Haven, and L. C. Merrill, Concord, N. H.

Doesn't Want to Sell.

New York, March 2.—Andrew Freedman, president of the New York Baseball club and its principal stockholder, is ill with the grip at the Democratic club in this city, but sent the press the following message over the telephone: "There is no truth in the statement that I desire to sell my interest in the New York Baseball club for $65,000. Three times that amount could not purchase it."

Train Hands Injured.

South Framingham, Mass., March 2.—The Milford night freight train, generally known as the Raw Hide, broke apart a few miles this side of Holliston station yesterday and the two sections came into collision a short distance beyond, and Conductor Peck and three of his assistants were injured. They were brought to this place, where they are now in the hospital.

Woman to Be Hanged.

Ste Scholastique, Que., March 2.—Preparations have commenced for the hanging of the first woman ever hanged in this country, Cordelia Viau. She and her paramour are to hang together on the 10th inst., and Radcliffe, the official hangman of Canada, has arrived to arrange the scaffold. They murdered the woman's husband in November, 1898.

"Brutal Conquest."

Austin, March 2.—A resolution, introduced in the house yesterday, denounces the war in the Philippines as one of brutal conquest, and calls on Texas congressmen to do what they can to stop it.

Caught at Fargo.

Fargo, N. D., March 2.—Bliss P. Gorham of Lynn, Mass., was arrested here on a charge of embezzlement while agent of the Boston and Maine railroad at Waverly, Mass.

INDICTED FOR MURDER.

Grand Jury Acts In Molineux Case, Despite His Counsel's Protest.

New York, March 2.—Coroner Hart yesterday postponed the examination of Roland B. Molineux on the application of Assistant District Attorney Unger. Mr. Weeks protested. He said he had seen a number of witnesses from the inquest in the building, and that the examination could go on and ought to. It should not be adjourned except for good reasons, and then on the part of the defendant. Mr. Unger instructed the coroner that the law gave him the right to adjourn the case. Mr. Weeks was enraged. He again and again protested that Molineux was being held in the Tombs on a warrant issued by the coroner, and that the law allowed him an examination within 48 hours. But the coroner held to his decision and Molineux was taken back to the Tombs.

Later in the day Molineux was indicted by the grand jury for murder in the first degree in causing the death of Mrs. Kate J. Adams. Nothing was said in the indictment regarding the death of Henry C. Barnet, the responsibility for whose death has also been attributed to Molineux by the district attorney.

The case of Molineux was placed on the calendar for pleading, and he will be arraigned before Recorder Goff today. He will then, probably, be remanded to the tombs without bail.

Kipling Much Improved.

New York, March 2.—The condition of Rudyard Kipling is very much improved. The crisis in the disease was passed yesterday. The most advanced scientific methods have been adopted for the treatment, and for several days oxygen was forced into the lungs to tide over the times that Kipling was unable to breathe in sufficient air to sustain life. The oxygen method has been abandoned, a hopeful sign. The patient began to breathe more freely yesterday morning, and after a few hours dropped into a refreshing sleep, the first in days, but one thing essential to restore his fast waning strength. Later the temperature dropped rapidly from 104 to 99, which is about normal, and which is the ordinary course of the disease. That the crisis was passed was plainly apparent in the magical change in the aspect of the physicians, nurses, relatives and others about the hotel.

Agoncillo Was Aboard.

Halifax, March 2.—The Dominion line royal mail steamer Labrador was lost Tuesday on the south coast of Ireland. She arrived here from St. John, N. B., Feb. 20, to complete her cargo, taking a miscellaneous assortment. Agoncillo, agent of the Filipino junta, was a passenger. There were 56 passengers in all, 20 cabin, 16 second cabin and 20 steerage. The steamer was due on the Irish coast Tuesday. A cable to the agents says the steamer is a total loss but all lives were saved. The steamer has always been employed in the Canadian Atlantic royal mail service. She was the greyhound of the Dominion line, and held the Canadian record for the westward passage from Liverpool to Halifax, 7½ days.

War on English Sparrows.

Boston, March 2.—An organized movement is on foot to drive the English sparrow out of Boston, on the ground that it is a "public nuisance, and a general expense, and a serious asthetic injury." Those who favor the finish of the finch as a feathered institution of the Hub are flooding the mayor's office with petitions, which are signed by such well known people as Edward Everett Hale, Bishop Lawrence, Lewis C. Dabney, Alexander S. Porter, Charles C. Jackson, Henry T. Higginson, Mrs. John L. Gardiner, and others whose names are familiar to all Bostonians.

For New England Buildings.

Washington, March 2.—Just before the final vote was taken on the sundry civil appropriation bill Tuesday night an amendment was voted in appropriating money for the work next year on all the public buildings which have been authorized by the present congress, the appropriations for the year generally being one-half the total limit of cost. Among the appropriations thus made are: Fitchburg, Mass., $50,000; Lawrence, Mass., $50,000; Newport, Vt., $25,000; Norwich, Conn., $50,000; Nashua, N. H., $30,000; Springfield, Mass., $20,000; Hartford, $87,500.

Stebbed With a Fork.

South Framingham, Mass., March 2.—In the municipal court here yesterday Jennie Collins, colored, was arraigned on the charge of committing an assault on and stabbing George Stark at Sudbury last Monday. She pleaded not guilty and was bound over in $500 for a hearing March 10. Stark, the victim of the assault, is in a critical condition, having 14 wounds which he received during the assault, the instrument used being a three-tined fork. Marion Collins, the husband of the prisoner, who was complicated in the assault, is missing.

Following Suit.

Providence, March 2.—The Lonsdale company has decided to advance wages on April 3 in the mills controlled by the company, including the Lonsdale mills at Lonsdale and Ashton, the Hope company at Phenix and the Hope and Blackstone Manufacturing company at Blackstone, Mass. The advance will effect about 2500 operatives, in the mills, the bleachery and outside hands not being included, as they were not cut a year ago.

Odd Fellows' Election.

Providence, March 2.—At the grand encampment of Odd Fellows the following officers were elected: Patriarch, W. G. Stackpole, Westerly; high priest, Frederick Bolter, Westerly; scribe, W. H. T. Moseley, Providence; treasurer, S. O. Randall, Providence; representative, H. R. Perkins, East Providence. Appointments by grand patriarch: Marshal, B. F. Pierce, East Providence; sentinel, J. E. Brown, Providence; deputy sentinel, C. S. Cook, Providence.

A Dangerous Spot.

Cambridge, Mass., March 2.—Frank McNiff, a freight brakeman of the Fitchburg railroad, was instantly killed at West Cambridge yesterday by an express train. He was crossing the tracks, the train to which he was attached being near by on a siding. About half an hour before the accident a milk wagon driven by William Skane was demolished at this crossing by a freight train and Skane was badly injured.

EXPANSION.

Logical Mission of the United States.

Central America Will Be Added to Our Domain.

Then South America Will Be Taken by Force of Arms.

Friendship of England Will Prove a Powerful Factor In War.

Cecil Rhodes Talks Entertainingly on the Subject of Expansion.

Alexandria, Egypt, Feb. 11.—Views concerning the future of the United States, even more far-reaching than most American imperialists have broached, are held by Cecil Rhodes, who, in conversation with a representative of the Associated Press, on board the steamer Hapburg, on the Mediterranean, by which he came to Egypt in the interests of the Cape to Cairo railroad and telegraph, predicted most confidently that within a century the United States would have advanced the work begun in the acquisition of Cuba until it controlled all of the American hemisphere, except Canada.

Mr. Rhodes expressed admiration for the work already done in Cuba and predicted that it would be carried on in the Philippines. The United States he considered one of the nations best equipped for colonization, and repeatedly exclaimed: "You are taking to it like mother's milk," apparently with the greatest delight.

He inquired with great interest what was the arguments of the opponents of imperialism in the United States, and commented that they seemed to be animated by selfishness. "It is the duty of civilized nations to take charge of the barbarians and give them a white man's government," he said. "The United States is one of the great pow... cannot escape this duty."

He did not believe that the United States would ever withdraw its authority from Cuba, and thought the manner in which Spain had been evicted from her colonies and the United States had taken possession most business like. America's action in compensating Spain for the Philippines surprised him. "I would have bundled the Spaniards out and made them pay a war indemnity," was his comment.

He declared that the United States could never withdraw from the Philippines, because it was their duty to give these people a strong and good government; nor did he believe that when they had begun to realize the results of their work there Americans would desire to abandon the policy. They might grumble for a time over the expense, but that would be a mere "flea bite" to a nation so rich. Why not abandon some of the expenses of the pension list, which seemed so unreasonably large, if economy was necessary? Even if a large navy must be built the United States could well afford one.

So far as the fear of provoking foreign entanglements and wars went, while England and the United States stood together and maintained their present understanding, which was practically an alliance, no combination of powers dare menace them.

To the suggestion of the anti-imperialists that the Philippines would be only the beginning of colonization, he said: "There are no more islands of the sea to be acquired. They are all taken up. The territory of savage races is practically all pre-empted by the civilized. The ultimate work of the United States will be to govern South America. You will probably begin with Mexico, acquire the Central American states, then those on the continent of South America, until you hold all the country to the south of you. These states have incompetent governments—practically barbarian governments—and it will be your duty to give them the white man's government. Mexico is well governed, but a nation cannot depend on one man, and when Diaz is dead it may be ruled no better than before his time. Southward is the logical direction of the expansion of the United States. The Philippines came to you by accident; these neighboring peoples it will be logically your duty to provide for." When Blaine's efforts to arrange a friendly compact between the North and South American republics were mentioned, Mr. Rhodes called them visionary. "You will possess all those states by force of arms, and that within a century," he said, emphatically.

Asked if Canada would logically be included in this expansion, he said that Canada had a good government and, therefore, there was no need for change. Summarizing America's policy, he said: "You people of the United States cannot always remain within yourselves. You cannot always go on making money. You must get out into the world, and take up your share of the world's burdens. Already you are outgrowing your own country. You will absorb other countries, and give them good government. Why should you not? You have it in your blood. The Philippines will furnish new careers for your young men. The whole work will strengthen you and broaden your national character. Yes, already, you are taking to it like mother's milk."

WRECK OF THE LABRADOR.

Passengers Lost All of Their Effects Aboard the Ill-Fated Ship.

Tobermory, Scot., March 3.—Further details regarding the wreck of the Labrador show Captain Erskine had not left her deck since 2 o'clock in the afternoon of Tuesday. The second officer was sick, but the third officer was with the captain.

When the steamer crashed on the rock it was seen that her position was perilous, as she was filling quickly and might slide off or break in two at any moment. The heavy swell and the rocking of the ship made the launching of the lifeboats dificult. But there was no panic, the cooler passengers calming the women and children. The crew preserved the utmost discipline.

The women and children were lowered into the first boat by ropes, and while the other boats were loading the Viking appeared and took on board all the passengers and crew, except a boat containing 12 passengers, including Agoncillo, the agent of Aguinaldo, the Philippine leader, which went to the lighthouse, where they will be prisoners for some time, as the wind has freshened and landing at the lighthouse is only possible in calm weather. The Viking landed all the passengers she had rescued at this place, where they were afforded every possible comfort. Most of them had saved only what they were wearing, but a few managed to secure some of their effects, which they placed in bundles and brought ashore.

Had the Labrador struck on the rock in a gale or at night time there would have been in all probabilities great loss of life. As it was Captain Erskine went slowly all night long and only signalled full speed ahead just before the accident, when he thought he recognized Inistrahull lighthouse.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 3.—By a vote of 211 to 5, the house passed over the governor's veto the bill restoring days of grace to sight drafts. Days of grace were abolished on all negotiable instruments by the act of the legislature of 1898, but a large number of business men petitioned for its restoration on sight drafts, and, after a number of hearings, the legislature, two weeks ago, acceded to their request, and passed the bill. Yesterday, for the first time in four years, the governor's veto was disregarded, and the house stood by its former action.

The committee on banks and banking reported a bill extending the time in which the Taunton Safe Deposit and Trust company may organize to February, 1901. Ought to pass was reported by the committee on public health on the pharmacy registration bill. A petition asking legislation to authorize Everett to borrow money outside the debt limit for the purchase of land and buildings for schoolhouses was referred to the committee on rules. The committee on cities reported a bill permitting Cambridge to abate certain betterment assessments made for park improvements. Leave to withdraw was reported on the petition that the charter of the First church of Boston may be amended. A bill was reported authorizing the city of Cambridge to borrow $400,000 for sewer construction. The committee on banks and banking reported a bill providing that no bank other than safe deposit and trust companies receive deposits as trust companies. Ought not to pass was reported on the bill requiring railings or fences to be placed on freight cars.

RULES OF THE DIAMOND

Doctored at the Meeting of Directors of the National League.

Several Changes Made In the Rules and Constitution.

Ten-Club Schedule to Be Prepared, Pending Disposal of St. Louis Club.

New York, March 3.—Magnates of the National Baseball league, who have been holding their annual meeting at the Fifth Avenue hotel for the past three days, ended their deliberations last night.

During that time they passed the Rogers amendments to the constitution without any change; passed the Brush report on the board of discipline, after making some important changes; adopted the report of the rules committee, after certain modifications had been made, and passed a resolution which has a direct bearing upon the disposition of the St. Louis franchise. They did not take any action upon the Philadelphia admission question, nor did they adopt a schedule for the coming season.

They adjourned subject to the call of the president, which means that when they next convene business can be transacted under a three-fourths vote, instead of a vote of all the members, as would be necessary in case of a special meeting.

As soon as the magnates got into session they took up the constitution. John I. Rogers of Philadelphia read his proposed amendments, and after some discussion they were unanimously adopted without any material changes.

The Boston management scored a complete victory in their fight on the rules, which were next discussed. The rule relating to grounds was wiped out entirely. Substantially all of the other rules submitted to the league by the committee, consisting of Messrs. Hart, Reach and Hanlon, were adopted.

The rule relating to the position of the catcher was passed without a dissenting vote. This rule prevents any catcher from playing outside the lines of his post in order to field bunting balls.

The Brush report on the question of discipline was taken up and gave rise to much discussion. The report was changed considerably before it was adopted, and while the scope of the charges on which a player may be brought before the board of discipline were not changed, the process was changed materially.

Mr. Brush's measure in its original shape provides that as soon as corroborated and sworn charges had been made against an offender of the discipline rules to the president of the league, the latter was to immediately report the matter to the board of discipline for its action.

The measure as it now stands provides, first, the making of sworn charges against an offender to the president of the league. Second, these sworn charges must be sent to every director of the league. Third, if three-fourths of the magnates deem the case of such a nature as to require severe action, the matter may then be sent to the board of discipline upon a mail vote, nine of the 12 members of the league voting for the sustaining of the charges.

The following was passed unanimously: "Resolved, That the purchaser at a judicial sale of the assets of a club member of this league will not be entitled to club membership without proper admission thereto, in accordance with the league's constitution."

The above is a quiet warning by the league to all intended bidders for the league franchise in St. Louis.

Referring to the schedule question, President Young said that the members had looked over both the three and four-trip ones presented, and, while they had adopted neither, all hands had expressed themselves in favor of the four-trip plan.

Frederick K. Sterns of Detroit was elected a member of the board of discipline for three years.

It was announced that the next meeting of the league would be held in this city immediately after the sale of the St. Louis club. It was also intimated that if the brown stockings passed into proper hands, the circuit would be cut down to 10 clubs, Baltimore and Cleveland being the clubs that would be dropped. In the meantime, it is said, a 10-club schedule will be arranged.

Pope's Great Vitality.

Rome, March 3.—The pope would not allow his wound to be sewed up, so the doctors had to be content with drawing the ends together in plaster. The doctors positively deny that there is any dysentery or danger of blood poisoning. They are most confident of restoring the health of the pontiff. Dr. Mazzoni said to a high personage at the Vatican who asked for confidential information on the subject that if the pope recovered, as he fully expected, there was no reason why he should not live for another 10 years, so great is his vitality.

Countess on the Stage.

London, March 3.—Countess Russell, the notorious "Bab" Scott, whose petition for the dissolution of her marriage with Earl John Russell and subsequent petition for a restitution of conjugal rights, both involving scandalous testimony, provided a series of social sensations in England from 1891 to 1895, has joined George Edward's company and is now touring the provinces in "A Runaway Girl."

AT A STANDSTILL.

Nothing Being Done Toward Settlement.

Begins to Look Blue for Quincy Granite.

No Peacemaker Said to be Wanted.

There is practically no change in the granite situation today from what it was on March 1. Both sides still remain firm and both feel confident of victory in the end.

The Manufacturers' Association have made no move toward a settlement since Tuesday night, and it is not known when they will.

The regular meeting of the Association takes place next Tuesday evening but several of the manufacturers seen could not say whether the Association woud take any action at the meeting or not.

The interview with President Marnock published in Thursday's Ledger puts a different light upon the situation in the minds of the general public, who previous to that time saw no reason why the manufacturers could not put a workman on piece work, if they found he could not earn thirty cents per hour, according to the bill of prices, by day work.

The manufacturers claim that they are willing to pay thirty cents to competent men but do object to paying that amount to men who can not earn it, and the light in which they look at it, is that the cutters demand that no workmen who is employed by the day shall receive less than thirty cents per hour.

On the other hand the cutters say that they do not demand that a man shall receive thirty cents if he is not worth that amount, and that the manufacturers have the remedy in their own hands by putting the men on piece work. This, as has been stated, the manufacturers desire to avoid.

The headquarters of the cutters at Doble's hall were thronged all day Thursday and today, and little groups of men can be found at almost any hour on the street corners, discussing the situation.

The several committees of the Union are getting down to work and are kept busy. The committee that is considering the proposition reported to have been made by some of the manufacturers have not completed its work as yet, and this morning it was announced at headquarters that they were [illegible] to complete arrangements for [illegible]rn to work at these yards as [illegible]

[illegible]al secretary Duncan of Balti- [illegible] who was expected in Quincy [illegible] has not arrived, and a telegram [illegible] him announces that he is [illegible]d was received this morning [illegible] settlement had been effected in [illegible]nd that all men there had returned to work. Many of the young men are leaving town in search of employment elsewhere, and not a few of them have gone to Barre, where they have been offered positions.

The other business interests in Quincy have already begun to feel the effect of the strike and a bluer or more discouraged lot of business men than there are in Quincy today would be hard to find.

Everything is very quiet in the granite district, and both sides seem thoroughly in earnest. It is believed, however, that the strike will not be of long duration, as both sides realize what the result would be of a long drawn out strike.

As yet, however, no attempts have been made to get at an agreement, although it would not be at all surprising if such an attempt was made in the near future.

The idea of the Mayor acting as a conciliatory party does not seem to meet with approval, some saying it would savor too much of politics. Nevertheless it is one of the duties of the Mayor.

Halvosa Interview.

Editors of the Ledger:

The Quincy Daily Ledger upon March 1, published an article which was said to be an interview with the undersigned; and the same was so understood by their readers. Therefore, I, Philip J. Halvosa, do hereby declare that the aforesaid article was published without my knowledge or consent, and the statements therein contained should not be credited to me.

PHILIP J. HALVOSA.

Quincy, March 3, 1899.

A PRESS COMMITTEE.

At a meeting of the cutters' union this morning it was voted that all information concerning the present trouble to be authentic must be signed by the press committee of both branches. The press committee are: Alex. Mundy, president; Alex. Souter, secretary, and Philip J. Halvosa.

AT WORK AT BARRE.

The trouble between the granite manufacturers association and the tool sharpeners at Barre was settled Thursday afternoon and the men will resume work today, says a dispatch of March 2 to the Globe.

The settlement was brought about by the manufacturers agreeing to acept the bill of prices established by the joint committee, with the exception of article 5 relating to the hiring of apprentices, which is still to be in force pending arbitration.

Following are the important articles in the new bill of prices:

Aritcle 2—Sharpeners to be paid at rate of 32 cents per hour for from 11 to 14 men.

Article 3—Ten men or under to be paid for at 23 cents per man per day or fraction thereof.

Article 4—Shop, coal, anvil, heat in winter and all other necessary tools with the exception of hammers and tongs to be furnished by employers.

Article 5—Any one firm employing two gangs or more of cutters and two journeymen sharpeners may hire one apprentice, and so on, at the rate of one apprentice to two journeymen. When gangs have to be reduced one journeyman may be discharged, but in no case can both journeymen be discharged and the apprentice kept.

The manufacturers objected to article 5 as it only allowed them half the number of apprentices as under the old bill, which gave them an apprentice for every gang.

The sharpeners claim that arbitration is a victory for them, as their bill will be in force during the progress of the arbitration, which may last for the whole year.

All danger of a strike, however, is past and Barre people will now breathe easier in the assurance of prosperity and plenty of business for another year.

The settlement effected here applies to the 2,000 craftsmen at Montpelier and they will return to work on the same basis. The Montpelier cutters and tool sharpeners are affiliated with the Barre unions.

Home Market Club.

The Home Market club held a quarterly meeting on Wednesday, at which Hon. John Shaw was one of the speakers. President Plunkett's views, expressed in his address were generally endorsed. He said:

"We have reached the point where it has become necessary for us in most lines of manufacturing to enter actively into the world's competition for the export trade. In the sense or desire for greater markets, wider trade, and a world enveloping commerce, we are, I believe, all expansionists. The Nicaragua Canal will be of the greatest possible benefit to our industrial and commercial interests; it will facilitate our domestic trade, and place us in a more favorable position for the development of foreign commerce. The cooperation of the Government in the development of steamship lines for the transportation of American products, by the granting of proper subsidies, demands and should receive our earnest and united efforts to secure. This establishment of American ships under the American flag would not only encourage the opening of American branch houses in all foreign ports where they do not now exist, but would enable us to invade successfully what has always seemed to be our natural markets, those of South America and Central America and Mexico, in which we have not been able to compete with Europe under existing conditions."

Owing the storm on Thursday evening the annual parish meeting of the Universalist Society was adjourned for two weeks, after electing Mr. Frank Hobart as moderator.

The "Mandelay Academy" concert given in the Memorial Congregational church last evening was without a doubt the best thing ever given in that church. It was a grand success.

Tickets for the concert at Colonial hall next Monday night have been placed at fifty cents each, and can be procured at Hearn's drug store, and at the principal pharmacies in Wollaston, Atlantic, Weymouth and Braintree.

A memorial mass for the deceased members of Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus, will be celebrated in St. John's Church, on Sunday morning at 9.15 o'clock. The members of the council will attend as a body and receive communion.

It has often been asked why the centre did not have a club for literary, musical and social purposes, similar to the Unity club at Wollaston and the Monday club at Atlantic. A meeting has been called for tonight at the Unitarian chapel to talk over the matter and it is hoped a large club will be organized.

The Quincy & Boston street railway is constructing a system of private telephones [illegible] which will cover its whole system. Boxes containing a transmitter and hand telephone will be placed on polls at all terminals and intermediate points. By this system work [illegible] the company can be reached [illegible] time by the employes.

The Railroad Commissioners [illegible] approved the purchase of the [illegible] Street Railway Company by the Quincy & Boston Street Railway Company. Exchange of shares are ordered made at the ratio of five Quincy and Boston shares for six shares of the Braintree Street Railway Company. The number of shares of Braintree Street Railway Company stock outstanding is one thousand.

The services over the remains of the late Rev. James E. Bagley will be held at the Wollaston Unitarian church on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Preceding the public service, there will be a private one at the house for the family at one o'clock. The Rev. F. B. Mott, brother-in-law of the deceased, will conduct the services. He will be assisted by the Rev. Francis B. Tiffany of Cambridge and the Rev. Ellery Channing Butler. Music will be by a male quartette of Boston.

Veteran Dead.

Mr. Henry Curtis, a long resident and familiar character of Quincy, died at his home on Hancock court this morning from paralysis. Mr. Curtis had apparently enjoyed his usual good health up to Wednesday, when he was about town as usual. That night he had a stroke of paralysis. He failed rapidly until this morning when he passed away. Mr. Curtis was a shoemaker by trade, which occupation he followed for many years. Of late years however he has followed no business.

During the rebellion he served in Capt. Spear's company as first sergeant and was a pensioner at the time of his death. He was not however, affiliated with the Grand Army. He leaves a widow and three grown up children.

Celebrating.

One often hears the expression, "rushing the growler," but seldom see it in Quincy. People who happened to be in the vicinity of City Hall, however, at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon saw it illustrated. Shortly before that hour a West Quincy son of toil alighted from a Neponset car. In his mouth was a T D pipe, minus tobacco. In his right hand was a gallon tin can, minus a stopper. The can was full of beer as was also his stomach. The fellow was not so full but what he could stand, although he had hard work to keep from falling. Every time he attempted to move, he would roll about in such a manner that the beer slopped out of the can, and that he did not lose the whole of it was a wonder. The fellow said he was celebrating, and those who saw him seconded the motion. The fellow disappeared on a West Quincy car.

SCHOOL REPORT.

Six Buildings Have Reached Their Limit.

Condition Serious and Must be Considered.

Value of School Property Now $468,400.

The annual School report for 1898, volume XLIX, is issued today from the press of George W. Prescott & Son, and is a neat book of 128 pages, printed on heavy paper, and the most satisfactory book the School Committee and Superintendent have had in recent years.

This paper has already published in full the report of the board, and will now review in part the excellent report of Superintendent Lull. It is of special interest because of the numerous comparisons for the years since Quincy became a city, just a decade.

The value of school buildings of the city with land, according to the Assessors, $451,200. The land at Germantown and Quincy Neck and furniture, books, etc., added $17,200 making a grand total of $468,400. The capacity of the buildings is 4,867, but there are 5,029 seats in the 111 rooms used.

With reference to accommodations Supt. Lull says:

ACCOMMODATIONS.

"No additional buildings, or even rooms, have been voted by the Council of '98, in spite of an urgent request of this Board. An unfinished attic room in the John Hancock building had been used for two years. The danger to the health of the teacher and pupils who occupied it was so great, that in June an appropriation was made by the Council for plastering and flooring this room.

"The delay to anticipate the growth of Quincy will cause a repetition of the condition in '96, when it became necessary to build two houses at the same time. As no child has been turned away from any schoolhouse door since last January, on first thought it may seem that no extra accommodations were needed this year; but what will be true of 1899? At least six buildings have reached the limit of their seating capacity. What is to be done for the Whitwell street district? for the overflow at Atlantic? for the sixth, seventh and eighth grades of the Lincoln? for the Washington district? Every real estate dealer knows full well that he must invariably answer satisfactorily this question of his customers:—"Where are my children to go to school?

"The Lincoln district must be considered by the Council, for it will not "down." It should be understood that its bounds are too contracted now and that they ought not to be farther contracted.

"In the district inclosed by the Braintree bounds, the three lines of railway and Station street, there are 600 pupils now attending school. These are the natural bounds of the district; but they have been drawn in nearer and nearer to the schoolhouse, until now only 58 pupils live north of Albertina street and Brooks avenue. Furthermore, grade six of the Lincoln is in the Adams school and grades seven and eight are occupying the same room. No room in the building can hold the two grades next September, as they will number 70 pupils.

"If the school has only its normal growth (based on averages of the past six years), a very conservative estimate will give the following result in each grade for September, 1899.

Grade I, 40 pupils, 60 seats.
Grade I, 43 pupils, 54 seats.
Grade II, 40 pupils, 54 seats.
Grade II, 45 pupils, 60 seats.
Grade III, 65 pupils, 60 seas.
Grade IV, 55 pupils, 45 seats.
Grade V, 45 pupils, 45 seats.
Grade *VI, 42 pupils, no seats.
Grade VII, 40 pupils, 48 seats.
Grade VIII, 30 pupils, no seats.
—*In Adams school.

"This statement is not intended for any sensational purpose, or to drive the Council to action; but the condition is serious and it must be considered.

"Within the original bounds of the Lincoln are 200 pupils now enrolled in the John Hancock and Willard schools. These two buildings must have relief and they can get it by sending back the Lincoln pupils to their own natural district.

"In the Coddington are 39 pupils who cross the steam railway track to reach the school building. In the John Hancock are 61 east of Gass place and 65 more east of the Ward Four line which runs through the centre of Quarry street. The total number of pupils in both schools is 165. Of these 108 are in grades, one, two, three and four. This section is commonly known as the Whitwell district.

"There are about 100 pupils in the Coddington and Adams schools living southeast of and including both sides of Union street. These would belong to the Washington school if it were moved farther west.

"In April of this year 237 new children entered; in September, 324. In April, 1899, at least 250 may be expected. As there is not room for them in grade one, the children of this grade must be forced along to higher grades before they are prepared.

"Everywhere, and by everyone, it is agreed that the average teacher cannot do good work when the number of pupils is large. The maximum varies in the estimation of those best informed from 30 to 40. Two teachers have more than 60 pupils; 9 between 55 and 60; 8 between 50 and 55; 16 between 45 and 50; 22 between 40 and 50; 21 between 35 and 40; 21 fewer than 35. Therefore each one of 57 teachers has more than 40 pupils in her room. As these statements are based on the average number belonging, and not on the enrollment, they are much too weak.

"In the very crowded rooms 14 assistants were at work in December. In April, when the new children enter, at least 20 rooms must seat more than 45 pupils in each.

Lost Half a Million.

Hon. W. B. Rice of this city testified at the hearing of the Labor Committee of the Legislature on Thursday that the firm of Rice & Hutchins had lost $501,000 on account of the strike of the shoe workers. Mr. Rice reviewed the labor troubles in his Middlesex factory. He declared himself in favor of labor organizations, but he had found it necessary to change his policy of hiring help in Marlboro. The manufacturers of the city had no oragnization. In response to a question as to whether any concessions would be made, Mr. Rice said that he should not consider any that was not considered in the notices posted before the strike began.

Mystery Tea.

One of the most enjoyable "Teas" ever held in Wollastan, took place at the Baptist church, Wednesday evening. It took the form of a "Mystery Tea," and the menu was earnestly studied, some of the solutions being extremely funny. It was as follows:

Descendant of Noah. An Unruly Member.
Boston's Pride.
Irishman's Comfort. Women of Grit.
Staff of Life and Ram's Head.
Fruit of the Vine.
What shall we do with Lillie Langtry.
Explosives. Laborer's Stronghold.
What I do when I mash my fingers.
A Porous Marine Substance. Sweet Segments.
Backbone of History.
What caused the Downfall of Man.
Spring's Offering.
Boston's Overthrow. No Grounds for Complain.

After tea an entertainment was provided by the younger portion of the society. Miss Muriel Badger and Master Ernest Merrill sang a pretty duet "Under de ol' Umbrella." Master John and Ernest Merrill gave a violin and piano duet, and Miss Muriel Badger sang a solo.

Viola Allen, the brilliant young actress who has made the greatest hit recorded in America in many years as Glory Quayle in Hall Caine's powerful realistic drama, "The Christian," and who has been playing to phenomenal receipts for the past three months at the Garden theatre in New York, will be the next attraction at the Boston Museum, commencing Monday evening, March 6.

"The Christian" has touched a chord in popular favor which few theatrical attractions have ever reached. The New York Herald of October 11, last, said of it: "The Christian" must be ranked with the best products of the modern drama. It fascinates, it interests, and it moves the spectator."

The secret of "The Christian" is its heart-interest, which appeals with equal force to all classes of people, from the habitual play-patron to the church-goer who seldom visits a thertre except to witness a production of this character.

CO. K. BOY DEAD.

Private Mead Died Today at Camp Wetherill.

With Co. K 5th Regt.
Camp Wetherill,
Greenville, S. C., Mar. 1.

Clearing weather has once again set in. Yesterday and this morning was exceptionally fine. If this weather continues, it will help to diminish the number of sick cases.

Yesterday was taken up by the monthly inspection, it was the eighth we have had. Major Morrison, who is in command of the regiment, mustered in the several companies respectively.

The regiment, together with the band escorted the remains of the two unfortunate comrades to the depot Tuesday afternoon.

It is again mournful to report the news of another victim of pneumonia; Company A of Charlestown has another added to their list. The diseased, Private John Chisholm, passed out of our midst last night at 6 o'clock. His last moments were watched by his mother and family who arrived at the hospital yesterday noon. Company C mess house is yet in use by the medical department. The present inmates of the hospital and mess houses are reported as improving.

Official orders have been received and they are welcomed by the men. The 5th Massachusetts will be mustered out on or before March 31. These orders are final.

Quartermaster Crane has been kept busy distributing fruit to the sick boys of K. No worriment on the part of families need be exercised over Co. K members.

A large tent has been erected for the examination of the men prior to mustering out. The examination for mustering out will be commenced immediately. The examining officers are already on the grounds. If this pleasant weather continues much sickness will be avoided. Volunteer.

PRIVATE MEAD DEAD.

A telegram received in Quincy this morning by David Mead announces the death of his brother John at Camp Wetherill.

John V. Mead, the first member of Company to die while in service, was born in Quincy about 19 years ago. He attended the Coddington school, and after graduation went to work in the shoe shops and later entered the employ of the Mt. Wollaston farm.

In June of last year he enlisted in K Company, and has been with the company since, at Framingham, Camp Meade and at Greenville. His sickness was not prolonged, as he was taken down the latter part of last week. His parents reside at Burlington, Vt. He was married in August to Miss Mary T. Dillon of West Quincy.

The remains will start for Quincy today, and should arrive Sunday. He will probably be buried with military honors on Monday.

Quincy Club Concert.

The inclement weather did not interfere much with the attendance at the concert at Music hall Thursday evening under the auspices ot the Quincy Club. Many tickets had been sold previous to the concert which ensured financial success. The programme was one calculated to please the most fastidious, as it certainly did. The several numbers included violin solos by Mr. Frank A. Kennedy; soprano solos by Ella Hall Shields; whistling imitation by Mr. Fred Hansell; soprano solo by Master Johnnie Quigley; baritone solo by Mr. T. Grafton Abbott; impersonations and character sketches by Mr. W. F. Nichols; musical sketch by Mr. Fred Bowman, and tenor solo by Mr. George F. Field. The Quincy Club quartette were down for two numbers, but owing to the illness of one of its members, these were omitted.

☞A limited number of back copies of the Ledger containing the land values can be obtained for five cents each at the office of publication.

MILTON.

The Park Commissioners gave a public hearing Thursday on the removal of a shade tree on the west side of Granite avenue.

The Belcher branch of the Milton Women's club met with Miss Baxter Wednesday evening.

The alarm from Box 67 at 6.25 P. M. Monday night was for a chimney fire in the old Hydrant engine house on Granite avenue; no damage. The alarm from Box 43 at 10.50 A. M., Thursday, was for a slight fire in the saw mill at Godfrey's wharf. Damage slight.

J. Albert Simpson, Jacob Turner and Henry W. Vose who were defeated at the caucus for Selectmen by J. Walter Bradlee. Albert A. Brackett and W. H. Chubbuck, have filed nomination papers. Rev. Henry S. Huntington has also filed nomination papers for School Committee. The caucus nominated Miss Cunningham and Mrs. Turner by acclamation for that office.

The Union and Enterprise clubs, two juvenile organizations, will compete tonight in a series of indoor sports at Associates hall for a silver cup. George R. R. Rivers will officiate as judge, and Harry Brierly as referee. The sports will consist of a stick contest, bobbing for apples, boxing, ring toss, sack and potato races, up Jenkins, going to Boston and a tug of war. A supper will follow the sports.

The Thursday Evening club held a social gathering at Ellsworth hall Thursday evening.

The family of George Bass, who have been ill with the grip, are reported as improving.

WEYMOUTH.

The Parish Guild of Trinity church, Weymouth, held a large and very interesting meeting Tuesday evening with Mrs. E. F. Parle on Sheppard street, East Braintree. In addition to the regular business church plans for Easter were considered.

On Sunday, at Trinity church, Weymouth, Rev. William Hyde will continue his special course of Lenten sermons. The subject in the morning will be, "The Word of the Cross," and in the evening, "By prayer and fasting."

In addition to the services at Trinity church, Rev. William Hyde of Weymouth, will preach in Gardner street chapel, South Hingham, at 2.45 P. M.

The Magazines.

Commodore Melville, in The Engineering Magazine for March, reviews most instructively the naval engineering lessons drawn from the Spanish-American war. He treats fully the service efficiency of the different types of war vessels, and the general facts established as to the design of warship machinery for cruising, economy and response to emergency demands for speed and power. An extremely entertaining portion of his paper is that devoted to the auxiliaries—the distilling ships and the naval repair ship, which was a new feature in naval operations.

HEART DISEASE.

SOME FACTS REGARDING THE RAPID INCREASE OF HEART TOUBLES.

Do Not Be Alarmed, But Look for the Cause.

Heart troubles at least among the Americans, are certainly increasing and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion.

Real organic disease is incurable; but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic.

The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves, the Sympathetic and Pneumogastric.

In another way, also the heart is effected by the form of poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half deigsted food; There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the distended stomach on the heart and lungs, interfering with the action; hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart. The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion and to insure the prompt assimilation of food.

This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which may be found at most drug stores, and which contain valuable, harmless digestive elements in a pleasant, convenient form.

It is safe to say that the regular persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the stomach.

Full sized package of these tablets sold by druggists at 50 cents. Little book on stomach troubles mailed free. Address F. A. Stuart, Co., Marshall, Mich. 3t 27-1-3.

Teddy's Tip.

Albany, March 3.—At the annual dinner of the State Republican Editorial association here last night, Governor Roosevelt said that he did not ask, but demanded the support of all Republican papers in the state, as long as he supported Republican principles, which he understood to be a following of the wishes of the people. "Some people may," he said, "have their toes trod upon. They may find things striking near home, but they must learn that the Republican party's principles are the supports of public policy, and that first of all, believing that the party represents the people, I am for the people." The significant statement was received with applause.

Settled For a Year.

Barre, Vt., March 3.—All differences between the granite manufacturers and their employes, growing out of the new bill of prices, were settled last night. The trouble, which stopped over 1500 men from working yesterday, was over an agreement of the employes with the tool sharpeners. The union men insisted that each shop must have a journeyman. This agreement is to be accepted, pending a final decision by arbitration, the tool sharpeners agreeing to a proposition to arbitrate. The bill of prices was signed in joint conference last night, and all things are settled for another year.

Snowbound District.

Leadville, Colo., March 3.—The snowstorm which began here at midnight Sunday shows no sign of abatement. The railroads are completely tied up west of this city, and are running but few trains east. The outlook here is most discouraging. Snow shoe parties have been organized to carry provisions and mail from Leadville to Climax, Birdseye and Robinson. No trains have reached these points for over a month.

Adventurous Life Ended.

Springfield, Mass., March 3.—Francis McGrath, aged 22, drank an ounce of prussic acid in the Hotel Gilmore, and later was found dead. McGrath had led a life of adventure. Last spring, imagining the police wanted him, he entered the navy, serving on the Gloucester up to two weeks ago. He was married Dec. 15 last, while home on a furlough.

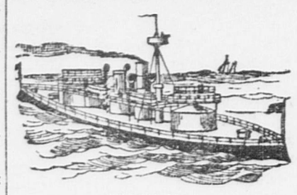
PLANS KNOCKED AWRY.

Navy Department Seriously Handicapped by Action of Congress.

Three Thousand Men Must Be Dropped From Service.

Provisions In Appropriation Bill Which Will Stop Warship Building.

Washington, March 3.—The navy department has put the big double-turreted monitor Puritan out of commission at the Norfolk navy yard, and it is said at the navigation bureau that this ship must be followed by others speedily, to the great detriment of the plans of the department. The estimates submitted to congress based on the minimum requirements of the navy provide for 20,000 sailors. Congress cut this down to 15,000. There are now 18,000 men in the service, so that 3000 of these must be dropped immediately. That means, according to the navigation officers, that a large part of the North Atlantic squadron must go out of commission.



THE PURITAN.

It is probable that the heavy reduction in the number of enlisted men and consequently of ships will interfere seriously with the conduct of the naval maneuvers this year. Another difficulty is going to be the impossibility of putting into condition the new ships as they are turned over to the government by the builders simply for want of men to man them.

The action of the senate Wednesday in the matter of ships armor caused Secretary Long to take prompt measures yesterday to bring the subject to the attention of the naval committees in the house and senate in the hope of securing a change in the appropriation bill before it is finally enacted. The secretary and Captain O'Neill, chief of the ordnance bureau, in communications sent to the committee, declared that the action of the senate, if adhered to, meant the total stoppage of all naval construction, saying that no armor can be procured for $300 per ton. It might have been possible, it is said at the department, to go on and build ships without the armor under ordinary circumstances, trusting to the next congress to provide for it, but for a clause in the appropriation bill which provides that no ships shall be built until the armor is contracted for. The effect of the two provisions will be to put a complete stop to shipbuilding operations as far as the navy is concerned.

Although it is provided that a government armor plant shall be constructed in the event of the failure of the department to secure bids for supplying armor at the price fixed, the ordnance officers say that such a plant could not be constructed and begin to supply the armor inside of two years at the earliest. They also declare that the limit of cost fixed for the plant is less than half of that found to be absolutely necessary by the special naval board which investigated the whole subject of government armor plants a few years ago.

RUSH CONTINUES.

Neither Branch of Congress Appears Disposed to Lose Much Time.

Washington, March 3.—During almost the entire session yesterday the senate was engaged in routine business. Three score or more of minor bills were passed, the calendar being cleared entirely of private pension bills, and of measures correcting military and naval records.

Two measures of national importance were passed, the fortifications appropriation and the bill providing a code of criminal laws for the district of Alaska. A provision for the high licensing of the liquor traffic in the latter measure created considerable discussion, and an effort was made to incorporate an absolute prohibition amendment, but it failed by a decisive vote. The fortifications bill was passed precisely as it came from the house, without amendment, and goes to the president. The conference reports on the census and naval personnel bills were agreed to and those measures also go to the president.

The senate, in executive session, took up the Sampson-Schley cases and discussed them briefly. Senator Butler moved to consider the nomination of Admiral Schley independently of the other nominations, but it being apparent that no quorum was present the senate went into open session. The motion remains pending and will be pressed by Senator Butler at the next executive session. The greater part of the session was devoted to unobjected nominations.

No conference reports on appropriation bills were pressing at 6 o'clock last evening and the house therefore paid its last tribute of respect to the memory of the late Representative Hurley of New York by adjourning.

An attempt was made to consider the resolutions reported by the judiciary committee declaring that General Wheeler and the three other members who accepted commissions in the army had thereby vacated their seats, but the house, by an overwhelming vote, refused to consider them. The political division upon this vote was significant. The vote stood 77 ayes, cast by 21 Republicans, 44 Democrats and 13 Populists, and 146 nays, cast by 101 Republicans, 44 Democrats and 1 Populist. Half a million dollars each was appropriated, under suspension of the rules, for the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo, and the Ohio centennial at Toledo. The senate bill for the department of justice was passed, and two public building bills, attached by the senate to bills for public buildings in other cities, were agreed to. The senate bill appropriating $148,600 to purchase 120,000 acres of land in connection with the provisions of the treaty with the Lower Brule Indians was passed. A number of conference reports on minor bills were adopted.

Dewey's Needs.

Washington, March 3.—Admiral Dewey is again pressing on the navy department the urgent need of vessels of light draught as a means of communication among the numerous small islands of the Philippine group. To this end the gunboat Vixen, which figured bravely for a vessel of her light caliber at the outset of the Cuban campaign, has been ordered to be fitted out immediately at the Norfolk navy yard for sailing for Manila. This will take about a month, and it probably will be three or four months before she joins Dewey's fleet. Besides the Concord, which is perhaps a little too large to be classified as one of the small craft, the only light vessels now in the Philippines available for running about those waters are the Petrel and the Helena. The Castine and the Princeton, however, are now speeding in that direction, but the small craft equipment there will be inadequate. The department is anxious to afford Admiral Dewey all the assistance possible. He has repeatedly called attention to the great importance of this work and has emphasized the fact that it is the light vessels, fit to skirmish about in the shallow waters and to run in and out of harbors where the large ones would be useless, that he wants rather than the heavier types.

Misrepresentations of Junta.

Washington, March 3.—The war department officials pronounce absurd the Filipino junta's story to the effect that Aguinaldo has taken several hundred American soldiers prisoners and removed them to the interior. General Otis' bulletins have accounted for every man in the American army at Manila, and there is not on record a single case of missing.

Reached Three Score and Ten.

New York, March 3.—A dinner complimentary to Carl Schurz was given last night at Delimonico's. The affair was in celebration of the 70th anniversary of Mr. Schurz's birth. Covers were laid for 400. The dinner was served in the large ball room at eight long tables, set at right angles to the speakers' table. The wall back of the speakers' table was hung with festoons of the American and German flags, and a blue banner with the American eagle surmounting the words: "The United States of America," hung directly back of Charles F. Adams of Boston, the presiding officer. The lids of the ice cream boxes showed a raised bust of Mr. Schurz in celluloid. Many notables were present.

Continues to Gain.

New York, March 3.—That Rudyard Kipling's condition has improved very greatly during the past 24 hours is evidenced by the fact that but one bulletin was posted during yesterday. That was of a very satisfactory nature, and it was announced that no further bulletins would be forthcoming until this afternoon. Another indication that the writer is getting along well is that last evening he asked to be shown the newspapers, and he seemed to be greatly pleased and affected at the interest in his illness shown by the American people.

Police Doubtful.

Chicago, March 3.—William Becker, the self-confessed wife-murderer, was yesterday taken by the police to the point where he claims he pushed his wife into the lake on Jan. 27. Becker pointed out the spot where his wife stood when he threw her into the water. The police have strong doubts as to the truth of Becker's confession. Fishermen and others around the pier say that the ice in the lake on Jan. 27 was at least 12 inches thick.

Five Murdered.

Clay Center, Kas., March 3.—A neighbor going to the home of John Gilbert, in Athelstone township, last evening, found Mrs. Gilbert and her four children murdered. The family had not been seen since Tuesday night. The door was found locked and the husband missing.

Given Till Tuesday.

New York, March 3.—Roland B. Molineux was arraigned before Recorder Goff yesterday to plead to the indictment against him, charging him with having poisoned Mrs. Kate J. Adams, and on motion of his counsel was remanded until next Tuesday, when he will plead to the charge.

Outposts Fired Upon.

Manila, March 3.—The outposts beyond San Pedro Macata were fired upon by the rebels from the walls of Guadaloupe church. A gunboat advanced 300 yards beyond the lines and cleared away the enemy with Gatlings. No casualties are reported.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—6:15; sets, 5:38.
Moon rises—12:25 a. m.
High water—4 a. m.; 4:30 p. m.

Unsettled weather conditions still prevail throughout the entire country, the centers of disturbance being in the middle slope and over Lake Superior. Temperatures are above the seasonal average from the Mississippi valley eastward, except on the New England coast. Generally fair weather is indicated for all eastern districts, except in extreme northern New England. Brisk east to south winds will prevail on the north Atlantic coast.

SIGNS OF PROSPERITY.

Many Corporations Decide to Advance Wages of Employes.

Manville, R. I., March 3.—In keeping with the general brightening tendency in cotton manufacturing interests, the announcement is made by the Manville company that wages in both its factories will be increased immediately to practically the same basis in force previous to the general reduction of a year ago last February. Fifteen hundred persons are benefited.

Similar announcement is also made at the Berkeley mills, at Berkeley, where 700 persons are employed.

Every mill in the Blackstone valley, from Woonsocket to Providence, has been benefited directly by the better future exhibited for manufacturing, each receiving the full amount of the last general cutdown.

Lawrence, Mass., March 3.—The Pacific mills, the largest corporation in this city, is to advance the wages of its employes. The following notice was posted in the various departments of the mill today: "A new scale of wages is to be made for the Pacific mills, the advance contemplated to take effect on Monday, March 27, 1899." The amount of the increase will not be announced until it takes effect. This action is voluntary on the part of the management, no request for an advance having been made by the operatives. The Pacific employs upwards of 5000 hands. Most of its employes were affected in the 10 percent reduction of one year ago.

Manchester, N. H., March 3.—The directors of the Amoskeag corporation voted yesterday to restore the wages of 1897 after April 3. The increase amounts to over 10 percent. The company operates one of the largest cotton manufacturing plants in the world and employs 10,000 hands. It is expected that the other cotton mills here will adopt the schedule of 1897.

The American Tin Plate company has notified employes of the voluntary increase in wages of from 5 to 10 percent. One thousand men are affected.

The management of the Pennsylvania bolt and nut works announces a 10 percent increase in wages in the puddling and rolling mill departments, to take effect April 1. The Lebanon rolling mills also gives notice of a similar increase in the wages of employes in that establishment. The employes of Swedes furnace at Norristown have received a 10 percent advance.

Within the past two days fully 8000 workmen, largely employed in the various mills controlled by the American Steel and Wire company at Cleveland, have been notified of an increase in wages, ranging from 5 to 10 percent.

Alaska's Riches.

Chicago, March 3.—An assay of black sand found in the Kotalinqua river, Alaska, made by Dr. W. E. Everette of the Smithsonian institute, is said to show that one ton of it contains $776 worth of platinum, besides iron, oxide, gold worth $102.84, two pounds of tin, two pounds of copper, and one troy ounce of iridosmine. The great value is said to lie in its yield of platinum, which is extensively used in electrical construction and dentistry. Platinum is found only in the Ural mountains of Russia, from where it is exported to this and other countries.

Nearly $50,000 Short.

Lockport, N. Y., March 3.—The expert accountant who has been engaged in making an examination of the books and accounts of former County Treasurer John S. Lammerts, reports an apparent shortage of nearly $50,000. Lammerts' case is now being considered by the grand jury.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

H. C. Post, Sandusky, O., probably one of the most extensive fish dealers on the Great Lakes, has filed a petition in bankruptcy. Liabilities, $298,654; assets very small.

Rev. Andrew Kennedy Hutchinson Boyd, known under the pen name of "A. K. H. B.," died at London through accidentally drinking a carbolic lotion instead of medicine. He was born in Scotland on Nov. 3, 1825, and was the author of a number of publications.

The historic Governor Perham residence, owned by George Atwood, located at Paris Hill, Me., was burned to the ground. The loss is estimated at $5000.

R. S. Palmer of New York died at Colorado Springs after a protracted illness. Mr. Palmer distinguished himself by his bravery in Cuba. He was a wealthy New Yorker and a yacht owner.

M. J. Connolly, the manager of Peter Maher, has received a telegram from the National Athletic club of San Francisco offering $10,000 for a contest between Maher and McCoy. Connolly has the matter under consideration.

The Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers is sending organizers to the various industrial centers in order to strengthen their union.

Rev. J. H. Foshay died at Middleboro, Mass., after a long illness. He accepted a call to the Central Baptist church last fall, but was delayed until December. Then he was stricken with the grip and had been sick ever since. He was about 50 years of age, and leaves seven children.

McPartland received the decision on points in his battle with Broderick at Hartford. The exhibition was very well managed, but Broderick was clearly entitled to a draw, as he landed oftener, and the only advantage that McPartland had was that he did the most leading. To offset this he committed a number of fouls.

Charles Smith and Harry Hicks, who were arrested at Manchester, Vt., for breaking into a hardware store, and who pleaded guilty, were sentenced to two years at hard labor in the state prison.

Fire at Charlotte, N. C., destroyed the Southern railway freight depot, a cotton compress, the joint property of the Southern and Seaboard railroads, a large storage warehouse, 4000 bales of cotton intended for export to England and Germany, and several hundred tons of commercial fertilizers. The loss will be about $400,000.

The proposed combination of cereal food manufacturers under the American Cereal company has been abandoned, because of the failure to secure sufficient funds from the underwriters of the plan.

DRINK GRAIN-O

after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about 1-4 as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

CANCER CURED BY ABSORPTION NO KNIFE.

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

Stole Shoes Worth $900.

W. J. Driscoll of West Quincy, an 18-year-old salesman, employed by C. W. Royce & Co., shoe manufacturers, at their Summer street office, is under arrest, charged with stealing between 400 and 500 pairs of shoes from this and other firms at that number since August of last year. Driscoll received $7 a week.

The scheme seems to have been to take the shoes from full cases, perhaps one or two pairs from each layer, and then to return the empty paper cartoons to the cases. The loss would not be discovered, naturally enough, until there was use for that particular case, and this gave considerable leeway for the thief.

It is said that the value of the shoes might have been about $900, but, of course, it is doubtful if Driscoll got from those to whom he sold more than a third of the regular values.

Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Thayer celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage at their home at Braintree, last week. Many beautiful gifts were presented and the evening was one of great enjoyment.

Mr. Thayer was born in Braintree in 1817. He remembers John Quincy Adams well. His first vote was cast for Van Buren in 1844, and he has always voted the straight democratic ticket. Except serving as constable he has never held a town office.

Mrs. Thayer is descended from old Braintree stock, and her grandfather was in the employ of John Hancock. She has a quaint old mirror that once belonged to John Hancock as well as several other pieces of furniture.

State Road.

The Selectmen of Weymouth and Braintree, Representative Whelan and Mr. John Kelley attended a hearing before the State Highway Commission upon the proposal to make Quincy avenue, Braintree, and Washington street, Weymouth, a state road through to Scituate and the Hanovers. It is estimated that ninety-five per cent of the travel on this route comes from other towns and there is no good reason why the State should not share the expense.

The Weymouth delegation urged that the work of construction begin on the Braintree end. This was very magnanimous on their part and is appreciated by the Braintree people. Mr. A. O. Clark says he thinks the petitioners made a good showing and that there is some prospect of our being relieved of a part, at least of this unjust burden.

CONGRESS' LAST HOURS

Marked by Turbulent Scenes In Senate and House.

Present Session's Appropriations Reach $375,885,489.

Schley and Sampson Rear Admirals; Former Two Points Ahead.

Army Gets $80,000,000 and the Navy $20,000,000 For Deficiencies.

Washington, March 4.—Crowded galleries looked down upon the struggling members of the house yesterday as the closing scenes of the last legislative day of this congress were being enacted. Step by step the leaders in charge of the appropriation bills pushed them through the final stages, and during every lull in the consideration of conference reports members clamored for recognition for belated local bills in the vain hope of rescuing them from death on the calendar.

At times the house was like bedlam. Pound as the speaker would with his gavel, it was almost impossible to preserve order, and to the casual visitor in the gallery the proceedings on the floor must have been about as intelligible as an exciting day in the wheat pit would be to a parish priest. The noise and confusion on the floor, punctuated with the constant banging of the speaker's gavel, or backgrounded with the droning voice of the clerk, irate members facing each other and talking at the same time, pages scurrying up and down the aisles—all this was utterly distracting. But the people in the galleries stayed on, and there were a dozen persons in line in the corridors waiting for vacant seats, so great is the attraction of a dying congress.

Mr. Walker (Mass.), after many unsuccessful attempts, got an opportunity during the afternoon to voice his views on currency reform, and severely criticised some of his Republican colleagues. When the great beacon light on the dome blazed forth as darkness fell, thousands upon thousands were attracted to the brilliantly illuminated wings of the Capitol, where the two houses were to sit out the night. In the reserved galleries of the house were congregated the elite of the society of the national capital, while the public galleries were banked to the doors. Stylishly gowned ladies and gentlemen in evening dress added eclat to the occasion.

The big question in dispute between the two houses being naturally the last to be adjusted, were postponed far into the night. From time to time short recesses were taken. Those were simply breathing spells, however, and soon the leaders were at it again harder than ever.

At 2 o'clock the house took a recess until 2:45 a. m. During the recess the congressmen joined in a lively chorus of "Hail Columbia" and other patriotic songs.

At 3 o'clock the house took another recess until 4 a. m.

The house passed the army appropriation bill with all senate amendments and the bill now goes to the president.

Mr. Johnson, in his farewell, declared the president was writing the most disgraceful chapter in American history. Mr. Johnson declared that there would be no currency reform; that if the president really wanted it he would call an extra session for that purpose, just as he had said he would do if the army reorganization bill failed. He resented the idea that he should be read out of the party because he had seen fit to try to prevent the president from making a serious mistake, which would inevitably end in party disaster. He believed the time would come when his attitude would become the true Republicanism.

The house conferees on the sundry civil bill were specifically instructed to insist upon their disagreement to the senate amendments increasing the salaries of appraisers at Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Chicago.

Excitement, confusion, heavy strain and much hard work characterized the last legislative day of the Fifty-fifth congress in the senate. At times the confusion was so great in this usually staid and decorous body as to render the transaction of business almost impossible. Business that ordinarily would have the undivided attention of every senator on the floor was transacted amid so much noise that it was next to impossible to follow the proceedings.

Toward midnight order was being evolved from the seeming chaos of the early part of the day and evening, and the prospect was fair that congress would adjourn at noon today with its absolutely necessary work completed.

When the senate convened at 11 o'clock it faced the task of considering two of the great appropriation bills, those for the army and for supplying the general deficiencies. The former carries appropriations exceeding $80,000,0000 and the latter about $20,000,000. With a determination to complete the appropriation bills the senate began immediately at 11 o'clock in the morning to consider these measures, and at 8 o'clock last night the army bill was passed, the deficiency bill having been passed nearly three hours before.

A conference report on the Alaska criminal code bill was presented and agreed to.

A partial report on the sundry civil appropriation bill was agreed to, but the inability of the senate conferees to secure an agreement on the Hawaiian cable proposition created a heated discussion, in the course of which Speaker Reed was alluded to in uncomplimentary terms.

The Toledo exposition bill, carrying an appropriation of $500,000, was passed without debate.

When the river and harbor conference report was presented a debate upon the recession of the senate conferees from the senate amendment providing for reservoirs to irrigate arid lands at the headwaters of the Missouri river was precipitated by the advocates of the proposition. An effort was made to recommit the bill to the conferees, but it failed after an impassioned speech by Senator Frye, who submitted the report.

The senate ratified the extradition treaty with Mexico, with a retroactive clause to cover cases that otherwise might not have been punishable because of the lapse of the old treaty.

The senate also ratified the agreement for the amendments to the treaty for the international protection of industrial property. The treaty is the result of annual international conferences held at Brussels for the purpose of securing uniformity in patents, and copyrights, and the present agreement merely makes some additions to the original convention. The amendments were accepted without debate.

No action was taken by the senate on the Barrows nomination, and while it was pending a motion was made to go into legislative session, which prevailed.

At 2:15 a. m. the senate went into executive session. In executive session the naval nominations were taken up and the discussion was upon the cases of Admirals Schley and Sampson. It was urged that the list sent in yesterday would place the men in the order they ought to be and the first nominations, in which Sampson was given the preference, should be dropped. The senate decided to confirm the nominations without opposition. These are the promotions resulting from the naval personnel bill. It settles the Schley-Sampson controversy by making each a rear admiral, with Schley two numbers in advance of Sampson.

At 3:20 this morning the senate adopted the conference report on the river and harbor bill. It now goes to the house.

The best estimates available place the aggregate of the appropriations of the present session of congress at $675,885,489. Of this total the following items are determined, as the bills making the appropriations have become laws: Agriculture, $3,726,022; diplomatic and consular, $1,714,533; fortifications, $4,909,902; Indians, $7,604,755; legislative, etc., $23,405,740; military academy, $575,774; pension, $145,233,830; postoffice, $105,634,183; urgent deficiency, $140,640; Spanish treaty obligation, $20,000,000. The total of permanent appropriations is also fixed and is $128,678,220.

Senator Frye made the following statement: "In the matter of the Nicaragua canal, the conferees provided a substitute for the senate amendment giving full authority to the president to investigate all isthmian canal routes, especially the Nicaragua and Panama routes. He is to have all the engineers and other employes he may need for this purpose, and is allowed to appoint engineers either from the army or civil life. He is then to report his conclusions to the next congress. For this purpose we appropriate $1,000,000."

At 2:50 a. m. conferences were being held on the deficiency, the naval and the river and harbor bills, while the sundry civil and the District of Columbia bills are still unsettled.

At 3 o'clock this morning the conferees agreed to report another disagreement on the armor plate and the battleship amendments of the senate on the naval bill. They agreed upon all the other provisions. These two items will be submitted to a vote of the senate.

The conferees on the river and harbor bill were unable to make any change in the bill and it will be reported back to the senate as it was first agreed upon.

Foreign Ships Not Needed.

Washington, March 4.—Regarding reports from Chili that the government of that country was about to sell to the United States and Ecuador a number of warships in pursuance of a policy of retrenchment, officials point out that except under special authorization, such as was conveyed in the national defense act, the president has no power to buy any ships. Now that a state of peace prevails, so far as Spain is concerned, there would be no warrant for the expenditure of another dollar for foreign vessels, no matter how desirable these might be as acquisitions to the navy.

Safe In Italy.

Washington, March 4.—The state department has failed in its efforts to secure the return to this country under extradition proceedings of an Italian murderer named De Blasi, who is wanted in Boston. The man was found in Italy and held under arrest by the authorities awaiting the appearance of the Massachusetts officers. Now, however, it has been discovered by the Italian government that the man is an Italian subject, who had never been naturalized in the United States, so that he cannot be surrendered. The governor of Massachusetts has been so informed.

Not Portland Wreckage.

Boston, March 4.—The souvenirs of a wreck of some sort, brought to the surface by trawls set by fishermen from the schooner Mary Cabral on Stellwagen bank, 17 miles south of Thatcher's island, are not thought by Agent Williams of the Portland Steamship company to be from the steamer Portland. He says: "It looks entirely improbable, for all the wreckage which has been found of the Portland has been on the back side of Cape Cod. There hasn't been a single piece of wreckage seen between Thatcher's island and Cape Cod, and neither has a single piece of the Portland's wreckage been found on the inside of Cape Cod. I believe the Portland lies in the sand back of Cape Cod, in 30 or 40 fathoms of water.

Alert Game Warden.

Eastport, Me., March 4.—The game laws of the state of Maine were brought into play yesterday, when Game Warden French of Calais seized six barrels containing the carcasses of 17 deer on a local steamboat wharf. The barrels were consigned to Boston parties, and were brought on a lighter which runs between Pembroke and this place. Byron Lurchin, the owner of the lighter, was arrested, and then released on $3000 bail, the case to be heard in April. The penalty for having deer in possession in close time is $40 for each carcass, and an additional fine of $100 for each attempt to ship the same from the state. The seized goods have been confiscated by the game warden.

SLIDING WAGE SCALE.

Weavers Think Present Basis of Reckoning Margins Unfair.

The Advance Becomes General In New England.

Maine Manufacturers the Only Ones Who Are Not Yet In Line.

Fall River, Mass., March 4.—The Slasher Tenders and the Loom Fixers' unions last night accepted the report of the Textile Council delegates on the conference with the manufacturers' board looking to restoration of the old wage rate April 3 next. Further business was the appointment of committees to jointly meet the manufacturers' committee pointing to the adoption of the proposed sliding wage scale.

To this end considerable data has been classified by the different labor organizations. It is set forth by the labor leaders that the present basis of reckoning margins is unfair and should not figure in the construction of the proposed sliding scale. The claim is that the present cut contains more than 45 yards of cloth, which is one of the elements in reckoning margins. It is said that the cuts really contain 47 to 48 yards and should be figured so in the adjustment of the scale. A weaver turns off about 48 cuts a week.

Following the action of the Fall River mills, the mills in New Bedford, Rhode Island towns and other manufacturing centers of southern New England, the seven corporations of Lowell, the Amoskeag, Stark and Amory mills of Manchester, have decided to advance wages on April 3. The Chicopee mills, Farnamsville company, and others already have made similar announcements.

While up to today the Maine manufacturers had not made any announcement, it is understood that some of them have the wage question under consideration.

Thus far, cotton mills employing about 90,000 hands have decided to restore the schedule of 1897.

The New Hampshire cotton mills, which have headquarters in Boston, are falling into line with the mills of this state, and several of them have decided to restore the rate of wages paid prior to the reduction of December, 1897, when a 10 per cent. cut was made. The 7000 employes of the Amoskeag Manufacturing company were notified yesterday that the 1897 schedule would be restored on Monday, April 3. The Amory mills of Manchester and the Stark corporation of that city will restore the old rate at the same time. The Amory mills employ 1400 hands, and the Stark 1650.

The Manchester mills all have been running full time of late, and the outlook is considered promising. It is understood that the big Amoskeag company is to rebuild No. 4 and No. 5 mills of its plant. Considerable new machinery will be put in. While work of rebuilding is in progress, the employes of No. 4 mill will be employed in night work at the Jefferson mill. The hands in No. 5 mill also will be given work in other mills.

It is the intention of the Amory Manufacturing company to renovate its entire power plant. Modern engines will be placed in position, and altogether it is said that the new equipment will cost over $50,000. The repairs will cause no curtailment of production. The mills in Manchester ship large quantities of goods to the Chinese market.

The cotton mills in New Hampshire outside of Manchester include the Nashua and Jackson mills of Nashua, which posted notices today announcing an increase on April 3; the Monadnock of Fairmont, Cocheco of Dover, Exeter of Exeter, Salmon Falls of Salmon Falls, the Great Falls of Somersworth, China, Webster and Pembroke of Suncook. As practically all of these reduced wages in 1898, it is thought that most all that have not already done so will restore the old schedule within the next few weeks.

Silvela's Hard Task.

Madrid, March 4.—The queen regent, as the result of her consultations with the statesmen, generals and political leaders, informed Senor Sagasta that she desired to retain the present chamber, and then she invited him to reconstruct the cabinet. Senor Sagasta replied that it would be impossible for him to remain premier without a dissolution. Thereupon the queen regent referred the same request to Senor Montero Rios, president of the senate, who declined for the same reason. Finally Senor Silvela, the Conservative leader, accepted the task. The newspapers predict that popular demonstrations will greet a Conservative ministry.

Smallpox at San Juan.

San Juan, March 4.—One case of smallpox has been discovered here, and the authorities are taking special precautions to prevent the spread of the disease.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—6:13; sets, 5:39.
Moon rises—1:29 a. m.
High water—4:45 a. m.; 5:15 p. m.

A trough of low pressure extends from Texas to the St. Lawrence valley and rain has fallen in this trough. Rain may be expected in New England. Fresh easterly winds will prevail on the Atlantic coast.

The naval hydrographic office has made the following forecast for the North Atlantic ocean for the month of March: Frequent gales north of the 25th parallel; along the transatlantic routes occasional from the eastern quadrants. Gales along and to the north of the routes, less frequent than during January and February, more frequent south of 40 degrees N. Occasional fog to the north of the transatlantic routes, long. 42 degrees W., and near the 50th meridian as far south as the 39th parallel. Ice on and near the grand banks; field ice frequently west of this area.

FRUIT AND FLOWERS

NEW PLUMS.

Four Choice and Tested Varieties Originated by Luther Burbank.

Luther Burbank of California, who began his work by originating the Burbank potato while living in his native state of Massachusetts, has made a lasting mark in American horticulture as the originator of new fruits and flowers. Professor Van Deman has recently given an interesting sketch in The Rural New Yorker of Mr. Burbank and some of his remarkable achievements, from which the following in regard to late work with plums is reproduced:

Some of his choicest new plums, that have been under test sufficiently long to warrant being sent out, are shown in the cut. All of them are new, and three of them have never before been publicly mentioned so far as I know.

Royal is the result of a cross made by using pollen of Simon upon one of the Botans. It is about the largest plum I have ever seen, except Kelsey. The shape is oval and quite regular. In color it is a deep, reddish purple, very rich looking and attractive. The flesh is yellow and firm until fully ripe, when it becomes melting and juicy. It is almost a freestone. The flavor is a pleasant subacid, with a peculiar aroma that is deliciously refreshing. The quality is much better than that of any early plum I know and is good compared with any kind. It ripens before Willard or Red June.

Bartlett, another variety, is a cross of Simon upon Delaware. Its size is medium to large and the shape peculiar, being decidedly heart shaped, with a distinct suture on one side. The color is a dull purplish red. The flesh is yellowish and soft when fully ripe. The stone is large and long. Its flavor is very peculiar, being like that of the Bartlett pear, hence the name. The quality is very good to best, which, with its earliness (it ripens July 25 at Santa Rosa), productiveness and vigor of tree, ought to place it well up in the scale.

Chalco is a seedling of Burbank pollenized by Simon and resembles the Simon in shape, which is flat, but is larger and very much better in quality. I would call it very good and quite free from the peculiar bitterish flavor of the Simon plum. The main objection that will be raised to it is the resemblance to the shape of that variety, which has become unpopular in market because of its flavor. The color is rich yellowish red. The texture of the flesh is about all one could desire. The stone is small in proportion to the flesh.

Garnet is my choice of all the new plums which I have tested. It is a cross between Wickson and Satsuma. It is large, being over two inches in diameter and nearly round in shape. The surface is smooth, dark wine—red or garnet—being very handsome. The flesh is garnet color, too, and rich looking. This color suggested to me the name Garnet, which Mr. Burbank has accepted. In flavor it is excellent, being tart enough, yet not sour, but a delicious subacid. No plum that I have eaten is better, and when cooked it could scarcely be equaled. It has all the high flavor of Satsuma when cooked, which has heretofore been far above all other plums when in that condition. The season of Garnet is at least a month earlier, as it is fully ripe by Aug. 1. The tree is very fruitful. I look for this plum to take a high place in public favor.

Packing the Earth Hard.

A correspondent of Green's Fruit Grower says: "I have planted perhaps 1,000,000 trees in my lifetime. I have met with but few failures and cannot remember having watered any of these trees. If the soil is made thoroughly fine before planting; if the soil about the roots is pressed in very firm, as firm as a fencepost; if the soil is left loose on the top and kept continuously loose by cultivation, the trees will live even though the season may be dry."

Horticultural Notes.

Mr. J. H. Hale says that the codling moth has done greater injury to the fruit crops of Massachusetts than the San Jose scale ever would, and the bugs, fungus, etc., show that nature has no use for a lazy man.

It is estimated that there are 45,000 acres on the Pacific coast devoted to olive orchards.

S. D. Willard is reported in Orange Judd Farmer as calling the apricot a misunderstood fruit. The late varieties, such as Moorpark, give but little fruit, but the new Japanese kinds are productive and quite satisfactory in New York, and he thinks would do well in New England and other parts of the country.

Secretary Wilson has been elected president, Dr. D. E. Fernow vice president, and F. H. Newell secretary of the American Forestry association for the ensuing year.

CREW OF THE MORAVIA

Had a Terrible Fight For Life During a Fierce Blizzard.

Second Officer Succumbed to Wounds and Exposure.

Vessel Is Now Totally Broken Up on a Bar of Sable Island.

Halifax, March 4.—Steamer Aberdeen arrived here yesterday from Sable island, bringing the crew of the wrecked steamer Moravia, which was lost on the northwest bar of the island last month.

Two hours after striking the Moravia broke in two just before the bridge. The engines were torn from their foundations and hurled to the port side, causing the steamer to list heavily. The steam pipes burst and the electric engines were stopped, leaving the vessel in darkness. Bitter cold weather had coated the decks thickly with ice and in the awful darkness of that fierce blizzard which drove the steamer on the bleak and dangerous coast of grim Sable Island, the 40 men on board the Moravia had a terrible fight for life.

Only three boats remained on the steamer, and of these one was broken and the other so covered with ice that it could not be reached. The third boat was got clear, and after working desperately the crew got it clear at daylight. It was launched at 9:30 a. m., Feb. 12, and at 11 a. m. Captain Jurgensen and 20 of his officers and crew left the ship. They were carried shoreward by the gale, and after suffering terrible hardships for 20 hours reached the Sable Island lighthouse reached the Sable Island lightmorning. They were then so exhausted and frostbitten with the cold, eight below zero, that many of them had to be carried ashore. The second officer, Emil Fromsdorf, who had been terribly mangled by being cast against a davit by a sea while assisting to get a boat clear, died from exposure in the boat. He suffered great agony from his wounds and cold. All the others recovered.

The 18 men, including First Officer Von Bremen, were rescued by the Sable Island life crew in three trips of the boat Relief, and all were safe on shore before the boat which left the Moravia's side containing the captain reached land. The second officer was buried on the island and over his grave were placed a cross and a life buoy of the Moravia, bearing the steamer's and his name. The remaining 39 men were brought to Halifax yesterday morning by the government steamer Aberdeen.

Captain Jurgensen has made the following statement: "We were making for Halifax, being short of coal, having only about 200 tons left in our bunkers. The distance made was so small against the sea that we were anxious to make Halifax by the shortest route possible. From noon on the 11th until 12 midnight we steered a northwest course, running about 70 miles on that course. Then we changed to west, northwest magnetic, and we ran 12 miles on the west-northwest course.

"About 1 o'clock on the morning of the 12th, Sunday, the second and third officers were on the bridge. They sighted a fixed light on the port beam, which they took to be the light of an east-bound steamer. In the meantime a snow squall sprung up, and they did not sight the light again for half an hour, when it appeared on the same bearing.

"The second officer, who was in charge, went into the chart room. He was there 10 or 15 minutes before calling me. As soon as he told me of the light I ordered him at once to turn the ship around on an easterly course (I was in my room), but before we got out the ship struck. Only two minutes elapsed. We were going full speed, about 10 knots at the time. I ordered the engines stopped and full speed astern, but the ship would not come off. We stopped the engines and tried again, but she would not move. We tried until all the blades of the propeller were broken and the shaft was bent."

When the boat's crew left the Moravia the first officer, H. Von Bremner, remained on the steamer with part of the crew. He spent the night about the vessel amidships and apparently was none the worse for the perilous time experienced on the broken craft. He was taken ashore in the lifeboat and was greatly surprised to find that the captain and his boat's crew had not reached land. He remained by the ship when the captain left because he thought there would be time for the boat to return and take all ashore. The last night on the wreck was spent amid great peril. The ship was broken in two, she was listed to port, and the four men aboard were huddled in the gangways on the starboard side, while the seas were making clean breaches over the decks. Only the iron doors of the bulkheads were left to withstand the terrible sweep of the waves. The vessel was totally broken up Wednesday.

Brockhaus Will Hang.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 4.—Frederick M. Brockhaus, charged with murder in the first degree as being an accomplice with Benjamin Willis in the murder of Daniel S. R. Lambert at Wilton Dec. 17, was found guilty by the jury yesterday, and Judge Wheeler sentenced him to be hanged Sept. 6, 1899. Though Lawyer Chamberlain, for the defense, made an able argument to the effect that Brockhaus was but a dupe of Willis, who has already paid the penalty of the crime, State Attorney Fessenden made a masterful argument, pointing out that Brockhaus was jointly guilty with Willis in the commission of the crime. Judge Wheeler's charge to the jury was considered favorable to the accused, giving him every possible benefit allowed by the law. The jury retired at 2:25 p. m. and returned their verdict at 4:45 o'clock.

Pope Doing Well.

Rome, March 4.—Dr. Lapponi was able to leave the pope for several hours yesterday, the pope being much more tractable and only asking that the wound be left heavily bandaged. Everything is going satisfactorily.

SYSTEM OF BLACKMAIL.

Planters Suffer From Action of Cuban Soldiers Who Refuse to Disband.

Havana, March 4.—The 44 generals and colonels composing the Cuban military assembly had another three hours' discussion yesterday regarding the proposal of the United States government to grant $3,000,000 to pay off the Cuban troops. No conclusion was reached, and the debate was adjourned, to be resumed on Monday.

There is a faction in the assembly which takes seriously the proposition of the mysterious American syndicate, supposed to be represented here by Mr. Ferros, which offers $12,000,000 on hard conditions, precisely what has not been disclosed. As the assembly has no power to create a lein on the customs, it can do nothing more than recommend something to Governor General Brooke or to Washington. General Gomez is taking no part in the deliberations, and regards the $12,000,000 as delusive.

Meanwhile the so-called Cuban army remains under arms, and is subsisting upon contributions that amount to blackmail. The planters, by implied duress, are compelled to feed the bands in their district. For instance, the Constancia plantation, near Cienfuegos, regularly feeds any Cubans recognized by the district commander, often as many as 50 or 60 a day. Fifteen American soldiers were detailed to guard the plantation, yet the proprietors are constrained to keep 25 Cuban horsemen under pay at $1 a month, with food and forage. The other day two Cuban officers asked for suits of clothing, so as to appear respectable when they visited Cienfuegos, and the request or demand was complied with.

Every plantation in the island is subject to similar blackmail, and the proprietors are afraid to refuse. The owners of the Constancia plantation are employing 500 men. They want 600 more, and have been negotiating with the Cuban generals, but all to no purpose thus far, as the Cuban generals are unwilling to disband their men, they say, until the Americans pay the army.

The island treasury has about $1,000,000 on hand. Up to date $300,000 has been paid out. This includes some of the February payrolls. Havana has taken half, Santiago $159,000, and Pinar del Rio less than $10,000.

Hard Times Ahead.

Santiago, March 4.—Between 2000 and 3000 men have been suddenly thrown out of work in the province of Santiago—over 700 in the immediate neighborhood of this city. Although Governor General Brooke has wired $30,000 required for the February payrolls, there is still a deficit of nearly $20,000; and the orders from Havana still hold good limiting the expenditure during the month of March for the entire province to $10,000.

Money Goes to Salisbury.

Boston, March 4.—In the case of H. C. Weston et al vs the town of Amesbury, the full bench of the supreme court has sent down a decision, holding that the town of Salisbury is entitled to the gift of $50,000 made by the will of William Holton in 1887. Hilton died in Boston, and gave to the town of Salisbury the sum of $50,000, the income to be devoted to the aged men and women of the town who should need it. The town was afterwards divided, nearly the whole of it becoming a part of Amesbury. The part which was annexed to Amesbury also included the home of the testator. Amesbury, under the circumstances, contended that the fund ought to go to that town, but the court holds otherwise.

Passed a Wreck.

Gloucester, Mass., March 4. — The schooner Hattie L. Trask reached this port yesterday and the captain states that Thursday night, when some 50 miles off shore, his craft ran into a large section of floating wreckage. The night was exceptionally dark, and the wind was blowing quite hard, so that the crew had no opportunity to investigate except to note that the obstruction was nearly wholly submerged and might have caused serious damage to their craft had the Trask struck it squarely.

Embezzlement Charged.

Providence, March 4.—Papers have been prepared for the arrest of George F. Hunter, town clerk of East Providence. Hunter is specifically charged with embezzling divers sums of money while serving as tax collector in certain years. It is not believed that he will seek to evade arrest. The amount involved is believed to be slightly in excess of $12,000. The case is an old one and has been under investigation by experts for several weeks.

An Offer From Butte.

New York, March 4.—Dave Holland, of this city, who is receiving bids for the Fitzsimmons-Jeffries fight, yesterday received the following telegram from Butte, Mont.: "Boxing bill passed. Club guarantees $25,000 purse. P. J. Donohue." Holland wired back that a $500 deposit was necessary to secure consideration of the bid, and received a reply that a check for that amount had been forwarded.

Big Real Estate Deal.

Boston, March 4.—The Journal announces that the firm of Siegel-Cooper company has purchased Music hall and adjoining property. This firm, which already has stores in New York and Chicago, intends to establish a large department store in Boston. This immense parcel is located in the heart of the downtown district. The price paid for the property was $900,000.

A Mean Trick.

North Adams, Mass., March 4.—The office of The Transcript was broken into Thursday night by vandals, who dismantled and partially wrecked the linotype machines. The Transcript was enabled to publish yesterday as usual by means of hand composition. The police are nonplussed, as the only idea seems to have been to destroy valuable property.

Jolly Chums.

Georgetown, S. C., March 4.—Ex-President Cleveland, Captain Robley D. Evans and Commodore E. C. Benedict arrived at Georgetown yesterday. The party was transferred to the yacht Natoma and left for the shooting preserves of the Santee club, where they will be the guests of the club for 10 days or two weeks.

THE TRADE SITUATION.

Week Has Proved to Be a Notable One In Many Respects.

New York, March 4.—Bradstreet's says: An enlarged volume of spring trade, particularly in dry goods, due to spring weather, special strength in the demand and price for cotton fabrics, an immense and urgent call at soaring prices for iron and steel and all its products, and substantial advances in wages, chiefly affecting the above mentioned industries and benefitting at a conservative calculation 110,000 operatives, are among the features of the week.

From many cities east and west come reports of an active demand from jobbers for spring dry goods. From the cotton manufacturing industry of the east come reports of activity, inducing manufacturers to grant advances to their operatives, while the list of advances in prices of iron and steel products, whether of crude, of manufactured or even of old material, is a virtual rollcall of that industry's products. An encouraging feature is the small number of strikes for higher wages reported, partly owing to advances already being conceded.

Our export trade in cereals is recovering from the check administered by recent frigid and stormy weather, but reports of damage to the winter wheat crop on the one hand and estimates of superabundant supplies of old crop in farmers' hands have about balanced each other, with a slight advantage as regards prices secured by the bears.

Prices generally, aside from the exceptions noted, show few important changes. Talk of new combinations in many lines of trade continues active, but signs are not wanting that promoters find it hard to place shares of companies not widely known.

Business failures number 177 for the week, as against 232 in this week a year ago; 262 in 1897, 270 in 1896 and 252 in 1895.

Weekly bank clearings reflect a renewed expansion in business, following the period of cold weather trade interruption and holidays in a total larger than ever before known, and aggregating $2,151,607,000, a gain of 30 percent over last week and of 40 percent over this week a year ago. As compared with this time in 1895, 1896 or 1897, current bank clearings are considerably more than doubled.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 4.—The house of representatives spent the greater part of yesterday afternoon's session in discussing the adverse report of the committee on constitutional amendments on a resolve to amend the constitution by striking out the word "male" therefrom. The purpose of the resolve is to confer equal suffrage rights on women. The old augumments for and against woman suffrage were threshed over. Substitution was refused, 31 to 82, and the adverse report was then accepted.

The committee on towns reported ought not to pass on the bill changing the time of holding town meetings to November and December.

In the senate the bill giving days of grace on sight drafts came up from the house, endorsed with the statement that it had been passed over the governor's veto by a two-thirds vote, and accompanied by the veto message. The bill was placed first in Monday's orders.

Secret sessions of the Boston board of aldermen came in for some strong condemnation at the hands of the Citizens' association in a legislative hearing, where arguments were made in favor of a bill to prevent the aldermen from acting on any measure in secret. Lawrence and Brockton men argued in favor of compelling corporations and business houses to grant a half holiday at every election. Boston police and prison representatives urged the passage of a bill requiring prison officials to measure criminals by the Bertillon system. There was another hearing on the proposed 40-mile electric railway from Waltham to Pepperell, at which it was brought out that one object of the road is ultimately to bring products of the farms of Acton and elsewhere into the Boston market by street car. Boston sewage questions were before the metropolitan affairs committee, and the fish and game committee heard defenders of the present fish commission and opponents to the bill for a new commission of six. Haverhill sent down a large contingent to argue for a referendum on the proposition to abolish Haverhill grade crossings, and a roomful of Boston produce merchants opposed a bill directed against the sale of cold storage eggs. The bill fell through from lack of support, and the arguments of the Boston men were not needed. There were several other hearings.

Represented by Lee.

Washington, March 4.—The latest development of the war department court of inquiry into General Miles' beef charge was the appearance yesterday of Major Jesse Lee as counsel for the general commanding the army. Major Lee was so introduced to the court by the recorder, Colonel Davis, at the beginning of the afternoon session. He began to cross-examine witnesses at once and with the first one antagonized the court to the extent of demanding the admission of certain letters as evidence, but was refused. The proceedings were not marked, however, by any evidence of unpleasant friction between the court and the new counsel.

Killed With Snowball.

Boston, March 4.—Hugh McDonald, aged 28, who was arrested for striking John O'Brien with a snowball and fracturing his skull, was arraigned in court yesterday, charged with manslaughter, owing to the death of O'Brien. He was committed to await a hearing on March 11.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Former State Supreme Court Justice Nathaniel H. Clement, who recently retired from the bench, died at Brooklyn from grip. Justice Clement was a leading Democrat and a member of many clubs. He was born in Tilton, N. H., in 1844.

Captain Isaac J. Merritt, Jr., of the Merritt-Chapman Wrecking company, is reported to be dying at New York. An operation for appendicitis was performed yesterday. His father, the famous wrecker, is in the south, and a message has been sent him calling him home.

Daniel Scotten, aged 80, a wealthy retired tobacco manufacturer, died at Detroit from heart affection, aggravated by extreme age. He leaves to his widow and one daughter an estate valued at from $5,000,000 to $7,000,000.

Another Revelation

The Puritans didn't believe we would ever talk by telephone or read by electric light. Perhaps you doubt that it's possible to make a soap that is equally good for any soap requirement. That's because you are not keeping pace with science. Fairy Soap is a revelation, even to other soap-makers. It's a step beyond anything that has ever been expected. It represents the perfect unity of efficiency and daintiness.

FAIRBANK'S

is a solvent of dirt. If the dirt is on the skin it releases it—that's all—the water does the rest. The skin is not affected. The same thing happens if the dirt is in a fabric. Fairy Soap releases it easily, quickly and thoroughly without injuring the fabric or its color. Fairy Soap is an ideal soap for toilet, bath, nursery and fine laundry purposes.

A White Luncheon.

A bride of one year has just celebrated her wedding anniversary by a pure white luncheon, save for the fleck of rose pink given by the place cards, which were curled rose petals that seemed to have drifted from a year of rosy happiness to each guest, bearing her name in gold. The table was richly set with the silver and cut glass wedding gifts. In the center was a low cut bowl filled with hyacinths. The bowl rested on a square of lace over white satin. The wax tapers in silver candelabra were pure white, and a prettier picture could not have been found than the hostess arrayed in her white satin wedding gown. One recalls the beautiful dining room effect attained at a debut party, where the table was broidered in tall palms and plants set about to heighten its personal decorations of glowing crimson, an arrangement very new and very beautiful. And yet another sweet table was displayed, bride-like and beautiful, at an elegant afternoon, where all stiffness gave place to a grouping of beautiful white and green in the massed style.

Special Duties For Her.

Even though blessed with the best of nurses, there are some duties a mother should perform herself. She should bathe her baby every day, and see that his clothing has been thoroughly aired before it is put on. If the nurse is so capable that the mother trusts her with this task, the parent should make it a rule to inspect the little one's body every day to see if there are any spots or rough places that need attention.

Bottles and all articles used in the preparation of the baby's food should be examined daily by the mother. An enormous number of childish ailments are caused by babies being fed from unclean bottles and sour teats. It is impossible to expect a stranger to be as careful in the matter as the mother would be, and unless she knows that her mistress makes it a rule to inspect bottles and saucepans daily the nurse is apt to be a little careless, with the result of much pain and not a little danger to the baby.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Woman Wine Expert.

A young woman from California who has been lecturing on wines in this city and is going to the Paris exposition as an expert from her state has had several very curious experiences with New York women. She has received letters from prohibition women expressing surprise that a woman should be a wine expert and that she should lecture on such a subject. Other women have written to her for advice in selecting wines, and one woman asked her to select at a Broadway store a complete and proper wine service. This last request was made by a woman whose name was known to the lecturer, and she complied with it. In speaking of her work this woman said several days ago: "It does not seem to be a queer profession to me, and I believe that women are naturally better wine testers than men. They have keener discrimination in taste and they are not so apt to dull it by tobacco and drinking."—New York Sun.

Music Roll and Shopping Bag.

One of the newest music rolls is intended for the young woman who goes out in the evening to sing or play and has to carry slippers as well as music. In the center of the roll is a compartment for the slippers, which is loose from the outside, except at the edges of the roll and ends of the slipper case, and the music slips between the two and wraps around the case. This case is adjustable and can be taken out of the roll when not wanted.

The shopping bag, which is simply a huge bag into which everything is dropped and tumbled together, has given way to a neat affair opening at the ends clear of the bottom of the bag. There are little satin pockets along the side, shirred at the top with a rubber cord, so that they are easily explored even with one's gloves on.

WANTED!! A Committee On the Welfare Of the City.

Good Afternoon.

A letter received in Quincy this week from a Co K boy speaks in umbrageous tones against the peculiar discipline of the Fifth regiment. The men of the other regiments brigaded with the Fifth are handsomely treated by their officers, and no act deemed conducive to the health of the men is left undone by these commanders. The officers of the Fifth seem to have a crude and heartless method of dealing with the men, and in consequence the enlisted man suffers untold hard ship, and if he is not blessed with an usually sound body, soon finds himself in the hospital. The men who were heretofore quiet and uncomplaining, are loud in their protests against the incompetency of the officers. These protests are not aired publicly just yet, but the men are praying for the day of muster-out, believing that something will be done toward bringing those responsible for these hardships to the punishments they richly deserve. The parents of the Quincy boys are in anything but a peaceful state of mind just at present, in view of the fact that serious sickness has entered the ranks of the local company; and many a prayer will be sent up that the day when the boys will lay aside the blue may come without further needless sacrifice. Letters have been sent to Congressman Barrows, asking him to use his good offices in alleviating the sufferings of the boys, providing competent nurses, and capable doctors. It seems a pity that now at the eleventh hour the Fifth regiment should be called upon to lose many of its young soldiers through the ignorance and culpability of the officers.

Commenting on the treatment of the Fifth the Boston Transcript of last evening contained this paragraph:

An ex-non-commissioned officer of the command, recently discharged, says that the peculiar discipline carried out in the regiment had created great dissatisfaction, and would be the cause of much sickness. He said: "The Twenty-Third New York and the Fourth Missouri, part of the brigade to which the Fifth belongs, were allowed a long time ago to build bunks in their tents in view of the tremendously cold weather. Some men of the Fifth attempted to do the same thing, and they were stopped, and from that time the men have been required to sleep on the tent floors. When the snow came the men secured boards and placed them against the walls of the tents as a protection from snow. These also were ordered down and burned."

The Salem City Council took the preliminary steps, Thursday evening, toward giving the Eighth regiment a fitting welcome on its return from Cuba. The committee on military affairs was instructed to report a programme, with the probable expense and the mayor was instructed to communicate with Governor Wolcott and try to have the entire regiment ordered to Salem for a day after they were mustered out of the United States service.—Boston Transcript.

The Ledger was on the point of suggesting a similar celebration in Quincy upon the return of Co. K of the Fifth regiment. While the regiment has not seen active service, the fact remains that the boys volunteered, and that they have been ready, willing and anxious to go to the front. They have suffered from privations and the elements, and have been separated from home. Some recognition should certainly be made when they return this month, but the demonstration may be modified by the labor situation in the granite industry.

It is pleasing to note that the State Board of Arbitration was alert to its duties. Any attempt to bring about a settlement or resumption of work in Quincy is welcome, whether successful or not. Unusually good feeling exists between the committees of the manufacturers and the cutters, and prompt action should secure some agreement whereby the business may continue. It can be secured more easily now than a week hence.

In 1880 the population of Weymouth was larger than Quincy. Now the valuation of this city is over $19,000,000, and the valuation of Weymouth but $6,733,312

Drift of Opinion.

☞ A cheaper rate of postage on merchandise is not looked upon with favor by the merchants doing business in the smaller towns of the country. It would undoubtedly carry more trade to the large department stores of the big cities.—Beverly Times.

☞ Mr. Depew thinks the Filipinos will quit fishing as soon as they get a chance to see how the Yankee farmer puts in crops. The only trouble with this prediction is, that it will probably be hard to induce a Filipino to stop running long enough to see how the business is done.—Chicago News.

☞ The press should be fearless, ever ready to expose a real perfidy or wrong; but it should be equally ready to exercise the charity which suffereth long and is kind; envieth not; vaunteth not itself; is not puffed up; doth not behave itself unseemly; seeketh not her own; is not easily provoked: thinketh not evil; rejoiceth not in iniquity; but rejoiceth in truth;" and is ever ready to praise an antagonist for a good deed and to criticise a friend for unworthy acts that work injury to the community or to the individuals thereof.—Reading Chronicle.

☞ The opponents of annexation of the Philippines have said all that can be advanced and more than can be legitimately urged on the sentimental side of the question. It is to be hoped that, before the meeting of the next Congress, the public may give due attention to the far more serious questions of our vast commercial interests in the Pacific, and to the protection of those interests from the inevitable hostility of European coalitions whose interests are diametrically opposed to those of the United States. We have no recourse but to favor a policy of free access to China for trading purposes, equally available to all countries, and at the same time resisting all territorial aggressions against that empire. With our people intelligently and earnestly committed to that position, there is sufficient support of this policy in the attitude of other governments to defeat the designs of the military powers without resorting to war, and thus this great question might be settled on a permanently pacific basis.—Henry Clews.

Dangerous Plaything.

The daughter of Mr. George O. Langley had a narrow escape Friday from a serious accident. That morning in cleaning out some old boxes Mr. Langley found a railroad torpedo which he threw away. Later in the day his daughter found it and being ignorant of its nature she struck it with a hammer. A loud explosion followed, one of the flying pieces striking her over the eye, making a savage cut, which was later dressed by a physician. The torpedoes are filled with dynamite and the girl was extremely fortunate to escape as she did.

A CONFERENCE.

State Board of Arbitration in Quincy.

They Meet the Two Committees Jointly.

Still in Session When the Ledger Went to Press.

If anything the outlook for a settlement, or a return to work by the granite cutters, pending a final settlement, is a little brighter, owing to an unexpected, visit Friday afternoon of the State Board of Arbitration. The board stated upon their arrival that they did not come to arbitrate, but simply to look over the ground and familiarize themselves with the situation, in case they should be called to sit in arbitration on the matter.

The board visited the Union headquarters and talked affairs over with the men, and later visited President Marnock of the Manufacturers' Association with whom they also had a conference.

The board was received pleasantly by both President Marnock and the Union, and it is understood that both sides expressed themselves as desiring an early settlement, and the resumption of business.

Before the State board left town, it was arranged that the two committees should meet the board for a conference and a general discussion of the situation, to see if some arrangement could to be effected whereby work shall be resume pending a final settlement.

The meeting of the three bodies was held this morning at 10 o'clock, at the rooms of the Manufacturers' Association in Durgin & Merrill's block, and the indications early this morning were that some arrangement agreeable to both parties would be reached before adjournment.

Yesterday a number of the men who were employed upon piece work, returned to work to finish up the stone upon which they were at work when the strike was inaugurated Wednesday morning.

Rumors reached Quincy Friday that men were wanted at Barre, and Montpelier, where a settlement had been reached, and a number of men packed their kits and left town in search of work at those places. Those who went were as a rule young men who had no family ties to keep them in Quincy or in any particular place. There were, however, some family men who went away, but in their case the chances are that in case of an early settlement in Quincy, as anticipated they will return.

PROLONGED SESSION.

At noon the two committees and the State Board of Arbitration were still in Session at the rooms of the Granite Manufacturers' Association. At that hour the questions involved in the difficulty were still under discussion, and there was no telling when a conclusion would been reached.

The indications at that hour were that it would be a long session although it was not impossible that some agreement would be reached at any moment.

The meeting, however, is an indication for good, for at the meeting of the two committees Tuesday evening an adjournment was had without date and there was no telling when they would have been called together again but for the visit of the State board. Now that they are together once more, some agreement is almost sure to follow. Let us hope so.

AN ADJOURNMENT.

At 12.30 an adjournment was taken until 1.30 for lunch. Up to that hour time had been consumed in a general discussion of the situation and the matters upon which the two committees are at variance.

A Little Life Left.

Concord, N. H., is exercised because of the recent report of the Nation labor bureau, which described the granite industry in Concord as dead. A committee has been appointed to act with a like committee from the Commercial club to formulate resolutions to be presented to the governor, asking that a retraction of the report of granite manufactures might be made.

Agreement at Westerly.

The Westerly granite manufacturers have accepted the new bill of prices of the Granite Cutters' National Union. The bill of prices calls for a slight increase of pay over that of former years. The agreement is to continue until March 1, 1900.

Mr. Patterson, the Wollaston florist, is one of the most sucessful growers of violets in this vicinity. Saturday he sent the editor a large bunch of them with the message that they were to be worn in his button hole to church on Sunday. If the editor had attempted to wear the whole bunch he would have been out of sight, as one violet alone made a good sized boutonniere. They were the largest and handsomest violets we ever saw.

Quincy Man Executor.

At Dedham Friday the will of Cyrus Washburn, late of Wellesley, which was executed on March 24, 1897, was filed for probate. The testator bequeaths to the Deacones Home of Boston two houses and lots on Washburn avenue East Weymouth, and on the death of a niece the income of certain real estate in Shawmut and Washburn streets, East Weymouth, will go to the Methodist Episcopal church of that village. The testators wife, Elizabeth Washburn and Weston W. Osborne recently of Quincy, are nominated as executors of the will.

Coffee.

We need hardly call attention to our Coffee Department, as it is a well known fact that any grade of Coffee purchased at our establishment is THE BEST OBTAINABLE.

Our large and increasing trade is evidence that we suit the people.

1 lb. can, very fine flavored, rich Coffee, at 25c. can.

Our best Java, for which we cannot say too much in praise, 30c. lb., 3 1-2 lbs. $1.00.

We strongly recommend the keeping of Coffee, either roasted or roasted and ground, in glass, and for 5 cents additional on any grade sold, we will furnish air-tight Mason jar. This is much better than a tin can, as it is absolutely air tight and will keep the Coffee fresh for an indefinite time.

is not a stimulant but a blood purifying, cleansing and harmless mixture of vegetable ingredients which cures disorders of the digestive tract and expels worms. It does not whip the tired organs into temporary activity as most remedies do, followed by an equal reaction, but True's Elixir removes the cause of the trouble and its tonic effects are due to good, sound digestion and pure blood, which follow its use. NEW UNITY CLUB.

Mr. Frederic Allison Tupper The President.

In response to a notice read by Rev. E. C. Butler, on Sunday, regarding the formation of a club for literary, musical and social purposes, a large gathering was at the Unitarian chapel last evening to organize and talk over the club.

Mr. Butler called the meeting to order and Mr. George B. Dewson was chosen chairman and Miss Winifred E. McKay, secretary.

Previous to the meeting a committee had made some plans which were suggested to the meeting. They suggested the club be called the First Church Unity club and it was so voted. Mr. Frederic Allison Tupper of the High school was elected president and Miss McKay secretary.

The chair appointed Mrs. Thoma Fenno, Miss Georgiana Lane and Mr. Rupert F. Claflin, a committee of three to retire and nominate a committee for the next meeting, etc.

While this committee was preparing their report an entertainment was given; opening with a chorus by nine young people in quaint dress, the girls with black rag dolls. They were Gordon Adams, Helen Baxter, Joel Sheppard, Eleanor Randall, Brooks Keyes, Janette Carr, Sidney Carr, Helen Durgin and Everett Winslow, with Miss Florence Carr as accompanist. This was so good a repetition was given.

A fine violin and piano selection was rendered by Mrs. Harry Porter and Mr. Robert Porter, which was so enthusiastically encored that they responded with another.

PRESI DENT TUPPER.

The trio by Miss Florence Emery, Brooke Keyes and Everett Winslow, with Miss Sara Whicher as accompanist again called for a repetition, which was given.

Miss Georgiana Lane gave a chalk talk on the beginning of art. She said she expected to talk to a gathering of children, but it was noticed the grown people were as much interested as the young. Her illustrations, although quickly drawn, gave all a good impression of Egyptian art and its evolution.

The conjuring trick by Miss Edith Randall brought down the house.

The entertainment was brought to a close by a solo sung by Miss Emery, which was received, as all of Miss Emery's selections are, with a hearty encore and she responded with another.

By this time the committee was ready to report through its chairman, Mr. Claflin. Three were appointed to prepare for the next meeting, and six names were suggested as a committee to submit names for other offices of the club, to appoint a finance committee.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. James H. Stetson, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sproul, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Randall, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fenno, Mr. and Mrs. Clare, Mr. Anderson, Mr. Faxon, Mrs. Keyes, Mrs. Emery, Mrs. Reed, Mrs Pratt, Mr. C. H. Porter, Mr. Eaton Pierce, several young people, and in all about seventy-five who are interested in the welfare of the First Church Unity club.

THE MUSTER OUT.

March Pay Day at Camp Wetherill Suspended.

[From Greenville News, Mar. 2]

The dates for the muster out of all the regiments of Camp Wetherill have now been set. The 203d New York is to go out on the 25th, the 2d West Virginia and the 5th Massachusetts on the 31st. The 201st, New York also for the 31st, and the 4th New Jersey is marked for official death on the 4th of April.

Two more mustering officers and a recruiting officer for the regular army arrived Wednesday. These are Chief mustering Officer Major Andress, Capt. G. K. McGunnegle and Lieut. W. S. Alexander. Major Andress will have supervision of the entire work. The 5th Mass. will be mustered out by Cap. Beckurts. It is altogether unlikely that any two regiments will be released the same day and it is probable that two or three days will intervene between the muster out of each command.

A rather sadly important announcement was made Wednesday that the March pay day, although the pay rolls for February have been signed, will be abandoned; that the troops will not be paid again until they are finally released. This, Mayor Andress says, is done in order to save delay and confusion on the rolls. Though he cannot say definitely as yet whether this will be done, he and all the other mustering officers think that it will. The abolition of the March pay day will be greatly regretted by both the troops and the merchants, as the troops want something to spend in the meantime and the merchants fear that they will not be able to handle the great volume of trade that will be precipitated and crowded into about two weeks time, during the muster out. If the March pay day is continued over to the muster out pay day the total amount paid to each regiment will be about $150,000. making the grand total to the five regiments $750,000. Judging from the experience of the muster out of the 4th Missouri regiment, about half of this amount will be spent in Greenville, provided Greenville is able to handle the trade.

Tents Rotten.

The Greenville News said Thursday: The officers of the 5th Massachusetts regiment will not allow their names to be used in a public declaration that defective tents are the cause of so much pneumonia among the men of their regiment, but they generally admit that this is the cause. A prominent officer of the regiment said yesterday: "Of course there is no doubt in the world that this pneumonia is due to the leaking tents. Even the officers' tents are rotten and leaking. We have had these tents continually since we left the State camp, but if they had been renewed promptly when they were condemned we would not have had all of this pneumonia. Will there be an investigation looking to placing the blame where it belongs? Well, I have reason to believe that there will, but I am not prepared to talk for publication on this subject. About 300 new tents got as far as brigade headquarters on the way to us a few weeks ago, but they were afterward carried to the 2d West Virginia regiment.

"Most of the cases of pneumonia are traceable to the defective guard house quarters. There is a wooden building for the prisoners themselves, but the tents for the guards do not give protection. The guards sought refuge in the Christian Commission tent, but the stove here is kept outside to prevent fire."

Co. K. Man Appointed.

The many friends and acquaintances of 1st Sergeant Maurice Colbert of Company K, 5th U. S. V., will be glad to learn that he has been appointed to the office of 2d Lieut.

Mr. Colbert is well known in this part of the State. He is the only charter member of the present company; having joined in November, 1887.

—While the two branches of Congress are at logger-heads on the question of abolishing the canteen in the army, Secretary Long does away with it in the navy by issuing a general order to that effect on his own account. There's no doubt that the order harmonizes with the best sentiment as to naval administration nowadays, and it is equally certain that it accords with Secretary Long's temperance principles and professions.—Boston Herald.

RRAINTREE CONCERT

The fifth grand concert under the auspices of the Union Choral society was given in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening, under the leadership of Mrs. Martha Dana Shepard.

The chorus was assisted by the Musical society of Weymouth and the following named artists: Mr. Wulff Fries, celloist; Mr. U. S. Kerr, baritone; Mrs. Helen Allen Hunt, contralto; Miss Ella Hall Shields, soprano; and a mixed quartette.

The hall was well filled and the enthusiasm which appeared with the first number on the programme increased to the end of the evening's performance.

The chorus has been very much crippled in numbers this season by sickness and other causes and the unusual number of stormy nights interferred with the rehearsals but in spite of this fact the members did good work in rendering "Fair Ellen," "Barbara Freitchie," and Unfold ye Portals," bringing out the fine points and singing with that expression and that phrasing that showed able training.

While there were some imperfections it should be remembered that the works were more difficult than those taken up heretofore, requiring study and constant rehearsing. The audience roundly applauded each selection, however, showing that they appreciated the work that has been done in a short time.

It is but just to say of Mrs. Shepard, who is already known here as a remarkable woman, that she has been faithful and untiring in her endeavors to make the chorus work excel if possible that of last year, and judging from the applause, she succeeded. She has done much to elevate the musical taste of our people.

Her brilliant piano solo was marred by the fact that she was obliged to use the old piano which is no longer young and shows the effects of hard usage and want of care.

Just as she was about to begin, a lady fainted in the audience and had to be carried out. There was a ripple of excitement which was trying for a soloist but she was equal to the emergency and receievd a grand ovation.

Of the soloists it can be said they are all favorites with a Braintree audience.

Mr. Kerr made a hit here last year and many attended this concert to hear him again. That they were not disappointed was shown by the repeated encores.

Mr. Fries always delights his hearers and this occasion was no exception. He responded to repeated encores which grew louder after every selection.

Mrs. Hunt, in her sweet and full contralto voice held her audience in close attention during each of her selections. Her selections in response to encores were well chosen. Her voice possesses qualities that are rare and she uses it with that grace and ease that always pleases.

Miss Shields surprised even her already admiring friends by the strength and purity of her voice. She pleased her hearers last year but this time she fairly captured everybody. Her singing of "An Old Plaid Shawl," was one of the hits of the evening. Mrs. Shepard has taken a deep interest in this young lady and she may well feel proud of her work at this concert.

The singing by the mixed quartette came in for a good share of appreciation.

Old musicians who were present say it was the finest concert that has been given in Braintree. The Weymouth society assisted by members of the Union Choral society gave practically the same concert in Weymouth last night.

Board of Health Inspector.

The ten days for which Timothy F. Ford was appointed temporary inspector of the Board of Health has about expired, and the Board of Health has asked the Civil Service commissioners to allow his continuence in office until after the examination.

As yet the date for the examination has not been fixed. Up to this morning, four applications for the examination had been filed, namely, James H. Cunningham, Edward Lennon, William Parker and Albert Keating. Mr. Ford has not as yet made application to take the examination.

Mr. Ford's name is at present on the eligible list for water inspector, and under the civil service rules, his name cannot appear upon two eligible lists at the same time. Under this rule he cannot take the civil service examination for Inspector of the Board of Health as long as his name appears upon the eligible list for water inspector. Should he desire to take the examination for Inspector of Board of Health, it is said he must first withdraw his name from the eligible list as Water Inspector, and if he does not voluntarily withdraw his name from the latter list, the civil service examiners will do so as soon as he makes application for examination for the former position.

HER PORTRAIT.

The night was warm, and the porch was wide,
And the soft wind wafted the music's tune,
And a youth and a maid sat side by side
'Neath the witching light of the summer moon.

Said the youth: "There's a maiden I dearly love.
She's as fair as the daybreak and pure as gold,
With a voice as soft as a cooing dove,
And a mouth like a bud with one leaf unrolled.
The gleam of her eyes makes the starlight pale,
And she's witty and clever, well read and bred."

The maid's cheeks flushed at this glowing tale,
And—"I love you, too," she said.

CYRANO COURTSHIP.

[The following story is based on the celebrated play, "Cyrano de Bergerac," in which Mr. Richard Mansfield, the actor, has been recently creating a sensation in New York. In the play Cyrano, a man of brilliant intellect, but handicapped by an enormous nose, wooes his cousin Roxane, through a handsome fool, keeping himself out of her sight.]

Phyllis began to laugh just as soon as Cyrano made his appearance. This conduct on her part was as distinctly disappointing as though I hadn't fully expected her to act in such a manner. To tell the truth, I really didn't want to take Phyllis to see "Cyrano" at all, because—well, you see, I've a pretty big nose myself. It isn't a Cyrano member by any means, of course, but even as a child the women who didn't like my mother used to pity me openly on account of it, and my college friends still allude to my unfortunate proboscis as a "regular wind splitter." So, as I said, I wasn't at all anxious to see "Cyrano" in Phyllis' company, and if I hadn't feared her suspecting the reason of my unwillingness in this regard I should never have done so. As it was it really hurt me a little when her dimples began to come and go at sight of Mansfield's colossal nasal organ. I said nothing, however, and it was not until the end of the "poet's bakery" act that I received my first cruel blow.

"I think Mansfield is perfectly sublime, don't you?" gushed a pretty girl of Phyllis' acquaintance who sat in front of us. It was with difficulty that Phyllis restrained the dimples from open insurrection as she replied.

"Well, they say it is only a little step from the sublime to the ridiculous," she remarked with dancing eyes, "and as I never in all my life saw anything half so ridiculous as that nose I suppose its wearer is at least approaching sublimity."

"Phyllis," said I when the music had given me half a chance to speak without the girl in front hearing all I said, "don't you think it's possible for the owner of a big nose to be anything but ridiculous?"

Phyllis cast a mischievous glance at me over her shoulder and before making answer buried her face in the big bunch of violets I had given her.

"All things are possible," she then rather cruelly said, "but I should think it would be rather difficult for the owner of a big nose to be anything else."

The kiss scene was beginning now, so I had a long act in which to recover so much of my equanimity as I might. When Roxane had delivered her passionate exhortation to Cyrano to protect her lover from all the danger which might threaten him at Arras, beginning with sword wounds and ending with cold, and when she begged her cousin to see that the wordless object of her devotion wrote to her frequently, Phyllis turned to me as the curtain fell, and I could see there were tears in her eyes. She acted as though she would have said something, but did not. For once I was wise enough to hold my tongue and to leave all chance of assistance for my cause to fate or providence—and the girl in front of us. This girl had been crying openly, and her eyes were all red and moist still as she squirmed about in her seat in order to face Phyllis.

"Oh, Phyllis! Isn't it a pity such a perfectly grand character should have such an awful nose!" she exclaimed weepingly. Phyllis regarded her with an air of chilly contempt.

"What under the ever blessed canopy does the kind of nose he has matter?" she inquired loftily. "With a character like Cyrano's features don't matter in the least. Who with any soul at all would dream of considering or even remembering his nose?"

The girl in front of us was properly squelched, and I was unwisely elated.

"Who, indeed?" I murmured acquiescently. Phyllis stiffened immediately.

"I wasn't talking to you, thank you," she remarked in a tone softly suggestive of icebergs and the Klondike and so on. I was so crushed by and indignant at her manner and speech that I didn't even come to her rescue when she lost her handkerchief during the course of the fourth act and was in dire distress for another wherewith to wipe away the tears consequent upon Roxane's sorrow over her lover's death and Cyrano's wounding. And she in turn was strangely silent when we rose at the conclusion of the last act and made our way toward the street.

The crowd was great and we were obliged to stand a few moments in the foyer. Phyllis turned to me suddenly with an apologetic touch upon my arm.

"I didn't mean what I said about—about big noses," she said softly, and picking shyly at my coat sleeve as she spoke—"that is—not about all big noses. Cyrano"—recovering herself somewhat as the onward movement of the crowd recalled her to conventionality and the recollection of where we were—"Cyrano was perfectly lovely in spite of his nose. He was so sweet and faithful to his love," she finished more naturally as we came opposite a fine portrait of Mansfield which hung on the wall near by. Her wraps were still on my arm, and I drew her aside gently to don them.

"Phyllis," I said softly as she slipped into her jacket and I dropped the fur collarette into its enviable place about her throat, "Phyllis, do you think Cyrano was the only man in the world who was ever faithful to his love in spite of a big nose?"

She looked up, she looked down, she blushed vividly, but I held her firmly facing me—under guise of buttoning her coat—and she was compelled to make some sort of reply. After a moment it came, and unexpectedly gentle, considering all things.

"No," she said sweetly, "I don't. I suppose there are men living even now—a few of them anyway—who are faithful like that."

My heart gave a great bound of joy, for I had been longing to ask Phyllis a certain question for many months, and Phyllis was not always kind. I augured well for my question from her late remark, but, mindful of the lesson of the earlier evening, I was careful to allow nothing of my elation to be seen.

"Phyllis," I asked again, holding both her hands in mine under pretense of giving her her muff, "Phyllis, do you think I'm one of those men?"

"I—I—don't know; perhaps," said Phyllis, blushing gloriously, but she pulled her hands away from mine in a hurry and set her face toward the street.

I was at a loss how to continue the interesting series of questions which might never be so sympathetically and conveniently propounded and responded to again, and again Fate or Providence, in the form of the girl who sat immediately in front of us, came to my aid.

"Oh, Phyllis!" she cried, evidently forgetting all about the snub administered by that charming damsel in discussing Cyrano's "awful" nose, "oh, Phyllis, won't you decide the question Mr. Barnton and I have been disputing? Do you think it would have been easy for Roxane to love Cyrano in spite of his nose if she hadn't imagined herself in love with the other man, or would that fearful member have rendered any girl's love impossible?"

Phyllis sniffed audibly.

"Well, according to my opinion, my way of thinking," she announced with decision, "the girl who would stop to think of the shape of a man's nose after he had proved himself at all worthy of her would be too small and little, in point of soul and heart, to be worth any man's love. It doesn't seem to me such a little thing as a nose—even if it's as big as Cyrano's," seeing that the other girl and her escort suspected a pun and were preparing to smile, "ought to be allowed to enter into the consideration of such a question at all. I don't see just how it could, for that matter. For my part, after the first shock of getting used to it was over, of course," this with a hasty, half furtive glance in my direction, "I don't see how it could have anything to do with the question of love at all."

"Well, I don't believe I could bring myself to love a man with a nose like Cyrano's," persisted the other girl, whose escort, soon to assume a nearer relationship, if common report was to be believed, boasted a nose modeled something after the snub pattern, and once more Phyllis sniffed.

"I could," her attitude seemed to say as her friend kept on chattering and laughing, and I took advantage of the moment to slip my hand over hers, as it hung at her side, the soft folds of her pretty dress in its grasp. Phyllis' own nose is a dainty little feature, but it was elevated in a manner more decided than graceful just then—another fact from which I augured well. Nor did she snatch her hand away, as I had half expected her to do.

"Phyllis," I murmured again as we reached the street and stood waiting for the carriage, "do you think you could love a man in spite of his big nose, if he happened to have one?"

Phyllis looked a trifle scared, but the good blood which made her soldier ancestors famous for their deeds of valor made her brave and a trifle daring, so she glanced up courageously to meet my eyes.

"I—I think so," she whispered back, trembling a little, but not shrinking from my eager face in the least, and once more I was emboldened to further risking of my fate.

"Phyllis," I said, whispering myself now, "do you think you could love me?"

There was a moment's silence between us, and then I was helping Phyllis into the carriage. But she had timidly murmured "Yes" in the interval, and that is the reason I am now firm in my belief that Mansfield, concerning whose histrionic genius I had been carelessly doubtful heretofore, is the greatest actor America has ever seen or will see for many a day to come, and in this opinion Phyllis, who presented me with a framed photograph of Cyrano and who has not fewer than seven other photographs of the man who made him famous stuck about the walls of her own sitting room, most heartily concurs.—Chicago Post.

OUR WEEKLY FASHION PLATE.

COSTUME OF LACE AND VEILING FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

This dainty costume, taken from Harper's Bazar, is designed to be rendered in such light-weight fabrics as cashmere, henrietta cloth, nuns veiling, or any summer material. The original model is in violet cashmere. The bodice pattern contains two yokes, the upper one supporting the collar, and the lower being the foundation upon which to place the guipure. The waist is a simple French design, i. e., with slightly gathered front and back, but with no pouch or suggestion of blouse. It is open on both sides, where the lace is revealed between the interlapping points. The fashionable sleeve has a long sheath which serves as a foundation for the guipure.

The skirt is cut to fit perfectly over a model skirt, but is slashed up each side of the front, and fastened with lapped points to correspond with the openings in the waist. A pattern of the under lace flounce does not accompany the costume pattern, published by Harper's Bazar, since this must be adjusted according to the taste of the wearer. Where a less costly material than guipure is desired, the lower yoke may be made of any of the many fashionable tucked and ruffled materials which may now be purchased by the yard, and mousseline or chiffon panels may be laid under the slashed openings at the sides of the skirt. It is of the latter material that the collar and upper yoke are made in the original Paris model.

To make this garment for a medium-sized person will require 7 1-2 yards of material 45 inches wide, and 15 yards of silk lining 20 inches wide. The quantity of lace needed will vary according to width.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

TOPIC.—The gates of Zion.—Ps. lxxxvii, 1-7; c, 1-5.

The striking characteristics of both these psalms is the absence of exclusiveness from them. The Jewish church as well as the Jewish nation was restricted and exclusive. It was not a missionary church. It did no missionary work. It looked upon the other nations of the world as enemies of God, who were to be overcome and destroyed by Jehovah. But in these psalms a different spirit prevails. There are no restrictions, no exclusiveness. In the one the nations of the world are pictured as voluntarily and submissively coming to Zion, and in the other the whole earth is called upon to glorify God and to serve God as the common creator and father of man. These psalms are Messianic, and their prophecies have been and are being fulfilled.

The gates of Zion, because of their prominence, stand for Zion itself, and Zion, the holy hill of Jerusalem, for the church of God and now the church of Christ.

1. The love of God for Christ's church is here emphasized. "The Lord loveth the gates of Zion more than all the dwellings of Jacob." He loves it not only above the dwellings of the heathen nations, but the other dwellings of Israel. God's love for His church is constantly recognized in the Scriptures. The love of Christ for the church is also emphasized in His word. The regard of God and of Christ for the church needs to be made emphatic today. The world at one time deified the church. It exalted it above and beyond its true character. Today it tends to the opposite extreme. The tendency is to belittle the church. Many have the idea that God can be worshiped and Christ can be served equally well while the church is ignored. God's love for the church shows this to be impossible. We cannot ignore and neglect that which God loves without offending him. If the church is worthy of God's best love, it is worthy of our best love and service.

2. The worldwide character of the church is here maintained. Heathen nations come to Zion and find in her a new birth and a new life. Christ's church is a worldwide church. It has a place within its doors for Jew and gentile, Greek and barbarian, wise and unwise, bond and free. Its cords are to be lengthened until the whole earth is inclosed. It is our business to assist in the glorious work, and it is not to be abated until the whole earth is filled with the glory of the Lord.

3. The importance, character and cause of worshiping God in His house are suggested. We are commanded to "enter His gates with thanksgiving," to worship Him cheerfully and gladly for His goodness, His mercy and His truth. Christ's church should be the pride and joy of our lives. For Christ's sake, for the church's own sake and for our own good we should be faithful to the church and do our best to extend it throughout the world.

Bible Readings.—Ps. lxvi, 1-15; lxxxiv, 1-12; cxvi, 17-19; cxxii, 1-9; cxxxv, 1-5; cxxxvii, 1-6; Math. xiii, 16-20; Acts ii, 42-47; xx, 28; Eph. v, 25, 29; Heb. x, 23-25.

Try to Find Out.

All ought to try to find out what they were made for. Every one has a place and purpose in God's plan. That purpose should be understood and fulfilled as far as possible. Every saved man is saved for some specific service besides his own happiness. God made no man simply for His own happiness, and He saves no man that he alone may be happy in heaven. He had a nobler end in both cases than the gratification of a selfish spirit. There is some service for every one in God's vineyard. Idlers are not wanted. Let us find what God wants us to do, and do it. Let us do it in earnest, and do it well. Then God will say, "Well done, good and faithful servant." Oh, how glad that will make us.—Christian Instructor.

Meekness.

Meekness is love at school. Love at the Saviour's feet. It is a Christian lowlihood. It is the disciple learning to know himself, learning to fear and distrust and abhor himself. It is the disciple practicing the sweet but self satisfying lesson of putting all on the Lord Jesus Christ. It is the disciple learning the defects of his own character. It is the disciple praying and watching for the mellowing of his temper and the amelioration of his character. It is the living Christian at the Saviour's feet learning of Him who is meek and lowly and finding rest for his soul.—New York Observer.

The Luxury of Giving.

Oh, the luxury, the thrilling, wondrous, unspeakable luxury of giving! If the church would do that, she would have millions—millions! Who is to begin it? You! Do you say, "No, do not trouble me about fifths and tenths and twentieths." Do not run off on some arithmetical issue, but when thou givest enter thy closet, and when thou hast shut the door give to thy Saviour in secret.—Rev. Dr. Joseph Parker.

The sweeping stars teach us lessons of infinite order and steadfast purpose. —Lucy Elliot Keeler.

THE RUSSIANS WITH US

Ex-Embassador Hitchcock on Our Muscovite Relations.

THE CZAR'S SINCERE FRIENDSHIP.

On the Day We Need Aid In the Far East Russia Will Be Found Ready to Assist Us—The Great Siberian Railway.

Ethan Allen Hitchcock, recently United States embassador to the court of the czar of the Russias, has returned to this country to assume the duties of his new post as secretary of the interior. He appeared to regard with complacency the change from the palace on the Newski Prospect to the dingy little whitewashed room in the patent office at Washington.

"What was the sentiment in Russia regarding our war with Spain?" was asked by a reporter of the New York World upon his arrival on the Teutonic.

"In official circles the victory of the United States was regarded as a foregone conclusion. The great masses of the Russian people knew little about the conflict. Newspapers are not read in Russia to any great extent. Information travels slowly. The feeling of steadfast friendship for the American people that is found everywhere is inexplicable, but it could not be shaken by any diplomatic influence that any European power could exert. 'Toujours fidele!' is the phrase that every citizen of our country ought to write or utter whenever the name of Russia is seen or heard!"

"Is she averse to our encroachments in the east?"

"Not in the slightest. She has her own plans regarding China, but they are commercial rather than imperial. She will not express joy or annoyance regarding the annexation of the Philippines, but she will stand ready to indorse our course at the time moral support is needed. The people of the United States never should forget for a single instant that, expressed or unexpressed, the friendship of the Russian czar has been and is with them. To doubt the undemonstrative fidelity of the czar and the imperial cabinet is unjust and thoughtless. Russia will be with us on that great day in which we shall need her help in the far east."

"Tell me about the czar's peace programme?" was the first suggestion.

"It is sincere and is so accepted by diplomatists who represent nations unfriendly to Russia," said Mr. Hitchcock. "I had my last audience with the czar three weeks ago at Moscow, and he expressed informally the utmost hopefulness regarding the outcome of the commission. Even though it should fail a vast amount of information will have been gathered as to the temper of the various powers, the views of their rulers and cabinets. That peace conference will be an epoch making assemblage. If the United States is to become the world power that is now clearly indicated, the work of that conference will be of vital interest to every citizen of this land."

"Tell us about the Siberian railway's progress?" was suggested.

"It is one of the greatest commercial enterprises of the century. The minister who is building it told me a month ago that trains would be running from Irkutsk to Vladivostok in 1902. He told me the earth then could be circumnavigated in 40 days. This is four years earlier than was originally expected, but the importance of the road has become so manifest that the utmost urgency has been enforced. It is wholly surveyed, and the rails are going down as fast as they can be got to their places. It is quite possible to travel by rail now from Nijni-Novgorod on the Volga to Irkutsk—made familiar to the civilized world by Jules Verne in 'Michael Strogoff.'"

"What will be the final terminus on the Pacific?"

"It hasn't been officially promulgated, but you can say that it will be Talienwan, a fine harbor in Manchuria, little known, which will be made absolutely Russian. Port Arthur wouldn't suit, though a branch line of railway will be run to that place."

"What is the traffic?"

"Passengers rather than freight. Where they originally intended to run one train a day each way they are now running six. The towns among the Siberian steppes are quite populous. The rates of fare in Russia are much lower than in any other part of the world. It is the intention of the Russian government to make a through rate from the Neva to the Pacific of about $60. The distance will be nearly 5,000 miles. Here the rate from New York to Chicago, 900 miles, seems quite cheap."

"Was it very cold at St. Petersburg when you left?"

"Not as we understand cold. Of course the Neva was frozen solid and teams were crossing it. Evergreens are set out in the ice to mark the continuation of streets across the water and present a very pretty picture. The opera, the theaters and the cafes are aglow with life in the coldest weather."

GOT NINETEEN WOUNDS.

Frank Kennedy's Experience on a Spanish Skirmish Line.

Frank Kennedy, now in Kansas City, was wounded 19 times in the battle of Santiago de Cuba. He walks with crutches, since his right leg, broken six times, is still a little tender, but he hopes soon to be able to discard them, when he will again enter Uncle Sam's service, this time as a regular:

"I was a sergeant in Troop F of the First Texas Volunteer cavalry, commanded by Colonel Wood. On July 3, the second day of the battle, I was serving as mounted orderly for General Lawton. Early in the afternoon, while carrying a dispatch from his to General Wheeler's headquarters, I ran into a Spanish skirmish line, and before I knew it there were Spaniards all around me, yelling like Comanches. It was too late to turn back. I put spurs to my horse and, drawing my revolver, proceeded to empty it into the dons' faces.

"Well, I felt the conventional 'stinging sensations' several times before I got out of that mess, but I kept straight ahead, loading my revolver as I went, and incidentally taking an inventory of my wounds. I found I had been shot four times and cut twice with machetes.

"A quarter of a mile farther on I ran into another bunch, and again I had to run the gantlet. The proceeding of three minutes before was repeated. I emptied my revolver and put my horse to his highest speed. This time I was shot three times and received four cuts from machetes, which brought the total number of wounds up to 13.

"After this second adventure I had ridden about a mile, I guess, when a shell burst near by, killing my horse and breaking my right leg below the knee in six places. I fell to the ground, where I lay until 4o'clock the next afternoon. It was 2 o'clock when the shell burst.

"Shortly afterward I was placed on board a hospital ship and taken to New York. While I was still on the ship in New York harbor Major Armstrong, formerly surgeon major of the Second Kansas national guard, of which I had been a member, came on board and recognized me, and by his orders I was transferred to the hospital at Fort Thomas, Ky. Here I was given the very best of medical and surgical attention. I believe the surgeons took special pride in bringing me out whole, as I was so badly cut up."—Kansas City Times.

MUST PUT ON CLOTHES.

General Henry Decrees That Porto Rican Pickaninnies Must Be Dressed.

General Guy V. Henry, the military governor of Porto Rico, says a San Juan correspondent of the New York Sun, has decided that all the little boys and girls of Porto Rico must put on clothes. He wants the children to become good Americans and thinks their moral as well as their physical health can be improved greatly by a civilized dress, at least in the streets and public places. Therefore in a recent order creating municipal boards of health he included the subjoined paragraph:

"Health boards will formulate regulations governing the proper clothing of children and fix a fine for the violation of such regulations, said fine to be collected and turned into the municipal treasury for charitable purposes."

Before the Americans came the little black and white boys and girls of the poorer part of the community played in the streets of San Juan and other towns unmolested. They chose the street pavement for a playground because they had no back yards, and if in those days of Spanish rule they neglected to dress, neither citizen nor policeman bothered them, for unclothed children, between the ages of 2 and 6 years, have been a common sight on the island since Ponce de Leon founded the first settlement at Caparra in the year 1509. For nearly 400 years, then, children enjoyed themselves, unnoticed, by taking sun baths on the front doorstep, eating their fill of oranges and bananas and by rolling on the dirty pavement. But when the American troops took possession of the island government on Oct. 18, 1898, these little people began a life of misery and trouble. At first the soldiers stared at them. Later business men came from the United States, and, taking rooms with the better off families on the second floor, began to stumble over the same pickaninnies on the doorstep. Camera enthusiasts then frightened them into the house by a mysterious shaped box and even paid the mothers a few coppers to drag the little forms back into the sunlight. But the native children found protection and comfort a few days ago in the new health law made by General Henry.

A Market For Our Hay.

Consul General Stowe of Cape Town says: "I would like to obtain information from some dealer in hay as to the price of baled hay per hundred f. o. b. New York or other port, together with the freight per hundred to Cape Town. No hay is on hand in this country, and oat straw, or 'oat sheaf,' as it is called, is used. This is selling today at from 4s. to 7s. (97 cents to $1.70) per 100 pounds. If baled hay of good quality can be delivered here at, say, from $15 to $20 per ton, sales could be made. Will some one inform this consulate the price of alfalfa hay and seed, hay to be baled, delivered here?"

Salisbury Rides a Wheel.

A London cablegram says that Lord Salisbury has become a cyclist. He learned the art of wheeling in the privacy of a riding school attached to his historic residence in Hatfield and now ventures on the paths through his park. He rides a bicycle specially constructed for him, his weight being 240 pounds.

Arthur Balfour, the government leader in the house of commons, still cycles, but wheeling is no longer a fashionable craze in England.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

A NAUTICAL WONDER.

A Little Baby Girl Who Handles a Pair of Oars Like an Old Boatman.

Take a look at the wee littlest boat miss in this world. This is Elma Meier, and she is not 3 years old. Little Miss Meier cannot yet talk. Miss Meier only knows a few words, such as "papa," "mamma," "es," "no" and a few other simple syllables. She has learned to say "jam" and "sugar" with a pardonable baby lisp, and that is about as far as she can go just yet as a linguist, but she is a regular naiad. She was born in the rear of a big swim which her father keeps on Vine street, and when only 1 year old was placed in a little boat made of cigar boxes. This boat was launched in a little tank, and there she learned to be the expert oarswoman she is today, to the envy of all the children of Cincinnati, who occasionally see her rowing on the canal.

One day recently while the weather was warm hundreds of people stopped to watch this baby row her boat over the smooth, glassy waters. It was an inspiring scene, and for hours they watched tiny Elma in her little practice boat, which is also made of cigar box timber, skim over the water, making all the strokes known to the most expert oarsmen. In a little boat weighing only 7½ pounds little Elma astounded people up at Lake Irondequoit, New York, last summer by rowing over waves five feet high. Never once did she lose her presence of mind and make a false stroke, but managed her craft with all the science and cunning known to marines with years of experience. It was regarded as one of the most remarkable exhibitions ever seen on that lake, and well it might be. Had the boat turned over, however, those same people might have been even more astonished, for in such a case they would have seen a baby swim for all the world like a frog.

Little Miss Elma is not only up in the management of her boat, but can swim with the best swimmers for a short distance. The 7½ pound boat is called the American Girl, and a beauty it is. The Champion weighs half a pound more, while the Elma is a nine pound boat. The other day Thomas J. Meier, the father of the little wonder, walked into the dining room of their home on Vine street carrying all three of the boats in his arms, so you can imagine how big and heavy they are. In cold weather he places one of these upon the kitchen table, and Elma gets into it and practices with her oars just as though she were gliding over water hundreds of feet deep. In one of the boats is a little wicker seat, fashioned somewhat like an infant's crib, in which Elma's little baby sister, only 11 months old, is placed. Elma rows her little charge over the river or canal, and gives her splendid outings of an hour's length.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Drawing games are very popular with many young people, and a great deal of amusement may be got out of a few long, narrow slips of paper and some pencils. "Heads, legs and bodies" is one of the best of these games. The paper is folded in three. Each player draws a head and then doubles down the paper so that the head cannot be seen and passes it on to his neighbor. He adds a body to the invisible head, and then passes it on to his neighbor, who adds legs to the body he does not see. The results are most curious. The papers are passed on once more and then unfolded, and the drawings look like the figures on the Egyptian tombs. Oh, my poor lady, whom I started in life with such a pretty face! Has she come back to me with the body of a cat and the rags of a beggar? And this gallant general with cocked hat and plumes! Can it be possible that he is joined to the body of a goose and wears a ballet girl's skirt? None of these creations of the pencil carries out the original idea of their inventors. They depart entirely from the principle on which they were planned. But they are very amusing.

The Spelling Match.

Ten little children standing in a line—
"F-u-l-y, fully," then there were nine.

Nine puzzled faces, fearful of their fate—
"C-i-l-l-y, silly," then there were eight.

Eight pairs of blue eyes, bright as stars of heaven—
"B-u-s-s-y, busy," then there were seven.

Seven grave heads, shaking in an awful fix—
"L-a-i-d-y, lady," then there were six.

Six eager darlings, determined each to strive—
"D-u-t-i-e, duty," then there were five.

Five hearts so anxious, beating more and more—
"S-c-o-l-l-a-r, scholar," then there were four.

Four mouths like rosebuds on a red rose tree—
"M-e-r-y, merry," then there were but three.

Three pairs of pink ears, listening keen and true—
"O-n-l-e-y, only," then there were two.

Two sturdy laddies, ready both to run—
"T-u-r-k-y, turkey," then there was one.

One head of yellow hair, bright in the sun—
"H-e-r-o, hero," the spelling match was won!

STALE BREAD.

How to Utilize Odds and Ends That Accumulate In the Bread Box.

There are but two forms of bread crumbs allowable in correct cookery. Soft bread crumbs, at least a day old, are valuable for forcemeats, stuffings and for some other purposes. They are the inside crumbs of bread a day or two old, but not the crumbs of a hard, stale loaf, as some people seem to suppose. The second form is the dried crumbs. Do not wait until bread has become too stale for this purpose. Bread in which the liquids have turned sour, as they always will in time, is unfit for any use.

Clear out crusts and all pieces of stale bread in the bread box at least twice a week for dried crumbs; break them up in small pieces and lay them on flat tins in the warming closet under the oven to dry. Dry them until every particle of moisture has left them, and then pound them with a wooden beetle and sift them through a fine sieve. Put them away in a wooden or tin box with a tight cover.

These bread crumbs are good for puddings, for breading meats and for covering escaloped dishes and coquilles, though for the latter purpose soft bread crumbs are often preferred. The advantage of drying bread is that the liquids are disposed of and cannot give the dish in which the bread is used a stale, bad taste. The bread crumbs in this condition will keep indefinitely if dry and free from weevils.

It is a mistake to suppose croutons and squares of toast used in the soups should be made of stale bread. They should be cut from stale bread, but always dried. Use bread not over three or four days old and still soft enough to be easily cut with the little ornamental tin cutters used for this purpose. A star or plain fleur-de-lis or any simple design is best for the purpose. If you have no cutters, cut the bread with a sharp knife into three quarter inch squares. Dry the pieces in the oven until all moisture has left them and store them in a box. Brown half a cupful for two quarts of soup. They may be dipped in melted butter and browned in the oven for soup or merely toasted brown, or they may be fried a golden brown in butter.

Toast is made of dried bread for certain purposes; for others bread a day or two old, but not hard, is used. A Welsh rabbit demands a soft toast—that is, a rather thick thick slice of bread browned on each side, but soft in the center. A chicken soup or stew should have as accompaniment pieces of thin toast, crisp and dry throughout, such as is made of dried bread.

How to Make Infant Food.

Egg albumen, a few selected cereals, some milk sugar and a little butter fat thoroughly mixed and skillfully combined will when added to cow's milk make the best substitute infant food known, as well as a very palatable and nourishing diet for invalids and convalescents. The good results following its use thoroughly substantiate its claims.

How to Cure Chilblains.

To cure an ordinary case of chilblains take a piece of lemon, sprinkle fine salt over it and rub the feet well. A sure cure for broken chilblains is the following: Take a quarter of a pint of oil of sweet almonds, one once of Venice turpentine, three ounces of lanoline and one ounce of beeswax cut into shreds. Melt all together in a white ware pot and then put aside to cool, stirring occasionally to prevent the preparation from becoming too hard. Spread this ointment on lint and keep the chilblains covered with it at night and as much of the day as is practicable.

How to Preserve Eggs.

Mix equal portions of unslacked lime and salt. Put a good layer of this mixture in a deep box, then a layer of eggs far apart from each other and standing on end, broad end up. Continue with alternate layers of eggs and the mixture until the box is filled, which is then fastened. Properly packed, they will easily keep for a year.

How to Make Turnip Soup.

Wash, pare and cut into small pieces half a dozen medium sized white turnips. Boil them in unsalted water until tender, then rub through a sieve. Chop fine one small onion, put in a stewpan with a tablespoonful of butter and cook slowly without browning for five minutes. Add a tablespoonful of flour and when blended a quart of milk and stir until boiling hot. Add the turnip pulp and season with a teaspoonful of salt and a good dusting of pepper. Cook slowly for five minutes. Serve at once and pass grated cheese with it.

How to Take Stains From Linen.

Rub them on either side with yellow soap and then apply starch made into a paste with cold water. Rub this paste well into the stains and then put the cloth to hang out in the open air—if possible in the sun—for some hours. After it has been washed in the ordinary way the stains will have disappeared.

How to Make Cider Eggnog.

Beat the yolks of six eggs and six heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar to a cream, and after they are well beaten grate over the top half a nutmeg, squeeze in the juice of two lemons and pour in three pints of new cider, ice cold; whip the cider through the eggs and sugar till it is all foamy; then pour it in a glass punch bowl or large glass pitcher. Beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth and lay lightly on top of the beverage. Serve in glass cups.

How to Cure Whooping Cough.

For obstinate cases of whooping cough the following prescription has been highly recommended: Bromoform, 15 parts; tincture of gelsemium, 16 parts; sirup of lactucarium, 126 parts; powdered acacia, q. s. The dose is three or four teaspoonfuls during each day.

AN EASY TEST.

If you are suffering from Kidney or Bladder disease, the doctor asks "Do you desire to urinate often, and are you compelled to get up frequently during the night: Does your back pain you? Does your urine stain linen? Is there a scalding pain in passing it and is it difficult to hold the urine back? If so, your Kidneys or Bladder are diseased."

Try putting some of your urine in a glass tumbler, let it stand twenty-four hours. If there is a sediment, or a cloudy, milky appearance your Kidneys are sick.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy will surely relieve and cure even the most distressing cases of these dread diseases, and no physician can prescribe a medicine that equals it for diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rhematism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation. It will promptly correct the bad effects of beer and whiskey. All drug stores sell it for one dollar a bottle.

By sending your address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mentioning the Quincy Ledger a trial bottle, together with pamphlet of valuable medical advice, will be sent you free postpaid by mail. Our readers can depend upon the genuineness of this liberal offer.

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

Neil Burgess and his company will continue for another week, presenting an old farce, entitled, "My Mother-in-Law." Mr. Burgess has made a great hit in the vaudeville, and the character he plays in this piece is considered quite equal to anything he has ever done. Other entertainers will be: The Merkel sisters, a recently imported European team, who have the reputation of being the greatest female acrobats ever seen in this country; Wood and Shepard, blackface musical comedians; Dixon, Bowers and Dixon, comedians, dancers and acrobats; Ostrado, a novelty juggler, and Mme. BRAINTREE.

The polls open at 7 o'clock Monday.

About forty members of the Commercial club had a jolly time at the smoke talk last Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Foice are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a son, at their home on Pond street.

Mr. and Mrs. George T. Burnham have the sympathy of the community in the death of their infant daughter.

Superintendent Maybury has drawn a fine set of plans showing the proposed changes at the pumping station.

The committee of arrangements of Division No 12, A. O. H., have engaged the Town hall for their annual concert and ball the 17th of this month.

The Ladies' social circle connected with the Baptist society will have their regular church supper in the lower Town Hall next Tuesday evening from 6 to 8 o'clock.

Mr. M. A. Minchin, who is to be our new postmaster, will occupy the same quarters for the present, and will probably assume the duties of the office within two weeks.

The Democratic town committee met Tuesday evening and reorganized, the same as last year, with Mr. Frank Jackson chairman, and Mr. J. T. Powers secretary.

Miss Sarah L. Arnold, supervisor of the Boston public schools, will lecture under the auspices of the Literary club in the Monatiquot building on the evening of March 14.

With M. G. Churchill's return to town there is talk of the revival of roller polo. The players interested are M. G. Churchill, H. C. Thayer J. H. Simmons, Harlow Waite and Chester Hollis.

The paper mill which has been idle for six years is to be started as soon as the machinery can be put in order. Mr. George Gardner of Rockville has leased the place and will make roofing paper, sheathing and the cheaper grade of wrapping paper. He will employ about twenty-five hands from the start and increase as the business will warrant. We shall be glad to see this plant in operation and we wish Mr. Gardner abundant success.

The turkey supper given Tuesday night by the W. R. Corps was more than a success and the crowd was far larger than was expected. The tables were cleared three times to accommodate the guests. The turkey gobblers were gobbled in short metre but the ladies had provided an abundance of other good things so that none need go away hungry. The entertainment consisted of music and games.

New County Building.

The legislative hearing in the matter of the purchase of land on which, at sometime in the future, to erect a proper and suitable building for the Register of Deeds and the Register of Probate, at the State House, was largely attended by the representative men of the county. All were strongly in favor of the bill to give the County Commissioners the power to buy additional land. Among those to speak in favor of the measure were Fred H. Williams of Brookline, Don Gleason Hill of Hyde Park, James R. Carret of Wellesley, John Everett of Canton, Ferdinand F. Favor and John H. Burdakin, both of Dedham and others There were no remonstrants. One of the speakers pointed out the fact that Norfolk County was in excelent condition financially, and could purchase the land and erect a suitable building with less drain on the taxpayers than any other county of the same, or about the same, valuation, in the State. He cited figures to prove his statement. In 1897, the latest valuation obtainable, the valuation of Norfolk county was set at $180,133,435. That of Bristol county at $170,682,508 and that of Hampden county at $124,939,003. Bristol county had a debt in 1898 of $1,006,100; Hampden county of $251,000, and Norfolk county of $90,000.—Hyde Park Gazette.

—Two weeks' accumuluation at the morgue of New York shows two hundred seventy-one unclaimed bodies. It continues to be true that no place is so absolutely lonely as a great city, a "desert of brick and stone" where one does not know his next room neighbor, much less care what becomes of him. Yet this very fact is a fascination to the young person brought up in a village where he and all his family are known to every other resident for miles around. This fascination brings to the city annually hundreds of lads and lassies, and from those that are not properly equipped for the battle of life in the metropolis the ranks of unclaimed morgue victims are recruited. —Boston Home Journal.

The Queen's Attire.

Queen Victoria is so unconventional in her attire and apparently cares so little for elegance of raiment as far as her own dress is concerned that it will doubtless surprise many people to learn that she has for the past 20 years at least been one of the best customers of a certain fashionable dressmaker in Bruton street, says a London correspondent. Much of the apparent tawdriness of her majesty's appearance is due to the fact that she persists in keeping to the style and fashion of 30 years ago. But what is lacking in style is made up in richness of material, and she is fond of the finest brocades and most costly laces and embroideries, though she cannot bear velvet and dislikes the touch thereof extremely.

Newspaper Women Barred.

Women journalists must avoid Japan. The new press laws for the mikado's empire prohibit women from becoming publishers or editors, as "the discharge of such work by females is neither becoming nor desirable." The framers of the law are certainly looking far into the future, for, as yet, Japanese damsels have given no signs of emulating their western sisters in newspaper work.

Taming a Cowgirl In Denver.

A wild young cowgirl who came from the ranges to Denver but two months ago to be educated and refined is making remarkable progress. She can already step from a moving street car while facing in the wrong direction and polish the asphalt with her shell-like ear as gracefully as many of our gifted society women do.—Denver Post.

Photos of Ancient Vintage.

Most of the newspaper pictures of Patti that were dug up, dusted off and printed when she was married to Baron Cederstrom are evidently from photographs taken about the time of her first farewell tour.—Minneapolis Times.

Castle Square Theatre.

"The Prodigal Daughter has made such an immense success at the Castle Square theatre, that it has been determined by the management to continue it as an attraction for the coming week, the third in the record of this play's performances. This notable departure from the custom at this theatre has been made imperative by the excessive demand for seats, the audiences of the last week having again filled the theatre to overflowing and shown that the public at large keenly appreciates the splendid performances given by the company during the last two weeks. Many additions have been to the realistic features of this production in the last two weeks, and the clever work done by the several members of the company demands the highest praise. The many other strong attractions in preparation will prevent the continuance of "The Prodigal Daughter" beyond the coming week's performances. Mr. C. Haddon Chamber's modern play, "The Idler" is announced as the attraction at this house for the week beginning Monday, March 13.

FIGHT WITH BURGLARS

Which May Result In the Death of a Lowell Police Officer.

Beaten Unmercifully and Shot by Desperadoes.

Surprised Them While at Work Upon a Safe and Attempted Capture.

Lowell, Mass., March 6.—As a result of an encounter with two desperate burglars, whom he surprised while attempting to crack a safe in the office of Scannell & Wholey, in the Ayer city district, at midnight Saturday night, Reserve Officer John F. Healy now lies at death's door at St. John's hospital, suffering from three bullet wounds and a terribly battered head.

The desperadoes had previously held up a lamp-lighter and had also broken open a safe in the office of the soap factory and grain warehouse of W. A. Dickinson, corner of Howard and Tanner streets, where they procured $12 or $15, and the result of their encounter with Officer Healy shows that they were men who would not stop at murder.

It was about 1 o'clock when the affair happened, the officer having just gone out on the 12:30 a. m. shift. Just before reaching Scannell & Wholey's office door Patrolman Healy saw the form of a man, and, suspecting that something crooked was going on, he hastened to the spot, and as he reached the office door a man sprang suddenly out and, shoving the muzzle of a revolver into his face, cried: "Hold up your hands; I've got you."

Officer Healy reached for his own revolver, a 38-caliber, self-acting Smith & Wesson, and as he did the burglar shot, but the bullet went wide.

The officer by this time had drawn his revolver, and, taking a deadly aim at the burglar, pulled the trigger. There was a click, but no report. He pulled again, but the weapon refused to act. During this time the burglar fired again, the shot taking effect in the officer's left leg near the knee.

In desperation the officer threw aside his revolver and gripping his night stick felled the burglar with a blow on the head. The blow, however, did not knock the fellow out, and when the officer jumped on him then a desperate struggle ensued, a struggle between life and death. Over and over they rolled in the mud in the darkness of the night, and when the officer finally got the fellow where he was able to clasp the twisters on him, he cried: "Help, help!"

Almost immediately a man came out of the office, and the officer's first assailant shouted: "Put a pill in him, quick!"

The second man drew a revolver, there was a flash and a report and the officer felt a stinging pain between his shoulder blades. "Bang" went the revolver again and another bullet buried itself in the officer's right thigh. A third shot missed the officer, who, with a groan, sank to the ground and cried: "I'm done; I give in."

The ruffians were without mercy. The second man drew a slungshot and struck him over the head, while the first man struck him a powerful blow in the face with his fist.

Being knocked senseless they relieved him of his handcuffs, twisters, club, revolver, gold-filled watch and $50 in bills, overlooking $25 more in bills which he had in his pockets.

They then made their escape from the scene, and up to midnight last night had not been apprehended. When the officer, suffering from three bullet wounds and a ghastly cut in the scalp, recovered consciousness, he staggered, blinded and bleeding, to the nearest patrol box, which was nearly half a mile distant, meanwhile blowing his whistle as best he could in his enfeebled condition.

Thomas J. Boyle, who lives at 120 Howard street, heard the whistling, and raising a second-story window asked what was the matter. Healy replied: "I've been assaulted, robbed and shot." Mr. Boyle hastened into his clothes, and coming out assisted him to the police box. Opening the box the officer attempted to converse with police headquarters, but he was too weak, and Mr. Boyle talked for him. The circumstances were briefly stated to Captain Kew, who immediately ordered the ambulance to the scene. Meanwhile a hack came along and the officer was put into it and driven at a gallop to the police headquarters and thence to St. John's hospital.

The doctors fear that one of the balls has penetrated the lungs.

There is little hope of Healy's recovery. The desperadoes are still at large.

Killed by Lightning.

Plymouth, Mass., March 6.—The unusual occurrence of a thunder storm in March was emphasized by the death by lightning of William H. Hoxie, aged 68, who was struck down while ringing the bell of the Congregational church in Chiltonville. The lightning badly wrecked the tower and front part of the church, but fortunately did not set it on fire.

Carlists Again Moving.

Madrid, March 6.—The Carlists are showing signs of reviving activity. A band of 2000 deserters from the Spanish army is now gathered near the French frontier, refusing to return to Spain, although the men have been pardoned. Carlist demonstrations, it is reported, have taken place at Valencia, but no details are procurable here.

THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD.

Manufacturers In Many Places Notify Employes of Increased Wages.

Augusta, Me., March 6.—The management of the Edwards Manufacturing company announce that on and after April 3 the wages of their employes will be placed back on the schedule which was used previous to the cutdown of January, 1898. This cotton mill employs nearly 1200 hands, all working on full time. They suffered a cutdown of about 11 percent during the period of depression, the company promising to restore wages when the market justified the action.

Manchester, N. H., March 6.—In addition to the increase in wages in the great cotton mills of the city, J. A. V. Smith, the flier manufacturer, announced that the 10 percent cut in wages in his factory would be restored. Word was also received from Suncook that the directors of the China, Webster and Pembroke mills in that town had followed other manufacturing corporations and have restored wages, which, on Jan. 1, 1898, were reduced 11 percent. This will affect 1500 employes.

Williamstown, Mass., March 6.—The Williamstown Manufacturing company has announced that commencing April 3 the wages of all its employes will be raised 10 percent. This increase will affect about 200 employes.

North Adams, Mass., March 6.—The increase in wages at the Berkshire mills at Adams will affect the employes of the Greylock mills in this city, which are under the same management. The increase will average 10 percent and will take effect April 3.

Millbury, Mass., March 6.—Wages were advanced 10 percent at the Farnumsville cotton mills today. About 150 hands are employed and the mills are running full time on print cloth and other coarse goods. The concern has made three cuts in wages in three years.

Pittsburg, March 6.—The Schoen Pressed Steel company of Allegheny has advanced wages in all departments from 5 to 10 percent. The increase will affect more than 3000 men, and will end the strike of the punchers and riveters.

Philadelphia, March 6.—The wages of all day laborers in the tin plate plants of the Newcastle district have been advanced from 5 to 10 percent. The advance will affect between 1200 and 1500 men.

The Reese Hammond Brick Manufacturing company at Jeanette has advanced the wages of its 250 employes from 5 to 20 percent.

The Williamsport Nail company has made a 10 percent advance.

Wheeling, March 6. — Commencing March 12 a 10 percent increase of wages goes into effect at every department of the Riverside iron and steel plants here. About 3000 men are affected.

Bellaire, O., March 6.—The wages of 2000 employes of the Riverside Iron works will be increased 10 percent, commencing today.

A Short Honeymoon.

Chicago, March 6.—Refusing to take a dare given by mutual friends, George C. Reuler, a well-known merchant of Duluth, and Etta Sablotzki, a resident of Chicago, were married by a justice of the peace in Butte, Mont., Dec. 4 last. The young woman, after returning to Chicago and realized the seriousness of the proceedings, filed a bill for a divorce Saturday. The defendant's attorney filed an appearance at once, and, after hearing the evidence, the court entered a decree setting aside the marriage.

Who Will Settle?

Berlin, March 6.—The officials of the German foreign office say considerable time will probably elapse before the claims for damages filed by German manufacturers and merchants in Cuba during the war will be proven. These claims now amount to several million dollars, mainly by three firms, for factories and plantations burned by the Cuban insurgents. The question as to whether the Spanish, Cuban or American government is responsible is another difficulty.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—6:10; sets, 5:41.
Moon rises—3:16 a. m.
High water—6:45 a. m.; 7:20 p. m.

Rains and snows have continued generally from the gulf states northeastward through the lake regions, Atlantic and New England states, the snows extending Saturday night into Tennessee. South to west gales also prevailed along the entire Atlantic coast, except in Florida. The high pressure wave in the west will move eastward, and generally clear and cool weather may consequently be expected in New England for at least two or three days. Northwesterly winds will prevail along the Atlantic coast, diminishing in the northern portion.

Boston Preacher Shut Out by Parishioners Hostile to Him.

Impromptu Services Held on Steps of Church.

Culmination of Scandal In Which Dr. Dixon Is Said to Be Concerned.

Boston, March 6.—Like a besieged citadel, barricaded and garrisoned, stood the Warren Avenue Baptist church Sunday morning, and again last evening, the standing committee having refused to allow the pastor, Rev. Joseph K. Dixon, D. D., to conduct services.

The following notice was posted on the big door at the main entrance: "There will be no services in the church today. By order of the standing committee of the society." The notice was signed by George E. Ladd, clerk.

The friends of the pastor who had been informed previously that an attempt would be made to prevent the holding of services, were very indignant, and several of them favored breaking in the doors. No such hasty action was taken, however. A large crowd assembled on West Canton street, on which thoroughfare the edifice faces, just before 10:30 o'clock, the time set for the commencement of the morning services. A large portion of the crowd were church members, while many were persons attracted to the scene out of curiosity. The crowd extended well along the Warren avenue side of the church, notwithstanding a rainstorm.

Rev. Mr. Dixon decided to hold brief services in the open air. He and two deacons friendly to his side of the controversy stood on the church steps. Brief prayers were said, and the audience joined in singing a hymn. The pastor and some of the assembly stood in the rain with their hats off.

The service was probably the most unusual ever held in the city. Behind the pastor and the friendly deacons were placarded on the big doors of the church several long notices, including minutes of the last meeting, the notice given above, and a warrant for a meeting of the society at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening, which, among other things, is called to "see what action the society will take in reference to dissolution of any relations that may be existing between the society and the Rev. Joseph K. Dixon." The notices were signed by a majority of the standing committee. This committee consists of 14 members, of whom 10 had attached their signatures.

The doors had been barricaded on the inside by a ladder, saw horse and boards. It was announced during the forenoon that three men had stayed in the church all night to prevent any attempt that might have been made to force the doors.

It appears that the standing committee had a meeting Saturday afternoon, when it was decided to prevent Dr. Dixon from entering. This action was precipitated by the action of the pastor in declaring a motion carried at a meeting of the society last Friday night which increased the number of the advisory committee of the church by five members, thus giving the pastor a majority of the committee.

The notice of services for yesterday which was posted on the bulletin board of the church was torn down by somebody during Saturday night. Several of the pastor's friends were up nearly all night. Just after midnight yesterday morning D. L. McIvarrie, Dr. Dixon's assistant, notified the newspapers that on the authority of Deacon Sawyer the usual services would be held. The church, however, remained closed all day. Hundreds of people read the notices on the doors, and many not present at the out-door services in the forenoon arrived to attend other services, but met with disappointment.

Dr. Dixon held another open-air meeting last evening in front of the church, and, in the course of his remarks, said that he hoped to occupy his pulpit next Sunday. In the meantime he intended to engage counsel, and should be represented at the church meeting today.

The trouble in the church arose over a difficulty between Dr. Dixon and his wife, who has sued a woman now in Worcester for $40,000 damages for the alleged alienation of her husband's affections.

On the Road to Recover.

New York, March 6.—According to the reports of his physicians Rudyard Kipling is now far advanced on the way to recovery. It is said that Mr. Kipling's daughter, Josephine, is dangerously ill. She is reported to have suffered a slight relapse during Saturday night. There is no change in the condition of Elsie, the younger daughter, who is suffering from pneumonia.

Probable Tin Poisoning.

Providence, March 6.—The family of John Hurley, consisting of a son and four daughters, were taken sick yesterday from what is supposed to be a case of tin poisoning. The family partook of canned tomatoes, and those that partook of the dish were taken sick. Two of the cases were quite serious, but all will probably recover.

In the Lap of Spring.

Toledo, March 6.—This section of Ohio is experiencing one of the heaviest snowfalls of the season. Over six inches fell during the night, causing the railroads some trouble and delaying trains.

WANTED!!

A Committee On the Welfare Of the City.

Good Afternoon.

The newspaper is the legitimate place for an advertisement. Custom has established it, and the successful advertisers, without exception, are those who use its columns. People are educated to search the newspapers and because this is so it is the one proper place for the advertisement. Churches which resort to bulletin boards and home made posters in public places, if they do not put aside the Golden rule, certainly show little appreciation of what the newspapers do for them. All church meetings, at which no admission is charged, are advertised free in the Ledger; the publishers have a right to expect that all other entertainments will be advertised at regular rates.

Drift of Opinion.

☞President Loubet, a Paris correspondent writes, dislikes show, and will restore to the Elysee Palace the quiet simplicity of the days of M. Grevy. That is what might be inferred from his portrait, which might be that of a typical Cape Cod ship captain of a generation ago or a well-to-do Yankee mechanic of today.

☞The rage for combination in trade, commonly called trusts, is so great that President Harper of Chicago University suggests also a combination, or what he calls a confederation of universities like that of the States of the Union, which he thinks will finally result in a national university, from which he expects great advantages. Such a combination or "trust" would undoubtedly throw some of the professors and managers out of work, and if so we hope that Harper is the first on whom the starving to death process will be tried. Any man working for a living who will deliberately try to throw his business into a combination when he knows the effect it will have on the employes is a man whom it were fulsome flattery to call a sublime ass.—Brockton Enterprise.

MASS MEETING

Cutters Considering the Proposition.

Work May be Resumed Tomorrow

Decision to be Printed in a Ledger Extra.

The conference Saturday between the Granite Manufacturers, Granite Cutters and State Board of Arbitration adjourned at 4 o'clock, the members of the State Board returning to Boston at that hour.

Half an hour later an extra edition of the Ledger had been issued giving the full text of the proposition submitted by the manufacturers to the cutters.

At that hour there were a number of granite workmen in the street near the Ledger office, who although they knew a proposition for arbitration had been submitted did not know how it read. As a result the extras met with a ready sale.

The proposition as submitted by the manufacturers was as follows:

The committees shall forthwith take up the consideration of the price list, any question not decided by the joint committees shall be referred to the State Board of Arbitration provided no other Board of Arbitration be agreed on after three meetings of the said joint committees on three successive days after the joint matters of discussion have been arrived at, and that each Association hereby bind themselves to abide by the decision of said Board; and that pending such decision or arbitration there shall be no strike, lockout, or suspension of business, and that the men shall resume work on Tuesday morning March 7th, 1899 under their bill of prices that may be agreed to for established arbitration.

The manufacturers earlier in the day submitted one other proposition which was to settle on the same basis as Barre, namely: thirty cents per hour for an average skilled workman, or what a workman was capable of earning according to the bill of prices by piece work. This proposition was not favorably received and it was dropped, although no vote was taken on it.

The proposition that was finally settled upon to submit to the cutters was not decided upon without some discussion. The State Board of Arbitration was at no time during the conference, present in their official capacity. They were, however instrumental in getting the two committees together again, and during the conference helped it over the rough places that might otherwise resulted in a break.

The mass meeting of the cutters was held this afternoon at Hancock hall and when the Ledger went to press was still in session.

It was rumored on Sunday that Field & Wild, one of the leading firms, would break from the Manufacturers' Association and open their yards. Had this been a fact it might have operated to encourage the men to hold out, but the firm promptly denied it, and make a statement in this issue.

An extra Ledger at 5 o'clock will report the decision of the Cutters' mass meeting on the Manufacturers' proposition.

A Veto Expected.

Mayor Keith will send his first veto to the City Council tonight, on the order placing a fire alarm tapper in the electric light station. This order was the result of a proposition of the Electric Light Company to turn on the street lights in the vicinity of any box that might be sounded during the night This was to be done free of cost to the city until May 1, as an experiment. The Committee on Sewers and Drains will report on the order for $75,000 for the Sewer department. The Committee on Fire Department will report on the order for fire alarm boxes. The Committee on Streets will report on the order rebuilding a brick sidewalk at Wollaston. The Committee on Finances and Licenses will also have some reports to make. In the calendar are the orders for several transfers, and on the order for $1000 for land damages for widening Hancock street at the corner of Granite street..

MERE IDLE GOSSIP.

Rumor Relative to Geo. H. Hitchcock & Co. So Declared.

A rumor obtained a wide circulation Sunday that George H. Hitchcock & Co. had deserted the granite manufacturers. The firm has promptly met the rumor by sending the following letter to President Marnock:

Quincy, Mass., Mar. 6, 1899.

Mr. A. Marnock, President, Quincy, Mass.

Dear Sir:—In answer to your query regarding various rumors in circulation as to our signing the new bill of prices submitted by the stone-cutters, will say that this is all mere idle gossip, and without proper foundation. We realize the utter impossibility of making any such concessions with the hope of maintaining Quincy as a leading granite centre, on account of the increased cost of production.

The advantages to be obtained from an early settlement of the existing differences are manifest to most anyone in any way connected with this industry, and a prolongation would be a severe loss to Quincy, from which it will be hard to recover. We have the utmost confidence in the committee appointed to satisfactorily terminate this affair, though firmly believe that the old bill rigidly enforced would be very acceptable to all parties concerned. Very truly yours,

George H. Hitchcock & Co.

Mr. Caleb F. Billings, a well known resident of Quincy died Sunday at his residence on Glover avenue, at the advanced age of 79 years. Mr. Billings had been an invalid for many years.

He was a son of John and Lydia Faxon Billings, and was the only remaining New England survivor of that illustrious and well known Quincy family, who once owned the large farm at North Quincy now known as Norfolk Downs.

There is one other survivor of this family in the person of George Billings, who at present resides in Cleveland, O.

Mr. Billings was a farmer by occupation, but for fifteen years his health has not permitted any active employment. He leaves a widow and several children.

It is a rumor at Houghs Neck that Mr. Meyers is to build a roller coaster where the bathing pool was last summer.

The monthly supper of the First Unitarian church will take place in the chapel on Wednesday evening at half past six.

A long communication on the "Thirty cent minimum" in the granite bill of prices will appear in the Ledger tomorrow.

The District Court was skunked this morning, not a case of any kind being brought before it. A sure sign that it is town meeting day.

Concert tonight at Colonial hall, by W. E. Loud, assisted by Miss Alice Burns, soprano; Miss Annie Fisher, pianist; and Mr. John Little, 'celloist.

Miss Collins, the popular milliner, starts for New York today, to purchase the latest styles for her spring trade. She will remain there about one week.

It is an old saying that a thunder shower breaks up the winter. If this is true Sunday's heavy thunder showers should have done the business for us this year.

The Rev. Ellery C. Butler preached at the Wollaston Unitarian church on Sunday. Mr. Butler touchingly alluded to the late Rev. Mr. Bagley. At the Sunday School service Mr. H. W. Lull spoke of the life and work of the late pastor.

The little folks had a grand time Saturday evening at the party of Clarence Federhen on Washington street, Quincy Point. But the best of all was when they all gathered around the table loaded with roast turkey and ice cream.

The lecture Sunday evening at the Christadelphian church, Wilson hall, was very instructive, being delivered by Mr. Joseph MacKellar of Boston. The subject for next Sunday at 7 P. M. will be: "War with Great Britain and Russia, and how it will end." All welcome.

Mr. James Dunn, Jr., has been more than busy the past week fitting up his new bicycle store near the car station, opposite the fountain. Mr. Dunn is an old Quincy boy and has been an expert bicycle rider and wants to see all his old friends who have a wheel to fix or any one in need of a new one.

Mrs. Mary J. Goodfellow, wife of Mr. George Goodfellow and daughter of Mr. William Garrity of this city, died at her late residence in Dorchester on Sunday evening, March 5. IS IT A TRIFLE.

THAT COMMON TROUBLE, ACID DYSPEPSIA OR SOUR STOMACH.

Now Recognized as a Cause of Serious Disease.

Acid Dyspepsia, commonly called heartburn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to digest it, the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour, burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic and being an every day occurence is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal, many people do nothing for the trouble.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tabets and is becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia.

Stuart's Dyspepia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by all druggists for 50 cents per package. It is prepared by the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., and while it promptly and effectually restores a vigorous digestion at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living.

NOTABLE FUNERAL.

Many Clergymen Pay Tribute to Rev. J. E. Bagley.

Services over the remains of the late Rev. James E. Bagley were held at the Wollaston Unitarian church, where for six years he has been the pastor, on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock.

Preceding the public service there was a private one at the house for the members of the family. There was a prayer by the Rev. Ellery Channing Butler, and the reading of the twenty-third Psalm by the Rev. Roderick Stebbins, pastor of the First Congregational parish of Milton.

At the church, the body was escorted up the left aisle by the pall bearers, Mr. Walter E. Simmons, Mr. Charles T. Baker, Mr. Walter M. Hatch, Mr. Frank P. Waterhouse and Mr. Eugene H. Sprague, representing the parish; Mr. Frank A. Page representing the Sunday School; and Mr. Charles E. Finch, Jr., and Mr. Wendell G. Corthell, representing the Unity club. The clergy proceeded up the right aisle headed by the Rev. Roderick Stebbins reciting the burial service, "I am the Resurrection and the Life." Wollaston lodge of Masons attended in a body.

The Harvard quartette sang "One sweetly solemn thought," and prayer was offered by the Rev. Herbert Mott of Wayland. 'Come Holy Spirit, Heavenly Dove," was then sung by the quartette.

Remarks were made by the Rev. Francis Tiffany, D. D., of Cambridge and the Rev. Mr. Butler. After the singing of "Lift the Shadows," the Rev. Mr. Tiffany invoked the Divine blessing.

The organist was Mrs. Alma Faunce Smith, and the ushers were Mr. Walter J. Wellington, Mr. Rufus W. Poole, Mr. William E. Rowe and Mr. Charles K. Crane.

The pulpit and lecturn were trimmed with smilax and violets.

Among the clergymen present were the following: The Rev. C. F. H. Crathern of South Braintree, the Rev. C. A. Allen of Bridgewater, the Rev. C. H. Porter, Jr., of Hingham, the Rev. C. R. MEASLES AT CAMP.

The Whole Regiment May Be Quarantined.

With Co. K, 5th Mass. Regt.,
Camp Wetherill,
Greenville, S. C., March 2.

We are enjoying the pleasures of a warm sunny day and hoping to have the weather remain dry until we are mustered out.

The epidemic that visited our camp is diminishing although Company C's mess house contains 26 patients, with the hospital ward of 13, making a total of 39. The medical department expects to return a number of men to duty within a few days.

Private Mead is reported as comfortable today. We hope for his speedy recovery. The unfortunate victim of pneumonia Private John Chisholm of Company A, was this afternoon escorted to the depot by this regiment, accompanied by the band and bugle corps. The line of march was thronged with citizens, many tears were shed by young as well as old.

These deaths of the Fifth, occurring so often has caused heartfelt feelings among the Southerners. At the depot, the chaplain, the Rev. Mr. House, paid a beautiful tribute to our late comrade. After the casket was lowered into the rough coffin box the buglers sounded the soldier's last call, "taps." The firing party which consisted of the corporal of the squad of the deceased and 12 privates, fired three volleys, as their parting salute. This ceremony, as well as the former ones, will long be remembered by the members of the Fifth Massachusetts. The scene was pathetic, and sorrowful.

The remains were take in charge of his sorrowing mother and father who have been in Greenville since their boy was considered dangerous. The train left Greenville with the unhappy family at 5.22 P. M. bound for Boston.

K boys are improving rapidly. Those who were sick in quarters are once more able to return to duty. We must not forget the hard work put in by our faithful hospital corps watching by the sick beds. The corps has performed duty both night and day. The epidemic that is raging making it necessary for the hospital nurses to do double duty.

Private Al Garbutt was selected as colonel's orderly for today.

The companies of the regiment are weighing their men, prior to mustering out. Some men have gained in weight, while others have lost.

Sergeant McGrath is [illegible] sergeant of the company, while Sergeant Colbert is regaining his health.

Lieutenant Whitney is paying strict attention to the sick boys of the company.

Corporal Gannon who is a patient of the 2d Division Hospital is gaining rapidly. Volunteer.

Greenville, Mar. 4.

Four weeks from today, we all expect to receive our final papers of discharge.

A new epidemic has been discovered in camp, this time in the form of measles. Three squads have been quarantined, with the victims of each sent to the hospital for treatment. These cases were found in the 3d battalion. The first was in Co. D of Plymouth. Co. G of Woburn was next, and this morning in a squad of Co. F of Waltham. These three squads are encamped by themselves about 1,000 yards from camp. If two more cases are discovered, it will become necessary to quarantine the whole regiment.

We understand from reliable source, that the citizens of Massachusetts desire the Fifth to parade through Boston. We as members of the Fifth decidedly object as it will necessitate the losing of considerable money to each member of the regiment. We are paid by the government for our transportation home, but by parading through Boston this money will be withheld. Therefore the boys would be the losers. The boys have seen enough of parading without doing it in Boston.

From information received at the hospital department, Private John Mead is considered as comfortable.

The pneumonia epidemic is decreasing every day. The number sick in hospital is 24 at this writing. Of this number several will be discharged from hospital today. The mustering out papers are being pushed along rapidly.

1st Sergeant Colbert, we expect is to receive a commission as lieutenant in a few days. The company is delighted with the sergeant's promotion.

Today is the weekly inspection of the regiment. Major Morrison is still in command of the regiment.

Fair weather continues. Volunteer.

HOW QUINCY RANKS.

In Amount Appropriated for Each Child.

89th in State and 10th in the County.

Cost of New Buildings and Interest Not Included.

Continuing the review of the annual report of H. W. Lull, superintendent of schools, began Friday we find:

There are 131 teachers employed; 10 at the High, 93 in the other grades, 14 assistants, and 5 specials. In the corps of teachers there are 2 who have served more than twenty years; 1, more than thirty; and 2 whose record is more than forty years. Eleven teachers resigned during 1898.

Thirty-six have graduated from a norma, twelve have attended a college but did not graduate, six have graduated from a college, fifty-one are graduates of the Quincy High and seventy-eight have their homes in Quincy. Average salary of all teachers in the first eight grades not including principals, $479.35. Average salary of all teachers in grades nine, ten, eleven, twelve (not including principal), $722.22. Minimum and maximum salary of principals below High, $1,000—$1400; in High, $1,800—$2,280.

The number of teachers in 1889 was 68 not including assistants; in 1898, there were 117 and 14 assistants.

The success of supervision by one principal at the Wollaston and Massachusetts Fields schools is noted, and assistants are recommended for the principals of the Adams and John Hancock schools.

The whole number of different pupils has increased from 3,287 in 1889 to 5,300 in 1898, the average number belonging in the same time from 2,619 to 4,328, and the average number attending from 2,516 to 4,148. The school census of 1898 showed 4,745 children between 5 and 15 years an increase from 4,720 in 1897, and from 3,495 in 1889.

For the first time the city has had a regularly elected truant officer, and Supt. Lull says the services of Mr. Charles H. Johnson have been of great value to the city.

The valuation of the city was $12,319,245 in 1889 and $19,236,832 in 1898. The school appropriation in 1889 was $55,800.00 and in 1898 it was $95,000.00. The cost per pupil was figured at $20.56 in 1889 and $22.25 in 1898, but in 1893 was $24.17.

The Superintendent says, "The difference of $[illegible] appropriation of $98,104.00 and the appropriations of $95,000.00 has affected the [illegible] of the Board. To the public, at large it cannot be apparent; because the accounts as published in this report, cover all expenses of the year, and, therefore, the Board has, seemingly, lived within its appropriation. It should be known, however, that the Finance Committee of the Board did not "pad" its estimates for the year, as is the case in some places; but asked for the smallest sum possible. The two columns above will show how the Board readjusted its estimate to meet the appropriation and the expenses.

Until the year 1893 the appropriation for fuel was so small, that only about two-thirds of the coal could be bought in the summer at the most favorable rates, while the remaining third had to be purchased from January to May at an advance. The waste of money was so apparent that in 1893 the Council made a considerable advance in this particular appropriation which nearly covered the supply for that year and until June of the next. If the appropriation asked for in 1898 had been granted, the entire supply for one school year could have been secured.

"Furthermore, during the last few years a small stock of supplies has been accumulated in each school building in order to meet any sudden emergency or any underestimate on the part of the principals. This year the very smallest amounts of everything have been purchased, and so this stock has been reduced.

"Again, but little provision has been made for the future; that is, the equipment has not been improved or strengthened. Every business man knows that each year he must do something for the improvement of his plant, or in the succeeding year his expense account must be largely increased.

"For these several reasons, the exhibit of this Board, although it has contracted no debts that must be paid in 1899, and it has lived on its appropriation for 1898, is not so gratifying as it appears to the citizen who does not know the conditions."

In addition to the expenditure of $94,999.94, there were expended for repairs by the Commissioner of Public Works $2,712.53.

By the sixty-first annual report of the Board of Education, Quincy holds the following rank among the 353 towns and cities of the State and the 27 of the County.

1. Amount of money appropriated for each child between 5 and 15 years: State, 156; County, 23.

2. Percentage of valuation appropriate to public schools State: 158; County, 12.

3. Ratio of average attendance to the whole number of children between 5 and 15 years: State, 246; County, 22.

4. Comparative amount of money appropriated for each child between 5 and 15 years: State, 89; County, 10.

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

Erratic Weather.

Boston, March 6.—An unusual occurrence of thunder showers in March was one of the features produced by a storm from the south which passed to the northwest of this section yesterday morning. Southeastern New England experienced two showers, the first at about 5 o'clock in the morning, and a second during the forenoon. In both cases the lightning was vivid and the thunder as heavy as in July. A sexton ringing a church bell in Plymouth was killed, while in New Bedford and Providence buildings were struck and set on fire. The temperature rose rapidly after midnight on Saturday, and a spring-like condition prevailed throughout yesterday, with frequent downpours of rain.

Fatal Scuffle.

Boston, March 6.—Two seamen, Thomas French and Robert Scott, became involved in a quarrel on board the steamer Chicago yesterday, and in the scuffle French fell 30 feet through a hatchway and broke his neck, dying soon after. Scott was saved from a similar fall by being snatched back just as he was going over. The police, after investigating the case, arrested Scott on a charge of manslaughter. Both men were considerably intoxicated, and in their wrestling about the deck approached the open hatchway before the other seamen realized their danger.

Had Their Share.

Havana, March 6.—Governor General Brooke, referring to the complaints made at Santiago that a large number of laborers have been thrown out of work by an apparent reduction in the financial allotment to Santiago province, says that the funds furnished the several provinces by the authorities at Havana have in all cases been equal to the respective requisitions.

Newspaper Train Wrecked.

Huntingtgon, Pa., March 6.—The first section of a newspaper train of the Pennsylvania railroad from New York to Pittsburg was wrecked near here yesterday by a landslide. Engineer McCutchin and Fireman Troco were instantly killed. They were caught under the debris of the demolished engine. The passengers on the train were unhurt.

Report Not Ready.

New York, March 6.—District Attorney Gardiner denies the report that Professor Witthaus, the expert chemist, has finished his analysis of the viscera of Henry Barnet, and that he has submitted his report. Colonel Gardiner further stated that he did not expect the report from Professor Witthaus until a week or so.

—The Boston school board is taknig steps to prevent the employment of non-resident persons to teach in the schools of that city.

SPANISH WAR

Democrats Say We Face an Actual Treasury Deficiency.

Declare That "Reckless Improvidence" Will Defeat the Administration.

Washington, March 6.—The house of representatives of the late congress passed 1635 bills and resolutions, against 1200 by the Fifty-fourth, 951 by the Fifty-third, and 892 by the Fifty-second congresses respectively. The work of the house for its three sessions appears as a new and valuable feature of the house calendar. This covers a recapitulation of the entire work, and an appendix of over 50 pages, giving the status of every bill that has been reported to the house during the last two years. Under the title "army," 42 distinct measures are given. It presents at a glance full information on all the house has done on any subject. The appendix, index, etc., were prepared by Tally Clerk Wakefield of the house staff.

The president expresses himself as well pleased in general with the outcome of the session of congress just closed. He takes a hopeful view of conditions, believing that the failures of congress to meet the requirements in several instances will not operate to embarrass the government seriously. It was the purpose of the president, had congress listened favorably to his request for authority to appoint four additional major generals, to have named Generals Fitzhugh Lee, Wheeler, Wilson and Wood.

It was a bitter disappointment to the war department that the request of the president for authority to appoint only one additional major general of regulars should have been negatived. It was the purpose to name for that honor General Shafter, in order that he might retire with the laurels he has earned. The general must be retired by law on the 14th of the present month, and must go out with only a volunteer commission. It is the purpose to give him at least this.

The official statement of Representative Cannon of Illinois, chairman of the house appropriation committee, summing up the appropriations of the Fifty-fifth congress, shows an aggregate appropriation by the entire congress of $1,566,890,016, and for the session just closed, a total of $673,658,400, with authority for contracts, subject to future appropriations, amounting to $70,000,000. Chairman Cannon's statement follows:

The appropriations made at the session of congress just closed amount approximately to $673,658,400, and show an apparent reduction of $219,573,000 under the appropriations made at the preceding session. This is attributable to the large expenses occasioned by the war with Spain that were providing for during the preceding session.

The entire appropriations made by the Fifty-fifth congress aggregate $1,566,890,016. Of this sum $482,562,083 is directly chargeable to our late war with Spain or incident thereto. Deducting this charge from the whole amount of the appropriations the remainder, $1,084,327,632, represents the ordinary or normal appropriations made by the Fifty-fifth congress.

The appropriations made by the preceding congress, the Fifty-fourth, amounted to $1,044,580,273. A comparison shows an increase in ordinary appropriations made by this congress over those made by that congress, the Fifty-fourth, of $39,747,000; but this apparent increase is more than accounted for by increases under eight items alone, namely: For pensions, $4,000,000; for the postal service, $16,000,000; for rivers and harbors, including work under contracts previously authorized, $3,000,000; for new ships for the navy, $6,000,000; for beginning the work of the 12th census, $1,000,000; for the Paris exposition, $1,200,000; for new public buildings, including the building for the department of justice and for site and partial construction of the new government printing office, about $5,000,000; and for payment of judgments rendered against the government on account of French spoliations and under the Bowman act, $3,100,000. These very natural and necessary increases in public expenditures aggregate $39,900,000—more than dissipating the entire apparent increase in the ordinary appropriations by this congress over those made by the Fifty-fourth congress.

In addition to the direct appropriations made at this session contracts were authorized, subject to future appropriations to be made by congress, amounting to about $70,000,000. Of this amount $44,000,000 is for additional ships of the navy, $22,500,000 is for work on rivers and harbors, and something over $3,000,000 is for public buildings. The contract system is of necessity applied to the construction of new warships which require periods of years for their construction. In the case of rivers and harbor improvements and the construction of public buildings experience has shown that the authorization of contracts tend materially to expedite and cheapen the same.

Mr. Dockery of Missouri, the ranking Democratic member of the house appropriation committee, made the following statement, giving the eDmocratic view:

This congress easily surpasses all its predecessors in the stupendous aggregate of its appropriations. It was thought that the Fifty-first congress, commonly known as the "billion dollar congress," had, in point of extravagance of appropriations, touched a limit which would not be reached, or at least surpassed by any of its successors.

This congress, however, has far exceeded the appalling total of appropriations then made, and it will be remembered that the billion dollar congress was followed by overwhelming disaster to the Republican party at the ensuing election.

Confronted with a war with Spain, requiring the imposition of additional taxation, it is obvious that rigid economy should have been applied in all other directions to the expenditure of public money. The people were willing to meet all the demands upon the national treasury made necessary by the Spanish war, but it is fair to presume that they expected their representatives, in view of the cheerful disposition manifested to meet these burdens, to limit the ordinary appropriations to the necessities of a wise and economical administration. These expectations have not been realized.

The result is an actual deficiency in current revenues amounting on the first of this month to $99,109,554.50. This deficiency, as shown by a recent conservative estimate by Chairman Cannon of the appropriation committee, will probably reach $159,000,000 on June 30 next.

It is impossible to estimate with absolute accuracy the treasury deficiency for the coming fiscal year. The secretary of the treasury, in his annual report, made in December last, estimated it at about $31,000,000, but it is now apparent that it will not be less than $100,000,000. It is almost certain, therefore, that the government will be compelled during the calendar year 1900 to face an actual treasury deficiency. The $462,000,000 of income arising from the sale of bonds under this administration and that of President Cleveland will then have been exhausted, and the treasury will pass from the position of a borrowed surplus to an actual deficit. Such a condition must be met, either by increased taxation or by the issue of treasury certificates, or by an additional bond issue.

Notwithstanding this deplorable treasury situation, which has been called over and over again to the attention of congress and the country, appropriations have been made which in many cases have not been warranted by the interests of the public service, or if which proper in themselves, should have been postponed until the national income should be ample to meet all its liabilities without the necessity of bond issues.

The appropriations of the original "billion dollar congress" amounted to $1,035,680,109. The appropriations of the congress just ended reached the mighty aggregate of $1,666,890,016.

It is fair to deduce from this total $482,562,083, made necessary to meet the liabilities of the Spanish war. So if we deduct from the grand total the liabilities on account of the Spanish war, it appears that the appropriations for the ordinary expenses of the government are $1,084,327,932. The appropriations of the congress just ended, to meet ordinary governmental expenses, exceed those of the proceding (Fifty-fourth) by $39,747,658. Not only this, but the contract liabilities authorized by the congress just expired for new ships and their armament, public buildings, rivers and harbors and miscellaneous items amount to $70,602,524. If, therefore, to the ordinary appropriations is added the liabilities on account of these authorized contracts, we ascertain that the appropriations and contract liabilities amount to the tremendous total of $1,154,930,456.

These increased appropriations have gone for French spoilation claims, public buildings, rivers, harbors, Bowman act claims and hundreds of other projects, some meritorious, but many of them not entitled to recognition by the national government. In nearly every branch of the civil service there has been an increase of appropriations. The time has come to reform the scale of national expenditures. The reckless improvidence of the outgoing congress will at least serve the good purpose of arousing the people and of causing them to send representatives to the national capital who will reduce the burdens imposed by riotous appropriations.

Witness Rejected.

Washington, March 6.—The war department's court of inquiry wound up its week's work with a half day's session Saturday, having exhausted its list of witnesses now on hand. The court will start for Chicago early this week, probably on Wednesday. Just before the close of the session Saturday a volunteer witness presented himself, but was not accepted. He wore an army uniform and said his name was Frank Rundas, late of the Third Nebraska (W. J. Bryan's regiment), and that he had been recently honorably discharged from the service and was on his way home.

To Work on Big Plant.

Westerly, R. I., March 6.—The executive committee of the American Thread company has decided to complete the William Clark company's plant here, which means that the finished mills will contain 54,000 spinning spindles and over 20,000 twisting spindles, with the necessary finishing machinery to handle the product of these spindles. This is more than double their present capacity and will necessitate the employment of 350 extra hands.

Election Day In Maine.

Portland, Me., March 6.—Thirteen Maine cities hold their municipal elections today—Auburn, Bath, Eastport, Ellsworth, Gardiner, Hallowell, Lewiston, Portland, Rockland, Saco, South Portland, Westbrook and Waterville. In Bath, Gardiner and South Portland there is only one candidate for mayor. What was the city of Deering votes today as wards 8 and 9 of Portland.

Richmond Fears Flood.

Richmond, March 6.—The water in the James river is up 29 feet at Columbia and is still rising. There is a heavy flush here, and fears are entertained of a disastrous flood when the up country waters come down. Merchants in the lower part of the city are removing their goods.

EXPLOSION OF POWDER

Causes the Loss of a Number of Lives and Razes Many Buildings.

Toulon, March 6.—The naval powder magazine of La Goubran, between La Seyne and Toulon, in the department of Var, southern France, exploded at 2.30 yesterday morning. All of the soldiers on duty at the magazine were killed, and a number of the inhabitants of the surrounding district, in the buildings which were razed, also fell victims. Forty corpses have already been recovered. The cause of the explosion is not known.

It is thought that the explosion originated in chemical decomposition in smokeless powder. There is no suggestion of foul play.

The whole city is in mourning, flags are at half mast, the theatres are draped and the casinos closed.

The government and the municipal authorities are forwarding relief funds. M. Lockery, minister of marine, has telegraphed 10,000 francs toward the maintenance of the families of the victims, and a public subscription has been opened here.

Fifty thousand pounds of black powder exploded. It looks as though a volcanic erruption had occurred, the country being swept almost bare within a radius of two miles, houses destroyed, trees overturned and distorted, fields devastated and covered with stones and black dust.

Some of the stones are enormous. One weighing 50 kilogrammes fell in Pont De Las. Signs of the explosion are evident in all the suburbs of Toulon, and in the city itself. Even at St. Jean De Var, five miles distant, windows were shattered and doors battered in.

Later reports show that of the seven sentries four were killed outright, and the others severely injured, the corporal being literally scalped, and the scalp overhanging his face like a veil.

A large number of soldiers are now engaged in clearing away the debris, but the work is very difficult. It is impossible to ascertain accurately the number killed, but it is believed that no fewer than 100 were injured.

Although it was a clear night, the explosion was so terrific as to produce a slight railfall.

Fortunately the neighboring magazine escaped. It is now believed that the explosion originated in chemical decomposition.

An Unpleasant Outlook.

Santiago, March 6.—El Porvenir, discussing the situation brought about by the orders from Havana limiting the total expenditure upon the departments of the provincial administration to $10,000, says: There is only one course open to men who are without work and food, namely, to become banditti. Hunger demands bread. The proceedings of the United States authorities at Havana are evidently antagonistic to Major General Wood and born of jealousy of his success and popularity among all classes of Cubans. Three thousand men have been thrown out of employment at only a day's notice, which must mean a serious menace to public peace and property.

Dastardly Plot Revealed.

San Quintin, Cal., March 6.—A conspiracy among the convicts in the state prison here to murder their guards and effect a wholesale delivery of prisoners has been revealed to Warden Hale through the faint-heartedness of one of the conspirators. As a result, eight men denounced as the ringleaders in the movement are in the dungeons. One guard charged by the informer with complicity in the murderous plot of the inmates was discharged and the guards have been doubled.

Wants Laws Enforced.

Boston, March 6.—The quarterly convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence union of the Boston archdiocese among other things adopted resolutions expressing gratitude in the work being done "in arousing public opinion against the 'monster' styled the Sunday hotel, which is the most prolific source of lawlessness and demoralization generally." The union emphasizes the fact that it desires no new legislation, but enforcement of the laws against "Sunday hotels."

ELECTIONS IN MAINE.

Republican Mayor and Aldermen Succeed at Greater Portland.

Results In Other Cities Show Some Surprises.

Summary of Results of Annual Town Meetings In the Bay State.

Portland, Me., March 7.—Frank W. Robinson, Republican candidate for mayor of Greater Portland, was elected over Llelewelyn Barton, Democrat, receiving 4968 votes to 2354 for his opponent. Robinson's plurality, exclusive of the Deering wards, was over 2000. The largest plurality which a candidate for mayor ever before received was in 1894, when Mayor Baxter was elected by a plurality of 1496. The Republicans carry seven of the nine wards. The amendment to the charter, providing for the election of three women from the city at large on the school board, was adopted, 2 to 1.

Ellsworth.

Ellsworth, Me., March 7.—The annual election here resulted in the choice of a Democratic mayor, Arthur N. Greely, by a close margin, but the Republicans elected three out of five aldermen, thus gaining the balance of power in the city government. The result of the vote for mayor came somewhat as a surprise, and the Republicans attribute the defeat to the inconsistency of the members of their party in ward 2, where they usually poll 80 votes and which yesterday gave their candidate only 15. The minor city officials will be elected by the board of aldermen, and naturally will be Republicans.

Waterville.

Waterville, Me., March 7.—The municipal election has been a complete surprise to the Republicans and disappointment to the Democrats. The former were claiming a victory by 300 majority, the latter, the election of their mayor. W. C. Philbrook (Rep.) was elected over Frank L. Thayer (Dem.) by a plurality of 32 votes. The Republicans carried their complete ticket in wards 2, 3, 4 and 6, elected councilmen in wards 1 and 5 additional. The city council will stand: Aldermen, 4 Republicans and 3 Democrats; common councilmen, 12 Republicans and 2 Democrats.

Eastport.

Eastport, Me., March 7.—The election here proved an exciting one because of the discovery of a large number of sticker ballots for mayor, nearly all of which proved defective. S. D. Leavitt was re-elected mayor, as were the aldermen, with few exceptions, all on Citizens' nomination papers.

Rockland.

Rockland, Me., March 7.—The election in this city was a victory for the Republicans, D. N. Mortland being chosen mayor, with a majority of 231 in a total poll of 1544. All the wards except ward 2 returned Republicans.

South Portland,

Portland, Me., March 7.—The new city of South Portland voted for the first time yesterday. E. C. Reynolds, Republican candidate for mayor, and endorsed by the Citizens' party, was unanimously chosen mayor. The Citizens carried five of the seven wards.

Westbrook.

Westbrook, Me., March 7.—Henry S. Raymond, Democrat, was elected mayor of this city by a plurality of 80, over William E. Ayer, Republican. The Republicans elected nine of the 13 aldermen.

Hallowell,

Hallowell, Me., March 7.—This was the first time since Hallowell rose to the dignity of a municipality that no councilmen were voted for, the legislature having abolished the lower body in the city government. The vote was a very light one. George A. Safford, Republican, was re-elected for the fourth time with 225 votes, against 60 for James E. Stearns, Democrat. The Democrats re-elected an alderman in ward four, as the Republicans had no candidate.

Auburn,

Auburn, Me., March 7.—W. H. Wiggin, Republican, was elected mayor by a vote of 867 to 576 for J. S. P. H. Wilson, Democrat, and 56 for A. J. Wheeler, prohibitionist. The city council is unanimously Republican.

Lewiston.

Lewiston, Me., March 7.—Pottle (Dem.) was elected mayor by a majority of 276 over Ham (Rep.). In the board of aldermen the Republicans carried wards 1, 2 and 7, the Democrats wards 4, 5 and 6. There was no choice in ward 3.

Bath.

Bath, Me., March 7.—In the city election the Republicans swept the city, their candidate for mayor, Charles E. Hyde, being elected by 753 majority, while in each ward the vote approximated that for mayor. In many instances there was no opposition, and this made the election a quiet one.

Saco.

Saco, Me., March 7.—The municipal election here was unusually quiet, although a very large vote was cast. The Democrats were successful in electing Luther R. Moore for mayor, five of the seven aldermen and 10 Democrats, against four Republicans in the common council. Moore received 829, against 631 for Charles L. Batchelder, giving him a majority of 109. The only contests were for aldermen in wards 1, 3, 4 and 6. The Democrats celebrated their victory with bonfires and fireworks.

Gardiner.

Gardiner, Me., March 7.—The election in this city was very quiet and no effort was made to get out a large vote. The Democrats having placed no nominations in the field, the regular Republican ticket, headed by Freeman Patten for mayor, was elected. The only contest was that of constable in ward 4, Frank Dunlap, the regular nominee, was elected by 20 votes over Frank Moore, who ran on an independent ticket.

TOWN MEETING DAY.

Time-Honored Annual Function Carried Out in Massachusetts as Usual.

Boston, March 7.—Many towns in this state held their annual meetings yesterday.

Town officers were elected, appropriations voted, the yearly policy discussed with the usual freedom, and the all-important question as to whether liquor should be sold in the town during the year settled. In nearly every case the policy of the town on this latter question has become so fixed that there was no change, but there were a number, however, who, after trying "no license," swung over into the license column, while three towns, Dracut, Amesbury and Rockland, changed from "wet" to "dry."

"For the first time in years liquor will be publicly offered for sale on Cape Cod after May 1, that is, if the selectmen of Brewster carry out the wishes of a majority of the voters of that town. Hubbardstown and New Braintree will also be "wet" communities next year, while Medway, Orange, Scituate and Athol which were "wet" in 1897 and "dry" in 1898, voted to become liquor selling towns in 1899.

In the total vote on the liquor question in 62 towns reported, there practically was no change. In these communities this year the "yes" vote was 9827, the "no," 14,671, while in 1898 the "yes" vote was 9850, and the "no," 14,673.

The changes on the license policy in western Massachusetts towns holding annual meetings were few. Two—Orange and Colrain—in Franklin county went back into the license column, and Buckland and Belchertown voted no license.

As a rule politics played little part in any of the elections, every candidate's individual capacity being too well known to allow political preferences to win for the coveted positions. Amesbury, however, elected a Social-Democrat as a selectman.

While town expenses were, as a rule, curtailed as much as possible in nearly every instance, following the rule of the fathers, the education took a greater portion of the appropriations, although highways were in no cases neglected.

The beautiful spring weather brought out a big crowd in nearly every town, and as usual the day was thoroughly enjoyed.

Uproar In Spanish Chambers.

Madrid, March 7.—The initial appearance in the senate yesterday of Senor Silvela as premier was marked by a somewhat stormy session. He attempted to read the decree of dissolution and Count d'Alenas tried to talk, but his voice was drowned. The president of the house vainly endeavored to quell the disturbance, but finally Senor Silvela completed reading the decree, amid cheers for liberty mingled with cheers for the queen, the army and the navy. The session was declared closed amid an uproar. There were similar scenes in the chamber of deputies, and shouts of "Down with the Jesuits" and cheers for the republic and for liberty. The session was closed in a general uproar, the ushers having to drive the public from the floor and platform of the chamber.

Troublesome Soldiers.

Chattanooga, March 7.—Extreme precautions are being taken to prevent trouble when the colored soldiers of the Eighth regiment are mustered out. A large number of special officers have been sworn in, and are on duty heavily armed. Company K, Sixteenth infantry from Huntsville, is on provost duty. Military companies of Atlanta are under orders to come on short notice. The soldiers have threatened to create havoc when liberated. Their commander admits that trouble is probable.

Disastrous Prairie Fires.

San Antonio, Tex., March 7.—Prairie fires are burning in Neuces, Starr and Duval counties. It has not rained in this section for more than six months and the grass burns like tinder. Fires are burning at half a dozen points along the Texas-Mexican road between Laredo and Corpus Christi. Near Aguilarez, William Oliver, a ranch foreman, and two laborers perished in the flames.

DR. DIXON STEPS OUT.

Baptist Church Tangle Straightened Out by His Resignation.

Society Voted Him $1000 For His Action.

Affirms That He Is the Victim of Unjust and Unfounded Accusations.

Boston, March 7.—Rev. Joseph K. Dixon, pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist church, whose pastoral relations were upset last week by his wife's charges that a Worcester woman had alienated his affections, resigned last night. The resignation was accepted and the society voted to pay Mr. Dixon $1000 in view of his immediate resignation.

The church and society met last night in pursuant to a call issued last Saturday, when the relations between the pastor and church body became strained. Mr. Dixon had sent a letter, which was read, and in it he referred to the almost dramatic events of last Sunday. He said that he wished to conserve the best interests of the church, and while he would like to retain connection with the body, it would only result in a widening of the breach. In his letter were these words: "I have for many years been the victim of unjust and unfounded accusations, and I have borne these with fortitude and with some degree of silence, simply affirming his innocence."

The motion to accept the resignation was not defeated, and on its acceptance, $1000 was voted as the pastor's salary to May 1. The latter action was taken at the suggestion of the Boston Baptist union, before which body, in the afternoon, Mr. Dixon appeared to explain his position.

The resignation straightened out the distressing tangle in the church affairs, and the meeting postponed further action on other articles in the call. Mr. Dixon declined to express any opinion as to his future course.

Good Work Goes On.

Amesbury, Mass., March 7.—An effect of the precedent made by Fall River mills is shown in the announcement by the management of the Hamilton mills corporation that on April 3 the restoration of 11 1-9 percent in the wages of its employes will become operative. The Hamilton mills manufacture cotton goods, employing about 800 hands, and in February, 1898, reduced wages in conformity with the general announcement at Fall River, which center is followed in matters relating to the rise and fall in the cotton market.

Worcester, Mass., March 7.—The announcement is made of a 10 percent increase in the wages of the operatives of the H. N. Slater mill of Webster, to take effect April 1.

Pittsfield, N. H., March 7.—Following the lead of the larger concerns in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Maine, the Pittsfield mills will restore on March 27 the cut made in January, 1898.

Barroom Shooting Scrape.

New Haven, March 7.—As the outcome of a controversy between Fred Jasper, a colored man, and Franci Antoni Pasquale, who conducts a saloon, in which 60 cents was involved, Jasper is at the city hospital in a critical condition with a bullet wound in the neck and one in the chest, and Pasquale is under arrest for doing the shooting. Jasper left a pair of new shoes with Pasquale Saturday as a guarantee for 60 cents that he owed, but yesterday afternoon he wished to get back the shoes without settling the bill, and when he started to go behind the bar, Pasquale shot him. The Italian claims that the shooting was in self-defense.

Turned State's Evidence.

Boston, March 7.—In the superior criminal court yesterday, before Judge Gaskill, the case against David G. Sullivan, charged with perjury in connection with the bribery of Juror Milliken, was placed on file. The proceedings were in open court, and Assistant District Attorney McLaughlin stated to the court that inasmuch as Sullivan was used as a government witness it was deemed best not to proceed against him. He asked that the court put Sullivan under bonds to appear as a witness in the other cases growing out of the one at hand. Judge Gaskill placed the bonds at $1000.

Must All Give Bonds.

Boston, March 7.—Notice has been served on the employes and attaches of the United States sub-treasury in this city that beginning April 1 they will have to furnish bonds for the proper administration of their functions. It is on April 1 that George A. Marden becomes sub-treasurer. This is a departure from the existing order of things as concerns the bonding of sub-treasury employes. Heretofore the sub-treasurer has been responsible for the funds and for the conduct of the employes. Now it is proposed to make clerks and other individuals responsible.

Boycotting Prohibited.

Boston, March 7.—An important decision was given by Judge Richardson yesterday in the case of Samuel H. Mitchell, a Cambridge baker, vs. Joseph T. Walsh, et al., members of Bakers' union No. 4, which arose out of labor troubles. The court orders an injunction against the defendants, restraining them from interfering with Mitchell's business.

Good Afternoon.

When Co. K went to the front the town of Braintree expended $325.71 for shoes, shirts, socks, etc., and also $467.17 in a patriotic demonstration and flag raising. Will Quincy do as much for the boys upon their return this month?

We were surprised to see the appointment of Mr. Robert T. Johnson as inspector of animals and provisions held up. It is an established fact that the firm of Johnson Bros. knows a good thing when they see it, and Robert in particular is an excellent judge of meat.

That voluminous petition for a municipal ice plant may be pigeonholed in the City Council for some time. It is said that the Councilman who presented the petition was not in favor of it, and only presented it because nobody else would. Having introduced it, he effectually held it up, by having it laid on the table.

The municipal electric light plant for Braintree cost $16,450.10 in 1898. It has 94 arc lights and 112 incandescent lights and the cost per arc light is figured at $90.78. This is more than arc lights cost in Quincy, and the city is not responsible for any loss or injury. It is a fact however that Braintree people get their houses lighted cheaper.

The increase in the budget of the the School Committee was so small that it almost took our breath. We had expected after reading the annual reports of the School Committee and Superintendent of Schools that the total would certainly go over $100,000, but the estimate asked is a modest one, a necessary one, and should be voted almost without a question.

Councilman Jameson is wondering where he is at: he is personally opposed to some of the Mayor's petitions before the Legislature, yet as chairman of the Committee on Legislative Matters he is requested to appear at the State House and cooperate with His Honor. Perhaps if he will ascertain what the Mayor would have done, had he been requested to appear in opposition to his own petition, he will then have a precedent.

Drift of Opinion.

☞This is the age of progress. Let us have all the modern improvements regardless of cost seems to be a popular cry. The taxpayers can stand it. But when it comes to paying the bills there will be a different story to tell.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞Boston wants a new subway, one that will run up Beacon street to the State House, and Mayor Quincy has offered a plan for the new route of travel. With cars underground, cars on the surface, and cars in the air, Boston will in time be able to shift its inhabitants with celerity. Walking will have gone out of fashion when all of these schemes get into full operation in the Hub.—Lynn Item.

—The Tucker Light, the new monthly of the Tucker school of Milton, promises to be popular from the start. It is composed of short essays by pupils of each grade, and pupils and parents are pleased to see their productions in print. Pupils in other schools will also be pleased to read the work of Tucker school children.

Debates on the Mayor's veto, his appointment of inspector of animals, and other matters, served to prolong Monday night's meeting of the City Council.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The Mayor sent a communication calling attention to the report of the Metropolitan Sewer Commissioners which interested Quincy, as it proposed to run the sewer through Quincy to Nut Island and the purchase of the pumping station and force mains. To Committee on Legislative Matters and Sewers.

The Mayor fowarded for confirmation the appointment of Robert T. Johnson as inspector of animals and provisions.

Councilman Newcomb objected. No person could properly fill the position unless a veterinary. There were over 700 cows in Quincy and it was a part of the inspector's duty to see if they were free from disease and a marketman was not qualified to tell.

He read a letter from the State Board of Cattle Commissioners in which it was stated that as far as possible the inspector should be filled by one qualified; that a veterinary was the best person.

Continuing, Councilman Newcomb said it was unfair and disrespectful to the veterinaries of Quincy to put the care of 700 cows in charge of an incompetent person. In reply to questions by Councilman Bryant, he said he did not oppose the appointment of last year's inspector as he did not know as much about the matter then as now. Last year his cows were examined and the certificate was signed by a stone cutter and was not worth the paper it was written upon.

Upon motion of Councilman Bryant the matter was laid upon the table.

The Mayor also announced the appointment of Albion I. Dixon as tax collector. Placed on file.

MAYOR'S PETITIONS.

The Mayor, in response to order as to what was before the Legislature affecting Quincy, said there were four petitions, viz:

To build boulevard from Squantum.
To have tenure of office of Water Commissioner defined.
To refund the indebtedness.
For authority to go beyond the debt limit for improvement of streets.

A hearing on the last three had been set for March 9, at 10.45 A. M.

This communication was laid on the table and later placed it on file.

VETO OVERRIDDEN.

The Mayor returned without his signature the order authorizing the Chief Engineer to place a gong on the Electric Light power station. His reasons were that it would be but for five or six weeks and after that it was only fair to presume a change would be made, and he did not know what that charge would be. He had arranged with the Chief Engineer to send a man from the central fire station to notify the engineer at the electric light plant when an alarm was sounded.

The vote on the question was reconsidered and the question was on passing the order over the Mayor's veto.

Councilman Hill said that the Electric Light Co. was about ready to say in any event the price would be satisfactory to the city. The company declined to turn on the power if a man ran across the street to notify them, as the night man had been assaulted in going to the door at night. The Mayor was in favor of the order except that he was afraid it would cost too much. A ten inch tapper would cost $85 and the chief engineer had said it could be taken back if necessary and most of the money refunded.

Superintendent Austin, in response to questions, said he was ready to guarantee that the experiment would be continued three months from the installation of the tapper. He refused to try the experiment by having a man run across the street to notify his engineer. As the city was a large consumer his company was willing to try the experiment, and after the three months the cost if anything would be satisfactory to the city.

Mr. Austin was asked several questions as to the cost per hour for running a circuit, but could not tell exactly, possibly twenty cents an hour.

Chief Engineer Williams said the lights would be a good thing. If the cost was too much the tapper could be returned at almost cost. It also came out in the questions which followed that he had a ten inch tapper on hand which he could put in as an experiment.

A question then arose as to the meaning of the word "procure" in the order, it being claimed that if the order was passed the Chief Engineer was not obliged to purchase a tapper but simply to provide one.

The City Solicitor was sent for, but before he arrived the order was passed unanimously, over the Mayor's veto.

SCHOOL BUDGET.

The School Committee forwarded its estimate for the ensuing year as follows:

Salaries,	$75,000
Fuel,	6,500
Janitors,	6,200
Transportation,	1,000
Books, supplies, etc.,	8,500
Evening schools,	1,500
Total,	$98,900

To Committee on Finance.

PETITIONS.

Several petitions were received for minor licenses, State Aid, etc., which were referred.

A petition that Arthur street between Buckley and Garfield streets be accepted as a public way. To Committee on Streets.

Petitions for incandescent lights on Pond street, and six on Sea street between Valley and Palmer streets, were referred to Committee on Lights.

Petition for acceptance of Nelson street from Arthur to Carlmark street, was referred to Committee on Streets.

Petition that the triangular plot bounded by Liberty and Penn street be taken for a public square. To Committee on Public Grounds.

Petition that Blake street be accepted as a public way and two lights be erected thereon referred to Committee on Streets.

Councilman Packard presented a petition that necessary action be taken to establish a Municipal Ice plant. Laid on the table.

The Quincy and Boston street railway petitioned for the location for another track on Washington street, between Chubbuck street and the Point bridge. To Committee on Streets.

Petition from Frank F. Prescott that the permanent sidewalk assessment at 78 Washington street be apportioned over ten years. Laid on table until later in the evening when it was granted.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Fire Department reported an amendment to the order for fire alarm boxes at Merrymount Road, Spear and Coddington streets and Canal and Chestnut streets, by striking out Spear and Coddington street, and in changing Merrymount road to Butler road and Putnam street. The amendment was accepted, the rules suspended. Order passed to be ordained.

The same committee reported leave to withdraw on order for fire alarm box on Quincy avenue. Accepted.

The same committee reported ought not to pass on order for fire alarm box at corner of Cross and Common streets. Accepted.

The Committee on Streets reported reference to executive, on order relaying brick sidewalk on Prospect avenue. Accepted.

The joint Committee on Finance and ordinances reported ought not to pass, on order establishing an ordinance for the removal of dirt and ashes.

Councilman Jameson asked the reason. He also said the chairman of the committee had told him, but that he would like the rest of the Council to hear.

Councilman Bryant refused to give the reason as the gentleman had been told. If any other member asked he would give it.

Councilman Pinkham then asked the reason, but still Councilman Bryant refused to tell.

Councilman Jameson then said the reason given him was that the state of city's finances did not permit. The question was an important one and he did not think taxpayers would object.

Councilman Bryant said that he understood that the report would be laid on the table until the budget came in.

Councilman Pinkham was opposed, yet he thought the chairman of a committee should always give reason. We know now we cannot afford it.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

Dr. Bruce has moved into the large handsome house on Squantum street formerly owned and occupied by Mrs. Sarah Lincoln.

A storm of hurricane force, accompanied with snow and sleet started early this morning succeeding yesterday's beautiful day. Sunshine at noon.

A dispatch from Washington says that the 5th regiment will probably be mustered out the first of next week, and that the members will be in their homes by the end of ten days.

For two months the creeks and inlets about Quincy have been frozen over with thick ice, but the heavy rain of Sunday has broken it into huge cakes and it is fast disappearing into the sea.

One of the specimens of the work in drawing at the High school on exhibition at the office of the School Committee is a pen and ink portrait, taken from life, of Samuel B. Turner, janitor of the building.

The Unity club of Wollaston will hold its regular meeting on Friday evening. The usual literary and musical programme will be omitted. There will be remarks upon the life of the late Rev. Mr. Bagley by various members.

An account of the last meeting of Feb. 20 was read by Miss Isabel F. P. Emery. Prof. Taylor of the Chauncy Hall school of Boston delivered an address on "American Children" which was very interesting. Several pleasing solos were rendered by two well known lady singers of Boston; Miss Helen Bemis, accompanist. It was a pleasant and profitable evening.

Ethelbert Hubbard of East Aurora, N. Y., who is to discourse to the Quincy Teachers' Association upon "Bembrandt" on Thursday evening, is familiar to many of our Quincy people through his publication of "Little Journeys" and the bright description therein of a visit to the homes of the Quincy Presidents. "The Philistine" is an artistic publication from his press together with various limited editions of volumes that have won for him a name for unique taste. East Aurora, his home has come in for a share of his fame being described by him as a condition not a place.

Monday evening the Y. P. C. U. connected with the Universalist church celebrated its first public installation. In the absence of Miss Lincoln, the district superintendent, the pastor, Rev. E. W. Preble, acted as installing officer. The officers are: President, Miss Addie Holton; Vice President, Arthur C. Merritt; Secretary, Mrs. A. C. Merritt; and treasurer, Miss Florence Holton. After the installation the party adjourned to the vestry where refreshments were served. Music, speaking and games were enjoyed and every one was called upon to contribute his or her part to the entertainment.

Wheatena.
In getting breakfast for an active man, the importance of quick cooking and easy preparation can hardly be over estimated, The Health Food Co. saw this many years ago, and has devoted constant attention and effort to secure this essential condition. It was the first to undertake to cook cereals by steam and afterwards to desiccate or dry them out, so that a little subsequent cooking would fit them for use. But the desiccating process proved to be fatal to the flavor of all cereals, and wheat was by desiccating utterly ruined for food, being rendered forever insoluble by the process. Others with less knowledge of the effects induced by bad food and less desire to benefit mankind, are pursuing this abandoned process, but the so-called "steam cooked" wheat, etc., is, and ever must be, from the nature of the process, worthless trash, because indigestible and sure to remain so under any amount of boiling. Wheatena, on the contrary, is prepared by processes which improve the flavor and digestibility of the royal grain from which it is made, and demands little or no labor on the part of the cook. The wayfaring cook, though a very simpleton, cannot spoil this fine food if he has intelligence enough to determine when water boils, to measure fluid and food in the proper proportions, and to mingle them in the simplest way and at the proper moment. CUTTERS' REPORT

Mimimum of 30 Cents per Hour Demanded.

No Further Proposition by the Manufacturers.

Regular Monthly Meeting of Manufacturers Tonight.

The strike in the granite district is still on, and the indications are that a long fight is ahead. The meeting of the Cutters Monday afternoon was very unanimous, and it did not take them long to decide to refuse the Manufacturers' proposition, as was noted in the extra Ledgers issued a few minutes after the meeting adjourned.

Monday evening the two committees met and the Manufacturers were notified that the proposition was rejected and the only basis the men would settle upon was a minimum of thirty cents per hour. The two committees then adjourned without date.

This leaves the situation just exactly where it was last Wednesday, when the strike was inaugurated.

The regular meeting of the Manufacturers' Association will be held tonight. Whether they will take any action is not known. Rumors are plentiful, however, that some of the large firms are willing to sign a thirty cent minimum bill, and that the whole situation will be ventilated at tonight's meeting.

Meanwhile both sides are quietly awaiting developments.

ADAMS CHAPTER.

A Successful Year and a Bright Outlook for 1899.

The annual business meeting for the election of officers for Adams Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, for the coming year, was held on Monday afternoon at the John Adams birthplace. As the meeting was for business only, the attendance was not as large as at the regular monthly historical and sociable meetings, only thirty being present.

Reports for the past year were read by the secretary, treasurer and historian. Ballots cast for officers for the coming year resulted as follows: Regent, Mrs. Nelson V. Titus; secretary, Mrs. William F. Cummings of Atlantic; treasurer, Mrs. William Porter of Randolph; historian, Mrs. E. G. Pratt; on the council, Mrs. Benjamin F. Dyer and Mrs. S. J. Wilde of South Braintree, Mrs. William H. Ruddick of Boston, Mrs. A. H. Gilson and Miss Annie L. Prescott of Quincy.

The chapter starts the new year with a bright outlook, being in a good financial condition and with prospects of a large increase in membership.

Since the formation of the chapter in 1896 the ladies have raised about a thousand dollars, which has all been expended in Quincy in building the Abigail Adams cairn on Penn's hill and restoring the John Adams birthplace. A caretaker, a granddaughter of a revolutionary soldier and a widow of a soldier in the Civil war, lives in the old house, and takes the best of care of the house and contents.

The house is only partially furnished but the chapter expects to receive many gifts the coming year. Many who do not care to give heirlooms have loaned them indefinitely. Those who have antique furniture stored in their attic should look it over and send it to the John Adams birthplace where it will be appreciated and enjoyed by visitors from all over the country.

The hostesses of the afternoon were Mrs. W. E. Simmons, Miss Mary J. Pratt, Mrs. William F. Bartlett and Mrs. James F. Lincoln, and they served chocolate, tea and fancy crackers.

The election of Mrs. Titus as regent for another year was received with enthusiasm; her work in restoring the old house, giving it her personal attention during a very warm summer, was appreciated by all the members, also her untiring energy for the continued prosperity and welfare of Adams chapter.

TO CO-OPERATE.

Councilman Packard hoped the report would stand. People generally did not want it.

Councilman Jameson asked how he knew people did not want it. Had he seen them all?

Councilman Packard—Yes, all but those in Wollaston.

A motion of Councilman Jameson to lay on the table was lost and the report was accepted.

The joint Committee on Finance and Fire Department reported no legislation necessary in the order for transfer of $600 for use of Fire Department of 1898. Adopted.

The Committee of Finance reported ought to pass an order for $900 to settle judgment for Daniel Jenness. Report accepted, rules suspended and order passed.

The Committee on Finance reported order transferring $1083.54 to Care of poor of 1898. Ordered to second reading.

MOTIONS, ORDERS, ETC.

The petition to transfer license of Henry Johnson or pool tables to Arthur Craig was taken from table and granted.

Upon motion of Councilman Jameson it was voted a "Committee on Welfare of the City" be appointed, to consist of one member from each ward and one at large. Passed.

The chair appointed as that Committee. Councilmen Nash, Hultman, Nicoll, Owens, Pinkham, Poland and Badger.

Councilman Packard offered an order for an incandescent light on Bigelow street near the corner of Elm street. To Committee on Lights.

Councilman Bryant offered an order for a tar concrete sidewalk on Hancock street beween Russell Park and Butler street. To Committee on Streets.

MAYOR'S PETITIONS.

Councilman Bryant offered an order that the Legislative Committee cooperate with the Mayor in securing the passage of the bill for a boulevard from Squantum. Adopted.

He also offered an order that the same committee cooperate with the Mayor in securing the passage of the bill to refund a part of the indebtedness.

Councilman Pinkham thought this too important to be passed without discussion. He would like to ask the mover's reason.

Councilman Bryant said every one knows how this started. He did not propose to make argument until after he heard the objection.

Councilman Pinkham then itemized the city debt and said a small part of it was municipal debt. Everything else was apportioned over the next twenty or thirty years, and there was no reason to refund any part of that. If the municipal debt was apportioned over ten years there would be ten times as much coming due this year as ten years hence.

As a matter of fact we have but $81,000 coming due this year. We were making a mistake to go to the Legislature to put off our debts. Hereafter it would be better to keep our payments over the ten years.

Councilman Packard thought it would be bad policy to ask extension of time.

Councilman Bryant said by the acts of previous Councils we have a large debt falling due this year and next. People are not coming here to live with a high tax. For the past few years we have extended payments as long as we could. It is simply a business proposition. It was no discredit to ask Legislature to rectify our early mistake. Brokers would not question the bonds It will relieve taxation. He could pick out items where there were large amounts due this year which would benefit the future. This proposition is to relieve the people who live here today of a burdensome taxation. In reply to a question as to what the difference in the tax rate would be, he said about $1.50 this year. If judgment was used this year he did not think tax would go over $16 hereafter.

Councilman Badger thought it was duty of Council to stand by the citizens of Quincy, and if this was an honorable way to reduce tax it should be done. He saw no reason why people who become citizens hereafter should not help bear the burden of the improvements.

Councilman Swithin thought this order all right. If we could refund $35,000 to $40,000 it would reduce the tax rate; also relieve the poor man who borrows to build a home.

Councilman Poland hoped order would not be adopted. This year it will be a burden. We can stand it one year more. Immediately we refund the debt, the Council will get extravagant. We should cut our expenses to meet this matter. It would be better to pay this year and then feel easy.

Councilman Badger did not think going to Legislature would hurt Quincy. It is simply a business deal.

Councilman Bryant—We are simply getting authority. We discuss the matter afterward in the Council.

Councilman Freeman hoped order would not pass. $30,000 extended over ten years means $35,000 and $50,000 means $8,750 in interest. He did not see use of it.

The order was adopted.

Councilman Bryant then offered an order that the Legislative Committee be instructed to cooperate with the Mayor in securing legislature to incur indebedness beyond debt limit for streets.

Councilman Pinkham entered his objection but the order was adopted.

THE WATER BOARD.

Councilman Bryant offered a similar order in reference to the petition in relation to the Water Commission.

Councilman Bryant said it was the spirit of the charter that the Mayor should have the power over this department. The Sewer too provides just what we ask for this. We have no pumping station now to look after. The Council will alone have the power to say how mains shall be put in. This simply dissolves the board for which there is no further use.

Councilman Badger did not think we wanted to do anything about the order. The Commissioner of Public Works has more than he can do now.

Concilman Bryant—If this goes through, the City Council orders where the mains shall go. Now the Commissioner have the say.

Councilman Packard did not believe in Commissioners. He thought it would give more power to the council.

Councilmen Newcomb, Pinkham, Jameson and Hill opposed. and Bryant favored.

The order passed 12 to 9.

Councilman McLennan offered an order appropriating $1,000 for building an entrance to the playground at South Quincy, a bridge over the brook and filling and regrading. To Committee on Public Grounds.

Councilman Clark offered an order for a fire alarm box at the corner of Payne and Phipps street. To Committee on Fire Department.

CALENDAR.

The order for appropriating $1,000 for land damages by widening Hancock at the corner of Granite streets, came upon its second reading.

Councilman Swithin would like to have this put off so that the money might be appropriated with other sums and extended over a term of years.

The rules were suspended and the order pased to be ordained.

The order transferring $1,644.59 from interest to meet bills of 1898 took its second reading, and under suspension of rules was passed.

Adjourned at 10.35.

Overcoat Trick.

Mr. L. E. Wait of Farrington street, is out a $30 fur lined overcoat, as the result of a visit of a messenger with a note to his residence Monday afternoon. It was about 5 o'clock, when a messenger boy appeared at his house with a note addressed to Mrs. H. L Hamblin, the housekeeper. The note which was typewritten, was as follows:

"Do not say a word to mother, but send me my fur lined coat by messenger. Yours truly, Lyman."

The only interesting thing about the note was the word fur which was spelled "fir." Mrs. Hamblin gave the boy the coat, and did not learn that she had been cheated until Mr. Wait arrived home later. The matter was promptly reported to the police and Inspector McKay has it in charge.

Cosy Colonial hall was well filled last evening to greet Quincy's violinist, Mr. Walter E. Loud. He was assisted by Miss Alicia Burns soprano soloist Miss Annie Fisher pianist and Mr. John Little celloist.

The seven numbers on the program and the seven given in response to encores made the concert quite a lengthy one, but every minute of it was full of enjoyment to the audience and it is hoped Mr. Loud may be induced to give another concert soon.

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION NO KNIFE.

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

In Behalf of Labor.

Boston, March 7.—The board of aldermen, in concurrence with the common council, yesterday unanimously passed a resolution declaring that "the city government of Boston, without regard to party affiliations, and as a measure of fair play, places itself on record in favor of re-establishing the old rates of wages and salaries for all municipal employes in all departments in which those rates are not now paid." In a preamble it was stated that the expectation of the mayor to accomplish a saving of $200,000 per annum by the reduction in salaries had not been realized, "owing to the unexpected exemption of certain departments for reasons familiar to the members of the city council."

Plenty of Applicants.

Washington, March 7.—Secretary Alger was fairly overrun yesterday by congressional callers, nearly everyone of whom had one or more candidates for appointment in the regular or volunteer army under the terms of the reorganization act. It is a safe estimate that 75 percent of the officers in the present volunteer army are anxious to remain in the service. As there is a disposition at present to get along without these volunteer officers as long as possible, the chances of any appointments being speedily made in the officers' grades are not very bright.

Will Quay Withdraw?

Harrisburg, March 7.—There are rumors current that Senator Quay will withdraw before the close of the present week, and that George F. Huff of Greensburg will be chosen his successor in the United States senate. There is also talk that if Mr. Quay remains in the fight the Lancaster delegation will desert him on account of the removal of a nephew of ex-Auditor General Mylin of Lancaster by Governor Stone from a subordinate position in one of the departments. Senator Quay's managers ridicule these reports.

Guarding Against Uprising.

Santiago, March 7.—Orders were received from Havana yesterday directing the payment of provincial officials, but these do not affect the 2000 laborers out of work, nor meet the fact that the public works already initiated are suffering seriously from lack of prosecution. Civil Governor Castillo, as a precaution against a possible disturbance, has sent word to the working gangs that they should stay where they are now for the present, and in all probability they will have orders to return to work in the course of two or three days.

HIGH LIFE IN PARIS.

Fashionable Woman Being Tried on the Charge of Poisoning.

Reckless Husband Had Squandered Her Fortune.

Allowed His Wife to Become the Paramour of a Theatrical Critic.

Paris, March 7.—Madame Charles Bianchini, wife of the famous and popular scenic artist, who was arrested last November on the charge of attempting to poison him, was placed on trial yesterday. The courtroom was crowded with fashionable women, and many prominent persons were present.

The prisoner, who was elegantly attired, conducted herself in the most nonchalant fashion, and flatly denied the accusation.

The evidence showed that, after squandering his wife's fortune of 750,000 francs, M. Bianchini, in order to prevent his home being sold, allowed M. Mayer, a well known theatrical critic, to become his wife's lover. M. Mayer took his meals at the house, and practically lived there. When the parties were trying to arrange a divorce, M. Bianchini used to be found in the morning with the pupils of his eyes terribly dilated, his face black, veinous blotches on his chest and his limbs quivering. He generally recovered toward evening.

A peculiarity of the case, which presents many mysteries, is that M. Bianchini still declares that he does not believe his wife guilty.

About six months before Madame Bianchini's arrest her husband was suddenly attacked by a mysterious malady, which the physicians diagnosed differently. One of them declared his belief that the symptoms were those of atropine poisoning, and thereupon Bianchini's friends, MM. Carre and Gailhard, directors of the grand opera, took it upon themselves to carry him to a distant village, away from his wife. There he recovered rapidly. When the police arrested Madame Bianchini they found bottles of atropine in the house. She is said to be a very pretty woman, and to have taken the arrest and all subsequent proceedings, flippantly.

Senator Jones' Sickness.

Washington, March 7.—After improving steadily for about 10 days Senator J. K. Jones of Arkansas yesterday had a severe recurrence of his trouble, the paroxysm lasting something over an hour. He is now resting easily and is free from pain. His physician attributes the latest attack to the senator's exerting himself in trying to attend to some pressing matters, and has issued positive instructions that no one shall be allowed to see him for an indefinite period. The doctor has also directed that no mail or telegrams be permitted to reach the senator, in the hope that absolute quiet and rest may bring permanent relief.

Not Up to Date.

London, March 7.—The welcome announcement was made by Secretary of the Treasury Hanbury in the house of commons yesterday that the government has decided to introduce competition in the telephonic service of the country. He asked for a credit of $10,000,000 as a starter, in order to enable the postoffice department to develop the telephonic communication of London. In making the announcement Mr. Hanbury admitted that it was a notorious fact that Great Britain was far behind the United States and other countries in the matter of telephonic communication. The credit was granted.

Russian Swindler Captured.

Winnipeg, Man., March 7.—The Winnipeg police have captured Vatcley A. Dudinsky, a Russian nobleman, who is wanted abroad for the theft of 27,000 rubles from a railway company. The theft occurred in 1896. Dudinsky, with his plunder, came to New York. He then removed to Ottawa. His means becoming exhausted he sought friends here, arriving only yesterday, and his arrest followed. He will fight extradition.

But Three Rounds.

Buffalo, March 7.—The 20-round bout between McCarthy of Rochester and Smith of Buffalo came to an abrupt close in the third round, Smith being given the decision on a foul. The fight was a fierce one while it lasted. In the third round McCarthy repeatedly fouled Smith, and continued to do so after the referee had warned him. The fight was stopped, and the decision given to the colored heavyweight.

Tired of Taotai.

Shanghai, March 7. — The British, American and German consuls yesterday declined to hold further negotiations with the taotai of Shanghai on the question of the extension of the foreign settlement, owing to the evasive and obstructive tactics to which he has resorted. They will demand that the viceroy appoint a special deputy to arrange the matter.

Germany Means Business.

Berlin, March 7.—The German schoolships Charlotte and Stosch have arrived at Tangier, Morocco, to enforce the demands made for the payment of an indemnity to the German victims of the Moroccoan outrages. The sultan has failed to act up to the agreements arrived at in the matter.

Kentucky Streams Rising.

Louisville, March 7.—Specials to The Evening Post say that all the streams in Kentucky are out of their banks, and are doing great damage, besides causing some deaths. The river here is rising rapidly, and river men say the chances for a flood are strong.

Looking For a Marquis.

London, March 7.—An advertisement appears in The Times this morning, in behalf of a creditor, inquiring for the whereabouts of the Marquis d'Alligri, the husband of the late Blanche Roosevelt, the American singer and novelist, who died in Paris in September last.

PLAYED "HONEST JOHN."

Tod Sloan Wins In Suit Against Him For a Gambling Debt.

New York, March 7.—Tod Sloan, the jockey, appeared in the city court yesterday to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt in not appearing to answer on Saturday last in a proceeding brought by Charles W. Dutton to recover $250 from him for an alleged loan. The loan, it was alleged, was made last summer while Sloan was a passenger on the steamer Kaiser Wilhelm on a trip from this port to Europe. Sloan denied the obligation and claimed as defense that the indebtedness, if any existed, was a gambling debt. On this ground the proceedings against the jockey were dismissed.

TOD SLOANE.

Sloan stated that the allegation of the debt arose over a game of cards known as "honest John," into which he had been "induced" on the steamer by the complainant. It was Sloan's first trial of this game. He lost $600 at it, and then discovered, he alleged, that his companions were card sharpers. However Tod claimed to have paid them, and repudiated any further indebtedness.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 7.—Of 37 senators present when the upper branch acted on the governor's veto of the bill for days of grace on sight drafts yesterday afternoon, not one voted to support the governor, and the bill was passed over the veto. The absentees were Senators Fairbank and Keliher, and President Smith did not vote.

Another chance was given by the prison committee for those who wished to remonstrate against the bill to place county prisons in the control of the state, and many took advantage of the opportunity to oppose the measure. A number of clergymen came up to the state house to aid the representatives of railway employes to secure one rest day in seven. The street railway committee heard the petition of the Woronoco street railway for authority to sell power. Several well-known supporters of the bill to increase the salary of superior and supreme court judges appeared to argue in favor of the bill before the public service committee. Malden park commission's affairs were discussed before the committee on cities.

The committee on harbors and public lands heard the petition for an appropriation of $500 for a survey of the recently formed harbor at the mouth of the North river, between Marshfield and Scituate. There were no remonstrants but the committee will visit the harbor before reporting on the petition.

Governor Wolcott received a letter from Secretary Hay of the state department at Washington stating that the American ambassador at Rome has been asked to request the extradition of Di Blasi, wanted to answer to the charge of murder in this country.

Smallpox at Manila.

Washington, March 7.—With reference to the number of deaths from varioloid or smallpox, mentioned in General Otis' mortality report, Surgeon General Sternberg said that there were no additional precautions to be taken in connection with the spread of the disease. Everything possible had been done and every preventive measure taken. The troops at Manila have been vaccinated and each regiment thoroughly searched for persons who have not taken advantage of this guard against smallpox. When a case appears, the patient is at once isolated and proper measures are taken to effect a cure and prevent the contagion from spreading.

Newspapermen Down South.

Richmond, March 7.—The New England Newspaper league arrived here yesterday. It was met at the train by a committee representing the chamber of commerce, the Young Men's Business association and the press of the city, and during the day was driven about the city to various points of interest. Last night a banquet was given the visitors at the Jefferson hotel by the bodies above named.

An Alleged Smuggler.

New York, March 7.—Captain Benjamin F. Colcord of the ship Governor Robie, at this port from Hong Kong, was yesterday held in $2500 bail on a charge of smuggling into this country rattan chairs and other articles. He claimed the articles were all personal property; had been given to him in Hong Kong, and altogether were not worth $25.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Fair weather has continued with somewhat higher temperatures, except on the extreme northern coast, where there were light rains with slightly lower temperature. Fair weather is indicated generally except in the extreme west and northwest. It will be somewhat colder in the middle and north Atlantic states and will be warmer in New England. Fresh to brisk east to north winds are indicated on the north Atlantic coast.

"THICK AS TAX NOTICES."

Injunctions Easy to Get When Employed to Defeat Labor's Ends.

Washington, March 7.—M. M. Garland, ex-president of the Amalgamated Iron and Steel Workers' association, was before the industrial commission yesterday. Mr. Garland testified that about two-thirds of the employes of the iron, steel and tin trade were organized. He explained the method by which disputes between employers and employes were settled. The Amalgamated association plan had been rather in the line of conciliation than that of arbitration.

The witness said that the importation of contract labor had frequently defeated strikes, notably so in 1892, 1893. Mr. Garland said it had been his experience that injunctions were too often resorted to by employers of labor. Whenever the strikers had attempted to induce other men not to take their vacated places the injunction had been the invariable resort of the employers.

Injunctions were very easy to get, he said, especially in western Pennsylvania, where they were "as thick as tax notices" in times of labor trouble.

Rockefeller Wins.

New York, March 7.—An order issued by Supreme Court Justice Barnard was served on the Westchester county board of supervisors at White Plains yesterday. It directs the supervisors to refund to William Rockefeller taxes collected illegally from him in the town of Mount Pleasant in 1896. In that year his assessment was placed at $901,469. Mr. Rockefeller declared it was excessive, and brought proceedings to have it set aside. He paid his taxes, however, under protest. A commission was named and after testimony was taken the assessment was reduced to $137,540 on the ground of inequality in the rolls of the town and alleged malice on the part of the assessors.

Robbers' Big Haul.

Hagerstown, Md., March 7.—Five masked robbers entered the house of Miss Eliza Waltz, an aged maiden lady, near Cavetown, yesterday and secured $2500 in cash, and escaped. Miss Waltz and a boy named Holtzman, aged 10 years, were the only persons in the house. The robbers broke in the door with a fence rail, and tied the hands of Miss Waltz and the boy in their beds. A bolster was placed over the woman's head to prevent her from making a noise or seeing. The robbers ransacked the rooms, cutting open the beds with knives in their search for the money, which was finally found in a bureau drawer.

PREPARING DEFENSES.

Insurgents Evidently Intend to Give Battle to Americans.

Our Forces Engaged In Clearing Front of Lines.

Rebels Sent Out Flag of Truce, but Fired on Americans Who Advanced.

Manila, March 8.—10:20 a. m.—The rebels are busily preparing their defenses at various points, and are most aggressive near San Pedro Macati, where their sharpshooters maintain a persistent annoyance. Scott's battery on the hilltop is the center of fire from both sides of the river.

General Hale withdrew his outposts from the left bank of the stream and is now occupying his original position.

Further trouble is probable in the vicinity of the waterwarks when the rebels rally; but it would be almost impossible for them to interfere with the water supply, owing to strength of our position.

The weather is several degrees hotter today.

A detachment of General Hale's and General Wheaton's brigades was engaged for two hours yesterday morning, clearing the country in front of their lines on both sides of the river, the enemy concentrating with the apparent purpose of cutting off the garrison at the waterworks.

The rebels bolted at the first sign of the advance, but they separated into small bodies whenever the covert afforded opportunity and kept up a running fire.

By a series of rapid advances, followed by flank movements, the enemy was completely routed as far out as Gaudaloupe on the right and almost to Mariquina on the left.

The casualties reported are Captain O'Brien and two men slightly wounded. The rebel loss was heavy.

Yesterday afternoon General Hale's brigade continued the work of driving out the rebels from the country between the reservoir and the waterworks, a distance of about three miles. The country is now clear on the left of the river, but the enemy is still in front of General Wheaton's line.

Near San Pedro Macati they have been actively attempting to make the positions of the Sixth artillery on the hills untenable, their sharpshooters keeping up a constant fire all day.

Private Lovejoy was killed by a stray bullet. Major Bell, Private Young, Private Curran and Private Sparks were wounded.

Yesterday morning the enemy in front of General Ovenshine's line sent out a flag of truce, but retired when Lieutenant Koehler, with two men, advanced to meet it. In the afternoon they again showed a white flag, and a general, with two officers and an interpreter, advanced. When the Americans were within about 200 yards of the rebel party, the latter dragged rifles from behind their backs and opened fire upon them, but fortunately without effect.

Hawthorne's battery fired two shells, killing several of the enemy.

The heat is intense, especially on the lines, where 25 men were temporarily prostrated during the day.

In accordance with instructions to the land and naval forces, a general order was issued yesterday directing the United States troops to give particular attention to the specific duty of furnishing full protection to the lives and property of all German, Austrian, Dutch, Italian and Portuguese residents and, with the co-operation of the resident German consul, to give aid and assistance whereever necessary.

The Muscat Incident.

London, March 8.—The parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, Mr. Brodrick, answering a question put by Charles Dilke in the house of commons yesterday, gave a different complexion to the Muscat incident than the version which the French minister of foreign affairs, M. Delcasse, furnished. Mr. Brodrick said that by the original concession, secretly obtained in March, 1898, France secured land upon which she would have been at liberty to hoist her flag and build fortifications. Immediately after the proceedings became known Great Britain declared them to be contrary to the treaty of 1862, and the sultan was required to cancel the lease, which was annulled.

Santiago's Troubles.

Santiago, March 8.—Colonel Hood cables from Holguin that intense excitement prevails there, owing to cessation of public works, and that a mass meeting has been held, at which the action of the United States military authorities at Havana was condemned as "false economy" and as the "result of centralization." Colonel Hood has issued indigent rations to 3000 heads of families suddenly thrown out of employment. Practically the same news from all the other districts of Santiago province has reached here. Meanwhile money enough is lying idle in bank to pay all that is due and to keep the men at work.

Rev. William Berkemefer, superintendent of the German Lutheran emigrant home at New York, and for half a century one of the best known Germans in this country, died yesterday, aged 78, of heart failure.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 8.—The house yesterday, by a vote of 94 to 51, rejected the bill giving to women the right to vote on the subject of granting liquor licenses. The debate was sharp and lasted about two hours.

One of the first things the house did was to concur in the senate order extending the time for joint committee reports to March 15.

A bill to supply the town of Medway with water was reported, as was also a bill relating to the boundary between Canton and Sharon.

The committee on military affairs reported a resolve placing the battle flags of the Massachusetts regiments in the Spanish war in Memorial hall. Reference to the next general court was reported on the petition for legislation relating to draw bridges. A bill allowing the taking of eels and clams from the Merrimac river was reported. Ought not to pass was reported on the bill to establish a new fish and game commission; the same on the bill for the better protection of pickerel and on the bill to regulate the taking of clams. A bill providing that one-half of all fines for violation of the game laws shall go to the complainant unless he is a deputy appointed by the fish and game commissioners, was reported.

Leave to withdraw was reported on the petition that the names of political parties casting 1000 or more votes may be put on the official ballot.

The bill providing for local option by districts in the city of Boston was given an adverse report. Ought not to pass was reported on a bill to keep highways free from snow drifts.

In the senate a bill was favorably reported for a forest survey of the state; a bill was reported to provide that the laws relating to boards of health in cities may apply to large towns; a resolve for a suitable monument to mark the site of the first town meeting was adversely reported.

Reference to the next general court was reported on the bill for five principal assessors in Boston; and that the board of elections in Boston may assess poll taxes. Bills were engrossed to increase the powers of special commissioners; to authorize Somerville to lay out a parkway, to permit sales of real estate by guardians in certain cases; authorizing Arlington to refund indebtedness; to authorize Cambridge to vacate certain sewer assessments; to amend law concerning nominating papers and conventions; to amend the law concerning preparation of voting lists; to revise the charter of Somerville. A bill to provide for counting ballots at caucuses was tabled, and an adverse report on the petition for appointment of Boston street commissioners was tabled.

OSTRACIZED BY NEIGHBORS.

Mrs. Hopkins of the Opinion That Minister Bliss Is Responsible For It.

Pittsfield, Mass., March 8.—An incident in the life of a Congregational clergyman at Great Barrington, recently, has led to a lawsuit, the trial of which began in the superior court here yesterday. The case in which slander is alleged promises to become one of the notable trials in Berkshire county. The plaintiff is Mrs. Susan F. Hopkins, and the defendant, Rev. Leon D. Bliss, both residing in Great Barrington. Mrs. Hopkins alleges defamation of character on the part of the clergyman, and sues to recover $5000. The trouble between the parties began in 1897, when the clergyman received a number of anonymous letters, the contents of which were, in the clergyman's opinion, very silly, although disturbing to his peace of mind. He had an inquiry made, and as a result he intimated that Mrs. Hopkins was the author. This alleged assertion, when brought to Mrs. Hopkins' attention, brought out an indignant denial. The trouble then was brought in church circles, and an attempt was made to have the matter straightened out. This failed for some reason, and the matter was apparently dropped. Mrs. Hopkins now alleges that, as a result of the incident, she and her daughter, Fannie Hopkins, were ostracized in the village. Mrs. Hopkins, accordingly, goes to the court for redress.

Motorman Didn't See Him.

Newton, Mass., March 8.—The body of Edmund Taylor, 45 years old, a teamster, was found pinned beneath the wheels of his wagon last evening. Half an hour before a car of the Boston Elevated had a slight collision with a team at the place where the body was found, but the motorman declares that he saw no one in the team, and the car proceeded. On the return trip a passenger got off the car at this point and discovered Taylor's body, but before he could notify the conductor, the car had gone. The police were called and took charge of the body. Later in the evening both the motorman and conductor were examined, but not held.

To Pay Off Cubans.

New York, March 8.—The sum of $3,000,000 in coin was drawn from the sub-treasury in this city today by Paymaster General Carey, U. S. A., on a warrant issued by the treasury department at Washington. This money will be shipped to Cuba and will be used to pay the Cuban troops in the field, as arranged some time ago. Half of the money is in $5 gold pieces, $1,000,000 in standard silver dollars and the balance of $500,000 in halves, quarters, dimes and nickels. This will be the first shipment of United States silver dollars ever made to Cuba by this government.

Earthquake In Japan.

Yokohama, March 8.—A severe earthquake shock was experienced here this morning, the disturbances visiting the localities of the great shock of 1891, with some loss of life and property.

Plans for the formation of a mammoth soap trust were discussed at a meeting of Chicago soap manufacturers, called for the purpose of taking some action in regard to the prices of soap, which, it is claimed, are ruinously low. A capitalization of fully $75,000,000 will be represented if this plan is carried out.

The crew of the German steamer Moravia, which was wrecked off Sable island, while on a passage from Hamburg to Boston, arrived at the latter place on the steamer Prince George.

The Indian government has decided to introduce in the legislative council a bill, modelled on the United States act of July, 1897, giving the government a countervailing duty on bounty fed sugar imported into India.

Fire in New Berlin, N. Y., burned $60,000 worth of property. The fire started in the opera house block and burned that building, the Eagle hotel and other property.

Fire destroyed the stable of J. A. Norton, Augusta, Me., together with three horses, sleigh, carriages, tools and quantity of hay. The origin is a mystery. Loss about $1500.

Cards were posted in the large cotton factories and the cambric works at Webster, Mass., announcing that the general cutdown, imposed in January, 1898, will be restored the second week in April. The increase affects 1000 hands.

Good Afternoon.

How modest the chairman of the Committee of Finance of the City Council was when he refused to tell the reason why the city could not make an appropriation of $1,000 or $2,000 for the removal of ashes, etc. Because the finances of the city would not admit was his reason.

Again the value of the LEDGER as an advertising medium has been proven. On Jan. 2 the Mayor recommended "a Committee on the Welfare of the City." It was referred to the City Council and there it slumbered. For three days beginning March 3, the LEDGER inserted conspicuously this advertisement: "Wanted—A committee on the Welfare of the City." One of the progressive Councilmen picked it up, and today the city has such a committee, and it has already called a meeting for Thursday evening.

The most important of the petitions of Mayor Keith in the Legislature, upon which hearings will be held tomorrow, is for the refunding of the municipal debt. The administration of 1899 finds that the City Councils of the past have carelessly apportioned the small debt of $265,505.86 so that $81,950.25 matures this year. To meet this in the tax levy would require alone over $4 per $1000. Further, it would make the tax rate nearly $20 per $1,000. It is unnecessary to pay such a large proportion of the debt in one year, and only opens up a way to appropriate large sums within the limit. Eighty-one thousand is nearly thirty-three per cent. of the entire municipal debt. Of course it is the intention of the city to meet the outstanding notes when they mature, but the question is, shall the money to meet the payment be squeezed out of the tax-payers, or shall a new loan of $30,000 to $40,000 be made to raise the money. If this new loan is made, the tax rate will be between $17 and $18, and that will be high enough, and higher then than it should be for a city with a valuation of $19,000,000 and a municipal debt of only $265,000.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The North Dakota Senate has passed a bill which makes the passing of a medical examination a prerequisite to the obtaining of the marriage license It is to be hoped they will incorporate civil service reform with it, else the wicked spoilsmen will debauch it. —Milford Journal.

☞ No necessity exists for unmodified admiration of the public schools of this day and generation. They are not perfect. Nothing is perfect. Like all other institutions, they are having a period of intense experiments out of which we may expect in time to come radical and far-reaching changes from existing systems. We have dwelt more than once on what have seemed to us to be mistakes and defects. But we have no sympathy with that class of alleged criticism which insists that the former days were better than these. It is not based on a correct appreciation of the facts, and is not a true deduction from the evidence. The public schools of today, whatever their short-comings may be, are infinitely superior to the public schools of a generation ago. If it is so that children come out of them uninstructed and untrained, the fault is in most cases with the pupil, and probably back of him with the home. The opportunity they offer is nothing short of magnificent. If it is not properly used, there are other places in which the fault can be found.—New Bedford Standard.

NOT WAITING.

The Manufacturers Seek a Settlement.

Have Enlarged Their Conference Committee.

And Request the Cutters to Do the Same.

The Granite Manufacturers' Association held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening. President Marnock presided and the meeting was largely attended. A general discussion of the situation was had after which it was decided, in order to reach a settlement if possible to increase the Manufacturers' Committee to twice its number, namely sixteen members.

It was also voted to request the workmen to take the same action and increase its committee.

The plan then, is for the two committees to get together again and try and arrange a settlement that will be satisfactory to both parties.

The Manufacturers' Committee will meet this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the rooms of the association in Durgin & Merrill's block for organization.

No action whatever was taken at the meeting in relation to the minimum price of thirty cents per hour, and this important question is therefore left to the discussion of the committee.

The general sentiment among the manfacturers and workmen, is that the present difficulty may be speedily settled. Both realize that to prolong the trouble for any length of time means a death blow to Quincy as far as her granite industry is concerned.

PROMPT ARREST.

Trolley Wire Thieves Operate at Squantum.

It was reported to the police department early this morning that wire thieves had been operating at Squantum. Officers McKay and McAloon were promptly detailed and they were unusually successful. They overhauled a fellow in a team who is probably just the man who is wanted, for he had aboard some copper wire in short lengths and also copper fastening used to fasten trolley wires. Two other fellows, who probably belonged to the gang, were seen on the marshes but eluded escape.

An investigation proved that over half a mile of trolley wire of the Quincy & Boston street railway had been roughly torn down, together with telephone and other wires and in some cases the poles. It is said that a horse was hitched to the wire to get it down.

The police drove the team to Quincy and it is now at the stable of John Hall. Abraham Peterson of 56 Tremont street, Boston, who was in charge, was arrested and is at the Quincy lockup. He will be arraigned tomorrow.

The wire which was chopped up and taken would not probably net more than $50 as old junk, but the damage to the Q. & B. may amount to $500.

Boston police were promptly notified and before noon they arrested three fellows in Boston, who were on their way to Quincy when the Ledger went to press.

Prosecution Demanded.

Albany, March 8.—Governor Roosevelt yesterday sent a communication to District Attorney Smith, of Herkimer county, urging an immediate prosecution of former Canal Section Superintendent Snyder of that county, who was discharged by State Superintendent of Public Works Partridge for falsifying his pay rolls. In this letter Governor Roosevelt says: "I now call your attention sharply to the commission of this crime, the perpetrator of which should be speedily punished, and I expect that you and your officers and persons associated with you in the execution of the criminal laws will do their whole duty thoroughly and without fear or favor to secure conviction."

Deceptive Counterfeits.

Shamokin, Pa., March 8. — Banks, stores and the postoffice were yesterday flooded with counterfeit silver dollars bearing dates of 1879, 1882 and 1884, and having such a good ring that bank officials, who sent some of the dollars to the national treasury for exchange, think the coins contain more silver than the genuine money. None of the banks will receive dollars bearing the above dates until the matter is investigated by secret service agents.

ANNUAL BANQUET.

Granite City Club Dine at United States Hotel.

There was a large and attractive gathering of citizens of Quincy at the third annual banquet of the Granite City club at the United States hotel, Boston, Tuesday evening.

After enjoying an excellent menu, furnished by this fine hotel at six o'clock, the evening was spent in listening to speeches by the following gentlemen: Ex-Mayor Sears, John O. Hall, R.F. Claflin, Henry L. Kincaide, Dr. C. H. Hallowell, E. W. H. Bass, Dr. Heyford, Herbert M. Federhen, W. W. Ewell, Andrew Milne, J. P. Sears, J. Warren Nightingale, Warren H. Rideout, and Frank S. Patch.

Dexter E. Wadsworth, the president, presided at the post prandial exercises and said he was pleased to see so many of the members present. The day was so very stormy he expected many would be kept away, but it was gratifying to him to see such a large gathering, and he hoped the evening would be one of profit and enjoyment. He regretted that Mayor Keith was not present, but business of importance required his attention late in the afternoon which prevented his being at the banquet. He called first upon ex-Mayor Sears, who made a very excellent address. Other gentlemen, whose names appear above, were called upon, and many fine speeches were listened to.

Most of the remarks were about local affairs, which were to effect our city, either for good or bad. Mr. Claflin thought too much attention was given to war and the Filipinos, and not enough to peace.

The main subject of the evening was the granite cutters' strike in our city. All appeared anxious to have an agreement between the manufacturers and cutters brought about as quickly as possible, as it was effecting the general business of the city; not only the manufacturers of granite but all classes of business. It was finally decided best to postpone the regular Wednesday evening whist tournament, and invite the Granite Cutters and the Granite Manufacturers to send to the headquarters of the Granite City club this evening at 7.30 o'clock, a committee of three to present their claims, and if the club could in any way aid them in settling the difficulties now existing between them, it would consider it a duty as well as as a pleasure.

Monday Evening Club.

Prof. Taylor of Chauncey Hall school read a paper on the "Children in America" March 6 at the meeting of the Atlantic Monday Evening club. He combated the criticisms of the anonymous French writer of "America and the Americans," and from his own experience of coming in contact with hundreds of American children of the middle classes during the past twenty-five years, vouched for their possessing the traits of character that make up the bright, keen, smart, independent and honest citizen far in excess of the children of any foreign nationality.

An interesting paper on "Current Events" was given by Mrs. W. N. Ware.

A fine musical programme was furnished by Miss Gertrude Sias of Roxbury, soprano soloist, and Miss Milliken of Boston, contralto soloist, with Miss Helen Bemis as accompanist.

Miss Gertrude Sias sang, "For All Eternity," by Mascheroni; "Little Doris," by DeKoven; "The Violet," by Helen Hood; and "Three Wishes," by Pinsuti.

Miss Milliken presented, "A Dream," by Bartlett; "O for a Breath o' the Moorland," by Fisher; "I Wait for Thee" by Fisher.

Both of the singers were in fine voice and the rich qualities of their voices seemed to be highly appreciated by the audience and gave universal pleasure.

There was a very large attendance.

THE BOULEVARD.

A Good Case Presented at State House

Mayor Keith and Others Address Committee.

City Solicitor Bailey of Boston Helps Movement.

The adjourned hearing before the Leglislative Committee on Metropolitan Affairs on the petition of Mayor Keith, for legislation to authorize and require the board of Metropolitan Park Commissioners to take land and construct parkways from Squantum head to the city of Boston and to the Blue Hills Reservation, was held this morning at room 436 at the State House.

Quincy was largely represented; among those present being: Mayor Keith, A. L. Baker, William H. Glennon, T. H. Kingston, N. V. Titus, City Solicitor Blackmur, John A. Duggan, F. C. Pope, Elijah G. Hall, Mrs. F. C. Pope, Seth T. Waterhouse, Councilman Jameson, Mrs. N. V. Titus, Harry L. Rice, Representative Sheppard, George F. Pfaffmann, Councilman Swithin, William B. Rice, George F. Pinkham, N. G. Nickerson, Theodore Parker, John R. Graham, and Representative Sprague.

The meeting was called for 10.30 o'clock, but it was not until 10.50 that a quorum of the committee was obtained. Before the hearing on the Quincy petition was taken up, the committee gave a hearing on the bill to grant legislation to the Metropolitan ParkCommissioners to grant location to street railways in boulevards, public reservations, etc.

Representative Sheppard opened the hearing in favor of the petition, and was followed by Mayor Keith, City Solicitor Blackmur, William B. Rice, John R. Graham, Nelson V. Titus, Councilman Jameson, City Solicitor Bailey of Boston, Charles E. Stratton Chairman of the Boston Park Commission and W. H. Glennon.

These gentlemen presented the wishes of the city in a clear concise and forcible manner, advancing the argument that low options had been obtained upon much of the land on the proposed route, if taken this year, and the fact that although Quincy had lost nearly one-fourth its taxable property by the Blue Hills reservation, the city was not deriving any benefit from the reservation, and that nothing had been done toward giving them an entrance to it.

It was also stated that the cost would not exceed $110,000 if taken this year. It appeared as though the city had made a good presentation of its case, although given but an hour to do it in.

At the close of the hearing the committee announced that they should go over the proposed route before reporting.

A more full report of the hearing will be given in Thursday's Ledger.

RATIONED GOOD.

But took Considerable of Company K. Fund.

Editors of the Quincy Ledger:

I would like to inform you that Private John V. Mead is now improving, and I have every reason to believe that he will be fully recovered when the Company is mustered out, and will return with them a well man.

I would also like to inform you that Co. K is being rationed as good, if not better, than every other company in the regiment. Since the 1st of Jan. 1899, Lieutenant Whitney has spent $100.00 of the "Quincy Subscription Fund," and I have spent from the Company Fund $103.00, making a total of $203.00 spent on extra food for the company since Jan. 1st 1899.

I would also like to state that since we have been in this camp, Capt. Stover, Springer, McDonald, Lieutenant Cabbott, Howard, Buchner, Grant and Lieutenant W. H. Whitney have all been the victims of the grip; so you see that the officers have their sickness with the men.

Thanking you for the papers you have sent me I remain, yours very respectfully,

Easy For Farragher.

Little Falls, N. Y., March 8.—Mike Farragher of Youngstown, O., last night knocked out "Kid" Hopkins of Syracuse in the second round of what was to have been a 20-round bout. The men weighed in at 134 pounds. The fighting was fast and furious from the beginning. Hopkins was floored twice in the first round, and after one minute of fighting in the second, Hopkins was floored by a terrific right on the jaw, and was counted out by the referee.

Saved by the Gong.

New London, Conn., March 8.—Austin Rice of this city and Tim Callahan of Philadelphia boxed 20 rounds to a draw before the Standard Athletic club last night. The decision was a popular one. Callahan was saved by the gong, however, from a knockout, as, at the closing of the 20th round, Rice landed a left swing on the point of the jaw, which caused Callahan to fall on the ropes helpless. The bout was at catch weights, and Callahan had the advantage in height, reach and weight.

A Six-Rounder.

Dayton, O., March 8.- Johnny Van Heest of Hot Springs won a hotly contested bout last night over "Australian Billy" Murphy in the sixth round. The men fought at catch weights, and Van Heest had the advantage. Murphy's science was of no avail against his opponent's hitting powers.

New York, March 8.—Daniel Holland, who has been commissioned to accept bids for the Fitzsimmons-Jeffries fight, says that William A. Brady, manager of Jeffries, has accepted the highest bid so far received, that of $30,000, offered by a syndicate of San Francisco. Neither Fitzsimmons nor Julian has been heard from yet. Holland has telegraphed the champion and his manager, notifying them of Brady's acceptance.

Charles Wilson, who looks after Rogers Bros. stable, has become quite a sharpshooter as a result of his experience shooting skunks which abound in that neighborhood just at present. Mr. William Hoxie of Plymouth who was killed by lightening on Sunday forenoon, was an uncle of Mr. Edward E. Hoxie of Wollaston. Mr. Hoxie was the sexton of the Chiltonville Congregational church. He had just placed his hands on the bell rope when a bolt of lighting struck the spire and descending through the rope killed him instantly.

The storm of February left a large snow bank near the corner of Brook road and Rodman street. The Commissioner failed to remove it and as a result the bank turned into a large pond. Citizens waited in vain for the Commissioner to clear it away. Monday afternoon a gang of twenty-five boys armed with hoes and shovels went at it and soon had the water running off.

Almost a Miracle.

New York March 8.—Joseph Hampel, an employe of the Lexington avenue cable power house, while working at the switchboard yesterday, received and survived an electric shock of about 2000 volts. The man's body was burned black from head to foot. Every stitch of clothing was torn from him, and he fell senseless through a hole instantaneously burned in the floor by the terrific electrical power. Hampel is expected to live. The accident was caused through Hampel's trying to tighten a loose screw on the switchboard and in some way creating a circuit.

IS IT A TRIFLE.

THAT COMMON TROUBLE, ACID DYSPEPSIA OR SOUR STOMACH.

Acid Dyspepsia, commonly called heartburn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to digest it, the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour, burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic and being an every day occurence is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal, many people do nothing for the trouble.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tabets and is becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia.

Stuart's Dyspepia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by all druggists for 50 cents per package. It is prepared by the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., and while it promptly and effectually restores a vigorous digestion at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living.

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

A Writer says Manufacturers Cannot Pay It.

Editors Quincy Daily Ledger:

It is not for the best interests of Quincy's granite industry that stone cutters should insist on 30 cents an hour as the lowest standard wages, or of piece work at the present bill of prices in case a stonecutter cannot earn that amount.

The wholesale trade at the present time is being furnished with Quincy monuments exactly at the said bill of prices, the manufacturer having to include in it all incidental expenses incurred in the process of production, besides pay the tool sharpener, and cover all risk of defects.

It may be asked how can this be done; the past three or four years of depression has brought in a system of day work, and led us to see that the economist's method in making the pin, can also be applied to making a granite monument each workman being assigned his particular part in the production; and this plan is conceded to be the best means to attain a certain result,—namely, lessen the cost.

Our monuments being completed and placed in market we find that it has cost from eight to ten per cent. more than that of our Barre competitor, and about equal to the imported product, although it now carries a duty of 50 per cent. With these facts before us, we have little reason to doubt the cause of the flow of business in the direction where the cheapest article can be obtained.

The statistics furnished the Labor Bureau Jan. 1 by granite manufacturers in Quincy show that they have only been running from one-half to two-thirds their capacity, and not only for the year 1898, but for several years prior to that date; and should the business be called on to pay a minimum, or the lowest rate per hour, of 30 cents, and in case a stonecutter cannot earn that amount, he is to be allowed the present bill of prices; such simply means that the manufacturer will be compelled to add to the cost of the present production from fifteen to twenty per cent.

How will our Quincy product compare then with that of our competitors, and what would be our chances in bringing business to Quincy?

Well says one, Quincy granite will readily find a sale on its merit; those who want it will pay for it. Let us see how people seek after the meritorious article.

Some two years ago when the duty on foreign granite was twenty per cent. the imports went away up among the hundreds of thousands of dollars. Much more came over in one year than all the cutters in Quincy could produce in the same length of time. We got alarmed. There was no demand for our goods. We found a way to stop it by raising the duty from 20 per cent. to 50 per cent.

We were told that people who wanted an imported monument would have it just the same, but we find the liking for imported monuments fled as soon as the price of them went up, and today under a 50 per cent. tariff we find not one-fourth the quantity being brought over.

Let us think a little and learn the effect of high prices.

Should an increase on the cost of our Quincy product act in a similiar manner it would be very hurtful to a large number of men who want to be quite honest and naturally ought to get all for their labor that can reasonably be got at the market in which it is sold.

There are none to blame for the present rate of wages, nor profits either; only the condition of trade, and the harder quality of our Quincy granite compared with that of some of our outside competitors. There are so very few gloved gentlemen, in the granite business in Quincy today that we may consider we are all stone cutters who handle it; although a number condescend to do the lumping for their fellow cutters, who are in the sheds; and who if they do not sweat quite as much at their worry work, they make it up in soiled hands, and long hours.

Let us all, by all fair means, strive to better our condition, whether in the sheds or out of it, but just how we are going to find employment and pay even the lowest rate per hour, what the cutters in Barre have settled on as their average (and which is within a cent or two of their highest) will cause disappointment to a great many men who have no doubt taken the stand not knowing anything at all about the Barre settlement; and without thinking what such a radical change would mean for Quincy. Could the cutters demands be reversed, or a Barre settlement effected in Quincy, it would tend to put us in a position to overcome to some extent the harder quality of our granite; bear us up on a great deal of waste, that every cutter knows we are liable to meet it with that our Barre competitor is not. If there are not to be any concessions made in regard to standard wages, it is in Quincy where we ought to have them, as far as the working of our granite is concerned.

Sincerely wishing that we may join hands on the question, I am yours, Hopeful.

MINIMUM RATE.

No Action Taken On It at Mass Meeting.

The daily press has printed a statement saying that a motion was made and carried by the Granite Cutters in mass meeting assembled upon Monday, March 6th, that they the said Granite Cutters would not accept any minimum less than the 30 cents per hour, as demanded by them in their desired changes. This statement is not true, no motion touching upon the minimum rate in any manner being acted upon at the said mass meeting.

One Cent Papers Don't Pay.

Mr. W. L. Douglas, the proprietor of the Brockton Times, has done a very sensible thing, from a business standpoint says the Enterprise of that city, in announcing that he will change the price of his newspaper from one cent to two cents. He has for a long time been publishing a two-cent paper and selling it for half-price. His announcement that such a paper cannot profitably be published at one cent is true as gospel. Particularly does it apply to a city located like Brockton, within twenty miles of Boston. Penny papers can in some localities be made to yield a limited income, but they are mostly small affairs and worth just about a cent. The Enterprise has never seen the day that it would exchange its circulation at two cents for a circulation five times as large at one cent.

The Brockton advertising merchant is not at present sufficiently prosperous or liberal to be willing to pay almost the whole cost of publishing a first class daily newspaper. This is apparent by the fact that the Enterprise and Times together carry less advertising than the Enterprise formerly had alone. If the Times advances its price to two cents, as it says it will on April 1st, it will go a long way towards putting that newspaper on a profitable basis, where it ought to have been and might just as well have been three years ago. If Mr. Douglas could have given his time and applied himself to the newspaper business as he did to learn his shoe business he would have made the Times a profitable piece of property almost from the start.

The Utopian Society.

In Wollaston, at the First Baptist Church, on Monday evening, "The Utopian Society" was formally organized and held its first meeting.

The officers elected are: President, O. A. Blaisdale; Vice President, J. A. Sparrow; Secretary, H. E. Fiske; Treasurer, F. Burgess.

The committee had provided a most enjoyable entertainment and the society was extremely fortunate in securing such talent for the evening. Mr. Samuel King, the well known vocalist of Wollaston, rendered two solos in his usual pleasing manner, assisted by Mr C. A. Pinkham, accompanist. A cornet solo by Mr. G. H. Critchley was listened to with interest.

Miss Dunston of Boston read a selection, "Tyrolise Song," also "Sunday Thieves," in a very pleasing manner, and was obliged to render a second selection each time. The audience showed in every way their appreciation of her effort to please which were successful. Miss Dunston certainly has a bright future.

The pastor, Mr. Preston Gurney, made a short address, also Mr. H. A. Rideout. The society starts with a bright future, having fifty charter members.

AUSTIN BIDWELL DEAD.

With His Brother He Swindled Bank of England Out of $5,000,000.

Butte, Mont., March 8.—Austin Bidwell, one of the men who became notorious through the Bank of England forgeries, died here last night of grip. He was 52 years of age and a native of Chicago.

AUSTIN BIDWELL.

Austin Bidwell and his brother, George Bidwell, came here about two weeks ago. They said they expected to start in business here, having backing from the east to engage in mining. He was taken sick about a week ago.

The Bidwells, by means of forged securities, in 1873 got $5,000,000 from the Bank of England, after victimizing other banks in Europe by means of forged letters of credit. Their idea was to get $50,000,000 and then compromise with the bank. In the big game they failed and fled. George Bidwell was caught in France and Austin Bidwell in Cuba. They were tried and given life sentences with their two confederates. After 20 years they were released.

Didn' Even Lose Breakfast.

New York, March 8.—Lieutenant Commander Rees, who was the executive officer of the flagship Olympia at the battle of Manila bay, was the guest of honor at a banquet given at the Union League club of Brooklyn last night. Rees referred to the great work accomplished at the famous battle of Manila, May 1, last, when "the entire Philippine archipelago had been practically conquered all in the forenoon, without the loss of a single man, a single gun or even a single breakfast." He spoke glowingly of Admiral Dewey.

The MacNaughtons Indicted.

New York, March 8.—The federal grand jury for the February term yesterday handed an indictment against James MacNaughton, formerly president of the Tradesmen's National bank, for violating the banking laws in fraudulently ordering the certification of a check for $510,000, and also an indictment against James and Allan MacNaughton cojointly for conspiracy in procuring the alleged fraudulent certification of a check for $510,000 in favor of Allan MacNaughton when he had not funds to that amount to his credit.

Tip For Cotton Manufacturers.

Washington, March 8.—Consul General De Leon, at Guayaquil, Equador, submits to the state department a report which says that American cotton manufacturers are gradually invading the cotton markets of Equador, hitherto held exclusively by Europe, and that they are awakening to the fact that to do business with South America they have to furnish what the native customers want to buy, and not what the American manufacturers think they ought to want.

Maine Schooner Wrecked.

Cape Henry, Va., March 8.—The three-masted schooner Alfred Bradbrook, from Boothbay, Me., for Charleston, ice laden, stranded during a heavy gale and thick snowstorm at Gull Shoal life saving station, N. C., 25 miles north of Hatteras. The crew of eight men were all saved by the life saving crew from the Gull Shoal station, and are now being cared for at that station. The vessel and cargo probably are a total loss.

Franchises Limited.

Springfield, Ills., March 8.—Governor Tanner signed the Alling Street railway bill yesterday. The Alling bill repeals the Allen law, passed two years ago, which provided for 50-year franchise extensions, and re-enacted the old horse and dummy act, with amendments, making it applicable to electric or cable roads. Under the Alling bill no franchise or extension for more than 20 years can be granted.

Sympathy or Policy?

Berlin, March 8.—The semi-official Post says: The great cordiality with which our monarch honors Mr. Kipling ought to be calculated to remind Americans, after a period of artificial estrangement, which we trust is past, that they will nowhere find readier and more joyful recognition of the brilliant features of their characters than from their cousins here, and, firstly, from our imperial leader.

Fifty-One Corpses.

Toulon, March 8.—The funeral of the victims of the explosion on Sunday morning last of a powder magazine, which was situated between this place and La Seyne, took place yesterday, and was attended by enormous crowds of people. A dozen cars carried 51 coffins. Many government and local officials followed the remains to the cemetery.

Stories Exaggerated.

Boston, March 8.—Governor Wolcott yesterday received a telegram from Colnel J. H. Whitney of the Fifth Massachusetts regiment, volunteer infantry, declaring that many of the statements which have been printed about the health of the members of the command are greatly exaggerated.

Contest Settled.

Lincoln, Neb., March 8.—M. L. Hayward was nominated for United States senator in the Republican caucus here last night. Hayward was the Republican candidate for governor last fall, being defeated by W. A. Poynter, fusionist.

HEADACHES
Are almost invariably the result of defective eyes, and a common and serious defect is Astigmatism, the amount and axis of which is not always perfectly corrected by the methods in ordinary use.
We use the opthalmometer to discover astigmatism. This instrument is relied on by oculists and will reveal the trouble where other tests fail.
If you have a difficult case consult us. We will give your case careful and special attention, and we feel sure that you will not be disappointed at the result.

BY THE FIRST OF MAY

All the Volunteer Troops Now In Cuba Will Be Withdrawn.

Made Possible by Satisfactory Political Conditions.

Otis' Reinforcements Will Be Armed With Guns as Good as the Mauser.

Washington, March 9.—Orders have been issued at the war department for the Twelfth New York infantry, now at Matanzas, Cuba, to take passage on the transport Berlin for New York city, where it will be mustered out. This is the beginning of a general movement for the muster out of all the volunteer troops stationed in Cuba, and indicates that the administration believes that the time has come when it can safely reduce its military forces in Cuba. The fact that the rainy season is not far off is a potent reason for the early recall of the volunteer troops in Cuba.

The homeward movement will have to be gradual, because of the limited transportation facilities now at the disposal of the war department. The various regiments will be brought home, however, as rapidly as the available troopships can make the trips between the island and various ports in the United States selected for their disembarkation.

There are now about 25,000 volunteers in Cuba, and their withdrawal will leave about 15,000 regular troops there for the enforcement of the policy of the administration for the establishment of a stable government on the island. The volunteer troops now on garrison duty in Cuba and under muster out orders include the following organizations:

Second Illinois, One Hundred and Sixtieth Indiana, Fourth Illinois, One Hundred and Sixty-first Indiana, Ninth Illinois, Forty-ninth Iowa, Third Kentucky, Thirty-first Michigan, Second Louisiana, Sixth Missouri, Eighth Massachusetts, Twelfth New York, First North Carolina, Third Nebraska, Second South Carolina, Fourth Tennessee, Fourth Virginia, First Texas, Sixth Ohio, the Second and Third volunteer engineers, the Second and Fifth United States volunteer infantry, and the Second, Third, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fifteenth, Sixteenth and Seventeenth companies of the signal corps.

As yet no orders have been issued for the muster out of these regiments, with the exception of the Twelfth New York, but it is expected that formal orders will be issued in the case of all the organizations named within the next few days.

Under the present plans of the department it is expected that all of the volunteer troops will be withdrawn from Cuba by or before the first of May and so escape the dangers of the fevers which make that country such an undesirable place of residence during the summer.

The officials of the administration express satisfaction at the present political state of affairs in Cuba, and are confident of a continuance of the prevailing peace and good order. The troops are to be withdrawn on the theory that there is no longer need of their services in that country, and that the question of government will work out themselves without the presence of a large military force. Consequently there is no present purpose of replacing the volunteers with regular troops, but such a course of action will be taken only in case it becomes necessary for the execution of the administration's policy.

The Second United States regular infantry has been at Anniston, Ala., for several weeks under orders to proceed to Cuba, and it is expected that that regiment will make the trip in a short time. So far as known no other troops are intended for service on the island during the coming summer. But one or two artillery regiments will be held in reserve at points on the Atlantic coast for such service in case some of the regulars in Cuba have to be brought home for a change of climate or reinforcements should become necessary.

A fact in connection with the regulars who are now reinforcing General Otis in the Philippines that is giving considerable satisfaction to the war department is that they are all armed with the "calibre 30" rifle, commonly known as the Krag-Jorgensen.

There has been more or less uneasiness over the fact that the volunteers on the firing line around Manila were at a decided disadvantage against the natives, owing to the fact that the Filipino sharpshooters, armed with Mausers, could lay out of range of the Springfields, with which our volunteers were armed, and pot them to an extent that was limited only by the bad marksmanship of the natives. This was not only the source of a good many casualties among our troops, but had a bad moral effect on them, since it was very trying to be continually under fire from an enemy who keep discreetly out of range.

With the arrival of the regulars this situation will be completely changed. The reinforcements all have the calibre 30 rifle, which is practically just as good a gun as the Mauser, while in addition our regular troops are sharpshooters almost to a man. This is largely owing to the fact that for years the target ammunition allowance in our small army has been about $6 per man per annum, an amount no European nation has ever thought of spending. This does not say that there are not many excellent shots among the volunteers, and though the war department has no definite information on the subject, there is little doubt that the best shots among the volunteers are armed with the new rifles already, 20,000 stands of these arms having already been sent to General Otis, while there are 6000 more waiting his order at the Benicia arsenal.

May Have Beneficial Effect.

Washington, March 9.—Next Tuesday the inhabitants of the little port of Puerto Cortez, on the gulf coast of Honduras, will see anchored in their harbor the entire North Atlantic squadron of the United States. Possibly the appearance of the ships may stimulate the Honduranian government to action in the case of the murder of Mr. Pears, a native of Pittsburg, who was shot by a sentinel on account of his ignorance of the Spanish language. The commander of the Machias has been looking into the case, but it is supposed that the Honduranian government has neglected our request to investigate it.

Capitol Gleanings.

Assistant Naval Constructor Robert Brooke Dashiell died here yesterday of spinal meningitis after an illness of only four days. He was 39 years of age, and had made a remarkable success in the construction corps of the navy.

In view of the failure of the American-Canadian joint high commission to come to any agreement on the subject of seal fisheries, the treasury department is considering the question of dispatching one or more revenue cutters to the Behring sea to protect the interests of the United States from illegal sealing.

Senator Jones of Arkansas is recovering gradually from his attack of Monday and is resting easily and quietly.

M. Cambon, ambassador of France to the United States, called at the state department yesterday and paid his respects to Secretary Hay. The ambassador left Washington almost immediately after the conclusion of the protocol which formed the basis of a cessation of active hostilities last summer, and has been in France since.

Crazy Antics of Soldiers.

Atlanta, March 9.—The Tenth immunes, colored, who were mustered out at Macon yesterday, as the train bearing them home was moving out of Macon, produced arms and began firing from the car windows. Bullets flew in all directions, but only one person, a white boy, was injured. At various stations on the railroad shots were fired from the train at persons standing on the platforms. At Griffin 200 shots were fired from the first section of the train by the negroes, who had been drinking whisky, and who yelled like Indians. When the second section came along a militia company and 100 armed citizens were at the station and kept the negroes quiet. When the train pulled out of the depot and the negroes thought that they were out of the reach of the citizens they began firing at houses. At the first shot a volley was poured into the train by the citizens and militia. George Agee, a trainman, was fatally shot, and one negro was slightly wounded. There was no trouble in Atlanta as the police were prepared for them.

Chattanooga, March 9.—As a result of rioting, in which the men of the mustered out Eighth immune colored regiment engaged here Wednesday night, half a dozen people were injured and will be laid up for several months. Inspector Harkin, Policeman Poe and A. J. Ledford were severely wounded, but their injuries will not prove fatal. Three soldiers were shot during the disturbance in addition to those injured here, three soldiers were shot on a Southrn railsoldiers were shot on a Southern railway train.

Louisville, March 9.—The Eighth United States immunes presented a battered appearance when they reached Louisville. They reported an encounter in the depot at Nashville, and about 50 of them bear marks of the affray. The officers say the trouble was unprovoked.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

A new organization, made up entirely of officials of Boston, had its initial meeting, Mayor Quincy explaining the purposes of the body to be a means of stimulating interest in the work of the city among the citizens.

Robert A. Johnson, a well known newspaper man, was taken seriously ill in a Brooklyn street car, and died a few hours later. He was 73 years old.

The leading fire insurance interests of the United States met at New York and formally organized the New York fire insurance exchange.

At a boxing exhibition at Portland, Me., Morris Rosenburg of Boston knocked out Patrick Hennessey of Lawrence, Mass., in the seventh round.

Miss Marian Terry, the actress, sister of Miss Ellen Terry, Sir Henry Irving's leading woman, is seriously ill at London. She was thrown from a cab and was unconscious for several hours.

Representatives of the Mahoning Valley Iron company, the Brown Bonnell Iron company and the Andrews company, three local rolling mills outside the two great combines, are in Chicago, forming a combination with representatives of 31 other mills west of Pittsburg. KAIULANI PROBABLY DEAD.

Princess Had but Few Hours to Live, In Opinion of Physicians.

Honolulu, March 1, via San Francisco, March 9.—Four physicians have been attending Princess Kaiulani all day, and they agree that the young woman will die within 24 hours. It has been known for some weeks that Kaiulani has been ill, but it was not expected that her ailment would take a serious turn. Today rheumatism has affected her heart, and there is no hope for her recovery.

PRINCESS KAIULANI.

Several weeks ago Kaiulani went to one of the islands against the advice of her physicians. While absent from the city she was taken ill, and was brought back in poor condition. She has since been confined to her home, two physicians being constantly in attendance. Today two additional medical men were called in for consultation.

Kaiulani is the daughter of the late Princess Likelike. A. S. Cleghorn, a Scotchman, was her father. He is now living in Honolulu. She was born Oct. 16, 1875. After the death of Kalakaua, when Liliuokalani ascended the throne, Kaiulani was declared heir apparent to the throne of Hawaii. This was on March 9, 1891. The princess was then in England pursuing her studies. In the events that have transpired here during the past six years, the fact that she was being educated in England worked against her chances of ever being queen. The American element here was always afraid that she would lean toward Britist interests as against American. On this account it is safe to say that Kaiulani would not have ascended the throne, even though the monarchy had lasted.

Since the princess has been in Honolulu she has received very considerate treatment from the government in power. When she took the oath of allegiance to the Republic of Hawaii, she was granted a liberal pension, and the last legislature renewed the allowance. Some weeks ago a paper was circulated among the business men, praying the United States congress to make some provision for the young woman. The paper is now in Washington.

Major Wilson's Punishment.

Santiago, March 9.—Major Edward Wilson of the Third immune regiment, who was recently tried by court-martial on charges of forgery, falsifying records and conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman, was convicted and sentenced to dismissal from the service, forfeiture of pay and allowance and confinement for one year at hard labor in the penitentiary. General Wood considers that clemency may be shown him without detracting from the force of the example to others, and directs that the sentence be remitted so far as confinement at hard labor is concerned.

Improvement Continues.

New York, March 9.—Rudyard Kipling's health continues to mend slowly. So far, beef tea is his only article of diet, and nothing will be added to it until an improvement in his condition will permit. He has not yet been told of the death of his daughter, Josephine. Elsie, the other daughter, is resting quietly. Mr. Kipling will probably be moved to another suite in the hotel in a week merely to give him a change of surroundings.

Mrs. Andrews Is President.

Springfield, Mass., March 9.—The sixth annual conference of the woman's auxiliaries to the Young Men's Christian association of the eighth district of Massachusetts and Rhode Island was held in this city yesterday, and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. F. W. Andrews, Springfield; secretary, Mrs. G. G. Reed, Holyoke; intervisitation committee, Mrs. C. A. Maynard, Northampton.

Lyndonville's Loss.

Lyndonville, Vt., March 9.—The Ide block was burned last night, the destruction being nearly total, causing a loss of $33,000. The fire originated in the basement, and secured a good start before an alarm was given. This fire was the first fair test of the Lyndonville new water system as a fire protection, and the result proved satisfactory.

Applied For Citizenship.

Boston, March 9.—The local authorities have discovered that Di Blasi, who is wanted in this city for murder, but who, while under arrest in Italy, has resisted extradition, can be brought to this country notwithstanding he is an Italian, because of the fact that he had applied for citizenship papers. He will be sent for at once.

Mitchell Not Guilty.

Plymouth, Mass., March 9.—The charge in the Hull bribery case against John L. Mitchell, chief of police of the town, was given to the jury yesterday afternoon, and after a brief deliberation a verdict of not guilty was returned on the first and third counts of the indictments. The second count had been nol prossed.

Drift of Opinion.

☞Mayor Chase of Haverhill is sure that within five years all this country will be converted to the sort of municipal socialism which he represents. Among the first things we will have to do to accomplish this will be to convert some of the Socialists themselves. His five years is none too long a time for this, not to take into the account the rest of us.—New Bedford Standard.

☞Faure, late president of France, we are told in a daily paper, was "buried with pomp." We are also told that there was rioting at the funeral. Whether it was over "pomp" or not we are not told; but I know this much: there has always been trouble where "pomp" was. It is "pomp" that robs the workingman of his earnings and squanders the money foolishly, thus making trouble.—Wade's Fibre and Fabric.

☞Indignant New Yorkers are writing to the papers of that city complaining of the disgraceful songs they are sometimes "obliged" to hear at their theatres. There would seem to be a simple remedy. A careful reading of the revised statutes of New York fails to show wherein it is compulsory for men, women or children to go to theatres if they do not wish to.—Worcester Spy.

☞But there has never been a nation without timid men. They have a certain function in society, and as they are as they were made, they are not to be reproached as surplusage. Because they go about in fear and trembling, we who have an abiding faith in the conquering power of free institutions should not hesitate. The federation of the world, as the poets sings, may be possible, but whether or not possible, our duty and our destiny seem to relate to an advance into the darkened outer world and the promulgation of the gospel of true freedom. Forward! — Philadelphia North American.

☞Many Catholics, especially in America have grown restive under the expression Roman Catholic church believing that the church universal should not be so narrowly designated. The criticism has evidently come to the ears of the pope for in a letter recently translated and made public by Cardinal Gibbons he says: "Since God has placed the centre and foundation of unity in the chair of Blessed Peter, she is rightly called the Roman church, for "where Peter is, there is the church."—New Bedford Standard.

Large Whist Party.

Another of those very successful and enjoyable whist parties under the auspices of members of George L. Gill Rebekah lodge was held Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. E. E. Hayden. Twenty or more tables indulged in the pastime and the prizes for the most points were awarded to Mrs. F. A. Hobart and Mrs. N. B. Furnall for the ladies, who scored 43 and 38; and to Mr. George F. Spooner and Mr. Crowell for the gentlemen, who scored 37 and 36. Consolation prizes were taken by Mrs. Ward and Mrs. Young. Twenty-one hands were played.

ENTITLED TO IT.

Quincy's Claim to the Boulevard.

Of Benefit to South Metropolitan District.

Good Arguments at the Hearing Yesterday.

Representative Sheppard in opening the hearing for the city said that he had introduced the bill at the request of the Mayor. It was no new matter and the petitioners would show that it had been looked upon favorably by all boards of the Metropolitan Park Commission. It was not wholly a selfish motives, as other places would be benefited by it.

City Solicitor Blackmur then took charge of the petition and pointed out the proposed route on a map. This route was from Hancock street to Squantum, thence along the shore of Quincy bay, through Merrymount park, and thence by Furnace brook valley to the Blue Hills reservation.

Mayor Keith briefly reviewed the history of the land taken for the Blue Hills Reservation and the action that had been taken up to the present time. The petition was now brought to the Legislature as the Commission had said they had no funds, and it was only just that Quincy should have one more chance to present its claim.

WILLIAM B. RICE.

Advocated the bill, as it was toward the completion of a general plan of parkways and would result in a general benefit to Quincy and other places. It could be done now at a less expense than later. Options have been secured upon all the land and he believed the cost would not exceed $100,000. It was purely a Metropolitan matter and would add value all over the district. All the shore property should be taken for the benefit of the public. It would make a level way to within a half mile of the Reservation. When asked about the value of the land taken for the reservation, Mr. Rice said that in 25 years the territory would have been taken for residential purposes. The question of prospective value should be considered, although he did not urge it upon these grounds. It seemed to him a question where there could not be two opinions.

CHARLES E. STRATTON,

Chairman of the Boston Park Commission, said Squantum was one of the most beautiful spots in Boston, and anything that will render it accessible to the public would be a benefit.

JOHN R. GRAHAM.

Knew that the sentiment in Quincy was unanimous in favor of it. In response to a question as to whether he believed street railways should pay for location in public reservation, Mr. Graham replied that if a costly construction was not required they might pay the difference between the construction used and the costly construction.

Question. Do you think there should be any limit to the amount for these matters, eight millions have already been used.

Mr. Graham. You have got to complete it some time.

COUNCILMAN JAMESON.

Was much interested personally. It was impossible to state where to draw the line on expenditures. Money should be expended as long as the public got the benefit. The City Council had voted unanimously to support the Mayor in this matter.

The Chairman. Are you aware that if we stop now Quincy's assessment will raise taxes thirty cents for the next forty years?

CITY SOLICITOR BLACKMUR.

It is unfair to Quincy to tax her for the reservation and not give her any way to enjoy it. We are entitled to the proposed boulevard. Money had been expended in other places. Five years ago when the Supreme Court apportioned the assessment they admitted that Quincy had met with a large loss, but assumed something would be done. It was the privilege of this committee to see that justice was done to Quincy. It will not benefit Quincy alone, but the whole South Shore. Hancock street, which it crosses, is the main thoroughfare to Nantasket and the takings on the South Shore, and therefore was not purely a local affair. The commissioners make favorable mention of it in this report. Up Furnace brook the land could be acquired for $15,000 or $20,000. Near the centre, going up Furnace brook, it could be had for $1. Wood, Harmon & Co., who at first wanted $40,000, will now give an option for $8,000, and there are other instances where options have been reduced. There could be no question to anyone who looked at it, that it was something due to us. The Legislative Committees have reported in favor of it for several years, and provision made for it. Three years ago we were promised it but the money was used for the requirements of the sinking und. Quincy has no direct benefit from the reservation. The Blue Hills Reservation contains 4,000 acres, of which Quincy contributed 2,530. Thirty per cent. of its taxable property was forever cut off from benefiting Quincy. It also dealt a blow to our one industry. Milton which gave less than one-half as much land has had boulevards constructed and has an entrance. If the district north of Boston is provided for, you should provide for the south. The City Council of Quincy has appropriated $50,000 for play-grounds and we are in no need of parks and reservations, but we do desire some benefit from the reservation which is not now accessible. We have not only lost our land but we are maintaining a street two miles from Quincy for the benefit of the reservation without getting any benefit from it.

CITY SOLICITOR BAILEY

Of Boston was heartily in favor of the petition. The Legislature has started into this system and outlined a plan. This is a part of the plan. It made him uneasy that they did not acquire it at the present time, as land was rapidly increasing in value. He would like to see five million or even ten millions expended and complete this system before land values go up. If you take Nantasket this year, and not this, the land will go up fifty per cent. in value.

NELSON V. TITUS.

Was a large property owner at Squantum, and was ready to give nearly a mile on the shore for nothing, if taken this year. He was prepared to give it today but would not come again. The Burkhardt estate would also give half a mile of shore land.

City Solicitor Blackmur in response to a question said his estimate of the whole cost was $110,000.

William H. Glennon favored the petition. He enlightened the committee on his experience as a road builder in the Rocky Mountains; showed his recommendations, and his latest inventions.

The hearing closed at 1.10 P. M.

TO ARBITRATE.

Cutters and Manufacturers Willing.

Profitable Investigation by Granite City Club.

Association and Unions Represented by Committees.

The Granite City club is pleased with its success as peacemakers in the granite labor trouble. At a private meeting of the club Wednesday evening, committees of three, representing the Granite Manfacturers' Association and the Granite Cutters' Union were present by request, and each committee in turn presented its case, and freely and fairly answered all questions, so that it was a harmonious meeting and resulted in an understanding.

Dexter E. Wadsworth, Esq., the president, who presided during the evening, said in opening:

"The Granite City Club is without doubt the Association most representative of the general interests of the city of Quincy. It includes men of all shades of religious, political and social thought, but we agree and differ in the most pleasing harmony. Its membership has representatives of all the material interests in the city,—its business men of all classes; its professional men; its capitalist; and its progressive young men. Whatever touches the welfare of the city in any point, affects the welfare of this Club, either in its corporate capacity or in its individual membership.

Its incidental motive is the up-building of the community. In an unofficial way, this Club takes cognizance of all topics of a social nature, which burn themselves into the community. In this way we have held our smoke talks on the subject of a Greater Boston. We have discussed postal savings banks, and the comparative cost of our schools.

"Just now the topic of supreme importance in the city of Quincy is the situation in the Granite Industry. In absence of a Board of Trade, the Granite City Club opens its rooms for a discussion of the subject, for two reasons:—First, that its members may have clear and definite notions of the points of difference between the parties to the contention, and second and more important, that it may impartially and upon full knowledge and consideration, in the interest of, the parties to the contention, and of the community, (which is its own interest) attempt to aid in a settlment of this vexed question.

"Gentlemen of the Committees:—we realize fully that in this matter we are attempting a most delicate task. We understand how easy it is to say "That Fools rush in where angels fear to tread," but realizing as we do the importance of some action, we wish to compete for the reward which is promised to the peacemakers.

"The representatives of each Association will receive equally courteous and impartial hearing. They will have equal time in presenting their cases, and after they have been submitted to the Club, the questions will be carefully considered. We should be glad to have the matter left to the Club, or to a committee from the Club as a Board of Arbitration, or if that may not be, we should be glad to present to the parties our suggestions for a compromise, or such other action as might seem wise to those interested.

Gentlemen of the committees, the rules for debate will be: Fifteen minutes to the Cutters to tell why changes were asked in the bill of prices; then 30 minutes to the Manufacturers to present their case and reply; and 15 to the Cutters rebuttal. Then questions would be asked by members of the club.

The Cutters were represented by President Mundie and Messrs. Russell and Halvosa, and they made a good presentation of their grievances.

The Manufacturers were represented by President Marnock and Messrs. Fitzgerald and Hayes, and it at once became evident that as usual there were two sides to the dispute.

The Cutters in rebuttal laid particular stress on the fact that it was impossible to secure quick judgment by arbitration of disputes.

All questions by members of the club were then very freely and fairly answered by the side to which they were directed.

Charles C. Hearn and John R. Graham made good suggestions, but to H. M. Federhen belongs the credit of bringing out the salient facts. He learned by questioning that each of the full committees of the Manufacturers and Cutters were empowered to agree upon a bill of prices; and, second that each committee was willing to arbitrate. The difficulty came on the method of arbitration, the committee, etc. The Union desired a quick decision; they did not want to have the two sides consume three months in finding out that they could not agree on the third party, and another three months in dilly-dallying.

The club were surprised, and others will be, to learn that the bulk of the proposed bill of prices had not been considered. That the minimum price was in the first article and has proved a stumbling block at the outset. The committees practically agreed to take up each of the articles and thereby find out just "where they were at."

While no action was taken at the meeting, none seemed necessary. It is expected that arbitration will, however, be brought about.

AT STATE HOUSE.

Hearings on Mayor's Petition.

Some Opposition to the Financial Orders.

Many Well Known Citizens Address Committee.

Quincy's financial situation was well aired today before the Committee on Cities who gave a hearing at the State House today on the three petitions of Mayor Keith which were, to authorize the refunding of a portion of the city debt, to incur indebtedness beyond the limit fixed by law, and the bill relative to the tenure of office of the Board of Water Commissioners.

The hearing was largely attended; among those present being, Mayor Keith, City Treasurer Burke, T. H. Newcomb, Edgar G. Cleaves, Ex-Mayor Fairbanks, Henry H. Faxon, James H. Slade, William N. Eaton, Fred F. Green, Representative Sprague, N. G. Nickerson, C. F. Knowlton, H. M. Federhen, City Auditor Hall, Councilmen Pinkham, Duggan, Swithin, Freeman, C. C. Hearn, Representative Sheppard, City Solicitor Blackmur, John Q. A. Field, Commissioner Cavanagh, W. W. Adams, Councilmen Jameson, and Bryant, W. G. A. Pattee, George F. Pinkham, John F. Merrill, Henry M. Faxon and Herbert T. Whitman.

It is hard to see in the face of the opposition presented to the several bills how the committee can report favorably upon them as they now stand.

Mayor Keith, City Solicitor Blackmur, City Treasurer Burke, W. G. A. Pattee, and Councilman Duggan were those who spoke in favor of one or more of the three bills while such well known citizens as ex-Mayor Fairbanks, Herbert M. Federhen, John Q. A. Field, James H. Slade, Fred F. Green, Henry H. Faxon, Councilmen Pinkham and Freeman, and City Auditor John O. Hall opposed. Nearly all of the last mentioned gentlemen speaking on all three bills.

It was an intensely interesting hearing but devoid of much spice as the committee did not permit any cross examination.

The hearing consumed all the time between 10.20 and 1 o'clock. A full report of the arguments made both for and agaisnt the several bills will be published in Friday's Ledger.

CAMP WETHERILL.

Commander Morrison Replies to Criticisms.

Home Comforts Not Possible in Camping.

Says Col. Whitney Has Not Neglected His Men.

Headquarters Fifth Mass. Infantry.
Greenville, S. C., March 4 1899.

My attention has been called to the large number of articles published in the Boston papers purporting to come from members or ex-members of the Fifth Regiment, most of which are false from start to finish, and as is usual in such cases the parties refuse to sign their own name. As such articles must cause the relatives, who have sons or brothers in the regiment, a great deal of uneasiness, I feel called upon to give my friends a true statement of the facts? I will take the piece published in Boston Post of Mar. 2 as an example and which I enclose.

In the first place the regiment is not camped in a swamp but upon a hill, and is in the same camp that it occupied when it first came here. There has never been water over the tent floors neither do men have to sleep upon bare floors, but all are provided with good straw mattresses, we have not allowed the men to build bunks in their tents as they are not considered healthy by the Medical department. The tent floors are raised six inches above the ground and are made of hard pine matched boards and well nailed down, the ground around the tent is deeply ditched and the tents banked.

I do not believe that water has ever stood under the tent floor as the camp is particlarly well drained and even after the hardest rain, dries off very quickly. We have lost by death just eight men since we entered the service over eight months ago, a record that is not equalled by any regiment of this size in the United States service.

There is no regiment in the service numbered the 23d New York, I suppose the man means the 201st New York. That regiment has lost over sixty men, and the 203d New York over 150 by sickness since they entered the service last July. In fact the 203d, New York were in such bad condition when they were at Camp Meade that they had to be ordered away and were sent to Conewego. I inspected their camp once while at Camp Meade and found it in very bad sanitary condition, and so reported the fact to the Corps commander. No man who knows any thing about the actual conditions would compare such regiments with ours.

About having bunks in the tents, I consider the practice of having them very bad, and in regiments where they have been allowed the per centage of sick has been greatly increased. I sight as an example the 13th, Penn., which my battalion relieved at the quartermaster's depot at Camp Meade. One company of the 13th Pennsylvania has 26 cases of typhoid fever, and yet my battalion went into an infected camp, 400 strong, staid there nine weeks, and only had four cases of typhoid fever, and from which only one man died during the entire time.

The State of Massachusetts has done everything for its troops. No State in the Union has equalled it in her treatment of its soldiers.

You can not find an officer or man who does not admit this, and the National government has been very liberal; the food has been good, and of sufficient quantity. Not a pound of corned or canned beef has been issued, except when on the train, and then fresh beef was not practicable, as it could not be cooked. I have examined the beef personally a great many times, and as a rule found it of excellent quality. I never used better on my table at home and have used it repeatedly in my own mess and found it better than the beef we could buy in the open market.

About the per centage of sickness, I would say that it has never reached 15 per cent. The largest number ever reported to me was on February 27,—171 men; of which number 143 were marked sick in quarters mostly with slight colds. The largest number sick in the hospital was 40 on the 25th of February. The regiment at this time had 1,214 men on the rolls.

Colds and diseases of a similar nature are very prevelant at this time of year, even among people who have the facilities to take the best of care of themselves and I think that any fair-minded person will say that the amount of sickness in this regiment, considering the conditions of camp life is not excessive. Three men of this regiment have never died in one day at Division Hospital; all died on separate days.

About the tents, I would say that they were new and in first class condition when we left South Framingham. About the first of January they began to show signs of giving out, and on the 20th, of January Captain Neilson of K Co. reported to me that a number of his tents had leaked badly the night before, during a hard rain, and asked me to look at them. This I immediately did, and reported the fact to the Colonel commanding, and within an hour a messenger was sent to Division headquarters asking that an inspector come and look the tents over. The tents were inspected and condemned about February 1, and three hundred new ones were issued on February 4. We required 500 for the entire command and immediately made application for the other 200, but they were not to be had just then.

About this time the cold weather set in, and the ground froze solid; two nights the thermometer went 5 degrees below zero. You could not drive a tent peg in such ground and it would not have been wise to have attempted to change tents in such weather. It stormed almost continually for two weeks, and about all we could do was to furnish the men with plenty of wood and try the best we could to make them comfortable.

I admit that camping out under such conditions is neither homelike or comfortable, but times like this will occasionally happen in every soldier's life. Every tent squad has a good Sibley stove and very few complaints were made to me during this time. On the 23d of February I took command of the regiment. It was storming then and continued so until the 26th, which was Sunday. On the 27th, I issued the new tents, 300 in number, and that was the first day which they could be put up since they were received by us.

When the tents were being issued a large number of men came to me and asked to retain their old ones, but all were obliged to take two new ones. The officers with one exception are all using their old tents and they are exactly the same tents that were issued to the men and have seen the same use. The men prefer the Massachusetts tent, as it is about twice as large as the United States tent. Each quad has now two new tents to sleep in and an old Massachusetts tent for the stove pitched in front of the other two. We have had a very hard month, there is no doubt about that, and people who have lived in this country a number of years say that it has been an unusual winter. The only mistake that any one can possibly blame the government for, is the selection of this place for a winter camp but if it has been an unusually severe winter in this part of the country, they are not to blame for that.

The trouble with some of the volunteers, I am sorry to say, is that they expected to get home comforts when they joined the army, and because such is not possible they are disappointed. No troops were ever used better than the soldiers in this war, and because there has been suffering, which I do not deny a large part of it has been due to the nature of the service, and not the neglect of the government or the incompetency of the officers.

No officer in the service has worked harder for his men than Colonel Whitney, and whatever else may be said against him, no one can honestly say that he has neglected his men. Last Sunday night during a rain storm Colonel Whitney visited with me every tent in the regiment, and tried in every way possible to make the men comfortable during the storm. He was not in command of the regiment at this time and was not obliged to do this. I have never known him to neglect his men for a single moment since we have been in the service. I can assure the people that every thing has been done for the comfort an health of the men in this reigment and will be done as long as it remains in service, and if I can be of any service in giving information to relatives of any man in this command I should be pleased to do so.

The regiment will be mustered out, if nothing happens to prevent on the 31st of this month in Greenville, and return home immediately after.

Respectfully yours,
Walter E. Morrison.

CAPTURED.

The chase for the three trolley wire thieves Wednesday was an exciting one. The police received word by telephoae from Officer Dawson, who telephoned from Moon Island. A few minutes later Supt. Weeks came over and also gave notice having received word from one of the car conductors, who had been notified by a boy.

Inspector McKay and Officer McAloon of the street railway went down on the next car and Hugh O'Brien and Roderick McNeil started with the street railway hang up wagon. Inspector McKay overhauled a team in Atlantic driven by a man who gave his name as Abraham Peterson.

As he had a quantity of wire in his team he was placed under arrest. He also confessed that there were three men with him and that he had been told to drive over the road and meet them in Boston. They had gone across the marsh to avoid notice.

Peterson and the team were sent to Quincy and Inspector McKay after telephoning Police station 11 started for Neponset by road. Capt. Hunt of Station 11 sent out all of his reserve force to look for the fellows. Arriving at Neponset Inspector McKay and Officer McAloon were making inquiries if the three men had been seen, when their attention was attracted to three men coming across the Hancock street bridge. The officers with a Station 11 officer started for them, at which the three fellows started to run, but were not quick enough and were soon under arrest.

Their hands were colored by handling the copper and they showed other evidences of having been the parties. When locked up they gave their names as Benjamin Svirsky, Patrick Murphy and John Turner. All belong in Roxbury.

The fellows had secured some 1800 feet of trolley wire, and in their haste to get it had tied one end to their team and pulled it down. This strain resulted, not only in taking down the trolley wire but it pulled over several polls, took off cross arms and electric light, telephone and fire alarm wires.

The place where the work was done, was at the Squantum end of the causeway, and this was probably chosen as it was the farthest from dwellings.

This is not the first time that the street railway has had its wire stolen, for not long since a lot of its trolley wire on the Norfolk Downs loop was taken. The four men were arraigned in court this morning.

Memorial Church.

The parish meeting of the Memorial Congregational church at Atlantic drew out an attendance of about one hundred and thirty-five, notwithstanding the inclement state of the weather and the disagreeable walking.

The business meeting was held at eight o'clock at which the old board of officers was elected with Mr. Theodore Parker as collector.

The treasurer's report showed a balance in the treasury of nearly one hundred and sixty dollars.

The trustee's, collector's, and Ladies' Benevolent Society reports all testified to the success and prosperity of the society during the past year.

After the business meeting a generous collation of sandwiches, coffee ice cream and cake was served to all.

An orchestra composed of six pieces entertained with music during the evening and the church choir sang several pieces, including a quartette, a solo by Mr. Frank Thomas, a solo by Miss Susie Hall, and a duet by Miss Annie Hall and Mr. Gassett.

The meeting was declared by all the most enjoyable and successful parish meeting in the history of the Memorial church.

It Saves the Clothes

A red-hot iron would burn the clothes, and so will common soap. Cheap common soaps ruin the clothes more slowly, but just as surely. Fairy Soap is a safe soap. It cleanses without harming even rich cambrics, gauzy laces and other fabrics of fine texture and delicate color. It will not burn, rot and weaken the threads as common soap does, and is more economical than cheaper soaps as it lasts longer.

is made of pure vegetable oil, contains no coloring matter, no impurities, so that it is perfectly harmless to the tenderest skin. It is an ideal soap for toilet, bath and fine laundry purposes.

MUST STIFFEN CHINA.

America, England, Germany and Japan Can Accomplish Feat.

Land Grabbing Will Result In Quarrels and War.

Empire Can Be Kept on Her Feet by Standing Up For Open Door Policy.

London, March 9.—The Daily Mail publishes an interview this morning with Lord Beresford. He told The Daily Mail interviewer he could say little about his tour until he had completed his voluminous report to the associated chambers of commerce, which sent him on his tour; but he insisted that if all the powers began grabbing land in China, it could only result in quarrels and war.

"It is absolutely necessary," he said, "to keep China on her feet. Better stand up now for the open door than venture upon the dangerous course of spheres of influence. I do not suggest a cut and dried alliance. I do not think America would join such an alliance. But America, England, Germany and Japan might agree to work together to maintain the open door.

"Of the six men who direct China's policy four have never been outside of Pekin. Li Hung Chang has no real power. The empress dowager is the real power and a very clever woman. She signs the popular edicts herself and makes the emperor sign the unpopular ones. The provincial rulers are more progressive than those at Pekin. They all favor the open door policy and only want to save China's face, but they think we are afraid of Russia. We must help stiffen China, which will not be a difficult task."

A Way Out.

London, March 9.—The Pekin correspondent of The Times says that the Chinese are discussing the advisability of making San Mun an open port, so as to evade Italy's demand for a concession.

Terrible Tale of Cannibalism.

Vancouver, B. C., March 9.—Chinese papers received by the steamer Empress of India give details of the torture and murder of a Roman Catholic priest near Ichang. The priest was Father Victorian Dean Del Brouck, a Belbian. He was captured by thieves, who tied him up and fiendishly tortured him. One account says that as the priest hung from the tree to which he was tied, pieces were cut from his thighs and eaten by his tormenters. From the state of his body, fire was evidently applied to it, and slugs were fired into the more vital parts. Finally his body was cut open from the chest to the bottom of the abdomen. He was disembowled, and various organs were taken out and eaten by these so-called semi-civilized people, who at the same time drank his blood. He was also mutilated in a way that cannot be described, and his head cut off, there being a hole in the top of the skull large enough to put one's fist in.

Result of Foul Play.

Toulon, March 9.—It turns out that the 12 dynamite cartridges found behind the Toulon arsenal are of foreign manufacture. M. Lockrey, minister of marine, in an interview regarding the explosion of the naval powder magazine at La Goubran, Sunday, intimates that the experts now have very little doubt that it was due to foul play. He thinks it was possibly caused by some clockwork arrangement, provided with a detonator, hidden in a powder keg.

Kaiser Will Be Boss.

London, March 9.—The Berlin correspondent of The Standard, commenting on the resignation of Admiral von Knerr as commander-in-chief of the German navy, says: It is probable that the resignation is a prelude to the reorganization of naval control. The post of commander-in-chief is likely to be abolished, and the control of the navy to be placed directly under Emperor William and his naval cabinet.

Mme. Bianchini Gets Five Years.

Paris, March 9.—Mme. Charles Bianchini, wife of the famous scenic artist of that name, whose trial on the charge of attempting to poison her husband began on Monday last, was yesterday sentenced to five years' penal servitude. As she was leaving the courtroom the prisoner made a futile attempt to commit suicide by stabbing herself with a hat pin.

Strain Was Intense.

Boston, March 9.—George Howard Wood of this city received a brief letter from Captain Atkin of the Cunard liner Pavonia yesterday, which contained the startling information that Captain Atkin, while bearing up at the time of sending the letter, was fearful that he would collapse under the strain. The letter was mailed at Fayal, Azores. Referring to the terrible trial which the ship had undergone Captain Atkin said that in 40 years' experience he had met with nothing equal to it.

Failed For Over a Million.

New York, March 9.—William Noble, builder, who built the Grenoble hotel, the Grenoble apartment house, the Empire hotel and other well known buildings in this city, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy yesterday. The total liabilities are placed at $1,027,460, with no assets. Mr. Noble's failure was due, it was learned, to a venture in the newspaper field.

Victims of Dynamite.

Boston, March 9.—Patrick Connors, the victim of a dynamite explosion at Brighton yesterday, died at the city hospital at a late hour. He was thawing out dynamite at the time he was hurt. Patrick Colloly, injured by an explosion of a dynamite cartridge which he had struck with his pick while at work in another district, is alive, but cannot recover.

ATTENTION WAS DIVERTED.

Terrible Plunge of Diver Donaldson May Prove to Be His Last.

New York, March 9.—Thomas Donaldson, known the world over as a champion diver, dived from the roof of Madison Square Garden, a distance of 85 feet, with probably fatal results.

Donaldson traveled for some years with Barnum & Bailey, and has been the star attraction at the sportsmen's show now running in the garden. He has been making two dives daily. The tank is less than eight feet deep, and on two or three former occasions Donaldson did not have the success expected and came out of the water with hemorrhages from the nose and ears.

Harry Cornish has had charge of the water sports, and it was he who yesterday afternoon gave Donaldson the signal to dive. Three thousand persons were present and saw the diver lean from the platform and falling slowly forward make the plunge. He shot straight downward, but it was plain before he had got half the distance that he had lost control of his body. He struck the water head first and failed to come up. Small circles of blood came bubbling up from the bottom, and Harry Reeder, the amateur champion swimmer, and an attache of the garden, plunged into the water. The man dove several times and finally Reeder brought Donaldson to the surface. He was apparently dead, with glood flowing from mouth, nostrils and ears and from wounds on the head.

Donaldson was carried to one of the dressing rooms and attended by several physicians. He was then removed to the New York hospital. He has a fractured skull, with compression of the brain, and the left side of his face is crushed in. The surgeons at the hospital say that his death is only a question of hours.

Witnesses of the accident say that as Donaldson left the platform the colors which were wrapped about him became loose. His attention was diverted, and he did not have his wits about him when he struck the water. He weighed more than 200 pounds, and struck with terrific force.

Donaldson is 45 years of age. Just before making this dive he said he intended to challenge Kearney T. Speedy, the champion high diver of the world.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 9.—In the house yesterday, the committee on ways and means reported a bill making an appropriation for continuing the work of exterminating the gypsy moth, and the suppression of the brown-tail moth. The same committee also presented a bill for the retirement of the justices of the supreme and superior courts. This bill refers particularly to the retirement of Chief Justice Fields of the supreme and Justice Mason of the superior court. The committee on taxation gave leave to withdraw the petition of the mayor of Lynn for legislative authority for cities and towns to receive partial payment of taxes on undivided pieces of real estate. Leave to withdraw on the petition for legislation relative to the taxation of certain properties of certain educational institutions was given by the same committee.

The believers in the so-called "valued policy" won a signal victory in the house when the house refused to reject the bill containing that principle, in accordance with the report of the committee on insurance. The bill provides that if an insured building is totally destroyed by fire or other accident, the sum insured shall be taken to be the value of the insured's interest in such building, unless over-insurance thereon was fraudulently obtained.

Some lively cross-questioning was the result of getting a large number of ardent osteopathists into the same hearing-room with the representatives of the state board of registration in medicine and old-school physicians. The osteopathists have been waiting for a chance to question the secretary of the state board, on account of his opposition to the bill establishing the practice of osteopathy under the law, and yesterday they found it. The hearing was closed, but the committee will not report for several days.

There was no opposition to the bill allowing the metropolitan park commissioners to grant street railway locations in the park system. Engineers and firemen attended the hearing on State Inspector Hawley's recommendations regarding the classification of licenses for such men, and Representative Dean encountered a good deal of opposition from railroad counsel when he argued for lower suburban fares on steam railroads before the railroad committee. There were no remonstrants to oppose the charter of a 40-mile, freight-carrying street railroad from Waltham to Pepperell, hearings on which were closed. There were several other hearings, among them that at which bicycle men and others advocated a wide-tire bill for draft wagons.

Governor Wolcott appointed J. C. Selby of Wellfleet associate medical examiner for the third Barnstable district.

Chance For Capitalists.

New York, March 9.—Edouard C. Andre, the Belgian consul at Manila, is in this city, trying to form a stock company with a capital of $10,000,000, for investment in the Philippine islands. "The Philippines are no place," said M. Andre, "for men of little or no capital. But for a big syndicate there is much money to be made. We propose to build a railway in Luzon 180 miles long, at $30,000 a mile. The northern part of Luzon is very fertile, and much money can be made there."

Alleged Outrages by Cubans.

Havana, March 9.—A Spanish newspaper publishes a story to the effect that a party of armed Cubans is terrorizing the Spaniards at Mayori. It also says these Cubans have murdered several Spaniards near Barajagua, and mentions cases of the persecution of Spaniards at Calabazas. In conclusion, the newspaper asks the American authorities to inquire into the matter and to afford protection to the Spaniards.

Willing to Arbitrate.

Rio Janeiro, March 9.—The Brazilian government has accepted the proposal of Great Britain to submit the Guiana boundary dispute to arbitration. Senor Joaquim Nabuco, former Brazilian secretary of legation in London, has been appointed to represent Brazil on the arbitration commission.

SITUATION IN SAMOA.

Everything Is Now Quiet, Pending Decision of the Powers.

Believed That They Will Stand by Tanus as King.

Chief Justice Being Thwarted In Every Way Possible by Germans.

Apia, Samoa, Feb. 22, via San Francisco, March 9.—Four weeks have elapsed since the mail dispatches left here for San Francisco concerning the outbreak of civil war between the adherents of Malietoa Tanus and those of Mataafa. During this time Samoa has been free from any active warfare. The provincial government under Mataafa has not been a success. It has estranged the feelings of many of its own supporters by deportation of the Malietoa chiefs, and the banishment from Apia of all male Samoan adults who were on Malietoa's side.

All Malietoa's followers who were not deported have been fined, and inoffensive natives, the servants of whites, who had been in no way connected with the fighting, have been arrested. A sharp remonstrance from British Consul Maxse, who now has two men of war supporting him, has prevented a recurrence of this annoyance. The natives of Uutuila have declared in favor of Tanus, and the deported chiefs are having a pleasant picnic among friends. Malietoa seems to be gaining strength every day, and several of Mataafa's chief adherents have gone over to his side. There are not more than one-half of the people on Mataafa's side, and it is doubtful if more than one-third of the population are his active supporters.

Among the British and Americans here it cannot be seen how the powers can act in any other way than to stand by Tanus as king. It is urged that if they do not they will deliberately break the Berlin treaty, and cast slight upon their nominee, the chief justice, and, in the case of Great Britain and the United States, they will go back on their consular representatives here, who have acknowledged Tanus as king.

Mataafa and the chiefs know all this, and they are anxious to prevent their followers from doing anything at present whereby Mataafa's chances of being king may be endangered. Mataafa himself is perplexed and uneasy.

The German consul has received a cable from Germany directing him to recognize the authority of Chief Justice Chambers, and to withdraw from the stand he and Dr. Raffel had taken in regard to the supreme court. This news has discouraged Mataafa, and, in addition, the United States consul has written to the effect that, notwithsanding rumors around Apia, the United States has not recognized Mataafa as king, and that the consul has nothing on the matter from his government, and is awaiting dispatches.

The chief justice, although now recognized by the German consul under instructions from Germany, is still being thwarted in every possible way by the Germans. Dr. Raffel was cited by the chief justice for contempt, but declined to come to court and placed himself under the protection of the German consul. He was arrested by the marshal of the court, but on his refusal to go, no attempt was made to force him. The chief justice rested content with having brought the matter to this issue. Herr Von Bulow was also cited for contempt and disputed the jurisdiction of the court on the same ground as Dr. Raffel. The German consul interposed his protest, but Bulow nevertheless has been summoned to appear in two weeks.

H. Moors, an American, apologized to the court for writing a threatening letter and was purged of contempt. Herr Grosscuhl still remains in the German consulate and will not venture out for fear of arrest by the court officers.

Everybody is anxiously awaiting the decision of the powers and in the meantime it is not thought there will be any further disturbance.

The Associated Press correspondent, shortly after the seizure of the Samoan government by Mataafa, had an interview with the noted chief. Mataafa, when asked why he had been proclaimed king, said that Malietoa Tapute, being dead, the Samoans had a right to elect a new king, and he was chosen. According to Mataafa's views this was not in violation of the Berlin treaty, and in the version of the treaty printed in Samoa there is no stipulation made by Count Bismarck that Mataafa should never be king. Mataafa admitted, however, that he had been warned that there was a stipulation against his being king, and said he had approached the German consul about the matter. The consul had said that Germany had forgotten the past and now had no objection to his becoming king. The protocol which contains the stipulation against Mataafa was not attached to the treaty printed for the Samoans. Mataafa declared that he sought to be king so as to bring peace to Samoa.

The Byron Is Safe.

Portsmouth, N. H., March 9.—Schooner Robert Byron, which was thought to be on the rocks at Jerry's Point, the crew being rescued by the life savers, was not damaged to any extent. Her anchors held on the very brink of danger, and yesterday the crew returned to the craft and she came into the harbor for repairs.

Pavonia's Passengers Arrive.

Boston, March 9.—Some of the Pavonia's passengers, after being 43 days en route from Liverpool, and travelling nearly 6000 miles, reached here last night. Several who were intending to make Boston simply a port of entry, and then to proceed to other sections of the country, started to their destinations directly from New York.

Ought to Get It.

San Francisco, March 9.—Welcome A. Botkin, husband of Cordelia A. Botkin, convicted of the murder of Mrs. John P. Dunning of Dover, Del., through the agency of poisoned candy sent through the mails, yesterday applied for divorce on the ground that his wife had been convicted of a felony.

Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." THE FAR EAST

Crisis Over Supremacy In Chinese Empire.

Surface Indications of Great Impending Event.

Hint From Pekin That Time For Partition Is at Hand.

European Powers Have Already Picked Out Choice Territory

British Press Far From Being Unanimous on the Important Question.

London, March 10.—The war cloud again lowers over the far east. The lion and the bear are beginning to growl at one another again, and this time some of the other European powers are becoming deeply involved.

The row is over China, as usual, and it looks as if the time for the long-expected "dismemberment" of the ancient empire had really come. The contest is to see which power will secure the biggest slice when the partition comes.

The Pekin correspondent of The Times says: The Chinese foreign office has notified Signor Martino, the Italian minister, that his dispatch asking for a concession at San Mun was returned to him because it was impossible to comply with the request and because a refusal might have endangered the relations between Italy and China; but, it was added, that as the action had been misunderstood the Chinese minister in Rome had been instructed to express regrets.

The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail says that Japan is supporting China in her resistance to the Italian demands for a concession at San Mun.

The Daily Graphic says: The Niu-Chwang loan contract crisis has been amicably settled by a direct exchange of views between the British and the Russian governments. The Russian assurances are completely satisfactory. The whole difficulty is ended, and the two governments are now arranging a scheme by which their relations in the far east may be permanently regulated.

The Graphic further says: We are disposed to meet Russia frankly, fairly and even generously on the Manchurian question. A little frankness on both sides is all that is needed to arrive at an understanding. The Graphic contends that there is no determined British hostility to Russian aspirations in Manchuria, although that belief has been largely fostered by the Tallen-Wan incident and more recently by the speeches of Lord Beresford, who was mistakenly regarded as having been intrusted with a government mission.

The Chronicle thinks it would be hard to sketch in a few words a more threatening situation than that presented by Minister MacDonald's ultimatum. It declares that the European powers, ever since Germany's descent upon Kiao Chou bay, have been playing a shameless game of grab. The United States is the only nation that has not taken part in the game. If the nations concerned do not confer betimes and arrive at a reasonable and stable understanding there will be war sooner or later. The paper calls on parliament to compel Lord Salisbury to give an account of the British policy.

The Standard congratulates Lord Salisbury on his uncompromising firmness, and rejoices that he is determined to vindicate British interests. It is said that unless the hint of retributory measures is a mere harmless thunderbolt it must be inferred that Minister MacDonald's ultimatum will be followed by something stronger than words if the occasion arises, but the Chinese foreign office has not often refused a British demand when it believed it was made in earnest, and it is not likely to do in this instance. The paper adds: It is useless to disguise the truth. Our difficulties with the Chinese foreign office are mainly due to the coercion of Russia, who is engaged in what seems to be the deliberate policy of rendering herself supreme in northern China and attempting to exclude Great Britain therefrom. The real question is whether the time has not come for some definite settlement which will end this process. Russian initiative has led to that scramble for China which it was the avowed policy of Great Britain, if possible, to prevent. Partition is actually taking place under our eyes.

The paper refers to the Italian and Belgian demands, and declares that Japan also is keenly watching, but the key of the situation is in our hands. The other powers will be ready to follow our lead. It is necessary for all the powers interested to come to an agreement respecting the future of China. The issue has been avoided chiefly because of the natural reluctance to bring two great world empires into direct conflict, possibly revealing irreconcilable antagonism; but formidable as that danger may be, it will only gather intensity by postponement.

There are many surface indications of some great impending event in the far east. Russia is pouring regiment after regiment into Port Arthur, New Chwang and Tallen-Wan, and will have within a few weeks at least 60,000 veteran troops ready for any emergency. Germany is gathering her cruiser squadron at Kiao Chou. Great Britain is strengthening her fleets at Wei-Hai-Wei and Hong Kong. Italy has two warships at San-Mun bay and has dispatched a powerful squadron from the Mediterranean. France has been strengthening her forces at Tonquin and on the island of Hainan and has been transporting immense quantities of war material to the east.

From Pekin comes the hint that the time for the partition of the Chinese empire is at hand. Italy's action in demanding practically all the province of Che-Kiang seems to have been the first result of an understanding between herself and Great Britain. It has already been announced that Germany proposes to extend her territorial possessions in Shan Tung peninsula, and is gathering a fleet for the purpose. France has forced from China a treaty giving her a practical protectorate over the southern provinces of Yunnan, Kwangsi and Kweichau.

China is the richest field in the world yet open to foreign conquest. The empire is made up of 18 provinces, as follows:

Provinces.	Area in Square Miles.	Population
Chili	58,949	17,937,000
Shan Tung	53,762	35,247,835
Shansi	56,268	12,211,453
Honan	66,913	22,115,827
Kiangsu	44,500	20,905,171
Nganhwei	48,461	20,596,288
Kiangsi	72,176	24,534,118
Chekiang	39,150	11,588,692
Fukien	38,500	22,190,556
Hupeh	70,050	22,190,556
Hunan	74,320	21,002,604
Shensi	67,400	8,432,193
Szechuen	166,800	67,712,897
Kansuh	125,450	9,285,377
Kwang Tung	79,456	29,706,249
Kwangsi	78,250	5,151,327
Kwei-Chu	64,504	7,669,181
Yunnan	107,969	11,721,576
Totals	1,312,328	383,253,029

Most of the European powers interested in China have already indicated the provinces they expect to fall to their share. Russia has already secured the Manchurian peninsula. Germany occupies Shan Tung. Italy demands Chekiang. France insists on the three southern provinces of Yunnan, Kwei Chu and Kwangsi, with the island of Hainan.

Great Britain has long given Europe to understand her purpose to dominate the province of the Yang-tse-Kiang valley. This will give her control of the provinces of Kiangsu, Honan, Nganhwei, Hupeh, Kiangsi, Fukien, Kwang Tung, Hunan and the great province of Szechuen, the largest, richest and most populous of all.

It is likely the partition of China, when it comes, will be effected without resort to arms. An international congress will doubtless be called, at which the provinces will be divided and a new map of China given to the world.

Feeling Against Atkin.

Boston, March 10.—The Herald today publishes, in detail, interviews with passengers on the steamer Pavonia on her recent unfortunate trip, bearing upon the actions of Captain Atkin during the vessel's most trying hours. It has been alleged that Captain Atkin's conduct was subject to much comment on the part of the passengers, and that he had considerable trouble with his subordinate officers, even to the point of the latter's disobedience. The Herald says that the first cabin passengers, when they reached Ponta Del Gada, sent a testimonial to the Cunard company, commending in the highest terms the bravery of the crew and every officer of the ship, but intentionally excluded Captain Atkin's name.

NOW IT IS DE BOISDEFFRE

Who Has Brought Trouble Upon Himself In the Dreyfus Affair.

London, March 10.—The Daily News publishes an interview with Count Ferdinand Walsin Esterhazy, who is reported as having said: "The fireworks of the Dreyfus affair are only just commencing. One thing is certain. It is all up with General De Boisdeffre. He and general Roget are responsible for Colonel Henry's forgery and death. All the excitement, however, will end in smoke and the pardon of Dreyfus."

There is a curious connection between this statement by Esterhazy and a statement made by M. Drumont, in the Anti-Semite Libre Parole. He also throws General De Boisdeffre over, and says he will be expelled from the army.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 10.—A retirement fund bill for school teachers was reported in the senate yesterday, though five of the committee on mercantile affairs, making the report, dissented from the action of the committee. A bill to place assessment life insurance companies under the same provisions that govern old-line companies was also reported.

The bill calling for compulsory temperance instruction, with textbooks, in the public schools, yesterday once more attracted a large number of people interested for or against it. Physicians of repute gave some interesting evidence against the bill, and there were other remonstrants, and several statements were made not altogether favorable to some of the methods of the Woman's Christian Temperance union. Numerous remonstrants also presented themselves as against the bill to limit the working hours of hospital nurses, and a leading argument against the bill was that to limit the hours would seriously impair the efficiency of hospitals. Teamsters and others made vigorous opposition to the wide-tire bill, one interesting reason for opposition being that the expected introduction of auto-trucks would in time do away with the need for wide tires.

Boston school committee representatives urged their bill to give the board full power concerning all construction, alteration and repair of school buildings; and a plea for a better arrangement for inspecting milk brought into cities was made by milkmen before the agriculturists. There were other minor hearings.

House reports included bills for $25,000 for the eye and ear infirmary, and $10,000 for the Carney hospital.

A Father's Grief.

New York, March 10.—Ralph Seither killed himself in his room in Newark, N. J., yesterday, because his 14-year-old daughter had been arrested for theft. Seither was separated from his wife and family. His daughter was arrested in Newark for stealing $15. Seither locked himself up in his room when he heard of her arrest and became so despondent that he committed suicide by drinking carbolic acid. His daughter was arraigned in the police court, but when the judge heard of the father's suicide he remitted a fine of $15 he had imposed and allowed the girl to go free.

Good Afternoon.

It is not often that gentlemen, busy in their private business, attend hearings in such large numbers as on Thursday, in opposition to measures proposed by the Mayor of a city. When it is a boulevard or something that is of benefit to individuals as well as the city, it is reasonable to expect that there will be a large number present in favor of the improvement, but these hearings were different. These gentlemen thought the bills would work an injury to the city, and they showed their loyalty to Quincy by sacrificing private interests for the public good. Personally they had nothing to gain. When the City Council voted to cooperate with the Mayor to secure the enactment of his bills, it was reasonable to suppose that the legislative branch of our city represented the people, but their constituency seems to have vanished. With scarcely an exception all those in favor of the petitions were connected with the city government, and most of them appointees of the Mayor. The City Council should look to its laurels, and live to its duty, collectively and individually, and not be led by any one member.

The explanatory letter of Major Morrison in Thursday's ledger, relative to Camp Wetherill and the reports concerning the Fifth Massachusetts regiment, was an excellent one, and would seem to brush away all troubles, but the fact remains that the men have grievances. If it was the intention of the volunteers to remain soldiers for life, it might be necessary to continue the strictest of military discipline, but when the regiment is not in the enemy's country, and is expected to be mustered out, it does not seem necessary to put out full guards on blustering cold and stormy nights, and to exact other duties which are required only in the Fifth. Other regiments in the same camp may not be as well disciplined as the Massachusetts regiment, but they have been allowed more comforts.

The Mayor has an excellent chance to put in practice his idea of refunding or extending the municipal debt by vetoing that part of the $1,000 loan order passed by the City Council this week which provides that the entire sum shall fall due next year. It has already been pointed out that the maturing municipal debt of 1900 is $63,000, and it will not take many one year loans of $1,000, $2.000 and $3,000 to make the total as large in 1900 as this year or even $100,000. All these small loans should be grouped into one or two loan orders and extented over a period of years. If the money is needed immediately let it be appropriated, with the proviso that the money shall be raised later in the year when the orders have accumulatad.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Avon goes no-license, by a majority of 117, as compared with a majority of 8 last year. Apparently the Brockton experiment with license this year has not popularized the business in its neighboring towns.—Brockton Times,

☞ The Brockton Times has tried the experiment of selling a two-cent paper for one cent long enough to know that it dosen't pay, and will increase its price April 1st. This is a step in the right direction. Those who think there is a fortune in running a newspaper should study the expense bills of even the smallest daily paper which is run on broad lines, and be convinced.—Haverhill Gazette.

TWO MORE DEATHS.

Co. K. Fortunate to Escape at Camp Wetherill.

With Co. K, 5th Mass. Regt.,
Camp Wetherill,
Greenville, S. C., March 7.

Yesterday was another cold windy day. Today the air has moderated considerably.

As "taps," or what we call "Go to bed," sounded on the bugle, another member of our regiment answered his last roll call; Sergeant Hunting, the senior sergeant of the hospital corps. Sergeant Hunting has always worked diligently for the interest of the sick boys. He was a professional nurse, being in attendance in several Back Bay families in Boston, when in civilian life. The members of the hospital corps mourn his loss. The deceased will be escorted with military honors to the depot tomorrow.

News came to our ears this afternoon of another death, Private Horace Tinkham of Company D, Plymouth, died at 4 o'clock of pneumonia.

His end was peaceful. The deceased bears an excellent record in his company.

The whole camp site has been moved, giving the respective companies fresh ground to rest their tents on.

A fire broke out in the ammunition tent, but was quickly extinguished by the fire party, after the "fire call" had been sounded.

The 5th Massachusetts Hospital Corps have organized an organization to have a reunion once a year; the president's chair to be kept empty in remembrance of their senior sergeant. The vice president will be selected later.

Private Pierce has been detailed over to Division Headquarters for ten days as orderly.

Private Mead is progressing favorably. The other boys are gaining health. VOLUNTEER.

Pool and Whist.

The second night's games in the pool and whist tournament between the Granite City and Quincy clubs was held Thursday evening at the rooms of the Quincy club.

The result was that the Granite City club won at pool by 82 points, and the Quincy club at whist by five points.

The pool games in detail were:

First table—H. M. Federhen, of Granite City club, 150; H. M. Federhen, Jr., of Quincy club, 70.

Second table—Henry McGrath of Granite City Club, 115; Robert Graham Quincy Club, 113;

As a result of the two night's games the Granite City club leads at pool by 68 points, and the Quincy club at whist by four points. The final games will be played Saturday evening.

Hearings on Mayor's Petitions

THE WATER BOARD.

Saving of $2,500.00 Claimed But Doubted.

As was briefly outlined in Thursday's Ledger, the hearings on the three petitions of the Mayor to the Legislature were full of interest.

The first hearing held was on the bill "relative to the tenure of office of the Board of Water Commissioners."

City Solicitor Blackmur announced that he would conduct the case for the petitioners and introduced Mayor Keith.

Mayor Keith read extracts from the City Charter more particularly Section 34, and the several acts relating to the water matters in Quincy. There is a doubt which we desire settled. Whether the Act of 1891 supersedes the Act of 1892, or whether the acceptance of the act of 1891 supersedes the Act of 1892. What we now want is an act that permits the Water Commissioners to turn over to the Commissioner of Public Works, when requested by the Mayor, all the property, etc., of the department. Another reason was that $2,500 could be saved by the change. It was undesirable that the man who has charge of the streets shall be interfered with by the Water Commissioners by opening streets.

In reply to Mr. Blackmur the Mayor said it was a fact that the sewerage system would when completed be turned over to the Commissioner; also, that Quincy was now using Metropolitan water; that the pumping station and plant were not in use, and the only work the Water Commissioners now have is to make estimate and collect bills.

Mr. Blackmur then read the vote of the City Council athorizing the Legislative committee to cooperate with the Mayor.

Mr. Faxon wanted to know how the $2,00 was to be saved?

The chairman said cross examination would not be permitted but the gentleman could answer if he saw fit..

Mayor Keith then replied: He has had a month to ask questions if he wanted to, but as he had not he should not answer.

COUNCILMAN FREEMAN.

In opposition, said the resolution read passed the Council by the close vote of 11 to 9. The Water Board does not collect bills, the City Treasurer does that. Each year $30,000 was asked for the extension of mains. With other business the Commissioner has too much to handle to take this in addition. He did not think there would be any advantage to the city to change. It would be well if this power was left to the City Council.

HENRY H. FAXON.

Said if $2,500 was to be saved he would like to know where. The Commissioner has all he can do now and more too. He controls nearly all the finances except the school board. If the office was abolished, the city would have to have a superintendent just the same. It was all politics. No one man could take care of both the offices of Commissioner of Public Works and Water Commissioners, at the same time.

In reply to a question by one of the committee, Mr. Faxon said the Fire and Police departments finances were not under the Commssioners control. Quincy was Republican in majority, but Democratic in control.

JOHN Q. A. FIELD.

Was never in favor of one Commissioner of Public Works. He has too much power. When the office was composed of three he would agree with the Mayor. We are apt to change the Commisioner of Public Works every year while with a board of three there were always some old members.

CHAIRMAN FAIRBANKS

Of the Water Board said, the act of 1891 was for an independent supply. After the purchase of the Quincy Water Co., wishing to control the Blue Hill supply, this act was accepted in 1893. He thought the Commissioner of Public Works had more than he could do. His experience told him what a commissioner should do and not what he did. We pay our Superintendent $1,800. He could not see how the Commisssioner could take charge without an assistant. In response to questions by Mr. Blackmur, Mr. Fairbanks said there was now in the employ of the Commissioners, a superintendent, two lady clerks, and a foreman who had a large experience in laying pipe but not in buying supplies. Under the charter we go to the Council for money for extension of mains. We consider the petitions before us for extension. We also get bids for supplies in the spring. If we grant extension, the superintendent makes requisition for supplies, and we draw the orders. The superintendent was not the fifth wheel. For instance there may be several gangs of men at work and he has to visit them and look after

REFUND OF DEBT.

Claim that It Would Result Injuriously.

The second hearing was on the bill to refund the indebtedness.

MAYOR KEITH.

Said the municipal debt was $265,505 of which $81,950 fell due this year. Almost half of it is payable in 1899 and it did not seem fair that large sums for permanent improvements should fall upon taxpayers this year. If we are compelled to do it, our tax rate will be large and we ask to extend $100,000. Out of the debt falling due this year about $50,000 was for permanent improvements. If there was any year when relief should come, this is the year.

Mr. Blackmur said he had letters from bankers of Boston, who say it would not hurt the credit of the city.

CITY TREASURER BURKE.

Said this was not an unusual method to pursue when a city finds itself with a large tax rate, a large maturing debt and full valuation. To pay the maturing debt this year would raise the tax rate $2 or $3. As a suburb of Boston we should have a lower tax rate. As servants of the people we consider this a wise thing to do, as it would not effect credit of the city. It was simply to relieve the taxpayers. The gross debt is $1,350,505 of which $265,505 is the municipal debt. Our borrowing capacity is $188,000, the limit being $454,000.

EX-PRESIDENT FEDERHEN.

Trusted the bill would not pass. The time has now come when the citizens of Quincy have found out they must elect intelligent men to the City Council, who will not get the city into debt. In no way can it be better impressed upon their minds than this year in the increase of the tax rate. It would be a valuable experience to Quincy. It was a matter of one year only.

HENRY H. FAXON

said we are about taxed to death now. Too many men think that when a city can extend its debt we do not owe anything. The valuation of Quincy is $19,000,000, and was raised to that point for political purposes. He then cited a number of cases where property had been sold at auction and private sale for less than assessed value. They have blinded people by putting up valuation to keep down the tax rate. If the bill had been put off ten years the people would not think much about it. The $19,000,000 valuation would not bring $17,000,000. Six columns of mortgage sales were advertised in the Ledger on Wednesday. The men who are encouraging valuation are speculators in land.

JOHN Q. A. FIELD

Was sorry to see the City Solicitor bring an attorney to close up his case. The unfortunate condition was due to our charter. He had been on deck for many years. When in the Council he tried to stop it but was ousted. The old corporation law, pay as you go, is a good one. This year we have new members in the Council and by the time they have been learned and worth something they are gone. We had better let it alone.

FRED F. GREEN

Presented a tabulated statement of the debt of Quincy since it became a city, taken from the Auditor's reports. He had always been opposed to the methods of city extravagance. Those who want to refund it are the same who advocated dividing every debt over ten years. Instead of expending $35,000 a year we have expended an average of $76,000. This is a method to evade loan limit of indebtedness of the city. He did not known as he wanted to pay ten years from now for things he had used up, ten years ago.

COUNCILMAN FREEMAN

Wished to correct statement of the City Treasurer. If we pay the maturing debt this year the taxes will be increased $1.05 and not $3.

JAMES H. SLADE

Said that after discussing the matter with many citizens who are familiar with Quincy, and take some interest in its affairs, he had not met one person not connected with the present city government, who are in favor of it. We have only been a city a few years but we have had considerable experience with debt. He was one of those who believed in the principle, pay as you go. When we became a city we had practically no debt, we then went into a system of expense. Valuation has increased until now, as Mr. Faxon says, property will not bring assesed value. He had been told by an assessor that there was not a piece of propety in Quincy that would sell for its valuation. His own tax had increased three fold, and it is this condition of affairs that makes the shoe pinch, and he hoped they would let it pinch. If they did the city would never come here

THE $150,000 BILL.

Opposition to Going Outside the Debt Limit.

The last hearing was on the petition to go outside the debt limit for street improvements, and as the finances had been gone into and the time was short the hearing was brief.

CITY SOLICTOR BLACKMUR

Mentioned Hancock, Washington, and Coddington streets, as ones it would be economy to widen. Also to build streets not yet opened up. He also spoke of the needs of such action. It was not fair for Quincy to widen streets and make payment in ten years. If put off it would cost more and we ask that the city have authority to borrow outside of the ten-year limit. We cannot widen these streets under the general law and under the bill we cannot expend but $50,000 in anyone year.

COUNCILMAN F. FREEMAN

Was not opposed to extending loan beyond ten years, but was opposed to going beyond the debt limit and he did not see the necessity.

HENRY H. FAXON

Would advocate anything that would benefit real estate. It would not do any harm to widen Coddington street near Washington street, but we have enough leeway within the debt limit. There was not one-fourth the travel on Hancock street that there was before the steam and electric railroads. The bill would be a great detriment to Quincy, as we could do it now inside of the debt limit. If he had got to pay he wanted to do it now before he died, and not leave a legacy to his heirs.

FRED F. GREEN.

Said we would have $254,000 this year inside the debt limit and it was not necessary to borrow $150,000 and extend it.

H. M. FEDERHEN

Could not see why we should go outside the debt limit when we had so much leeway.

JOHN Q. A. FIELD.

Said $67,000 had been expended on Hancock street. If they had specified any one thing to talk on it would be different. It was a general appropriation to be picked off by influence over the Council. We can not expend $50,000 in any one year without going outside the city for labor.

The hearing then closed.

Fought the Indians.

Michael P. Ford after an absence of 14 years is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Ford of Main street. He recently secured his discharge from Troop F of the 8th U. S. cavalry and is in business in St. Louis. The Globe prints an interesting sketch of his exciting life. Since leaving the parental roof, when a young man not out of his teens, Mr. Ford has seen life in its most exciting stages. He was with the 8th cavalry when that regiment made one of the longest military marches in history, covering the territory from the Rio Grande river almost to the Canadian line. This march occupied four months, and during that time the troopers were never out of their saddles except at night.

He was one of the picked men of that famous fighting command — a command which broke the power of Sitting Bull and put an end to the Sioux Indian uprisings.

—The net water debt of Braintree is $204,350.48.

MATAAFA MUST SURRENDER

Unless He Does, It Is Said, Admiral Kautz Will Adopt Vigorous Measures.

Chicago, March 10.—A special to The Chronicle from Honolulu, March 1, via San Francisco, March 10, says: Concerning the Samoan situation a startling report was given out by an officer of the cruiser Philadelphia to a friend here just prior to the sailing of the flagship for Apia.

According to the officers, Admiral Kautz is instructed to uphold all the recent decisions of Chief Justice Chambers respecting the election of a king in Samoa and matters growing out of it. He is to co-operate with the American and British consuls and declare Malietoa Tanus the rightful king.

Malietoa will be placed in authority under the protection of American and British marines. Mataafa, who has now military ascendancy, will be called upon to surrender. Should he refuse to do so, Admiral Kautz is instructed to "proceed, by force if necessary, to establish the authority of the duly elected king, Malietoa Tanus."

It is believed there will be a struggle. Mataafa has the indorsement of and will be supported by Germany.

Washington, March 10.—A change in command of the United States forces at Iloilo will occur on March 27, resulting from the retirement of General Marcus Miller, who on that date reaches the age limit of 64 years. to the American forces having marked an important epoch in the operations in the islands. His compulsory retirement is a matter of regret to the department. He will be succeeded in the natural order of promotion by Colonel Thomas M. Anderson, who now ranks as a brigadier general of volunteers.

They Need Chastisement.

Raleigh, March 10.—The tour of the Tenth immunes through this state was marked by drunken rioting and shooting at people, horses and cattle along the road. During the few minutes the train stopped here there was drinking and disorder among the men. Several shots were fired at the ground or into the air. All along the route their conduct was the same. A dispatch from Henderson says: "The Tenth immunes, negro troops, passed over the Seaboard Air line. They shot at private houses and school children. Several men were wounded. The officers of the regiment seemed to have no control over the men." Similar reports come from other points between here and Weldon.

Mrs. Poirier's Request.

St. Scholastique, Que., March 10.—Samuel Parslow, who is to be hanged with Mrs. Cordelia Poirier for the murder of the latter's husband, tried to escape last night and had actually gotten out of his cell when the guards were absent, thinking him asleep. His companion, who was the organist at St. Canute church, has asked as a last favor that her parlor organ be brought into the jail so that she can play and sing the musical part of her own death service.

REFUND OF DEBT.

again. Posterity will have its own burden to take care of. Quincy does not need this relief. It does not need to go out of debt limit. It is to simply go on as they have been for the past few years.

COUNCILMAN PINKHAM

Said the City Council was not unanimous in cooperating on this bill. All debts but the municipal are apportioned over a number of years. Our debt is now so apportioned that we are paying $20,000 more than we should, and that is not worth while refunding.

CITY SOLICITOR BLACKMUR.

The Mayor in his inaugural address has recommended an equalization of valuation, and this year it will probably be reduced. When Quincy became a city nothing had been done to our many miles of streets for improvements. We are getting money back for the sewer and water. It is the municipal debt we ask to refund, which for a valuation of $19,000,000 is not large. No one had had the experience in city and town affairs the Mayor has had. We do not ask anything unreasonable. We ask to extend our loans, and not then unless a majority of the Council say so. We know it will be a great burden on the taxpayers if required to pay the entire debt this year.

CITY AUDITOR HALL

Said that with the exception of $16,500 the debt that comes due this year was for current expenses. With few exceptions these amounts have had their legal run. Wise financiering should make the city pay for what it has and not throw it to the future. If the act called for $30,000 or $40,000 there might possibly be some excuse, but when we ask to open the doors for $100,000 we ought to have careful consideration. We can borrow money but that is not the point. If we can make a good financial standing then we can take our stand among the best cities.

COUNCILMAN DUGAN

Found that the workmen were going to be put in bad shape by a heavy tax and they would appreciate any favor shown them.

Hearing adjourned.

ONE MORE TRIAL

Granite Manufacturers Suggest It.

To Hold Out Would be a Great Loss.

Admits Both Union and Association are Strong.

There are no new developments in the granite situation and probably will not be until the two committees get together again, and try to come to some agreement. The longer this is put off the more bitter both sides will become.

If neither side desires a settlement, which it is believed they do, a meeting of the two committees will not be long delayed.

The Manufacturers, as announced in Wednesday's Ledger, have increased their committee to seventeen members, and Thursday night the following communication was forwarded to the Cutters:

Quincy, March 9, 1899.

To the officers and members of the Quincy Branches of the Granite Cutters' Union:

Gentlemen:—At a meeting of the Granite Manufacturers' Association, held Tuesday evening, the price list committee was increased to 17 members, with full power in connection with the present trouble. And the above mentioned committee cannot but realize the great loss to our city, in that it injuriously affects not only labor and the manufacturer, but every storekeeper, real estate man, banker, and in fact every resident of our city. And knowing that both organizations are strong, and if both parties were to fight it out to the finish, it means untold loss to our city and to every man that owns property in it.

So is it not an opportune time, before any bitterness enters in, to make one more trial for a settlement that will be honorable to all parties concerned? If you are of this opinion, will it not be worth while to increase your committee to a like number, with full power, and meet jointly and see if the breach may not be healed.

We await your action and time of meeting.

Respectfully yours,
Committee of the Granite Manufacturers' Association.

THAT COMMON TROUBLE, ACID DYSPEPSIA OR SOUR STOMACH.

Now Recognized as a Cause of Serious Disease.

Acid Dyspepsia, commonly called heartburn or sour stomach, is a form of indigestion resulting from fermentation of the food. The stomach being too weak to digest it, the food remains until fermentation begins, filling the stomach with gas, and a bitter, sour, burning taste in the mouth is often present. This condition soon becomes chronic and being an every day occurence is given but little attention. Because dyspepsia is not immediately fatal, many people do nothing for the trouble.

Within a recent period a remedy has been discovered prepared solely to cure dyspepsia and stomach troubles. It is known as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and is becoming rapidly used and prescribed as a radical cure for every form of dyspepsia.

Stuart's Dyspepia Tablets have been placed before the public and are sold by all druggists for 50 cents per package. It is prepared by the F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., and while it promptly and effectually restores a vigorous digestion at the same time is perfectly harmless and will not injure the most delicate stomach, but on the contrary by giving perfect digestion strengthens the stomach, improves the appetite and makes life worth living.

THE WATER BOARD.

matters. The only change of duties in the board since Metropolitan water was turned on, was to shut down the pumping station. If streets were opened and not put back in shape the Commissioner could repair them and charge the cost to the Water Department. The Mayor in his inaugural asked for an assistant for the Commissioner as his duties were so burdensome.

It must be a cheap man who would do the Commissioner's work, in addition to the Sewer and Water, for $2,000 a year. The assistant the Mayor asked for in his inaugural would want a salary of $1,500. He will take the place of a superintendent of water works.

Mr. Faxon,—If a competent assistant is appointed to the Commissioner he would like enlightenment from the Mayor on the saving of that $2,500?

W. G. A. PATTEE.

Was called upon by Mr. Blackmur, and said as one of the framers of the city charter. He knew that the intention was that such things as water and sewer were meant to be in charge of the Commissioner. He thought it would be done cheaper by one man than three. If we ever desire a system of digging up our streets it would be a saving. The Water department maintain a blacksmith shop and stable. There would be a saving here as the city has recently erected a large new stable. Why the horses of the Water department were not taken there he could not understand. He had served on the Water board and was ashamed there was a board. The main duty of commissioners is to approve bills nine-tenths of their time was given to that work. Most of work was done by fore man and not the superintendent. He did not think he earned his salary. He saw nothing now for the Commissioners to do except approve bills, and have some supervision over extension of the mains. It seemed to him that section 34 of the charter provided that the Commissioner had charge of pipes. He was afraid that there was too much peanut politics on both sides. He was present as a taxpayer in the interest of economy.

Mr. Green asked how many horses the Water Department had.

Mr. Pattee replied that he did not know. Mr. Pattee in reply to further questions by Mr. Green said he was ashamed of the Water Commissioners; that the city lost money by them; and that the present Commissioner of Public Works was Superintendent of the Water Commissioners when he was on the board.

This closed the hearing on this bill.

The fire is supposed to have originated from an overheated furnace.

Union Votes to Enlarge Committee.

And Will Move for an Early Meeting.

Good Feelings Exist and Settlement Possible.

The two branches of the Union held a meeting this afternoon to consider the last proposition submitted by the Manufacturers, to increase the number of members on the committee to seventeen, and for the two committees to get together again at once and try and settle the question in dispute in the bill of prices.

The cutter's branch of the Union met in Doble's hall, and the blacksmiths in the John Boyle O'Reilly club rooms.

Both branches voted to accept the proposition, and arrangements were made for an early meeting of the enlarged committees of the Manufacturers and Union.

This is a step in the right direction and it is believed will result in an early settlement of the differences.

The March number of "Table Talk" covers the field of women's interest in a most entertaining way, as mention of a few of the articles will show. "The Entree in its Variety" by Eleanor M. Lucas; "Lapses" by Emma J. Gray; "Ye Lenten Dish" by Martha Bockee Flint; "Gastronomic Chips." A sample copy of this practical little magazine may be secured by any of our readers, by addressing Table Talk Publishing Company, Philadelphia, Pa.

The Society of the Sons of the Revolution, organized for the purpose of keeping alive the memory of the early patriots, is rendering our country important service by the erection of public memorials to many heroes of the Revolutionary period. Mr. Walter Gilman Page tells in the March number of the New England Magazine of the admirable work in this direction which is being done by the Massachusetts branch of the organization, and in the pages of his article are reproduced many of the tablets which the Massachusetts Sons have placed on historic spots in and about Boston.

VISITED BEEF PLANTS.

Court of Inquiry Probing Into Mysteries of Packing Houses.

Witnessed Operation of Killing and Canning.

Everything Appeared to Be Conducted In a Manner Satisfactory to Them.

Chicago, March 10.—The court of inquiry to examine the beef question began its work yesterday in this city, where are located the plants of the packers which had the contracts for supplying the army with animal food.

A short executive session was held at the army headquarters in the Pullman building, and it resulted in a decision to defer the taking of testimony until after an inspection had been made of the packing houses at the stock yards where the refrigerated beef and canned beef are prepared.

The whole day was spent at the stock yards, and the going over of the 400 acres of floor space in one of the establishments was all the court was able to do. The court began in the killing room. The next place visited was the cooling room. Here were found several halves of beef which had been condemned, either because the beef was badly bruised or gave evidence that the animal had had tuberculosis. This condemned beef had been placed by itself, and while the court was present men came into remove it to the rendering tanks preparatory to turning it into a fertilizer. The court examined these tanks carefully, possibly in view of the statements that the carcasses passed through them. There certainly was no evidence of such passage. From this room the court was taken to the one in which the meat is prepared for canning and saw the men at work cutting up the meat. The next room visited was the canning department. Here the cooked meat was brought in in huge caldrons, deposited on a platform and put into cans by machinery, the cans removed and sealed, only a pinhole being left open on the top. Next the cans were put under an iron tank, where they were subjected to heat of 250 degrees—the sterilizing process.

While the court was in this room a number of cans of roast beef, which had an old appearance, and which it was said had been in Porto Rico, were opened. The meat inside was good, and the members of the court tasted it, but, of course, expressed no opinion. Subsequently, the court was shown through the printing, packing and other branches, and also witnessed the shipment of a lot of refrigerator beef. Barring the killing room, everything about the establishment was very clean.

Before leaving the yards, the court went to the bureau of animal industry, a branch of the department of agriculture, and obtained some information from W. S. Devoe, who is in charge. They read the law governing the inspection of animals, and inquired as to the details of the work of inspection. Inspectors are stationed in the yard proper, and they condemn any diseased cattle they see and that are unhealthy on view. The inspectors at the packing houses supplement their work by examining the carcasses after slaughter, and throw out any bearing evidence of pulmonary trouble.

The court will go to the stock yards again today, and spend the entire day there in going over three other packing houses. It is quite positive that the evidence taken will be confined to that of the foremen, or workmen who have personal knowledge of the preparation of the refrigerated beef and canned roast beef for consumption. No witnesses have yet been subpoenaed. While the board may hear any one who appears, it is probable that it will not continue the line of inquiry followed at Washington. Colonel Davis said: "We have examined everybody, from the private to the major general, who ate any of the beef in Cuba, or had information about its condition there."

At least one packer is to be examined, the one who furnished the most of the canned roast beef to the army.

A Lively Fusillade.

Lowell, Mass., March 10.—After a desperate struggle, in which no less than 20 shots were exchanged, Robert Vaughn, believed to be one of the burglars who assailed Officer Healy early Sunday morning, was arrested last night in a tenement house. None of his shots took effect, except one which slightly grazed Lieutenant Bronsnan's hip. Vaughn answers the description of the heavier of Healy's assailants.

News From Manila.

Manila, March 10, 11:25 a. m.—Rebel incendiaries landed at the village of Pandacan last night, for the purpose, it is alleged, of terrorizing those of the inhabitants who do not sympathize with the insurrection. A number of native houses were destroyed. The United States transport Grant, which sailed from New York Jan. 19, having on board Major General Lawton, the Fourth infantry and a battalion of the Seventeenth infantry, arrived this morning. With the exception of San Pedro Macati, where the Filipino sharpshooters incessantly annoy the American troops, matters are unusually quiet along the line. The weather is much cooler today.

Some anxiety had been felt for the party. Quickly Caught.

Manchester, N. H., March 10.—James K. Boardman, who is alleged to have stolen $1580 from his father in Portsmouth yesterday afternoon, was arrested in this city last night and is held for the Portsmouth authorities. THE TREATY OF PARIS.

Senator Caffery Says It Is Not Too Late to Repair Wrong Done by It.

Public Men Should Heed Demands of Constituents.

Voice of the People Smothered by the Power of the Machine.

Boston, March 10.—The Massachusetts Reform club gave a dinner last evening at Young's hotel, complimentary to United States Senator Donelson Caffery of Louisiana, "in recognition of his services to sound money and sound politics." Such was printed in old English type on the outer cover of the red, white and blue ribboned menu card.

On the inner page of the card was a partial record of the votes in the senate cast by Mr. Caffery.

One hundred and twenty-five gentlemen, representative of the commonwealth, listened with interest to an address by the senator on "The Duty of a Public Man to Himself, to His State or District, and to the Nation."

President Storey, in his introductory remarks, said that Senator Caffery had just told him that it was 46 years since he had been in Boston. Mr. Storey took this fact as a basis for a comparison between then and now politically.

Senator Caffery spoke to the toast "The duty of a public man to himself, to his district or state, and to his country." In part, he said: "Duty and truth are synonymous in the sense that Shakespere uses them. Every man erects an ideal standard to be his guide in the affairs of this world. When he is true to that standard, he is true to himself. If he is true to himself, true to the standard of duty, he cannot be false to a private trust, or to a public obligation. Our simple minded ancestors left the shores of the old world with the set purpose of living in a new world of freedom. They builded, in the course of time, a government whose corner stone rests upon 'The consent of the governed.' They have, into every state government erected beneath the folds of their starry banner, incorporated this living principle of self-government. They have widened their borders so as to embrace a vast extent of practically coterminous territory and erected it into sovereign states, where this self-governing principle is recognized and enforced.

"Not until the fires of liberty cease to burn; not until our race forgets its inheritance of freedom; not until that 'eternal vigilance, which is its price,' sleeps on its post, bedrugged with imperialism and expansion and all the parasites and crawling things of tyranny and empire, will this energizing, essential principle leave our breasts and cease to be a governing principle of our republic.

"When that time comes, Mr. Chairman, let the destiny that overtakes the degenerate, the power-loving, the worshippers of Mammon, the followers of Moloch, overtake us, as surely it will overtake us. The principle of self-government is our coliseum—while it stands, our republic shall stand; when it falls, liberty shall perish from the earth.'

"It is left, sir, in the closing hours of the nineteenth century, to clothe tyranny and criminal aggression in the cast off clothes of Asiatic and Egyptian fatalism. Are we to take for the guide of our national life the enlightened factor of a living, human conscience, or the dark counsel of a dead fatalism? Shall nature and free will both be bound in the 'chain of destiny?' Ah, sir, the star of empires has lured conquerors and states to ruin. It is not too late to repair the wrong of the treaty of Paris. The better sense of the American people, not the promoters, the jobbers, the franchise hunters, the place men, the searchers after glory, may come to the rescue of our imperilled institutions. God grant they may come soon.

"The duty of the legislator to his state and to his country consists, first, in squaring every act and vote with the constitution, which he is sworn to support; second, in performing every act and giving every vote, in all constitutional legislation, under the sanction and approval of an honest conviction of right. Neither flattery nor threats, nor censure, must sway him from the right. His party may condemn, conventions and meeting may censure, friends and enemies alike try to persuade, but conscience and judgment must rule.

"The curse of any free country is moral cowardice in its representatives. A sign of evil portent on the part of the constituencies, ruled by machines and bosses, is a disposition to make cheats and hypocrites of their representatives. Instead of striking out boldly for principle and right, many basely pander to error and false doctrine for place and pelf. The power of the machine is smothering the voice of the people, and chaining the representatives to the chariot of the boss as a slave to do his bidding.

"Not long can a representative hold position against the public disapproval of his views. The remedy is in the hands of the constituency. An honest constituency will have an honest representative. His duty to them and to himself is to follow his honest convictions.

"Parties have no more right to coerce political conscience than a hierarchy of bishops have to coerce the religious conscience. Luther did not become an outcast when he defied Rome, nor can any Democrat or a Republican or a Populist be read out of his political creed by the anthem of political organization. Independence of judgment and courage to follow conscience are the shadow of a great rock in a wilderness of severity to party dictation.

"Imperialism, expansion and other like follies and crimes may come and go, but the republic will survive. Let the commands of duty fall upon public men unheeded and disregarded and the republic is gone forever."

A number of other members of the club discussed the future policy of the government.

American Capital For Manila.

New York, March 10.—Negotiations have been pending for weeks past which have culminated finally in definite action by parties in this city towards the organization of a corporation to transact a general banking business at Manila. Messrs. J. & W. Seligman & Co. of this city are at the head of the enterprise, and the new bank will be ready for business in a short time. The Manila corporation will probably be known as the Anglo-American bank. The plan has been approved by the administration.

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

THE TRUE TONIC TRUE'S ELIXIR

Is not a stimulant but a blood purifying, cleansing and harmless mixture of vegetable ingredients which cures disorders of the digestive tract and expels worms. It does not whip the tired organs into temporary activity as most remedies do, followed by an equal reaction, but True's Elixir removes the cause of the trouble and its tonic effects are due to good, sound digestion and pure blood, which follow its use. A favorite family medicine for 47 years. Its popularity is due entirely to its cures. Ask your druggist for it. 35 cents a bottle. DR. J. F. TRUE & CO., AUBURN, ME.

A lot of cranks have written to the Record to oppose all applicants for the position of Republican national committeeman, in place of Col. Lyman, who are reputed to be wealthy, and our city contemporary refuses on the ground that such a course would be unfair and ungenerous, in view of the fact that the committeeman is expected, by the very nature of his position, to make large contributions to the campaign funds. Those cranky air-castle builders who are always harping on the rich man are generally dreaming of what they would do if they had a million.—Hyde Park Gazette.

A LOVE SONG.

Come into thy garden, my love, my sweet;
The flowers are lifting their heads;
They wait for the sound of thy coming feet,
And, smiling, stretch forth from their beds.

Come into thy garden, my dear, my love,
And hark to the birds' merry lays.
The golden sun shines in the blue skies above,
And the humming bees join in thy praise.

Come into thy garden, my sweet, my dear.
I stand at the old trysting place.
To me all is dark when thou art not near
And bright when I gaze on thy face.
—Hermione J. Kennedy in Madame.

THE TRAMP.

He was a real, bona fide tramp. His coat was a marvel of grease and tatters, on one foot he wore a tolerably respectable boot, while the toes of the other protruded through a very ragged shoe, and his hat would never have been recognized for that article of headgear if it had not been upon his head. Altogether he might have been the original of the funny papers' latest edition of Weary Willie.

At present he was resting. This was the chief occupation of his life, his profession, as it were, and after many years of experience he had succeeded in bringing it down to a very fine point, being able to pursue it under the most unfavorable conditions and in circumstances that would have daunted an ordinary mortal. Such is the result of practice!

Just now the conditions were extremely favorable, the day being warm and the fence corner grass grown and shady, so the tramp lay upon his back, with one leg thrown over the other and his hat pulled down over his forehead.

Over in the field opposite a farmer was plowing up stubble, pausing now and then to wipe his perspiring face, while his blue shirt clung in damp streaks to his skin.

The tramp watched him meditatively.

"I wonder why people like to work?" he soliloquized. "Queer! They're always a-doin somethin. Now, I ain't never done anythin, and I git along just the same. I bet that chap owns this whole place all round here, but he ain't havin as good a time as I am, and I ain't got a red cent. I wonder what people want to be always workin for when they might be takin it easy. It's a funny world. Wisht I had a chaw of terbaccer."

By and by the tramp climbed the fence and began to investigate a haystack standing a short distance from the road.

"Might's well fix my bed for tonight," he said and squirmed into the heart of the stack. Presently he heard the sound of voices. It was probably the farmer, and he lay still in his hiding place.

"Of course 9:30 is a little early for our biz, but that is a through train and bound to be worth more than either of the other two."

"But there will be more people on it."

"What's the odds? A dozen more or less. They won't sit heavy on our consciences."

"It's a dead easy thing too. All it takes is grit. We'll be pretty sure to strike a gold lined pocket or two before they can make out what's happened. And if any one turns up beforehand?"

"Shoot him dead. We don't stand no trifling. You stand at the bottom of the gully; ain't likely to be a soul walk that track, but if there is crack him dead without a word. I'll take care of my part. I tell you, I'm desperate, and if— Look, there's a man over in that field. Get around on the other side. He didn't see us. Make a bee line for that hedge. We can"—

The voices died away. The tramp turned over on his side.

"Train wreckers! Well, it ain't no business of mine," he grunted.

Nevertheless the vision of a wrecked train disturbed his nap, and he crawled out of his hole. He sat on the fence and nursed his ragged foot, watching the sunset.

"It's a pity for so many people. I guess some of 'em would be young, too; maybe some little babies; maybe a feller about my age. They're all a-lookin at the sun for the last time if they only knew it."

What kind of a queer feeling was this? He tried to whistle it off, but it only came back the stronger. The frogs' singing had never disturbed him before, but tonight it sounded weird and sad, and after awhile the very stars came out and looked at him as if they knew something about it.

"What a strange thing it must be to die! Maybe somebody'll be waitin and waitin for some of those people to come home."

Not in his remotest past could he remember any love, but somehow he understood this waiting.

The frogs sung on, the young moon sailed slowly down the heavens, and by and by the tramp climbed off the fence and slouched away down the road. Hanging beside a stable door he had seen a lantern when he passed that afternoon, and he crept up, hooked it off the nail and went on his way. He had no definite purpose in view except that he was going toward the gully, and it might be useful. "I never did do anything, and I always got along. But it's a pity to let them all die. Better to have one old feller go. I wonder how it feels to die!"

He shuddered a little and seemed to hear the voice again, "Shoot him dead!"

He sat down by the roadside and said sullenly: "It ain't none of my business. I ain't got nothin to do with it. It don't concern me any."

But after awhile he went on again.

"It must be 9 o'clock now," he said.

The night had grown dark and cloudy; only a few stars glittered at intervals through the flying rack. The tramp had reached the head of the gully. It was not very deep, but sufficient to cause a terrible disaster. The track sloped around a curve a few yards beyond and just here ran over a narrow bank of earth slanting abruptly down on either side.

The tramp lit his lantern, and, taking off his coat, wrapped it carefully around. Then he lay down on the ties, flat on his face, and began to creep slowly along, squirming and crawling like a worm.

After a seemingly endless time of creeping and feeling carefully with his hands he felt the smooth cold steel of the track end abruptly. The rail had been removed just at the highest point in the gully.

Now he had nothing more to do but wait. And be killed! He wondered how it felt to be shot. A strong desire to get up and run took possession of him, but he might just as well be shot saving the train as now, so he lay still.

"Maybe I won't be killed. I might git through some way. An old no 'count like me 'u'd be likely to git through with a whole hide. Anyway, 'twon't be much lost. If 'twould only come!"

It seemed an hour since he had lain there; then he heard the rumbling and the distant "whoo—o—whoo—o—o," and in a minute the train rounded the curve. The tramp flung his coat into the gully and sprang to his feet, waving the lantern up and down over his head. Five pistol shots rung out sharply above the noise of the train, the lantern tumbled into the gully, and the tramp fell forward across the track, the engine coming to a standstill within two feet of his body.

Instantly a clamor of voices arose, the engine puffed breathlessly, lights flashed through the darkness, the ties were examined, the lantern, the coat and an empty pistol were rescued from the gully, and the tramp was lifted by a dozen pairs of hands.

"He is dead!" they cried. "Shot dead! Murdered by train wreckers!"

A young doctor elbowed his way through the crowd. He was of tall, commanding presence, and they fell back before his authoritative voice.

"Make way, there!"

He knelt down beside the tramp and after a rapid examination said: "The man isn't even seriously hurt. There is only a flesh wound in the hip. He has fainted from fright."

Even as he spoke the tramp opened his eyes. A young girl sat down and took his shaggy head into her lap, where he moved uneasily from time to time as he told his story.

"He's a real hero!" cried the girl.

"A brave, noble fellow, God bless him!" cried another woman.

A man held his brandy flask to the tramp's lips and another shook his hand heartily. The tramp seemed to hardly understand it all. He blinked at them stupidly, but clung to the brandy flask.

They carried him aboard the train, and the engine backed slowly toward the town, a mile away, and as the tramp reclined upon velvet cushions, surrounded by sympathetic faces, for the first time in his life treated as an equal, a man among men, strange, new desires stirred vaguely in his heart.

"I ain't been nothin but a no 'count so fur," he thought, "but I'm mighty glad I could save 'em all, mighty glad."

"We will make up a suitable reward for that brave fellow," said an old gentleman, but the young doctor spoke up suddenly.

"See here! That man is a fake! His story is the thinnest I ever heard. I say he took up those rails and waved the train in the hope of a reward, shooting himself to give weight to the story. Do you think of five shots aimed straight at a man only one would hit him and inflict a slight flesh wound? And if he feared the wreckers why didn't he wave the train on the other side of the curve? Any sane man would have done that."

This was an indisputable fact, and the passengers began to comprehend the whole matter.

"He says he heard the two men at 6 o'clock," the young doctor went on. "Why, he could have gone to Fordsville and got a posse to capture them in that time! And he says he took the lantern from a farmhouse stable. Why, he could have gone in and informed the farmer! Pshaw! The thing couldn't be plainer. He was after the reward. You will be lucky if you are not sent up for this, old fellow."

The passengers laughed or were angry, according to their various temperaments, while the tramp tried to understand the meaning of the change in their manner, but could not exactly comprehend. Hadn't he saved the train?

They took him to the hospital at Fordsville, and later on the men whom they had left behind came in to report that they could not find the slightest trace of the wreckers or any evidence to prove the truth of the tramp's preposterous story.

In the morning the young doctor called at the hospital, and the nurse who received him said: "The man is dead. He died during the night of heart disease, from the fright, I suppose."

She showed him the bed, and they both stood looking down on the still form lying there.

"Well, he's gone to his reward," said the doctor jocularly.—Chicago News.

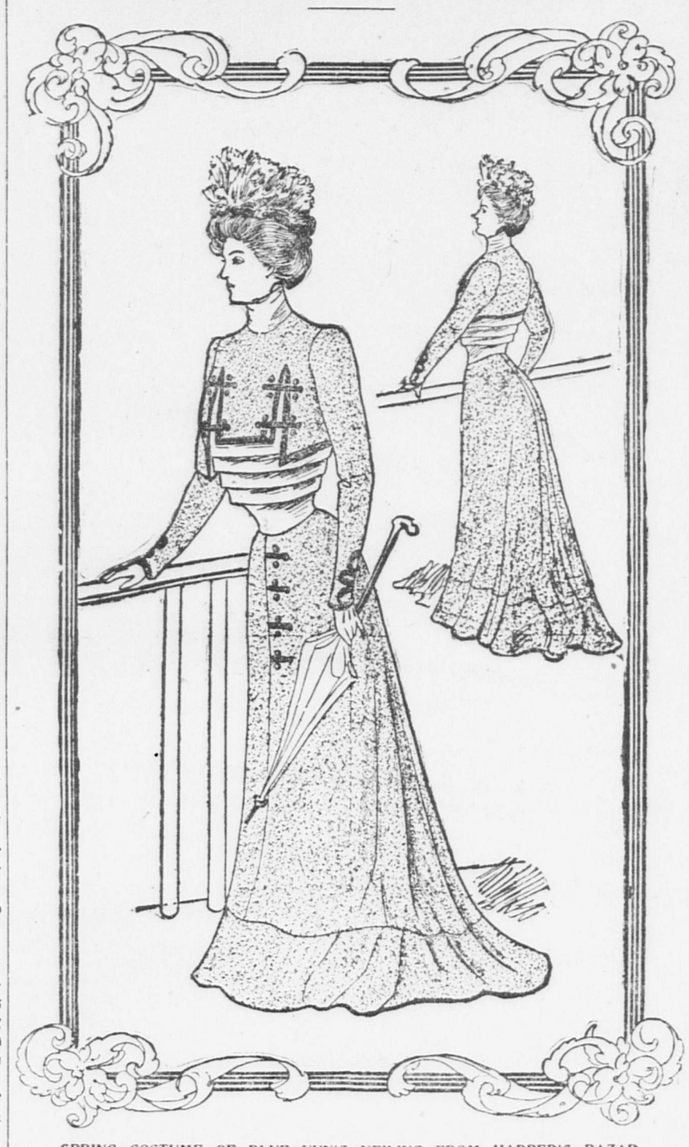
OUR WEEKLY FASHION PLATE.



SPRING COSTUME OF BLUE NUN'S VEILING FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

The costume is made of Pastel blue veiling in combination with foulard of a creamy yellow hue. The skirt represents the new simulated overdress design. The upper part has a centre seam both back and front but may be made if desired, with the back seam upon a fold of the goods and opening in front. The back opening will usually be found preferable. Trimming of any preferred variety may garnish the front seam. In the present instance soutache braid ornaments are the medium selected. The upper skirt ends where the ordinary tunic would end and here a circular ruffle is applied under the edge of the upper skirt. This skirt may be made over a model skirt or may be worn with drop skirt. The bodice modelled upon lining pattern of a model waist fits perfectly to the form. The lower part is covered with the foulard, and forms a cuirasse above which are four folds of the same material. The bolero is slashed into square scollops in the front, and outlined with soutache. The fastening of the bodice is at the left sholder and left side seam under the arm. In making a bolero it should be borne in mind that those dainty little ornamental jackets are always left free from the under arm waist seams, and are only joined to the waist at the shoulder. This is done in order that bolero may be slightly stretched over the under bodice, and a better fit thereby may be secured. The proper cut of the costume can be obtained only by use of the cut paper patterns Harper's Bazar, where the costume appears.

To make this garment in medium size 7 yards of material 45 inches wide will be required and 5 yards of taffeta 19 inches wide, or four yards of foulard 27 inches wide for the folds about the bodice.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

TOPIC.—Fellowship in Christian service.—Neh. iv, 6, 16-23.

The rebuilding of the wall of Jerusalem may be taken as an illustration of the life of the church in this world. We may see illustrated in it many of the essential elements of successful church work, not least of which is the necessity of fellowship in service, co-operation in work, division of labor. How splendidly the necessity and efficiency of hearty co-operation in Christian work is here illustrated. Every class had a work to do, and every one did it in harmony with every other one, and the result was that the wall, joined together, completed in every part, rose before them in spite of the immenseness of the task and the enemies without, who constantly threatened them. Some were builders, some were burden bearers, some were guards, and the princes stood behind and directed the work. Every man had his place, and every man stood in it and performed his duty, and success was the result. Such a splendid result could only have been achieved by the heartiest co-operation and fellowship. We may be taught here some lessons in Christian fellowship.

1. Fellowship in Christian service is Scriptural. This is one Scriptural illustration, and many others could be cited. Christ sent His apostles and disciples out "two by two" upon their preaching tours, thus giving His sanction and approval of fellowship in Christian work. After Christ had ascended the apostles usually followed the same plan. Christianity teaches fellowship in prayer, fellowship in burden bearing as well as fellowship in service.

2. Fellowship in Christian service gives strength and encouragement. The Jews were strong because they were united. They held their enemies at bay. They overcame almost insurmountable obstacles. They accomplished wonders, and all because unitedly they did the work. Two are stronger than one. When the heart of one fails, a word or act of encouragement from the other strengthens it, and thus from fellowship comes increased strength both against enemies without and discouragements within.

3. Fellowship in Christian service is efficient. It is so especially because it gives an opportunity for all to do that which they are best able to do. All have not been given the same gifts. Some in Nehemiah's time could build, some could carry burdens, some could direct, some could guard, and when all these qualities were combined successful work was accomplished. It is the same today. Some are strong, others weak; some can sing, others can pray; some can teach, others can carry burdens; separated, all would be weak and ineffective, but united in harmony and in Christian fellowship and wisely directed, all become a mighty power for good.

Let us see the wisdom and power of fellowship in service. The church is the body of Christ. The members are the organs of the body, the church. Each organ has a distinctive work to do, but each must work in union and in harmony with the others, if the work of the body is to be successfully done.

Bible Readings.—Eccl. iv, 9-12; Luke x, 1, 2; Acts ii, 42-47; xi, 29, 30; II Cor. viii, 1-5; Gal. ii, 9, 10; vi, 1-10; Phil. i, 3-6; iv, 3; II Tim. i, 16-18; I Thess. iii, 1-10; I John i, 3-7.

Good Courage.

Every Christian worker needs to have the secret of good courage. Courage is no more necessary to the soldier that fights his country's battles than to the soldier of Christ who wages war against the evil of the world. The need of it is constant and urgent. To lose it is to lose power to overcome. Without it Joshua would have been but poorly equipped for the great task thrust upon him after the death of Moses. No doubt he was dismayed when he saw what was expected of him. He was to lead Israel into the promised land. They had been rescued from slavery in Egypt, brought to the borders of Canaan and were ready to enter upon the inheritance promised to Abraham and his seed.—Independent.

The Joy of Heaven.

The joy of heaven is a never ending song, a communion of all pure and blessed souls, and the most humble in the adoring multitude may look with boldness toward the throne and say, "Abba, Father!" It is a perfect home. Oh, that ours were nearer to the pattern of it. We may make them so. Where virtue and charity and contentment are met together at an altar dedicated to God's worship there life is an earnest of the heavenly life, and home is lit with the sunlight of the Father's house.—Rev. D. J. Burrell, D. D.

All Things to All Men.

Paul tried to please all men in all things that he might by all means save some. Many demand that all things shall please themselves, no matter how many souls should be lost thereby.—Christian Instructor.

Over Life's Pathway.

The Christ light cast over life's pathway clears the vision and imparts joy, cheer, strength and hope.—Presbyterian.

The God of All Comfort.

I look to Thee in every need and never look in vain;
I feel Thy strong and tender love, and all is well again.
The thought of Thee is mightier far
Than sin and pain and sorrow are.

Discouraged in the work of life, disheartened by its load,
Shamed by its failures or its fears, I sink
beside the road,
But let me only think of Thee,
And then new heart springs up in me.

Thy calmness bends serene above, my restlessness to still;
Around me flows thy quickening life, to nerve my faltering will.
Thy presence fills my solitude,
Thy providence turns all to good.

Experience of Lieutenant Castner and Two Men.

BATTLING WITH HUNGER AND COLD

The Party Set Out to Locate an American Trail to Circle City. Lost Their Pack Mules and Got Out of Food.

Edwin F. Glenn of the Twenty-fifth infantry, who is now in Washington, has received a long letter from Second Lieutenant Joseph C. Castner of the Fourth infantry about the experiences of himself and two enlisted men in the Klondike country. Lieutenant Castner was given up for lost. He left Captain Glenn on Aug. 3, 1898, at Camp Separation, on the Delta river, starting with Privates Blitch and McGregor of the Fourteenth infantry to locate an all American trail to Circle City. The three men had several narrow escapes from death. They had a thrilling experience in crossing the Tanana river, nearly losing their lives and barely getting their two pack mules to the other side. A few days later it became necessary to abandon one of the mules. To make matters worse it was discovered that extra provisions, supposed to have been brought along, were not in the packs. Leaving the river, the party traveled through five swamps in one day and made only nine and a half miles. On the following day they again came to the river, and in attempting to cross Lieutenant Castner was carried off his feet by the swift current and was badly handicapped by having a sketching case in one hand and an ax in the other. He was thrown against a timber jam and stunned, but managed to reach the shore a mile below. He lost the ax owned by the party. A raft was made by Blitch and McGregor, and Lieutenant Castner was safely carried across the stream. Matters became serious. Lieutenant Castner's shoes were almost gone, and all were weak through lack of enough food. The only hope was to get to Blitch creek, where Lieutenant Castner hoped to find miners. No open country could be seen. Hills from 2,000 to 5,000 feet high, with snowcapped peaks, were everywhere.

On Sept. 10 the party set out toward the northeast. Bread was only had every third day. The feet of the men were in a terrible condition, with great sores on them. The trail became more difficult, and as they had no ax they were compelled to break a way with their hands. On Sept. 11 Jack, the other mule, fell and deliberately let himself roll into the icy river. Jack was killed, and his body furnished the party with 40 pounds of meat. Shouldering their provisions, the men set out up stream through a heavy rain. Jack's flesh was diseased, but hunger drove away their scruples.

On Sept. 13 Lieutenant Castner ordered the abandonment of blankets and everything except firearms and food. The clothing of the men was in shreds, and Lieutenant Castner's feet were wrapped in canvas, his shoes having given out days before. A small slice of bacon, with coffee, formed the breakfast, everything else being gone. With the hope of seeing the tributaries of the Yukon, a mountain 3,500 feet high was scaled. No open country was found, and, with no strength to climb and no provisions, the party turned back, hoping to get some game.

On Sept. 17 an old wolf and three young ones were encountered. Private Blitch killed one of the younger ones. The animals were at first thought to be Indian dogs. The wolf meat was found to be excellent, tasting very much like mutton. A raft was built on Sept. 18, and on the 19th the party started down the river. Rounding a sharp turn, the raft was thrown with great force under a huge timber jam. Private Blitch and Lieutenant Castner were caught in the timbers. McGregor could not swim and was ordered to get off the raft on to the jam, while Lieutenant Castner and Blitch, up to their shoulders in the swift current, tried to rescue the guns and provisions. They gave up the effort and had to help each other to reach the shore. Everything was lost.

Ten miles below were the remnants of a dead mule. Lieutenant Castner made the distance in his stocking feet. The mule's body was found to be badly decomposed, and little of it had been left by ravens and wolves. On the morning of Sept. 20 the three men, with some of the mule meat, set out for an Indian village 65 miles away. With their feet bleeding at every step and almost mad from hunger, the men pushed on. Here and there they found a handful of berries and occasionally roots, which they eagerly gnawed. Finally on Sept. 25 they staggered into a little Indian village and asked for food and shelter. They were hospitably received and every possible attention given them.

Two days later Lieutenant Castner, Blitch and McGregor started down the river in birch bark canoes with the Indians and reached the mouth of the Chena river on Sept. 30. Blitch and McGregor could go no farther and were left at an Indian camp. Lieutenant Castner proceeded up the Chena river 85 miles, where he found a steamboat and white men. He purchased at enormous prices a boat and provisions and returned to the camp where the soldiers had been left. He reached there on Oct. 6, and a few days later the three men managed to get to Weare, Alaska. At the time his letter was written Lieutenant Castner was still unable to get his shoes on. He could not then walk over a mile a day in moccasins.

Good Afternoon.

An interesting part of the report of the Metropolitan Sewerage Commissioners upon a sewer system for the South Metropolitan district, is the summary of the estimated population of the cities and districts comprised. Some do not realize the greatness of Quincy in the near future until they study such presentation of figures, which seem to be well based on percentages of the past. Just think of it, a population of 100,000 for Quincy in forty years. Here are the figures :

In 1915,	49,800
In 1920,	58,800
In 1925,	68,800
In 1930,	79,400
In 1940,	100,000

It is evident that Quincy must pursue a progressive policy of public improvements to accommodate this large increase in population which is sure to come. The same summary shows that Quincy will continue to hold its own with other suburban cities, which gives these populations for 1940 :

Quincy,	100,000
Waltham,	89,000
Watertown,	37,000
Newton,	119,000
Brighton,	93,000
Brookline,	92,000
Back Bay District,	50,000
West Roxbury,	185,000
Dedham,	50,000
Hyde Park,	58,000
Milton,	35,000
Roxbury and Dorchester,	318,000
Boston section,	224,000

Quincy will then comprise one-fifteenth of the district included above.

The bill of Representative J. J. Toomey of Boston, relative to caucuses, upon which a hearing will be given March 14, has merit in one point certainly, and the whole plan seems feasible. Briefly summarized, it provides that instead of seven caucusus as at present in Boston there shall be but three, Republicans and Democrats to nominate candidates in joint caucus, the ballots of each to be distinguished by different colors. Caucuses shall be held in each precinct rather than but one in each ward. This act shall apply to the city of Boston and also to other cities and towns when the people thereof so vote.

First caucus,—Third Wednesday in May for the choice of respective ward committees and to elect precinct officers to serve throughout the year at all elections and caucuses, with pay.

Second caucus,—First Wednesday in October, for the choice of delegates to the State, congressional and county conventions and to nominate candidates for State Senator and Representative by direct vote of the people, rather than by convention as at present. Also to elect respective State committeemen.

Third caucus,—Third Wednesday in November for the choice of delegates to the municipal and aldermanic conventions, and also to nominate candidates for the Common Council.

Polls to be open from 11.30 A. M. to 7.30 P. M. The act makes provisions also for recounts and filling vacancies.

The one point which we particularly endorse is the first caucus in May. Where a ward committee is elected in November for the year beginning with the next January, trouble is sure to follow in the fall elections if an attempt is made to oust the existing committee. The Republicans of this city had a good example of this at the recent municipal election of 1898. There was opposition in some wards to the Ward committees, and although they were successful in being reelected, yet they did not work for party success. It is a fact that it is openly boasted by some, that 23 of the 42 members of the Republican Ward and City Committee voted for the Democratic candidate for Mayor and secured his election in a city which gave Gov. Wolcott 1,000 majority one month before.

In view of the strong opposition to the three petitions of Mayor Keith, at the hearing Thursday, before the Committee on Cities of the Legislature, it would not be at all surprising if adverse reports were made upon all three petitions. No strong arguments were persented why the bills should pass other than economy in abolishing the Water Commissioners, and in a reduction of taxes in the refunding of the city debt. Those who favored the petitions could hardly have convinced a disinterested person where any economy would result by abolishing the Water Commission, or the need of refunding the city debt, other than to relieve the taxpayers this year. The refusal of Mayor Keith to answer the question, how he proposed the saving of $2,500 by abolishing the Water Commissioners, certainly did not help his case. On the other hand it was shown that the Commissioner of Public Works had more than he could attend to, and that the Mayor had recommended an assistant for the Commissioner.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ In spite of the manifest resentment against Speaker Reed in some sections of the Republican party, he will be reelected speaker of the house. He is so far the biggest man in it on either side that the country would not be able to conceal its contempt for a movement that would displace him.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ An amendment attached to the army appropriation bill forbids the further granting of franchises in Cuba during the period of American occupation. This will be a sad surprise to certain enterprising capitalists and it seems to take business all away from the commission created a few weeks ago by Secretary Alger. Lieut. Col. Curtis Guild evidently did not sacrifice much by declining an appointment to this board.—Worcester Spy.

☞ In the state senate the other day, Senator Chamberlain asserted that the people of a municipality are not competent to decide the granting of franchises. If the people are competent to decide in the sending of so excellent a man to the legislature, is that to be considered the final test of their good judgment.—Milford Journal.

☞ The wrangling that is going on at Washington between admirals and generals as to who is entitled to the greatest honors, only reveals more and more clearly that the greatest man which the war has brought to the front is the silent hero who is still in Manila harbor, which he entered May 1st and where, without complaint, and without any whining, he remains upholding the honor of the flag. When his work of establishing order in the Philippines is completed, he will return home, to be greeted with a welcome such as the people have given no man since the days of Grant.—Beverly Times.

Coat Recovered.

Mr. Lyman E. Wait of Wollaston who had a coat stolen from his house a few days ago, has recovered it from a Boston pawnbroker. There were certain ear marks about the purported order which his housekeeper received to deliver the coat to the messenger boy that led him to believe that a certain shady character wrote it. Mr. Wait followed up the clew and ultimately succeeded in locating the coat. The Boston police willingly rendered what assistance they could, and an arrest followed.

☞ All Massachusetts has seen and enjoyed Nantasket. All Massachusetts wants more of Nantasket, and between you and me, all Massachusetts will get Nantasket by right of eminent domain. But how about Hull? "As goes Hull, so goes the State, As goes Hull, so goes the United States," was once a true saying. Why not reverse the order; "As goes the State, so goes Hull. As goes the United States, so goes Hull." Why not the United State takes the whole tongue of a town that it really is for fortification and life preserving purposes? Its extreme rocky elevation and gradually shelving extended beach are admirably thus adapted. The United States has assumed to control the whole of the Philippine archipeligo; why not assume soverignty over the hull of Hull? There will be no more difficulty, there will certainly be less expense, in keeping down the rocketty summer elements of our own South Shore.—Hingham Journal.

Housekeeper are bothered at all time of day by people soliciting help. They may not all be imposters but the general feeling is that they are and therefore should not be encouraged. The latest is a woman who claims to be a quakeress but forgets her "thees" and "thous" once in a while. She is asking for money enough to take her to her daughter in Bangor, Maine. She always says she is sent by so and so giving the name of some prominent person who presumably never saw or heard of her.

Fell Fifteen Feet.

Charles B. Huston of Wollaston, while at the new house of Gus B. Bates on Dimmock street yesterday afte noon met with a serious accident. He fell from the second floor to the cellar. He was first taken to the Hammond beef house where Dr. Hallowell attended him, and then accompanied him home. So far as known no bones were broken. Mr. Huston was at the house making an estimate for plastering.

Today Mr. Huston is confined to his bed. He dislocated his left shoulder, bruised his side and was shaken up badly.

Snow Shovellers Not Paid.

It is reported that there is considerable trouble among the snow shovellers of the February storm in getting their money. Men who claimed they worked, have been unable to get any money, as their names were not reported to the Commissioner, and in other cases men who claimed they worked four days have been paid only for two days. In these cases only two days were reported by the foremen. There are a number of these cases, and the unfortunates are getting warmed up over it, and are haunting the Commissioner's office.

SPECIAL STUDIES.

Music, Sewing Cooking and Drawing in Our Schools.

The review of the report of the Superintendent of Schools began in the issue of March 3, was continued on Monday and the third instalment appears today.

The increase in average attendance at the High school is noted in a summary for the decade. There were 97 pupils in 1889 and 377 in 1898. The number of graduates has increased in like proportion.

The grammar school graduates have increased from 123 in 1889 to 279 in 1898.

Of the 279 graduates in 1898, 205 had received all of their education in Quincy. Of these, 54 completed the course in eight years, 52 in fewer than eight, 99 in more than eight.

"During the eighth year every pupil is expected to write an essay on a subject within his mental grasp. The subject is assigned early in the year, references and advice given, and then in June, from whatever legitimate notes the principal may permit, the essay is written. This composition is supposed to be a fair index of the pupil's knowledge of the English language.'.

MEANS OF GROWTH.

"In December with the annual report circular was sent a second request of information. Every teacher responded, for every teacher is not only loyal to the Quincy schools and the teaching profession, but everyone is anxious to "make the world his field." The answers are very satisfactory."

"Many of the teachers have continued their excellent custom of taking their classes to Boston and Cambridge. Probably only a very small per cent. of children or parents ever visit Boston for educational purposes. Therefore, a public benefactor is that teacher who has carefully planned a trip, has determined just what should be seen and how it can most easily be reached, and then out of fulness of knowledge can instruct the class. This, however, is not sufficient. The earnest teacher receives from the class on its return a carefully written account of the valuable knowledge gained. Such a trip is of especial value to the history, science and literature classes." Some trips are outlined.

HISTORICAL.

The data about Quincy published last year, has proved so helpful that they are reprinted after a careful revision by one of Quincy's best informed citizens, who has long been a student of the old town's history and who has, also, been very helpful to the schools. The name of Edwin W. Marsh will naturally come to the mind of the reader.

This year for the first time one hundred and twenty-five reports with a special imprint on the cover indicating the grade and school, were reserved for the desks of the teachers, so that these and other data might be at hand for constant reference.

MUSIC.

"To meet the desire for retrenchment in school expenses, it seemed to the Board that the schools would suffer the least harm if the time devoted to the supervision of music were shortened. It was therefore voted that after June of this year that only three days, instead of four and one-half, should be given to this department. By this contraction, in a full year, $400 would be saved, provided that the music in the High could be taught by a member of its corps. As all the teachers in the High have their full allotment of subjects, it does not seem just to impose this burden on one of them without reducing the work already assigned or increasing the salary. It is impossible to do the former, therefore the latter ought to be done at once. Even then with an increase of $100, there will be an apparent saving of $300, apparent, for it is difficult to say how the success of the music will be affected.

"The special subjects of science, music and drawing, so far as supervision is concerned, now cost Quincy a surprisingly small amount. It has sometimes been suggested that this cost should be divided as an increase of salary among the grade teachers below the High school. As it would give each teacher only thirteen dollars, the valuable and necessary help of supervision far out-balances this insignficant addition to the salary.

SEWING AND COOKING.

"These two department have been very satisfactorily carried on during the year under the same supervision and with no radical change in method or subject matter; and therefore need no more than this word of commendation.

"The sewing is confined to grades V, VI, VII and VIII.

"The citizens had an opportunity to see tangible results of the work at the Memorial Day exercises of the different schools when Parents' Day was also celebrated, and also when it was displayed in the office window during the last two weeks of June. In that month the annual exhibit is made every year.

The twenty lessons in cooking to the girls of the senior class of the High school were attended by an average of 1 of the 21 who registered. In the appendix is a schedule of the work.

NATURE WORK.

This year the teachers have shown more appreciation of the work in animal and plant life and in the common minerals than ever before. Increased knowledge and experience have given them more confidence. In addition to their regular grade meetings at the beginning of each term when the work of the next three or four months, carefully scheduled and copied, is given them on paper and is also critically explained, the teachers have constantly sought at her regular office hours, the services of Miss Kennedy for extra help. It will do no harm to say here that Miss Kennedy during the last year has declined three calls at an advanced salary.

For those who do not visit the schools, but in other days studied botany as formerly taught Miss Kennedy has prepared an exercise on the nasturtium to illustrate a radical change in treatment.

It should be understood that much of the information had been gathered during the study of other plant life and so this is, in a sense, a summing up of a long series of observations with many different plants and the result of the work of former years. The child is being taught how to see, and what to see and the "why" of everything.

DRAWING.

The course in drawing should give the pupils some idea of what art is, as well as instruction and drill in mechanical and free hand work and in the elementary use of colors. To this end, each grade has been furnished with at least three copies of standard works of acknowledged merit. It will surprise the reader unless he has kept in touch with the rapid growth in this business of reproducing satisfactory copies, to know that they can be bought for one cent each. These pictures average in size four by five inches. The whole cost to the city did not exceed four dollars. Of course the teachers found it necessary to increase their own knowledge, and it is safe to say that it has been a benefit to teachers and pupils. The direction to the teachers was: "Emphasize beauty and, if possible, show wherein the beauty lies, or what is the cause of it. Teach what the lesson is. What the historical association, or the mythology is. Who and what the artist is." Above all other considerations, however, was this, "Why is it a masterpiece?"

Many children became so interested that they were not satisfied merely to see the pictures hanging before them in the schoolroom, but wished to own them. Could their cents be more profitably invested? No doubt less candy and gum were consumed. Other children began, with the help of their teachers a more ambitious collection, and several thousand pictures were carefully fastened into blankbooks together with more or less elaborate descriptions and explanations. The collections were home work.

Union Chornl Society.

The Union Choral society of Braintree held its annual meeting on Wednesday evening. There were about thirty present and the following officers were elected:

President,—E.W. Stone.
Vice Presidents,—L. W. Thayer and W. S. Woodward.
Secretary,—Mrs. T. H. Dearing.
Treasurer,—W. E. Arnold.
Executive Committee, T.H. Dearing, W. H. Hersey, F. W. Crooker, A. R. Pennock, F. E. Hurd, Miss Richards, Mrs. D. A. Brooks and Mrs. James Ellsworth.

The treasurer's report showed a deficit for the year of about $22.

It was voted to make the membership for the coming year $1.00 for ladies, instead of 50 cents as heretofore; and that the place of meeting be the chapel of the First church.

Dr. T. Dearing the retiring president, who has been untiring in his efforts for the society, was extended a vote of thanks; and the same was also extended to Mrs. Shepard for the interest she has taken in the society.

The musical committee consists of E. W. Hobart, Henry French, Mrs. A. R. French and Mrs. Worcester.

A committee was appointed to receive subscriptions towards making up the deficit.

Mr. Stone presented a plan for limiting the membership to fifty, to be admitted only upon invitation or by examination, but as this was directly opposite to the original purpose of the society, it was not accepted. The next meeting will be in October.

South Metropolitan Sewer with Outlet at Nut Island.

There is before the Legislature an act to provide for the building, maintenance and operation of a high level sewer for the relief of the Charles and Neponset river valleys, which directly concerns Quincy in many ways. Section 2 reads:

"The south metropolitan system shall include the present Charles river valley metropolitan sewerage district, comprising a portion of Boston, the cities of Newton and Waltham and the towns of Watertown and Brookline; the present Neponset valley metropolitan sewerage district, comprising a portion of Boston and the towns of Dedham, Hyde Park and Milton; also Quincy and such portions of Dorchester, Roxbury and West Roxbury as are not included in the present metropolitan sewerage areas and which are so situated as to be drained into the proposed high level sewer substantially as outlined on maps contained in the special report of the metropolitan sewerage commissioners to the legislature of eighteen hundred and ninety-nine."

Another section provides said board acting on behalf of the Commonwealth may take by purchase or otherwise any lands, watercourses, rights of way or easements, and may take by purchase or otherwise or enter and use any existing sewers or parts of sewers necessary for the carrying out under the provisions of this act of the recommendations of said metroplitan sewerage commissioners contained in its said report.

Section 8 provides that any city or town within whose limits any main sewer shall have been constructed under the provisions of this act shall connect its local sewers with such main sewer, suject to the direction and control of said board.

Section 16 reads: "The supreme judicial court sitting in equity shall, on the application of said board after notice to each of the cities and towns herein before named, appoint three commissioners, who shall not be residents of any of the cities or towns mentioned in this act, who shall after due notice and hearing and in such manner as they shall deem just and equitable determine the proportion in which each of the cities and towns herein before named shall annually pay money into the treasury of the Commonwealth for term of five years next following the year of the first issue of said scrip or certificates, to meet the interest and sinking fund requirements for each of said years as estimated by said treasurer, and to meet the cost, maintenance and operation of said system for each of said years, asestimated by the said board and certified to said treasurer, and any deficiency in the amount previously paid in, as found by said treasurer, and shall return their award into said court; and when said award shall have been accepted by said court the same shall be a final and conclusive adjudication of all matters herein referred to said commissioners and shall be binding on all parties."

CITY FINANCES.

An Arithmetician Wanted at City Hall to Get the Facts.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

Last year the City of Quincy paid $62,000 matured indebtedness. This year, if no change is made in the law, it will have to pay $82,000 matured indebtedness; an increase of $20,000.

The city valuation is nineteen millions. If nineteen millions must pay $20,000, how much must each one thousand of the nineteen millions pay?

The ordinarily intelligent man would say, at a glance, about a dollar. There are twenty thousand thousand dollars in twenty million dollars; and one dollar on each thousand would give twenty thousand dollars.

But if exact figures were wanted, it would be necessary to divide twenty thousand, the money to be raised, by nineteen thousand, the number of thousands to raise it.

This is a question in long division, precisely such a question as our schoolchildren in the lower grammar grades are solving every day.

Nineteen into twenty, once and one over; nineteen into ten no times (or cipher). Ninteen into one hundred, five times, plus. Answer, 1.05. That is, each thousand dollars of the nineteen millions valuation would have to pay $1.05, to pay the $20,000.

Nevertheless, at the hearing before the committee on cities, Thursday, on the proposition to refund a portion of the city's debt, the City Treasurer; who, of all men, ought to be clear-headed, intelligent, and expert in financial figures, made the ludicrous statement that the payment this year, of the additional twenty thousand dollars of matured debt, involved an increase in the tax rate of four dollars per thousand! And this statement was submitted to the legislative committee without contradiction or correction or challenge by the Mayor or City Solicitor!

This arithmetical knowlege, coupled with the subsequent remarks of the City Solicitor upon the proposition to borrow $150,000 outside of the debt limit, the substance of which was that the Mayor did not want what he asked for, but would be perfectly satisfied with something entirely different, showed a knowledge and grasp of the financial affairs of the city which should make every citizen who does not know the multiplication table swell with pride and joy.

OUTLINED BY CANNON.

Chairman of Appropriations Gives High Praise to Last Congress.

Presents Another Batch of Interesting Figures.

Thinks the Nation Will Not Part With Territory Acquired From Spain.

Washington, March 11.—Chairman Cannon of the committee on appropriations has prepared for The Congressional Record an extended statement of the appropriations made by the Fifty-fifth congress.

The chairman places the total appropriations for the entire congress at $1,566,890.016, and the appropriations authorized for future congresses under the continuing contract system for battleships, river and harbor improvements and public buildings at $70,000,000. The total appropriations made at the last session Mr. Cannon places at $673,658,400, showing an apparent reduction of $219,573,214 below the appropriations of the preceding session. Mr. Cannon attributed this reduction to the extraordinary war expenses of the preceding session. Of the total appropriations for the congress, he says that the sum of $482,562,083 is directly chargeable to the war with Spain. He thus shows that the ordinary expenditures for the two years covered by the congress were $1,044,580,273, and this sum exceeds the total appropriation of the Fifty-fourth congress by $38,746,658. This excess is accounted for as follows:

For payment of pensions, $3,875,200; for the postal service to meet the increased demands of commerce, $16,619,581; for river and harbor improvements, $3,401,128; for constructing new ships, $6,080,838; for beginning the work of the 12th census, $1,000,000; for the Paris exposition, $1,210,000; for new public buildings, $5,000,000; for the payment of judgments against the government under the Bowman act, and for the French spoliations, $3,100,768. Total, $40,287,516.

Mr. Cannon congratulates congress and the country upon this showing, and also upon the fact that, notwithstanding the war, close attention was given to the ordinary expenditures of the government which is, he thinks, unusual. He cites the defeat of the provision for the construction of the Nicaragua canal, which the senate attempted to get through in connection with the sundry civil appropriation bill, as an instance of the success of this watchfulness on the part of the house.

"If," he says on this point, "the senate bill or any measure proposed had been enacted, the United States would have paid $5,000,000 for a worthless concession and would have been committed by law to the construction of a canal along the Nicaragua route and under such conditions it would have been compelled before we threw a spadeful of earth, or in any way began actual construction, to hvae acquired by treaty from Nicaragua and Costa Rica the territory where to construct the canal and the right to construct it. Such legislation would have delayed and embarrassed the construction of an isthmian canal. The United States cannot afford to enter upon this great work unless it has acquired by treaty a zone of territory whereon to construct the same.

"Fortunately the house of representatives resisted the proposed legislation and the contest between the senate and house resulted finally in the only practical provision possible, viz., the appropriation of $1,000,000 to enable the president to make full and complete investigation of the isthmus with a view to the future construction of a canal across the same, particularly the Panama and Nicaraguan routes, and to report to congress the result with his recommendations in the premises."

Referring in a general way to the legislation of the congress, Mr. Cannon says:

"During the whole of the four years covered by Mr. Cleveland's second administration, the material and industrial condition of the country was calamitous, and its contemplation does not bring satisfaction to any American citizen. But the Fifty-fifth congress, beginning with the administration of William McKinley and promptly called in extraordinary session as promptly enacted legislation which has yielded the additional revenues needed to pay the ordinary expenses of the government, and has at the same time protected American labor. With the enactment of that legislation hope and confidence struck hands and the condition of the whole country improved and has continued to improve from that time to the present. Labor is now universally employed with increased wage, and with such employment the means are supplied for increased consumption.

"In addition, without taking time to discuss in detail the causes that led thereto, congress declared war against Spain; and the prompt and decisive successes of the army and navy upon land and sea have never been equalled anywhere in history. The great expenditures rendered necessary by the war required the enactment of additional revenue legislation, and that legislation is now bringing into our treasury an additional $100,000,000 per annum.

"The vast increase of the navy and the creation of an army of a quarter of a million men, together with the increase of taxation, have not in any appreciable degree checked our industrial advance which began coincidentally with the incoming of the present administration and the Fifty-fifth congress."

Mr. Cannon declined to enter upon the present discussion of future legislation, saying:

"I prefer rather to await the logic of events and the full information that will doubtless come, as I hope, between now and the organization in December next of the newly elected congress. But I venture the assertion and prediction that the United States could not, if it would, and would not, if it could, part with the territories acquired from Spain by the treaty of peace, or shirk its duties and responsibilities touching them."

FULFILLING OBLIGATION.

Admiral Kautz Will Not Be a Disturbing Element at Samoa.

Washington, March 11.—It is denied positively at the state department that Rear Admiral Kautz has gone to Samoa on the Philadelphia to restore the status quo existing before the last emeute, to depose Mataafa and to restore Malietoa Tanus, even if force is necessary to accomplish these objects. It is said that the admiral has gone to Samoa to meet the treaty obligation that is imposed upon the United States to send a warship there, at least occasionally, as an evidence of the interest held by the United States in the islands. He will carefully examine the conditions in the island and look into the events leading up to the installation of the provisional government, reporting all the facts to Washington. It is not expected that he will be a disturbing element and endeavor to make arbitrary changes, but he will prevent bloodshed and protect life and property.

Full reports from the officials concerned have been received at the state department concerning the recent trouble at Samoa, and negotiations based on them are now in progress.

Mrs. Cody Goes Free.

Albany, March 11.—Judge Gregory announced yesterday afternoon that he had decided to suspend sentence in the case of Margaret E. Cody, who was found guilty of blackmailing the Gould heirs by the jury. In announcing his decision he said: "Mrs. Cody, the evidence has convinced me that you are guilty beyond question, yet I feel that in view of the jury's unanimous recommendation to mercy and the popular sentiment which favors it, that I am justified in following their suggestion and suspending sentence in your case. You are free to go on your own recognizance." It is understood that the jury's recommendation was on account of the prisoner's age and for no other reason.

Weavers Quit Work.

Providence, March 11.—Nearly 350 weavers, employed at the mill of the Warren Manufacturing company, quit work in a body at 2:30 o'clock yesterday. The weavers had for several days expressed dissatisfaction with the length of the new warps, and one of their number was discharged owing to trouble with the overseer, growing out of a discussion of the matter. The weavers voted not to resume work until the weaver is reinstated. If the main cause of the difference is the measurement of the warps, it is probable that the matter will be adjusted speedily. The mill officials state that the warps are of the right length.

A Lack of Evidence.

Bridgeoprt, Conn., March 11.—Lizzie Rinko, the servant in the family of Joseph Ciglar, who has been held since last fall pending an investigation into her guilt for the alleged murder of her employer's child, Louis Ciglar, was yesterday released by State Attorney Fessenden, there being, in the latter's opinion, insufficient evidence to warrant trying the woman for murder. The child died from poisoning, and Lizzie was the last one seen with the child. She had been notified that very day of her discharge, and it was thought she had planned the crime out of revenge.

Russian Aggression.

London, March 11.—A dispatch from Allahabad, capital of the northwest provinces of India, says it is reported there from Yarkand, Chinese Turkestan, that a large force of Russian troops has arrived at the Russian post, Fort Murghabi, on the Murghad river, in the Sari (Great) Pa Pamir, with the intention of seizing Sir-I-Kel, the hundred mile stretch of territory north of the Murtagh mountains, which was left undefined by the Pamir boundary commission in 1895. Its seizure by Russia would cause complications with Great Britain.

Mahon Won't Testify.

Atlantic City, March 11.—Martin Mahon, the New York hotel man who is in this city, says that he will not return to New York to testify against Fayne Moore. Mahon figured prominently as prosecuting witness in the badger trial which resulted in sending William Moore to prison for 19 years, but he says that he was so badly treated while on the witness stand in that trial that he will not present himself to testify in the trial of Mrs. Moore.

An Important Capture.

New York, March 11.—Another member of the gang of Sicilian counterfeiters, which has been making and passing counterfeit $2 treasury notes, most of whom are now serving sentence, was arrested yesterday. He is Inigi Marchesotto. One hundred counterfeit notes were found in his possession. Marchesotto had just returned from New Orleans.

Creditors Will Bid It In.

St. Louis, March 11.—The bondholders and creditors of the St. Louis Sportsman's park and club met yesterday for the purpose of agreeing to some plan whereby their mutual interests will be protected at the sale of the club next Tuesday. It leaked out that the creditors had raised $35,000 among themselves and would bid that much for the property.

Enjoying Themselves.

St. Thomas, D. W. I., March 11.—Steamer Paris, which, with a party of American tourists, is cruising in West Indian waters, arrived here yesterday from San Juan. The town is gaily decorated to welcome the tourists, many of whom immediately came ashore, and the streets are crowded with the city folk. The weather is charming.

Twenty Families Burned Out.

New York, March 11.—A six-story tenement, at 4 Bayard street, caught fire early this morning. Twenty families were aroused from slumber, and it is believed some lives were lost. As yet no bodies have been found. The tenement burned like tinder, and a number of people were forced to drop from the windows into nets.

Wisconsin Bank Robbed.

Waupan, Wis., March 11.—Robbers effected an entrance to the Bank of Amherst yesterday, and blew open the safe. It is reported that the burglars secured a good haul.

AWARDED [illegible] SMITH.

"Kid" Lavigne's Brother Interfered In the Fight at San Francisco.

San Francisco, March 11.—Billy Lavigne, brother of "Kid" Lavigne, jumped into the ring in the 14th round of the Smith-Lavigne fight last night, and Referee McDonald was forced to give the decision to Smith. The cause of Billy's action was the fact that George had received a couple of solid blows from Smith on the jaw, and was palpably rattled and somewhat groggy. Billy, when he jumped through the ropes, placed his arm around his brother's shoulder, declaring that he would never see George humiliated by a knockout. While Lavigne was getting the worst of the mixes in this round, he was not out of it, and might have stayed through had not his brother interfered. The fight was fast and vicious from the start. In the very beginning Smith violated the agreement not to strike in the clinches, fouling repeatedly. He was warned many times by the referee.

Story Not Verified.

Santiago, March 11.—It is reported here that the body of Captain Villalon, who commanded the Spanish torpedo boat destroyer Pluton, which was sunk in the destruction of Admiral Cervera's squadron, has been discovered in a sitting position in an armchair in a cave about a mile from El Morro, to the westward. Those who bring the news suggest that his sailors propped him in the chair when wounded, and then left him to his fate. For many days a careful search was made for Captain Villalon's remains, but nothing was ever found to indicate where or how he died. If there is any truth in the story and if the body is found it will be brought here for burial.

Harbinger of Spring

Boston, March 11.—The members of the Boston baseball team, with one exception, have been ordered to be ready next week for the southern trip, and all have responded that they are in good form. All of these players will go south, except Long and Lewis. Long is at Hot Springs, and has been granted permission to stay there until the championship season opens. His place in the club will be taken by Kuhns, who has been wintering at Freeport, Pa., and by Stafford. The makeup of the regular team will be exactly the same as it was last season.

Bully Stabbed to Death.

Kansas City, March 11.—The Twenty-third Kansas volunteers, colored, en route to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., from Santiago, passed through Kansas City yesterday with one member of the regiment a prisoner. When a short distance out from St. Louis a soldier named Williams was stabbed to death by a comrade named Ray. Williams, who was known as the "bully of the regiment," had stirred up considerable trouble, finally assaulting Ray. Ray drew a knife and struck Williams in the breast, killing him instantly.

Not Identified.

Lowell, Mass., March 11.—Contrary to the report sent out yesterday, Officer Healey, who is suffering from wounds received last Sunday morning at the hands of unknown assailants, was unable to identify positively either Robert Vaughn, one of the suspects arrested after a desperate battle of revolvers with about 20 police officers, or his brother, Ollie, also arrested as a suspect. The police have no important evidence yet to connect either of them with the Healey affair.

A Late Blizzard.

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 11.—One of the worst storms of the season raged here yesterday. Stockmen say this blizzard, following the extremely severe weather of the past six weeks, will undoubtedly cause very heavy losses in cattle and sheep. Concerning the range stock, some estimate the loss as high as 50 percent, but with stock growers, who still have hay to feed and shelter for the herds, the loss will not exceed 10 percent. The snow is drifting badly.

Waiting For Manufacturers.

Fall River, Mass., March 11.—Negotiations between capital and labor are at a standstill, because there is nothing more to adjust but the proposed sliding scale, and the labor leaders are waiting for suggestions from the manufacturers relating thereto. The city is feeling the influence of the coming raise in wages. There is little that is new in the cloth situation. The demand is very good, and all the trade symptoms are healthy.

The Handy Knife.

Boston, March 11.—A row among Italians at a house on Pitts street last night resulted in four arrests for assault and battery, while two of the parties, Tony Schentz and Tomasso Jonnossi, were so badly cut that they were taken to the hospital. No one seems able to tell how the row started.

New York, March 11.—Mr. Kipling is still improving. Unable to keep Mr. Kipling in ignorance of Josephine's death, the news was broken to him last night by Dr. Dunham. The blow was a heavy one, but the father bore up bravely.

PROTEST WITHDRAWN.

Russia Will Allow Carrying Out of the Hong Kong Contract

For the Construction of a Line In Northern China.

British Diplomacy Triumphs In What Threatened to Be a Serious Affair.

Pekin, March 11.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says that as a result of negotiations between Russia and Great Britain the Russian minister here has withdrawn his protest against the Hong Kong contract.

The Hong Kong contract against which Russia has withdrawn its protest is identical with the Niu-Chwang contract. The Russian minister's protest was against clause 6 of the Niu-Chwang railway extension agreement, under which $11,500,000 of British capital has been raised "with the knowledge of her majesty's government." A further protest by the same zealous diplomatist was made against clause 3. Clause 6 directly bears upon some of the most important conditions on which the loan has been made. It includes the provision that the chief engineer during the currency of the loan shall be a British subject, and the provision that a European railway accountant shall be appointed with full powers to organize and direct the keeping of the railway accounts, and these are the officials who are to act with the administrator general in the supervision of receipts and expenses.

In other words, it prescribes the composition of the body which is to have the handling of the cash, and it declares that two out of the three members of that body must be Europeans, and that one of them must be English. Hu Yu Fen, who was administrator general when the loan was sanctioned, and who enjoyed in a special degree the confidence of the British negotiators, has been dismissed, though it is satisfactory to learn that he has been acquitted on the charges trumped up against him by his enemies.

The Russian protest against this part of the agreement was aimed at the precautions designed to ensure the integrity of the railway administration. It was aimed, that is to say, at the moral security for the loan which is afforded by the arrangement that two of the most important officials of the railroad shall be Europeans, and that one shall be English. The protest against clause 3 carried the operation of sapping the security of the investors a step further. The character of the men who are to supervise the receipts and accounts is, as has been said, a moral guarantee. Not content with his attack on that, the successor of M. Pavloff went on to object to an important material guarantee. The line itself is not in any shape a security north of the Great Wall. On the 298 miles beyond that limit out of the 555 which form the entire railway the claim of the investing public is confined to the "earnings" of the undertaking.

Now M. de Giers said that China had no right to pledge even these earnings. The step, he declared, was a breach of the Russo-Chinese agreement, signed last May, as were the arrangements for the employment of a British engineer and of a European accountant. The Russian minister, in fact, proclaimed that some of the most essential terms of the loan, "arranged with the knowledge of her majesty's government," were in conflict with Russia's treaty rights.

It is clear that a very grave state of things could be created by this action if it could for a moment be supposed that these protests were made with the deliberate sanction and full weight of the Russian government. The history of the loan is fresh within the general recollection. The originla terms were not acceptable to Russia. They were modified in several respects to meet her views, though she had absolutely no title to interfere, and it is impossible to believe that the British government did not take measures to ascertain that the modifications fully met her objections before they allowed Thomas Sanderson's letter to appear in the prospectus. They were morally bound to the lender to see that the terms of the agreement they approved were fully carried out. They were bound to China by a dispatch sent to Claude MacDonald last July. Lord Salisbury read it out in the house of lords, and Mr. Curzon in the house of commons on Aug. 1. That dispatch authorized the British minister to inform China that England would support her in resisting any power which committed an act of aggression on her, "on account of her having granted permission to make or support any railway or public work to a British subject." The prime minister repeated and laid stress upon this assurance in his speech, and Claude MacDonald conveyed it to the Chinese government. The British government could not draw back from its obligations either to the investors in the loan or to China, and the Russian government must have been perfectly conscious that this was the case. Happily, they have not upheld the protests of M. de Giers. His action has been disavowed, as M. Pavloff's was when he demanded Mr. Kinder's dismissal from the Chinese service a year ago.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—6:02; sets, 5:47.
Moon sets—7:13 p. m.
High water—11:30 a. m.; noon.

The features of interest in the weather map are confined to the west. In the east and south fair weather has been general, except that there were light snows from the lower lake regions eastward during Thursday night. Snow or rain is indicated from Minnesota and Iowa eastward through the lower lake region and New England, with slight changes in temperature in the latter district. Brisk east to south winds will prevail on the Atlantic coast.

THE BUSINESS SITUATION

Continues to Be of a Most Encouraging Character Throughout the Country.

New York, March 11.—Bradstreet's says: Industrial and trade activity is still a pre-eminent feature of the general business situation. Price strength, too, is notable, especially in view of the midwinter rise of February, except in case of the leading cereals and wool. In manufacturing lines the situation is one of great activity. Additional advances in wages announced this week seem likely to swell the number of workers whose wages are reported advanced to close to 175,000. The iron and steel trade is still excited by reports of feverish demand, inadequate supply and further advanced quotations.

An easier tendency in wool is one of the disappointing features of the week, the outgrowth particularly of unsatisfactory demand for men's wear goods, but also reflection of reports of projected combinations in the finished goods trade.

The demand for cotton goods is very active, and nearly all classes are firmly held. Cotton remains steady, and the reduced movement at the south is making the minimum estimates more fashionable.

Lumber is active at most markets, and prices are firm, because of well cleaned up stocks.

Raw and refined sugar have alike moved upward this week, partly because of unfavorable Cuban crop advices, and also in sympathy with the improvement going on in European beet markets.

Wheat is weaker, notwithstanding crop damage reports, and other cereals are in sympathy therewith.

Reports from leading markets, east and west, are of an active spring jobbing demand, particularly for dry goods, but shared in by clothing, shoes and other staples.

Business failures for the week number 177, compared with 247 in this week a year ago, 277 in 1897, 282 in 1896, and 262 in 1895.

Bank clearings aggregate $1,920,473,027, a falling off of 11 percent from last week, but an increase of 57 percent over this week a year ago, and are more than double the total for the corresponding weeks in the years from 1894 to 1897 inclusive.

Internal Dissensions.

St. John's, March 11.—Premier Winter refuses to recall to the cabinet former Finance Minister Morine, and the latter's following, 15 all told, will withdraw its support from the government and probably form an alliance with Mr. Morris, who leads an independent party of four. Mr. Winter, with the remnant of the government, numbering eight, will probably form a coalition with Mr. Bond, who has eight in his personal following. The premier hopes to continue in power in defiance of Mr. Morine. The legislature is likely to meet on March 23. Should the government be defeated then on a motion of confidence Mr. Winter will advise a dissolution, to be followed by a general election.

Ability Recognized.

Washington, March 11.—The name of Sir Julian Pauncefote, the British ambassador here, has been under consideration for some time as one of the British delegates to the disarmament congress, called at the instance of the czar, and there is little doubt that he will be chosen for this important duty. As yet, however, there has been no official announcement, and about the only thing definitely known here is that the foreign office has not made a final selection, but is considering the name of Sir Julian along with others.

Back to Old Pulpit.

Washington, March 11. — Rev. Dr. Byron Sunderland has been appointed pastor of the First Presbyterian church, to succeed Rev. Dr. DeWitt Talmage. Dr. Sunderland already has served the church 45 years, and since his resignation last June, when Dr. Talmage took charge, has been the pastor emeritus. He will now resume full pastoral charge, and his congregation insists that he shall again become pastor to remain such the rest of his life.

Brunette Not to Blame.

Boston, March 11.—Philip M. Brunette, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of James Ryan, was discharged yesterday. Ryan was in charge of one of the city's swill wagons. Brunette was driving a horse which became unmanageable, and the only way to avoid a serious collision was to swing the horse upon the sidewalk. The animal plunged into the swill wagon. Ryan was hit by the shaft and died soon afterwards.

Lived 104 Years.

Bennington, Vt., March 11.—Mrs. Margaret Boatman died at Hoosick Falls yesterday, aged 104 years. She came to this country from Germany 60 years ago and had a terrible experience, the craft on which she sailed being wrecked. Mrs. Boatman and her 10-months'-old babe, lashed to a mast, drifted about at the mercy of the wages for three days, when she was picked up. Mrs. Boatman had been blind for nearly a year.

Hunter Is Missing.

Providence, March 11.—All the property of the bondsmen of the defaulting East Providence collector, George F. Hunter, was attached yesterday, under a writ issued by the town treasurer of East Providence. The amount which is claimed as a shortage is $12,598. Collector Hunter has disappeared, and from all that can be gathered his reappearance is not looked for, as he has not been seen since March 3.

Lucky to Be Alive.

Leadville, Colo., March 11.—By ripping asunder a water pipe with dynamite communication has been established with Charles Reuss and Bert Frey, imprisoned in the Bonair mine through the caving of the shaft. Provisions have been lowered through the pipe. A new shaft will have to be sunk 75 feet before the men can be reached. The rescue will take about a week.

Arabs Lost Heavily.

London, March 11.—According to a dispatch to The Morning Post from Bombay, severe fighting has taken place between the Turkish troops and the Arab tribesmen near Shalil, in the province of Yomen, Arabia, where an insurrection has been progressing for 10 months. The Turks lost 160 men and the Arabs 300.

AT A SNAPPING POINT,

General Henry Says Porto Ricans Have Been Given Too Much Rein.

Alarming State of Affairs Throughout the Island.

Seeds of Discontent Planted In Fruitful Soil by Professional Agitators.

Chicago, March 11.—The Tribune today prints a letter from a staff correspondent dated San Juan de Porto Rico, March 1. The correspondent says: The war department has requested General Henry to report how many regular troops he can spare. General Henry now has only three regiments of troops and two batteries.

"I need twice the troops I have," said the general. "Because of the easy victory of our troops here in the war and the apparent friendliness of the natives to the American soldiers when they invaded the island a notion prevails in the states that there is little necessity for a strong force to maintain order in the island. The idea is erroneous.

GENERAL HENRY.

"The conditions here are alarming. These people have been given every opportunity, but they have thrown them aside. They are clamoring now for local self-government. They are no more fit for local self-government than I am to run a locomotive. More troops are needed in the island. The seeds of discontent planted by professional agitators are rapidly growing and can be kept down only by a strong military force.

"The ill feeling between the natives and the American troops seems to grow stronger every day. The American officers have to maintain the greatest vigilance to prevent their men from wreaking vengeance on the natives and especially on the native police for acts of violence that are continually committed against the troops."

At Caguay, 25 miles from San Juan, Michael Burke, a soldier of the Forty-seventh New York, was murdered last Saturday night by a native while Burke was reading at a table in the Porto Rican Literary club. The native slipped up behind him and with a machete cut off the soldier's head. Another soldier entered the club and found the body still in the chair and the head on the floor.

Several Porto Ricans were discussing the matter. No one would admit having seen the murder committed. Suspicion fixed on one man, but he fled and has not yet been found. Only four nights before the killing of Burke natives made a brutal assault on Private Fitzpatrick. The native police arrested Fitzpatrick without a warrant, and when he resisted beat him insensible.

The soldiers of four companies of the Forty-seventh stationed at Caguay that night started out to police the town and smashed the furniture in three cafes. Officers of the regiment quelled the riot.

The troubles at Caguay have been duplicated at almost every place on the island. At Guayama a soldier was stabbed in the back by a native.

The conditions at Ponce since the clash between the soldiers and native police, in which several Porto Ricans were killed, have been bordering on open battle between the troops and natives. At San Juan a few nights ago three sailors from the Unitde States cruiser Panther were wounded by bullets from the rifles of the native police while trying to arrest one of the sailors.

General Henry began his administration in Porto Rico by giving all the towns and cities self-government. He had been forced to depose the alcalde and the councilmen of many towns and turn the local government over to army officers.

Things are strained to the snapping point. General Henry's face looked grim when he said: "I have given them too much rein. Now I'm going to take in the slack."

Dr. Dixon's Goodbye.

Boston, March 11.—The Warren Avenue Baptist church prayer meeting last night brought together a large number of church members, to act upon Dr. Dixon's request for dismissal. Letters of honorable dismissal were granted the late pastor and his son without a dissenting voice. It was announced that Rev. Dr. Love, for the past 14 years in Philadelphia, would occupy the pulpit tomorrow, as a candidate for the recently vacated pastorate.

Senator Jones' Sickness.

Washington, March 11.—Senator J. K. Jones of Arkansas, who has been ill for some time, suffered another setback yesterday. During the afternoon he was attacked with a paroxysm, incident to the angina pectoris, which, while not so severe as former ones, appeared to be more stubborn in yielding to treatment. The physicians, however, succeeded in reviving their patient, and his condition is reported as more favorable.

Harper Doesn't Want It.

Chicago, March 11.—President Harper of Chicago university says that the report that he has been offered the presidency of Yale college is without foundation. It has not been offered him, he says, and if it had, the chances were he would not leave Chicago.

All Over the House

Fairy Soap delights those who use it. In the bath room its whiteness, purity, delicate fragrance and floating qualities make it the favorite. In the kitchen it makes the dishes perfectly clean, and leaves no sticky trace of resin on them. In the laundry it saves the clothes and saves the colors in them.

FAIRBANK'S

cleanses perfectly the most gauzy laces, delicate fabrics, lawns, calicoes, etc., and does not injure them in the least. Its many virtues and lasting qualities make it infinitely better and even cheaper than common brown soap—as much better as refined white sugar is better than common brown sugar. Fairy Soap is the triumph of science applied to soap-making.

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

The many friends of Charles A. Thayer of this town will be pleased to learn that he was elected a Selectman of Randolph his home Monday. Charlie is well known in the south part of the town and is a member of Puritan lodge, I. O. O. F.

A large audience gathered in the Monatiquot school hall Wednesday evening to witness two well played basket ball games. The High school second team defeated a picked team by a score of 13 to 5.

All persons who are interested in the formation of a bird club for the purpose of a better acquaintance with our native birds, are invited to meet at the home of Mrs. J. A. Ewart on Mt. Vernon avenue, next Wednesday afternoon, at half past three o'clock. No previous knowledge is required and the only condition of membership is a real interest in the subject as stated above.

That was a fine joke on Neighbor Faxon of Quincy. He ought to have known that they used nothing but water in the Baptist church. The audience wondered what he was after, but it soon appeared that he had made a mistake, and after riding up and down for a half hour in the electric cars he arrived at the South church, where he was to speak on no-license. He had a hard time getting there but his ardor was not dampened.

On Tuesday evening, March 14, at the eight o'clock, Miss Sarah Arnold, Supervisor of Schools, Boston, will deliver an address in the Monatiquot school hall under the auspices of the Braintree Literary society. It need hardly be mentioned that Miss Arnold has a national reputation as a speaker upon the subjects that pertain to the schools. It is assured that a large number of our townspeople will avail themselves of this extraordinary opportunity.

The Jonas Perkins School Association held a regular meeting on Tuesday evening. Miss Jessie MacGregor read a sketch of the lives of the early Historians. Mr. Cronin and Mrs. Loring had charge of the "social hour" and entertained the members with a humorous little comedy entitled, "A happy pair." The Association will celebrate their second anniversary at their next meeting, March 28th.

The new social club will probably be organized about the last of the month. The proper legal steps are being taken and due notice will be given. The name that has been suggested is the "Cochato" club.

A large party from this town and from Quincy, Atlantic, Randolph, Holbrook and the Weymouths, attended the apron and necktie party given by several young ladies in Red Men's hall, Thursday evening. Hollis' orchestra furnished music for dancing, which was enjoyed until 12 o'clock.

The concert given by the Tufts College Glee club under the auspices of the Thayer Academy Athletic Association was all that could be desired, both from a musical and a financial standpoint. The hall was filled with an appreciative audience and every selection received hearty applause. The proceeds are for the use of the association and the amount must have been very gratifying to the management.

☞ Go to Quincy Music Hall tonight and see the best show that has been to Quincy this season. Prof. Emerson the Sand Artist and a host of others. Low prices, 15, 25, and 35.

☞ Rev. Samuel J. Barrows made a great mislake when he started out to secure that appointment as librarian of congress. Being an honest man in whom there is no guile, he did, of course, what any other honest man would have done under like conditions—asked for the place. He should, however, have adopted mugwump tactics; pretended he did not want the place. That would have done the business all right.—Haverhill Gazette.

—No wonder George Dewey does not care to be president of his native country. He has honors to spare, a salary for life $13,500 a year, whether he be afloat or ashore, and if war comes not again, the place he holds is what would be termed a snap by the politicians. And George has earned it all.—Boston Globe.

THE CHINESE PROBLEM.

America Has Not Rapacious Spirit Shown by Other Nations.

May Strengthen Hands of Those In Authority.

Minister Wu Expresses Surprise at Italy's Seeking an "Open Door."

Washington, March 8.—The Chinese minister, Wu Ting Fang, expresses himself as highly gratified at the definite determination of the United States to keep hands off China and to resist intimation of other powers that the time is ripe for this country to take for itself a port on the coast of China.

WU TING FANG.

"I am sure the Chinese government and people will not fail to observe this strong evidence of good will," said Mr. Wu. "It is not only another bond between the two countries, but it has a special significance just now. While the other world powers seem moved by a spirit of rapacity, the United States takes that lofty position of equity, justice and humanity which has characterized her dealings with other international questions of late, and instead of joining in encroachments on China, assumes an attitude of strict neutrality."

The minister had a long conference with Secretary Hay as to the situation in China, and undoubtedly learned officially and communicated to Pekin what was made known to the public later in the day. It is expected that the position of the United States in refusing to seize any territory will have an important effect on affairs in China, strengthening the hands of those in authority.

Speaking of Italy's action in seeking an "open door" on the Chinese coast by the acquisition of San Mun bay, Mr. Wu said he was much surprised at this move, as Italy had practically no trade with China. He said that he had never seen more than two or three Italians in China; there were no Italian commercial houses that he recalled and no Italian colonies. Under such circumstances, the minister is inclined to believe Italy would not have acted until some of the other powers had been sounded. What China would do as to accepting or rejecting the Italian claims, Mr. Wu had not been advised officially. All his information indicate that the refusal of Italy's request was made in no offensive spirit.

Mr. Wu points out that China continued to have a great stretch of coast with a number of large ports, including Canton and some 25 treaty ports, through which the commerce of the world could flow uninterruptedly.

The recent visit of Admiral Lord Beresford afforded an opportunity for exchange of views between him and Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, and Mr. Wu, all of whom were intimately familiar with the large questions engrossing China. Lord Beresford had conferred with officials of the tsung li yamen and with the viceroy and the leaders. The result of all his study of the Chinese question was summed up in the belief, openly announced, that Great Britain, Germany, the United States and Japan should unite to protect their interests in China by assuring China a stable government.

Mr. Wu did not commit himself on the wisdom of Lord Beresford's plan of solving the Chinese problem, but he was inclined to believe that his lordship's mission, which was unofficial, would have official results.

Preparing For Business.

Washington, March 8.—Ex-Governor Merriam, recently appointed superintendent of the 12th census, called on the president yesterday. Mr. Merriam said he had asked Mr. Wines of Illinois, who has been appointed assistant superintendent, to come to Washington for a conference, and that the work of organizing the force would be proceeded with as rapidly as possible.

Eagan Going to Hawaii.

Washington, March 8.—Commissary General Eagan, who has remained in Washington since the court martial suspended him from the service for his attack upon General Miles, left Washington last night for the west. He will go to San Francisco, and thence embark for Honolulu, where he has a son who is largely interested in coffee plantations.

THE WHIPPING POST.

Judge Baldwin of Connecticut Thinks It Should Be Revived.

Connecticut has found an advocate of a return to the whipping post as a means of punishing criminals, especially the younger criminals, in Simeon E. Baldwin, judge of the Connecticut supreme court of errors and professor of constitutional law in Yale university. Judge Baldwin believes that modern methods of punishing crime are altogether too refined; that they are not severe enough to have any deterrent effect upon the criminals whom they are intended to reform. Judge Baldwin stated his case at a recent meeting of the Municipal Judges' association of Connecticut, which met in New Haven, before which he read a paper on "Corporal Punishment."

"Society," said Judge Baldwin, "needs to be protected from the criminal, and the sending of young and old to a penal institution, where they are further schooled in crime, does not any longer have the sanction of the community. Whipping is a form of punishment which all men shrink from. The stigma of it is felt alike by hardened criminal and novice in crime. Moreover, the pain is sharp and comparatively of short duration. On the other hand, it is admitted that to the criminal it makes but little difference whether he is sent to prison for one year or half a score, for many of them find better homes and certainly better care there than anywhere else. To the industrious and self respecting citizen imprisonment is a dreaded punishment, but not so to the old offender.

Judge Baldwin reviewed the effect which the whipping post had had in southern states, and said it could be revived in Connecticut with advantage to the community and to the criminal classes. He described wife beating as a crime that could be treated advantageously by the application of the lash, and he also thought that it would be far more beneficial to boys than a term in the reform school. He declared that many young men and boys would reform their ways if on their first appearance in court they received a sound drubbing instead of being sentenced to a short term in jail. It was only silly prejudice that could prevent the reinstitution of this good old Connecticut blue law. It was natural to believe that the New Haven public might be shocked by the erection of a whipping post upon the old green, but he thought that any squeamishness on this score would be balanced by the great benefit that would accrue to the community. If this sentiment were too strong, the stripes might be administered in private, in the cell room of the local jail or workhouse. In any case the professor was persuaded that what the criminal classes of Connecticut and other states needed above all things was a good, old fashioned whipping post and a vigorous administrator of the same. He thought that the time had come to put an end to the attractiveness of modern jail life and to substitute something in its place that would really be distasteful to those who fell under the jurisdiction of the courts.

Court Proceedings by Telephone.

A litigation was up in a magistrate's court at Castalian Springs, eight miles from here, says the Gallatin (Tenn.) correspondent of the Nashville Banner. It was during the cold weather of last week, and J. Tom Durham of Gallatin was counsel for one of the litigants. The trial was held in a country store in which there was a telephone. Eight miles' ride through the cold was too much for the constitution of the lawyer. A happy thought suggested itself to the attorney. He would use the telephone, conduct the suit and remain in his office by the fireside. The case was called, all the witnesses were present and the suit began. Attorney Durham arranged for an assistant, who was to stand at the phone and act as interlocutor, while he did the rest. The attorney carried on a careful and rigid examination of the witnesses, even cross examining the opposing side. At the conclusion of the evidence Lawyer Durham made a strong and effective argument, which was repeated to the court by the man at the telephone at that end of the line.

May Hurt the Wheat Crop.

The Kansas City Star says there are fears that the severe cold may have hurt the wheat crop. "Nearly every one," it adds, "recognizes that nothing can really be known about the subject until the crop starts to grow in the spring. But there is going to be uncertainty about it for a month to come, with numerous claims and denials of damage, so that the question probably will make a feverish and uncertain market through the remainder of the winter. Its effect on prices will depend largely on the movement of wheat. If the farmers show their belief in serious damage to the crop by holding their grain they will get plenty of assistance from speculators in putting the prices up. If, on the other hand, the farmers should go on selling freely, the speculators and the grain merchants will put little faith in damage reports."

Up to Date Burglars.

The Oberlin (O.) Bank company's vault was entered by burglars a few mornings ago. No money was obtained, as the robbers failed to get into the big safe, evidently for lack of time. The trolley wire of the electric road runs past the bank. The robbers tapped this wire and carried the current into the bank and to a dry battery in the basement, from which wires were run to an electric drill at the outside door of the vaults. After forcing this door the thieves inserted a charge of powder in a hole made with their electric drill and blew the interior of the vault into a thousand pieces. The walls on all sides were badly shattered, plastering was torn off, and the vault doors were blown over 20 feet out of their place.

Castle Square Theatre.

The management of the Castle Square theatre again finds it imperative to delay the production of new attractions and continue "The Prodigal Daughter" throughout the coming week, so great is the demand for seats for the performance of this great spectacular, sporting drama. The uninterrupted big audiences of the three weeks run of this play have abundantly proven the wisdom of the care given to its preparation, and shown that the liberal expenditures made by the management, and the thoroughly artistic efforts of the company of players and their associates are fully appreciated by the local amusement public. The great scenic pictures, the startlingly realistic scenes, the effective situations and bright dialogue of this drama can, however, be enjoyed only one more week, as the Castle Square management has other equally good attractions ready for immediate production, the first of these, the charming modern play by C. Hadden Chambers, "The Idler" being announced for the week beginning Monday, March 20th.

Keith's Theatre.

Jessie Couthoui, who is no stranger to Boston theatregoers, will be one of the leading features of the Keith programe for the week of March 13. She presents an entertainment that is as thoroughly enjoyable as it is unique. Her work is original and peculiarly her own—a whole vaudeville bill in itself. Others are: Russell brothers, widely known as the Irish servant girls, who have just concluded a successful season as the stars of their own company; Musical Dalh, one of the cleverest artists in his line in the varieties, who has just returned from his annual tour of the London and continental music halls. Ezra Kendall, the greastest of monologue comedians, is to be the big feature for the week of March 20.

IF YOU HAVE PAIN IN YOUR BACK,

Let us give you a piece of advice: Pain in the back is an almost infallible sign of Kidney disease, a surer sign is the condition of your urine, if you have a pain in the back then look to the condition of your urine. It is easily done. Take a glass tumbler and fill it with urine, after it has stood 24 hours, if it has a sediment, if it is milky or cloudy, if it is pale or discolored, stringy or roppy, your Kidneys and Bladder are in a dangerous condition and need immediate attention, or the consequences may prove fatal.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the one medicine that really cures all diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation and corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer on the system. It is wonderful how it makes that pain in the back disappear, how it relieves the desire to urinate often especially at night, and drives away that scalding pain in passing water and in a remarkably short time makes you well and strong. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold at all drug stores for $1.00 a bottle, or six bottles for $5.00.

If you would like to try this wonderful medicine you can do so absolutely free. Send your full name and address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Roudout, N. Y., when a free trial bottle, together with a pamphlet of valuable medical advice, will be sent you by mail postpaid, providing you mention the Quincy Ledger when you write. The publishers of this paper guarantee the genuineness of this liberal offer.

Declares That He Has Always Stood For the Right.

Cuban Assembly Strongly Censured on All Sides.

Body Has Never Been Officially Recognized by United States.

Its Action In Regard to the Money For Troops Has No Status.

Havana, March 13.—General Gomez has issued the following statement to the Cuban people and army:

"By the use of the supreme faculties with which it is endowed, the assembly representing the army only has deposed me as commander-in-chief of the Cuban army, which grade it conferred upon me during the last war. As commander-in-chief, I always followed the dictates of my best conscience and the call of great national needs. I endeavored in all circumstances to fulfill my duty.

"The assembly considers the fact that I do not aid it in efforts to raise loans, which later would compromise the greatest financial and political interests of Cuba, to be an act of insubordination and of want of respect. The primary cause for the action taken against me is my conviction that Cuba should begin the exercise of its own sovereignty as a republic of union and concord, proclaimed at Monte Cristo and sustained unimpaired on the field of battle, free from all compromise, keeping the nation's honor spotless.

"As for the rest, as a sincere man, I confess I thank them because they relieve me of great political obligations, and also leave me free to return to my abandoned home, which, during 30 years of continual strife for the good of this country that I love so much, has been my one aspiration. Foreigner as I am, I did not come to serve this country by helping it to defend its just cause as a mercenary soldier, and, consequently, since the oppressive power of Spain has withdrawn from this land and left Cuba in freedom, I had sheathed my sword, thinking I had finished the mission which I had voluntarily imposed upon myself. I am owed nothing. I retire contented and satisfied at having done all I could for the benefit of my brothers. Wherever destiny rules that I may make my home, there can the Cubans depend upon a friend."

General Gomez made the above declaration because the Cuban military assembly, in public session Saturday afternoon, impeached him and removed him from his command as general-in-chief of the Cuban army, the first ballot taken resulting in 26 votes being cast in support of the motion to impeach and remove General Gomez against four in opposition. The meeting lasted from 2 o'clock until 7.

General Gomez's only supporters were General Cespedes and General Nunez. The original motion, which was introduced by Senor Manuel Sanguilly, provided for the abolition of the grade of general-in-chief, but an amendment was offered to this by Senor Aguerro, which read "to abolish the grade of general-in-chief and to remove General Gomez for failure in his military duties and disobedience to the assembly."

Senor Aguerro declared that Gomez was insubordinate and should be punished, and Senor Sanguilly insinuated that the general was a traitor to Cuba.

Much passion was evident in the speeches, in some of which Gomez was declared to have been delinquent in his duties and disobedient because he had accepted the proposition of Robert P. Porter, President McKinley's special emissary, without consulting the assembly; because he had taken upon himself the arrangements for the payment and disarming of the Cuban troops independent of the assembly, and because he had declared to the assembly that he would observe its rulings in so far as he considered them beneficial to Cuba.

The assembly again declared that the $3,000,000 was insufficient, and that it had not yet accepted the proposition. The discussion of this question will soon be taken up now that General Gomez has been removed.

SOME FOOLISH PEOPLE

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 25c. and 50. Trial size free. At all druggists.

Senor Quesada, who accompanied Mr. Porter in Cuba, was attacked by Senors Gualberto Gomez, Sanguilly and Aguerro, who declared that he had acted in bad faith and had deceived them. Senor Aguerro likened the present conditions confronting the assembly to those that confronted the French chamber when it was proposed to impeach President MacMahon.

Governor General Brooke was notified Saturday night of the deposition of Gomez, and when seen yesterday he was much interested to learn the details of the assembly's proceedings. He said he could not express an opinion as to the effect of the assembly's action upon the future relations between General Gomez and the United States, particularly in the matter of disbursing the $3,000,000 offered by Washington to the Cuban troops, as a condition of disbandment, but the impression seems to be among the American authorities that, as the assembly has never been officially recognized by the United States government, its action, so far as Washington is concerned, will not amount to more than the resignations of any other body of individuals.

The assembly is being strongly censured by Cubans on all sides, and there were popular demonstrations yesterday afternoon in favor of the deposed commander-in-chief, the crowds shouting "Long live Gomez!" and "Death to the assembly!" General Gomez during the day received numerous visitors, all of whom assured him of their affection and loyalty, and that the declarations by the assembly, on whatever subject, could not represent even the army, as the elections which gave its members their present positions are really voidable for illegality and political jobbery. There is no doubt that a majority of the people support him as against the assembly. The local press will probably attack the assembly, urging its dissolution as the best thing that can happen, and insisting that there is no reason why the United States authorities may not continue to treat with General Gomez in the matter of the payment of the troops.

It is said on good authority that the payrolls he is preparing to hand to General Brooke are most complete, full and fair, and that when the army learns he can aid the troops in procuring $2,000,000, whereas it is problematical whether the assembly can obtain anything, there is little doubt as to the side the army will take in the controversy. The troops are tired of the field and of insufficient food, and the indications are that they would readily disband on receipt of the $3,000,000 unless deceived by the assembly with promises of a larger payment in the event of refusing to disband.

General Gomez enjoys the full confidence of the American military authorities, and, although he says he is glad of his new found liberty, since it will enable him to return home, it is not believed that he will leave Cuba at present. He has always insisted that an active share in distributing the money would fall to him, and there seems no good reason why he cannot continue to act as General Brooke's adviser and helper.

The question of his successor as commander-in-chief has not yet been considered, but General Mayia Rodriguez is the next in command. No doubt General Gomez technically exceeded his authority in acting independently of the assembly. His course was certainly calculated to arouse jealousy in that body, but it is becoming more and more apparent that the assembly's action was largely the result of personal spite, and a desire to avenge slights. It is well known that there has long been trouble between General Gomez and certain members.

The patriotic clubs have decided to abolish the Junta Patriotica, the members of which are elected by them, and to establish a patriotic league in its place. General Gomez, it is said, will be asked to accept the presidency of the new organization.

Old-Time Actress Dead.

London, March 13. — Mrs. Robert Keeley, the actress, died yesterday of pneumonia, in her 93rd year. The late Mrs. Keeley, widow of the popular comedian, Robert Keeley, who died in 1869, was born at Ipswich in 1806. She acquired reputation as an actress as Miss Goward, and made her first appearance in London at the Lyceum in 1825 as Rosina, in the opera of that name, and Little Pickle. She attained great distinction by her rendering of the characters of Smike, Mrs. Peerybingle and Clemency Newcome, in stage adaptations of Dickens' novels, "Nicholas Nickleby," "The Cricket on the Hearth" and "The Battle of Life." She made her first appearance on the stage in the Ipswich theater in 1820.

Not a Bad Idea.

Santiago, March 13.—A movement is on foot here to persuade the United States government to purchase San Juan hill, to be used as a public park. The idea is that a certain portion could be set apart to be used as an American cemetery and the site of a mortuary church. A few thousand dollars spent upon the rest would make a beautiful recreation ground, including a half-mile race track, a baseball diamond and tennis grounds. Prominent Americans favor the project, believing that, if the land can be obtained at a reasonable figure, the suggestion should be carried out in memory of the heroic charge of the American troops.

Extending Its Scope.

New York, March 13.—The American Missionary association has voted to enter upon a forward movement and to initiate in Porto Rico at once the species of Christian schools which it has established in this country, at intervals during the last 53 years, chiefly for the negroes in the south, but also for the Indians in the west, the Chinese on the Pacific coast, and the southern Highlanders (whites). Three points for the establishment of these schools have been selected, and others will follow in due course. The Congregational churches of the United States will be depended upon to advance this work.

SOLDIERS LINING UP.

Filipinos Are Likely to Be Kept Pretty Busy This Week.

Wheaton's Brigade to Attempt to Corral the Enemy.

Many Soldiers Wish to Remain In the Islands After Hostilities Cease.

Manila, March 13.—10:50 a. m.—General Wheaton's newly formed divisional brigade advanced at 7 o'clock this morning from San Pedro Macati for the purpose of corralling the enemy. It is now moving on Pasig, meeting with slight resistance, as the rebels are in full retreat.

A gunboat is clearing the jungle along the river banks, which have been carried as far as Guadalupe.

The purpose of the move is to clear the country to Laguna De Bay.

In all probability the current week will see the beginning of an active campaign on a scale hitherto unknown to the Filipinos. For the last few days there has been unusual activity at headquarters, and there is every indication of a complete reorganization of the entire corps in the near future.

Since the arrival of the American reinforcements several changes have been made, the most important being the appointment of a divisional brigade under General Wheaton, consisting of the Twentieth and Twenty-second regular Infantry, eight companies of the Washington and seven companies of the Oregon volunteers, three mounted troops of cavalry and a battalion of light artillery. All the troops have disembarked. A battalion of the Fourth regular infantry is already on the firing line, assigned to General MacArthur's division. The others have been held in reserve and are encamped on the Luneta parade ground. A battalion of the Seventeenth regulars has been assigned to provost guard duty, relieving the Oregon volunteers.

Major Theodore Sternberg, paymaster, United States volunters, in a letter to an officer in the war department at Washington, says:

"I wish you would call the attention of the president and the secretary of war to this: There is not less than 10 percent of the volunteers who honestly wish to remain in these islands and make homes here and engage in agriculture, lumbering and mining. From every point of view this should be encouraged unless America means to haul down its flag and sneak home. The time will come when every American will recognize the value of these islands. Take but one item: Cattle thrive here; the finest country I ever saw. The Orient can be supplied with beef from here. Now these soldiers ought to be discharged here with transportation to their capital. Those who are in earnest are willing to do anything in reason to prove it. I believe that they would be willing to serve out a two-years' enlistment by transfer to the regular army if necessary. They would, many of them, prefer to be mustered out here, with nothing, rather than be compelled to go to the states to be mustered out. There are also many regular soldiers enlisted under order 40. These men think they should be paid travel pay if they intend settling in these islands. Now all of this is based upon the idea that the United States will retain some sort of an interest in these islands. Knowing the value of the pioneer. I say deliberately that each of these plain soldiers, young, vigorous and used to this climate by remaining here, will be of inestimable value to our country. The only way to Americanize these islands is by the example of American pioneers engaged in making homes for themselves. I take no stock in the cry that white men cannot work in the tropics. They can, when working for themselves.

"There are no healthier people than the English and Scotch who have lived here for many years. At all events the government has here now the cream of American young manhood, who are anxious to try the thing.

"I know the regulars as a rule don't want to hold these islands because they prefer stations in the states. I know the majority of the volunteers are homesick and so color their opinions, but I had rather die here than see the flag come down, and if I was 20 years younger, I would make my home on a farm here."

Good Afternoon.

Some idea of the appreciation in which some people of the South hold the soldiers, may be found in the article in the Camp Wetherill News of Mar. 9 which reports an undertaker of Greenville to have expressed the wish that half the soldiers at the camp would die.

Braintree is one of those towns which continues to insure its public buildings. It carries $135,219.00 on fifteen buildings, and $20,681.00 on contents; also $5,000.00 as employes liability, and $10,000 as public liability in connection with its electric lights. Inasmuch as the liability of losing one building is small, it is doubtful if it is a wise policy to expend $1,082.75 annually as was done in 1898. Three of the buildings insured are worth less than $1,082.75.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The new president of Wellesley college, Miss Hazard of Peacedale, R. I., is not a college bred woman, but her election to that position shows that a self-made woman is appreciated by the college authorities, and that the management is not controlled by any mere prejudices against such culture as may be obtained outside of college halls.—Brockton Times.

☞ The house legislative committee has reported unanimously a bill to tax inheritances from 2 to 10 per cent. according to amount, in Massachusetts, and a bill that all corporation taxes be held by the state, that all county expenses be paid by the state, and no county taxes be levied. There is a good deal of sense in the last proposition, whatever may be thought of the first. For instance, there is no good reason why all criminal, insane and pauper expenses should not be paid by the state, especially when it is considered that the state takes oversight of these classes of people.—Milford Journal.

☞ It always has been the case that much of the greatest heroism has been accomplished in the most matter of fact way, but who does not like to dream of thrilling words and striking attitudes and all the imaginative things we may conjure to the theme? Certainly the officers who have been deluging the magazines with accounts of how they accomplished this, that or the other thing have fallen from the high estate where the people would like to place them. Glory and commerce do not bed together well, and one hates to find his hero drooling out his story at so much per word.—Kansas City Journal.

☞ Mayor Quincy will not have things all his own way in that proposed crusade against the English sparrows. Many friends of these cheery little birds are springing up on all sides and promise to make their influence felt at the right time and in the proper place. It is in no sense true that the sparrows drive other birds away, while it can be shown that since their advent they have made sad havoc among the canker worms, at whose door the destruction of many a fine tree may be placed. It would be a great pity to sanction a wholesale destruction of these little birds. They do far more good than harm —Haverhill Gazette.

OCCASION FOR REJOICING.

Granite Manufacturers and Cutters Come to an Agreement---Work to be Resumed Tomorrow.

It is a source of gratification to the citizens in general, throughout the city that the threatened prolonged labor trouble in the granite industry has been averted and that the men will return to work tomorrow. This conclusion was reached Saturday night or rather Sunday morning at a meeting of the two committees.

The committees of seventeen members each met Saturday evening at the rooms of the Granite Manufacturers in Durgin & Merrill's block and immediately took up the consideration of the bill of prices. Hour after hour, the two committees discussed the several changes desired. Both meant business and at 4 o'clock or thereabouts when an adjournment was reached, practically everything, as far as the bill of prices was concerned, had been agreed upon.

The minimum price per hour for day work, which has been the one bone of contention, and for which the manufacturers offered 25 cents, and the cutters demanded 30 cents, was settled for 28 cents: This clause now reads.

"The pay of a competent skilled workman shall be 30 cents per hour, but in cases where a workman cannot earn that amount on the basis of this price list he may be employed at his average rate per hour, to be in no case less than 28 cents.

"When the two parties cannot agree on the price of work not specified, he may be paid by the hour at his average rate, however in no case less than 28 cents.

CHANGES IN BILL.

Other changes in the bill of prices are as follows:

A new clause reading: Bottom bases, 10 cut sides 12 cut washes, 58 cents.

Second bases, plinths and friezes, 1 foot 10 inches square or over, 50 cents; in place of 55 cents.

Dies—plain raised panel, one inch or under, four sides $1 per superficial foot; in place of $1.05.

Plain raised panel dies, panel top and sides only, four sides, 90 cents per superficial foot; instead of 95 cents.

Plain for polishing to be good straight four cut work, free from holes, stuns or starts, 45 cents; instead of 50 cents.

Shafts, plain for polishing, 45 cents; instead of 50 cents.

Column clause abolished.

Letters abolished.

Markers and headstones.— Polished slabs one face 45 cents per superficial foot; instead of 50 cents.

Cemetery curbing — curbing with circling bevelled or roof top 8 cut sides, 10 cut top, measure full height of stone 1 top and return 65 cents; instead of 60 cents.

Posts, all 8 cut square posts, 9 inches square or under, 45 cents per foot; instead of 40 cents.

Cemetery steps, under 2 feet broad, 10 cut work, 55 cents per superficial foot; instead of 50 cents.

New clause; Margin lines on rock face work. All rock face work with margin lines pay for breaking down 5 cents per linear foot.

Other changes under head of miscellaneous are:

Diagram and price on stone to be given with stone, when practicable, in all cases within two days.

Margin lines, 11 cents per linear foot of polished work, was abolished.

Any workman leaving the yard shall be paid in full, or given a due bill payable the first pay day after.

When a stone is condemned for causes other than the fault of the cutter, he shall be paid for the work done on the same, at his average rate per hour, if reported immediately upon discovery.

The association considers it the duty of every stonecutter to demand payment for his work, and of the employer to pay his workmen, on the basis of this price list.

The association considers that it is against the spirit of this bill that a stone taken up by the piece shall be given to a day man, or a stone taken up by the day be given to a piece man to finish, so as to evade paying the price agreed upon in this bill.

The term of service for apprentices on work specified in this bill shall be three years, after which he shall be classed as a journeyman; but if he so desires he may serve an additional year on statuary or letters.

Drill holes or slabs not less than six inches thick, three cents each.

The rate of payment for oblong stone to be governed by average measurement of sides.

Twelve-cut work, add to price of 10 cut, 10 per cent.

Swamp Westerly, Oak Hill and Cummerston granite, pay same as price list for white Westerly, in use in Westerly, R. I.

Augusta, Riverdale and Freeport stone, add 10 per cent. to Quincy prices on plain stone only.

It is hereby mutually agreed that no one shall be permitted to make a practice of working overtime. All complaints shall be referred to the joint executive committee and if, in its opinion overtime has been abused, the employer shall be compelled to stop the same, except in cases of replacing a stone spoiled through the fault of the cutter.

There shall be a pay day every Friday, and workmen shall be paid in full up to the last day of the previous week. An employer failing to pay for two successive pay days shall be liable to a suspension of work by the Granite Cutters' Union.

Granite cutters who, by reason of old age of physical disability, are not capable of doing an average day's work, may make written application to the workmen's committee for some special privilege. Such privilege, if granted, must be given in writing and signed by the same committee.

A man working by day work must report any accident or defect immediately on discovery. If not reported immediately he shall not be paid for work done on the same after the accident has occurred or the defect is discovered. But this shall not be construed to mean that the workman shall forfeit his pay for work done previous to such accident or defect.

IN EFFECT ONE YEAR.

The following was also adopted: "It is hereby agreed by and between the Granite Manufacturers' Association of Quincy, Mass., and the Quincy branches of the Granite Cutters' National Union that the bill of prices hereby agreed upon shall take effect March 1, 1899, and terminate March 1, 1900. Should either party desire a change at the expiration of said period, three months' notice shall be given, previous to March 1, 1900. If no notice of change is given by either party as above stated, three months previous to March 1 of any year, the agreement then in force shall continue from year to year from and after March 1, 1900."

MEET AGAIN TONIGHT.

There are a few matters yet unsettled which the joint committee will take up at a meeting to be held this evening, including special bargains and apprentices. If the committee fails to agree on any of these points such matters as are not agreed upon are to be submitted to the State Board of Arbitration.

Appreciated at Woburn.

The Woburn News speaks very highly of the concert given recently by the pupils of the Woburn High school under the direction of Miss Minnie M. Jameson of this city, the musical instructor. "From start to finish," the News says, "the school surprised everyone. As the curtain rose, the chorus of 260 members was discovered, a bank of bright-eyed intelligent boys and girls, rising row on row, every face aglow with the determination to fully realize every hope and aspiration of their esteemed and talented instructor, Miss Minnie M. Jameson. The chorus work was excellent, both in volume and tone, attacks were made with confidence and the tempo of the conductor's baton found a response in every voice."

Letters from Mr. Leonard B. Marshall of Boston and Mr. Samuel W. Cole in the same issue added testimonials. The former says the work was "exceptionally fine; from the beginning to the close one grand inspiring scene;" and the later says, "The entire programme was rendered in admirable style; it speaks volumes for the cause of public school music and reflects great credit on Miss Jameson."

Honors Divided.

The third of the inter-club games at billiards and whist between the Granite City and Quincy clubs, gives the billiard championship to the former and the whist championship to the latter. The scores Saturday night at billiards were:

H. M. Federhen of Granite City club, 150; Walter Packard of Quincy club, 74.

A NEW PILOT.

Capt. Daniel Higgins of Quincy Point Appointed.

For two or three years the shipping interests of Quincy, Braintree and Weymouth have been anxious for the appointment of a national pilot for the pilotage of vessels into and out of Weymouth Fore river and Town river and the Commissioner of Pilots in and for the harbor of Boston now announces the appointment of Capt. Daniel Higgins of Quincy Point.

Capt. Higgins, who resides on South street has followed the sea for a living since eleven years of age. He was for many years in command of vessels in the coast wise trade including six years in the Pacific coast.

As far back as 1848 he was engaged in oyster freighting between Tangier Sound and Boston, being a pioneer in the business, and later was pilot for northern vessels employed in the same business from the former place.

Four times Capt. Higgins has been shipwrecked; the first time being during the memorable storm of 1851 off Prince Edwards Island, at which time over 100 boats and nearly 1500 lives were lost; in 1853 his second experience on the coast of California, and the third was in 1854 when he was a passenger on the steamer Golden Gate when that fine vessel struck the bar off San Diego and went to pieces. The last time was in 1881 when he was in compand of the American bark Brunswick which foundered off the coast of Georgia during a severe gale. He and his crew were upon a raft exposed to the pitiless mercies of the wind and waves for many hours without food or water, suffering greatly until relieved by a pilot boat.

Capt. Higgins has the honor of being the first to pay custom duties on paper pulp brought to this country from Nova Scotia. This was in 1886, he being for three years under contract with the Bridgeport Paper Co. to bring this pulp to Bridgeport. He has also transported, ice, coal and granite. When he first freighted coal it was thought to be a good day's work to take out 150 tons in ten hours.

In his nearly sixty years of life on the ocean wave, Capt. Higgins has seen a deal of the world, and is accounted one of the most careful and successful navigators. He has built several vessels, his latest command being the "William F. Collins," his fifth. She was a three-masted schooner and among the largest of her day. Capt. Higgins was born on Cape Cod 66 years ago.

Interest Appreciated.

The Granite City club at a meeting Saturday evening adopted the following resolutions, which were immediately transmitted to the joint committee of the Manufacturers and Cutters in session trying to settle the trouble in the granite industry:

Resolved: that the Granite City club recognizes the earnest effort that is now being made by the manufacturers and stone cutters to reach an amicable understanding, by which work will be resumed and prosperity return to the granite industry and be it further:

Resolved, that this club stands ready to lend its aid to either or both parties in every possible way that will tend to the accomplishment of the much desired result.

The resolutions were received with applause, and the joint committee extended a vote of thanks for the friendly feeling and interest taken in the matter.

The Water Act.

It is understood that the Committee on Cities of the Legislature, who have before it the bill of Mayor Keith which seeks to abolish the Water Commissioner, consider that it is merely a matter of law that is involved, and that it should have gone to the Judiciary committee and that they will report leave to withdraw, or else refer it to that committee.

ROUTE OF SEWER.

Metropolitan Trunk Line from Milton to Nut Island.

Nut island or Peddock island are the outlets recommended for the proposed South Metropolitan sewer through Quincy, which will take in the sewage of this city.

The report says: "The chemical expert, Mr. H. W. Clark, has examined into the physical and chemical conditions resulting from the disharge of sewage at Moon Island and Deer Island, and has deduced from them conclusions regarding a discharge of sewrge into the deeep and powerful tidal currents near Peddock's Island.

"A satisfactory position for the outfall of the high-level sewer has been found in the large tidal currents near the westerly end of Peddock's Island The volume of this current during the ebb tide is about three times that which now receives the sewage discharged at Moon Island, and its velocity and reach are considerably greater.

"Sewage would be discharged into this current from a reservoir situated on the westerly end of Peddock's Island, but the most economical and advisable method of conveying sewage into tidal currents near the westerly end of Peddock's Island is by means of lines of submerged iron pipes leading northerly from Nut Island to an outlet at the bottom of the channel.

"The volume of the tidal current near the south westerly end of Peddock's Island is found to be nearly as great as that near Deer Island, where continous discharge of sewage from the north metropolitan system was recommended by the State Board of Health in 1889. This outlet has been in operation about four years, with results which are highly satisfactory, and equally satisfactory results which are expected from it in the future.

The examinations of our engineers and chemcal experts coincide in showing that the continuous discharge of sewage to these currents, at the location shown on Plate 5, would be satisfactory for a long series of years, if not perpetually. Should it be found, after the experience of some years, that better results could be atttained if the sewage should be stored in a reservoir during a portion of the flood tide, it would then be practicable to construct such a reservoir on Peddock's Island, to which the sewage would be conveyed by independent line of pipe from the gate-house on Nut Island. Such a reservoir would have discharge channels leading northerly to the tidal current.

"The diffusion of the sewage into the waters of the harbor would be more rapid if it were discharged continously in a stream of moderate size, instead of from a reservoir; as by the latter method of the sewage of nearly half a day would be discharged in bulk in a very short time, and its diffusion woud become more difficult. In consideration of this, and of the very favorable reports from our engineers and chemists concerning a continuous discharge of sewage into the strong currents near Peddock's Island, and also in consideration of the successful operation of the continuous discharge of sewage from the Deer Island outlet, this Board recommends the method of continuous discharge into these currents as safe and proper for the high-level sewer.

THE PROPOSED WORKS.

"The works comprising the high-level system are described very fully in the report of the engineer. The outlet would consist of lines of cast-iron pipes laid beneath the bottom of the harbor and covered over for protection. Two lines of 60-inch pipes would be laid at first. This number might be increased in the future. The works at Nut Island would comprise a screen house, gate chamber and sand-catcher. The purpose of these structures is to regulate the flow of sewage, and remove any subtances that might cause trouble in pipes, or make deposits in the harbor."

From Nut Island to Quincy the route of the proposed high level sewer seems to be, according to the map, via. of Sea street to the Mt. Wollaston cemetery, thence to Greenleaf street, to Adams street to East Milton. It follows the Unkety and Pine Tree brooks in Milton to the easterly end of Hyde Park, where the Neponset valley Metropolitan sewer would be intercepted.

CO. K EXAMINED.

Preparing for the Muster Out of Fifth Massachusetts.

With Co. K, 5th Mass.,
Camp Wetherill,
Mar. 10th, 1899.

Clear, warm weather has once more set in. Today the air is beautiful, reminding us of a summer's day. The surgeons detailed from Division Headquarters to examine our boys arrived yesterday. The third battalion was taken first and fiuished last night.

The second battalion of which K is part, was commenced this morning. K company was all through being examined this noon.

The last two days have been ones of sorrow. The remains of Sergeant Hunting of the 5th Mass. Hospital Corps, were escorted to the depot by the regiment on Wednesday. Those of Private Tinkham of Co. D Plymouth were dispatched yesterday on the 5.22 train bound for Boston. We are in hopes not to escort any more bodies. Our loss has been great within the last two weeks.

Preparations for mustering out are speedily being rushed ahead. Captain Beckurt of the Regular army, now acting as mustering out officer, is stationed with the headquarter's staff.

Private Mead is progressing rapidly.

Corporal Foster, who was convalescent, and received a sick furlough, has returned to his company. The Corporal is now the picture of health.

The other boys of K who were sick, are reported as better.

Mrs. Maria E. Oakes of Avon, wife of George W. Oakes a private in Co. K of the Fifth Massachusetts, committed suicide on Saturday. She had heard that her husband had a severe cold at Camp Wetherill, and the number of deaths from pneumonia worried her.

Capt. Clark in his report of the work of the 10th U.S. Volunteer signal corps in the late war says "I am proud to know that such men as my three officers were assigned to my command. Lieut. Henry W. Sprague of Quincy, is an able officer, and we were more than fortunate when Illinois and Minnesota temporarily lost to us Lieuts. Martin and Palmer I wish to thank them and my entire company for their unflagging attention to duty."

Memorial Church.

The services at the Memorial church Sunday morning were conducted by the pastor the text of his sermon being Philippians 2:5. He spoke of the psyological conditions and relations of mind, will and soul of the mind of Jesus, and the need of all to come into loving sympathy with the character of Christ, and possess of this mind of Jesus which in practical life would lead all to be unselfish, and would do away with the competition and trusts that blot out the interests of so many people, and promote cooperation which is a form of carrying out Christ's Golden Rule.

The evening service was a talk on "The Children of America," and the pastor criticised the criticisms of American youth. He thought that reverence was lacking most conspicuously among American children but felt that it was owing to lack of reverence in the parents. He judged that mothers were paying more attention to remedy that deficiency of late from the reports of the mothers' meetings and he hoped for the future. There was music by the orchestra, two violins, the violincello, two cornets and the piano. It was very enjoyable.

The new church calendar gives great satisfaction and is excellent for reference during the week.

THE OLD WAY

Of Treating Dyspepsia and Indigestion by Dieting a Dangerous and Useless One.

We say the old way, but really it is a very common one at present time and many dyspeptics and physicians as well consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigestion is to diet, either by selecting certain foods and rejecting others or to greatly diminish the quantity usually taken, in other words, the starvation plan is by many supposed to be the first essential.

The almost certain failure of the starvation cure for dyspepsia has been proven time and again, but still the moment dyspepsia makes its appearance a course of dieting is at once advised.

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting or starvation to a man suffering from dyspepsia, because indigestion itself starves every organ and evrey nerve and every fibre in the body.

What the dyspeptic wants is abundant nutrition, which means plenty of good, wholesome, well cooked food and something to assist the weak stomach to digest it. This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted and this is the method by which they cure the worst cases of dyspepsia, in other words the patient eats plenty of wholesome food and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest it for ihm. In this way the system is nourished and the over-worked stomach rested, because the tablet will digest the food whether the stomach works or not. One of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat or eggs.

Your druggist will tell you that Stuarts' Dyspepsia Tablets are the purest and safest remedy for stomach troubles and every trial makes one more friend or this excellent preparation. Sold at 50 cents for full sized package at all drug stores.

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

CASTILIAN AGROUND.

New Allan Liner Fast on Rocks In a Most Dangerous Spot.

Very Little Hope That Vessel Can Be Saved.

Passengers and Part of Crew Taken Off and Safely Landed at Yarmouth.

Halifax, March 13.—The new Allan liner Castilian, from Portland for Halifax, went ashore at Gannet Rock light, near Yarmouth, at low tide yesterday in a dense fog. Her compasses were deranged. Two compartments are full of water. Tugs have gone from Yarmouth to the scene. The Castilian arrived at Halifax from Liverpool 10 days ago on her maiden voyage and went to Portland to load cargo for return. The steamer was due to embark mails and passengers here for Liverpool. Gannet Rock has a revolving light on it, visible 12 miles. There is a range of dangerous rocks and shoals in this vicinity. The Castilian took a general cargo of grain, etc., at Portland. The ship itself is valued at about $700,000, and her cargo at over $450,000.

The first and second holds are full of water. The steamer is aground aft to the engine room, and there are six feet of water in the engine room. The steamer is bulged badly up from the saloon, and there is six fathoms of water under her aft. The captain, three mates, the steward, engineers and some of the crew remain on board and three tugs are standing by.

The weather is moderate and there is not much sea on. There is a fair prospect of salvage of the cargo, but very little hope of saving the ship. The steamer was 15 miles out of her course with a fresh southwest wind.

The Castilian has had a brief career. She was launched in January, ran her trials Feb. 9 on the Clyde, left Liverpool Feb. 24 and Halifax March 4 for Portland. She was the largest Allan liner afloat and was the pioneer of the new fleet of 10,000-ton ships the Allans are building for the Canadian trade. She was in charge of Captain Barrett, and this is probably his first accident.

The passengers and crew of the wrecked steamship left Yarmouth this morning for Halifax to catch the mail steamer Vancouver for England.

The passengers all speak in the highest terms of the discipline maintained when the ship struck. She had been moving slowly with a sharp lookout in the haze. The officers wanted to give Cape Sable a wide berth, which they feared they might be nearing. Nothing of whistle or buoy was heard or seen and no sign of land until the shock. The blow was so light many passengers thought it was a heavy wave only. Engines were reversed, but when it was found the steamer held fast the boats were got ready and the sleeping passengers quietly awakened and told to pack up in case it was necessary to send them ashore.

Splendid coolness was displayed by the whole crew. Rockets were fired at intervals, and at daylight the first officer and purser were sent ashore in a small boat to Tusket. They drove nine miles to Yarmouth for assistance. During the time the passengers were waiting for help the sea began to run high and the rolling of the ship became unpleasant. Lord Archibald Douglas, returning Jesuit missionary, conducted an impressive service on the deck in the afternoon.

In the afternoon, as no sign of assistance appeared, the boats were launched and the passengers and crew told off to them. Shortly after the whistles of tugs were heard, and at 5 p. m. all hands but the captain, engineers and some of the crew were safely taken off and conveyed to Yarmouth.

The Pavonia In Port.

Liverpool, March 13.—The officers of the Cunard line steamer Pavonia, Captain Atkin, which was towed into St. Michaels on Feb. 18, disabled, and which arrived in tow of two tugs, maintain the utmost reticence regarding the steamer's experience. It was gleaned from the crew, however, on their dispersal, that the Pavonia passed through a terrible ordeal. Her troubles began with a terrific gale on Jan. 30. The crew, it appears, never lost confidence, though they assert that the vessel rolled so tremendously that it would have been possible sometimes to walk on her inner sides. Altogether, as the Pavonia now lies at the dock, she presents a pitiably damaged condition.

To Help Marlboro Strikers.

Brockton, Mass., March 13.—The Central Labor union of this city yesterday listened to an address by P. J. Bryne of Marlboro, who spoke of the labor troubles in his city, and asked financial support. The union adopted a set of resolutions sympathizing with the strikers, and then voted to assess the full membership of this city, over 4000, for the benefit of the Marlboro shoe workmen.

Difficulties Smoothed Over.

London, March 13.—Emperor William, it is announced this morning, will arrive at Cowes on July 29 for yachting week. The Daily Graphic, in commenting upon the announcement, says: Coming immediately after the emperor's reception of Cecil Rhodes, it marks the complete reconciliation of Great Britain and Germany.

Held For Grand Jury.

Bucksport, Me., March 13.—The preliminary hearing in the case of W. T. Treworgy, charged with the murder of Sarah Ware on Sept. 17, 1898, was concluded Saturday before Judge Chase of the western Hancock municipal court. Judge Chase said that he felt obliged to hold Treworgy without bail for the April grand jury.

Excursion Trains Collided.

Wellington, N. Z., March 13.—Five persons were killed and 40 injured in a collision between two excursion trains yesterday near Rakaia, on Rakaia river, south island.

NO STATE RELIGION.

All Creeds Given Liberty to Exercise Their Own Functions In Japan.

Washington, March 13.—Much interest was manifested in reports to the effect that the Japanese government is discussing a plan to adopt Christianity as the state religion. So far as could be ascertained, however, the statement lacks credibility or foundation in fact. The published report was last night shown to Jutaro Komura, the Japanese minister, who was asked to make a statement on the subject. In reply, he spoke substantially as follows:

"The statement that Japan is discussing a plan to adopt Christianity as its state religion is not true, and there is no possbility of it being done. Unlike Russia, England and other European countries, the Japanese government has no state religion, but, according to the constitution of the country, every religion is given the liberty to exercise its functions, so long as they do not interfere with or disturb the peace, order and good morals of society."

Veterans' Preference Act Void.

Chicago, March 13.—Judge Gibbons has declared that the act of the legislature of Illinois, passed in 1897, giving veterans of the Civil war preference over other candidates in civil service examinations, is void, because it gives a special or exclusive privilege, and because it is not consistent with the basic principles underlying the nature of our institutions. John Maloney brought suit to review the act of the civil service board in giving a place to Aaron L. Brown, a veteran of the Seventy-first New York, whose examination average was 13 points below that of Maloney. An appeal was allowed to secure a final adjudication in the supreme court.

Decidedly Uncleanly.

Chicago, March 13.—Lieutenant Colonel H. B. Sharpe testified at the beef inquiry Saturday that wagons which had not been cleaned after being used for the transportation of manure and wagons in which garbage had been carried, the bottoms of which were covered with slime, in which maggots were crawling, were used to carry fresh meat to the soldiers at Camp Thomas, at Chickamauga, last summer. The meat issued to the troops, the witness said, was of good quality and in good condition, but after it had been carried in wagons in the condition described, it was of course impossible for the troops to use it.

Joe Wants to Fight.

Washington, March 13. — General Joseph Wheeler has seen the president concerning his future status. Subsequently he said that while the question of his remaining in the army had not been definitely decided, it was probable that he would not remain in the service. He thought the president would be unable to find a place for him, and he was not pushing the matter. "But I would like to remain in the service," he said, "and be sent to the Philippines, where there is some fighting. I would not care so much to stay in the army if I had to remain in this country."

Inhaled Deadly Fumes.

Philadelphia, March 13.—John Williams, aged 28, and his wife, Margaret, aged 25, were asphyxiated by illuminating gas yesterday at their room in this city. Mr. Williams returned home after midnight Saturday. The stopper on the gas jet is very close to another controlling the flow of gas to a radiator. In turning off the former, it is thought, he accidentally turned on the latter.

Lost In the Woods.

New Britain, Conn., March 13.—The remains of Thomas Reilly, aged 60, who has been missing from his home since Monday, were found in the woods on the Slater farm, about three miles from the center of the city, yesterday. Reilly was slightly demented, and it is thought that after wandering into the woods he became lost and died from exposure.

Ancient Landmark Gone.

Vienna, March 13.—The cottage at Rohrau, lower Austria, in which the celebrated composer, Joseph Haydn, was born, on March 31, 1732, was destroyed by fire yesterday. The Haydn cottage, long an object of affectionate interest to musicians, was built by Haydn's father, a worthy wheelwright, of whose 12 children the composer was the second.

A Total Wreck.

Crookhaven, Ire., March 13.—The British steamer Oswestry, from Norfolk, Feb. 22, for Manchester, stranded in a fog yesterday in Dunlough bay. The crew reached the shore, many having had miraculous escapes. The local people displayed great bravery in saving life. The Oswestry's cargo is washing ashore and the vessel is a total wreck.

Frightened to Death.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 13.—At 7 o'clock last evening William Steadman, a conductor on the Stratford avenue line of the Bridgeport Traction company, dropped dead on the platform of his car from heart disease, aggravated by fright from a blinding flash of lightning. He was 30 years old and unmarried.

Attributed to Anarchists.

Paris, March 13.—The Eclair confirms the report that the government inquiry regarding the explosion of the navy powder magazine at La Goubran has shown that it was not of accidental origin, and much credence is now given to the rumor that it was an anarchist outrage.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—5:58; sets, 5:49.
Moon sets—9:37 p. m.
High water—12:45 a. m.; 1:15 p. m.

Rains were general Saturday night from the gulf states northward and northeastward through New England and rains and snows continued during Sunday from the upper Mississippi valley and upper lake region eastward. In New England rain will continue, turning to snow. Brisk winds will prevail on the New England coast. Storm signals are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Hatteras to Eastport.

TWO MEN KILLED.

Serious Result of a Head-on Collision of Freights In Connecticut.

Naugatuck, Conn., March 13.—In a head-on collision between two freight trains, near Bradley's station, on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, yesterday morning, two lives were lost and several others of the train's crew were severely injured, though none fatally. The killed are Engineer George Dean, 29, and Fireman Daniel Kennedy, 28, Danbury. Thirteen cars, mostly loaded with cotton, left the track, and 10 of them went down a very steep embankment. The cause of the accident is alleged to be failure to obey or a misunderstanding of orders on the part of Engineer Hickey, though probably the accident might have been averted were it not for the heavy fog prevailing, which prevented the engineers from seeing each other until too late to prevent the collision.

A March Blizzard.

Rapid City, S. D., March 13.—The blizzard that swept over the country east of this city yesterday was the worst ever experienced here. Two men are missing, and it is feared that others were caught in the storm and have perished.

Detroit, March 13.—Nearly all points in the upper peninsula of Michigan report railway traffic completely blocked by snow. One of the heaviest storms in the history of the snow belt is prevailing.

Milwaukee, March 13.—Most of the railroad companies between Milwaukee and St. Paul are experiencing much difficulty in moving trains on account of the storm in the northern part of the state.

Died Friendless and Alone.

New York, March 13.—Johnny Griffin, the "Braintree lad," and in his day one of the cleverest featherweight fighters in the world, died in a boarding house here yesterday. His body now lies in the morgue, and unless some of his friends care for it, it is likely to find a resting place in the potter's field. Griffin was born in Braintree, Mass., about 30 years ago. In the prize ring he has a long list of victories to his credit. He was a fast fighter, a hard hitter, clever and always to be depended upon. About five years ago Griffin quit the prize ring, having made a considerable amount of money, and began the study of dentistry. He spent some time in this occupation, but finally gave up dentistry and became very dissipated, losing most of his friends and all of his money. A few weeks ago Griffin injured himself quite seriously, and was taken to the Bellevue hospital. He refused to remain, however, for any length of time. He continued to dissipate, and suddenly collapsed at his boarding house yesterday. He became unconscious and died before medical attendance could reach him.

POPULATION OF CUBA

Will Be Ascertained by a Careful Census by the United States.

No Government Has Yet Been Recognized by Us.

Administration Unconcerned Regarding Action of the "Cuban Assembly."

Washington, March 14.—The administration has decided to take a census of Cuba as complete and careful as that taken in the United States. A census is found necessary to determine who are citizens and qualified to vote at elections, before an election is held to establish a representative government. This censue will not be taken through or by any organization claimnig to be representative of the Cuban people, but by the authority and under the direction of the military authorities of the United States government, assisted by such officers as may be necessary to carry on the work.

The government of the United States has not recognized any assembly or organization, person or faction in Cuba as authority to speak for the Cuban people. It will continue to deal with individuals and municipalities as it finds them. No government has been recognized, and none will be until one has been constituted which is representative of the citizenship of the whole island.

The action of the "Cuban assembly" has given the government at Washington no concern whatever. It is known that the $3,000,000 now on its way to Cuba will be acceptable to the soldiers of the Cuban army. It matters not whether Gomez has been deposed or not, or whether he accepts his deposition. The government will deal with the individuals of the Cuban army, and the money will be paid to the Cuban soldiers by United States officers. Gomez has been the agent through which the negotiations were carried on. The acquiescence of the "Cuban assembly" was not sought, nor in any way considered.

The payment of the $3,000,000 to the Cuban soldiers will form a basis of the proposed census, as considerable information concerning the Cubans will be taken at that time. The name, residence, proposed residence, and other personal history of each Cuban soldier will be taken when he gets his money and gives up his gun. This information also will be of use in the future, should it happen that the men who are thus paid fail to kep their parole and maintain the peace. The muster rolls and papers connected with all the Cuban organizations also will become the property of the United States, and be retained for future use. When the complete census is taken the same information concerning each citizen will be obtained as that obtained from each soldier.

Cavite's Big Navy Yard,

Washington, March 14.—It is said to be the intention of the navy department to send 1000 marines to Cavite to take care of the navy's interests there. It is the purpose to send a colonel in command of these men. This seems to be a very large number of marines to station at one navy yard, but the explanation is that the Cavite station is the largest in the possession of the United States, including about 70 square miles of land, with 13 miles of water front. On the government lands are many squatters and small towns, and a large number of men will be required to thoroughly police this territory. The work of repairing the three Spanish gunboats raised in Manila bay is reported to be progressing rapidly at Hong Kong. The vessels are said to be in excellent condition as to machinery.

Coal For Dewey.

Washington, March 14.—The equipment bureau of the navy department is now loading at Newport News 5000 tons of coal to be taken to Manila. This coal will go through the Suez canal and thence to Admiral Dewey's fleet. The department has shipped 40,000 tons to Manila since the war began, mostly from Newport News or Baltimore. The coal sent by steamers goes through Suez canal and that in sailing vessels around the Cape of Good Hope. The trip through the canal takes about 50 days and the sailing vessels make the voyage in five months. The coal for Honolulu is sent by the way of Cape Horn. Nearly all the sailing vessels used are American, while most of the steamers are British.

Volunteers Coming Home.

Washington, March 14.—The war department has determined to muster out and bring home all the volunteers now in Cuba with the exception of the volunteer engineers and immunes. The necessity for immediate action has been brought to the attention of the war department on account of the quarantine regulations against Cuba, which go into effect about May 1, and which are especially strict at all southern ports. When the troops are brought to this country they must under the law be mustered out in United States camps, and they will no doubt be brought to camps nearest their homes.

Mustered Out.

Washington, March 14.—By the direction of the president, an order was issued mustering out a large number of general and staff officers of the volunteer army. The officers who have not been mustered out will be retained for service under the provision of the reorganization law. The general officers mustered out yesterday are as follows: Major General Keifer, Brigadier Generals Arnold, Alexander, Kennington, Snyder, Randall, Sheridan, Douglas, Boynton, McKibben, Carpenter and Humphreys.

The President's Outing.

Washington, March 14.—President and Mrs. McKinley and a party of friends left the city last night for a vacation of 10 days or two weeks at Thomasville, Ga., where the train is scheduled to arrive at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The trip is made aboard a splendid train of Pullman cars, perfect in equipment, with every provision for the comfort and safety of the party. Ten minutes before train time President and Mrs. McKinley went aboard the train and greeted those who accompanied them on the trip. These included Vice President and Mrs. Hobart, Master Hobart, Senator and Mrs. Hanna, Miss Hanna and Miss Phelps, Dr. J. M. Rixey, George B. Cortelyou, assistant secretary to the president, and B. S. Barnes, one of the executive clerks.

Many Wish to Remain.

Washington, March 14.—It is expected that General Otis will be authorized to organize three or four regiments of the provisional army out of the volunteers from the various states now at Manila when the time comes for mustering out of the volunteers. All the volunteers, it is stated at the war department, do not want to come home, having the American determination not "to retreat while under fire."

Aguinaldo's Envoys Depart,

Washington, March 14.—Senors Lopez and Losada, the members of the Filipino junta who remained in Washington on account of the illness of Losada after Agoncillo's flight, departed for New York yesterday. They will sail for Europe tomorrow.

Bay State Legislature,

Boston, March 14.—A bill for the reconstruction of the Malden bridge in Charlestown on the road to Everett, over the Mystic river, was reported in the house yesterday. It names $200,000 as the amount to be expended, the bridge to be 60 feet wide. The following bills were also reported: For licensing lunch wagons, in a new draft; a bill to give jurisdiction in inquest cases when the body is found within 50 rods of the boundaries of the district of a court in the state; a bill transferring the control of the water department of the city of Quincy to the commissioner of public works; one authorizing the city of Woburn to increase its water debt; a bill authorizing the city of Cambridge to issue bonds for $500,000 for a park loan, and a bill vesting the powers of the trustees of the water board sinking fund of the same city in the hands of the sinking fund commissioners or of a special board; a bill to allow the town of Southbridge to construct a system of sewerage.

There were adverse reports on a bill making election day a half-holiday; on the bill for nomination of municipal officers in ward caucus; on the bill to repeal the law relative to standard record inks; on the bill to amend the abuttors' objection law; on the bill repealing the liquor license limitation law.

Leave to withdraw was reported on the petition for the appointment of auditors by the governor; on the petition to allow the sale of liquor election days after the close of the polls, and on holidays; on the petition and bill to provide for safety appliances being used on all buildings under construction in the city of Boston.

Ought not to pass was reported on a bill making rendering establishments in cities common nuisances. The committee on rules reported in favor of admitting the petition for the incorporation of Simmons female college.

There was somewhat of a debate over the engrossment of the milk inspection bill.

In the senate the committee on counties reported a bill to permit the county of Worcester to borrow $70,000 to complete, equip and furnish the court house at Worcester; cities, a bill to authorize Quincy to issue $100,000 4-percent, 10-year bonds for refunding indebtedness, and another to authorize Quincy to borrow $150,000 in three yearly instalments; the committee on liquor law reported adversely on a bill for a biennial vote on granting liquor licenses in Boston.

The rules were suspended to admit a resolve to pay Samuel T. Davis, medical examiner of Barnstable county, $359 for services in connection with the wreck of the steamer Portland.

The governor received a formal letter inviting the co-operation of Massachusetts in regard to the coming American exposition at Omaha.

REBELS ON THE RUN.

Guadalupe, San Nicolas and Pasig Taken by the Americans.

Grand Work Accomplished by Wheaton's Brigade.

Shells From a Gunboat on the River Created Consternation Among the Enemy.

Manila, March 14.—The advance on Aguinaldo's forces, which was planned when General Lawton arrived, was begun yesterday, and the rebels are in full flight from all the country around the town of Pasig, while Pasig itself and the smaller towns of Guadeloupe and San Nicolas are in the hands of the United States troops.

The fighting was severe at times, but the rebels were steadily driven from every position in which they sought protection. Their loss must be heavy, though what it is cannot be stated definitely. In the fighting around Pasig it is thought that over 30 of them were killed and fully 100 wounded.

The Americans escaped with very little loss. Only one man has been reported killed so far, and the number of wounded will not exceed 10 or 12.

The fighting yesterday was done by General Wheaton's brigade, assisted by a light draught gunboat, which moved up the Pasig river in touch with the movements of the troops.

General Wheaton started out early and moved towards Guadaloupe. Here the enemy made but feeble resistance, and the shells of the gunboat from the river created consternation among them.

They were soon in full flight and our troops promptly occupied Guadaloupe and all the positions adjoining it.

The troops then swung, took the right, and swept down on San Nicolas. The rebels tried to maintain their positions for some time, but the fire of the troops was too hot for them and they quickly broke and fled, leaving several wounded and about half a dozen dead behind them.

General Wheaton gave them no rest, but followed up their retreating forces relentlessly. At Pasig they evidently calculated on making a stand, and some of their positions had been quite well fortified. But when Scott's battery took a position on the heights opposite the town and began to throw shells into the Filipino entrenchments the situation became extremely uncomfortable for them. Soon, too, the gunboat had got into position, the range being signalled from General Wheaton's headquarters, and the double bombardment soon made the entrenchments too hot for the enemy.

After less than an hour's fighting they began to break and flee. Some of the Oregon companies, which had advanced on the right flank, were in a position to partly head them off, and to their marksmanship is due many of the fatalities on the Filipino side. In the trenches around Pasig were found several dead rebels and a large number of wounded. Over a score were captured.

General Wheaton is now in absolute possession of the ground between the two main wings of the rebel army.

The rebels are in full retreat, but the pursuit is continuing, as it is part of General Wheaton's strategy to deliver such a blow upon the wing he is now engaging that there will be no recovery from it.

Reinforcements cannot be sent to the insurgents, for General Wheaton's men have closed all the roads and avenues between the north and south.

This is only the beginning of the drastic measures that are to be taken in future dealings with the Filipinos.

General Otis is determined to open the country from Manila to Malolos, the so-called capital of the insurgents, and to restore order there. The American troops are to be advanced day after day, and the rebels will be compelled to retreat.

Entertained by Ancients.

Boston, March 14.—Sergeant George H. Ousey of the Honorable Artillery company of London was entertained by the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company of this city last night, and the chief theme of the after-dinner speeches was the projected trip to this city, in 1900, of the London company.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The fight for the Nicaragua canal in the Fifty-fifth congress has left the question just where the fight in the fifty-fourth congress left it. It is a great disappointment to the whole country that favorable action was not taken in this most important matter.—Beverly Times.

☞ The Salvation Army in Boston hopes to keep the poor out of the clutches of the money lenders, whom it looks upon as among their worst foes. To this end it has opened a pawn shop in Harrison avenue, to be conducted on honest principles. The money advanced will be proportionate to the value of the goods and the rate of interest charged will not be so great but that the articles may be redeemed at a reasonable advance upon the pawning price. This is a move in a good direction. If the Salvation Army can show the people how to avoid the necessity for pawning their property it will be doing even better.—New Bedford Standard.

Pneumatic Tool Case.

A civil case of considerable interest to local granite manufacturers was heard in the Quincy court today. The case in question was that of the American Pneumatic Tool Co. against the Columbia Granite Co. for additional rental which was to be paid after in junction was obtained by the American Company against the Kellar tool. The question involved was as to the injunction which has lately been obtained by plaintiff against the Kellar tool.

The court in giving the decision in favor of the defendant held that the injunction which was obtained upon default against the Kellar people and which default has since been removed was not such an injunction as was intended by the contract, and the plaintiff not having in any way enforced its injunction against the Kellar people it should find for the defendant.

Bates & Holiday appeared for plaintiff and W. W. Jenness, Esq., for defendant.

ONLY A SCARE.

Rumor That Blacksmiths Were Disgruntled.

Smoothed Over, However, at a Meeting.

Work Resumed Today by Granite Industry.

Work in the granite district was resumed this morning after a strike of two weeks' duration. The first class men found no difficulty in obtaining work but some of the poorer classes of help are making a hustle, and it is quite safe to say if a man is not capable of earning the minimum price he will have some difficulty in obtaining work.

The Cutters' Union held a meeting Monday, at which the action of its committee was approved, which put to an end all doubt as far as the cutters were concerned.

There were however rumors about the street that the blacksmiths were disgruntled and that they might make trouble by demanding certain changes in the bill of prices governing their branch of the business, but it turned out all right.

A meeting of the blacksmith was held Monday afternoon, at which the matter was discussed. The Cutters' Committee was instructed to sign the existing bill of prices for them.

Monday evening as announced in the Ledger, the joint committee of Manufacturers and Cutters met to complete its work. The main stumbling blocks in the bill had been disposed of and what remained was quickly settled.

The only changes were some slight omission and additions in the preamble relative to the effectual enforcement of the agreement.

A new clause was added which gave authority for the joint committee to enter a yard at any time to see that the bill of prices was being lived up to.

The only matters upon which the two committees could not agree was that relative to the number of apprentices to be employed to a gang of men; and that relative to special bargains. According to previous arrangement these two matters will be left to the State Board of Arbitration.

FOUNDER'S DAY.

Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer Speaks on the New Education.

The lecture by Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer at the Woodward Institute last evening, was all that might be expected of an educated, accomplished woman with her reputation as a public educator and speaker. It was a rare delight to listen to one so thoroughly prepared upon her subject, so cultivated in speech and manner, and whose entire address was lighted up with a sweet and bright spirit of optomism, that made it, while able, convincing and classical, yet still most womanly and persuasive.

Beginning by emphasing the thought that vast changes had taken place respecting the opportunities afforded women for a higher education, since the death of the founder, Dr. Woodward, Mrs. Palmer said the doors of educational institutions in America and Europe were nwo standing wide open for women and that even the great professors went out to meet and teach them. In beautiful language she sketched the superior advanatges girls now enjoy and how the times differ from the period of her own youth.

One great benefits of this change is a more careful concern about the health and physical well being. Formerly it was considered aristocratic to be delicate in health and to be "sickled over with the pale cast of thought." Not so now. The girls are now taught to care for themselves and to lay the foundation of happiness and comfort in early life. In a trip to the Pacific coast she had noticed that almost every beautiful hill, east and west, was crowned with a sanitarian or asylum. Nervousness was the bane of the American people but the physical exercise and culture in our schools and college were fast tearing them down.

The higher education also gave the girls a new and wider interest in life, as it quickened their love for books, enlarged their scope for service, gave them higher ideals and opened their eyes and ears to the beauty and goodness of the world. If the fairies should now come dancing up these aisles and they could give us, as we once believed they could, our dearest wish we should make that our girls might be happy and useful.

Dr. Woodward by his generosity in bestowing this Institution upon Quincy laid the foundation of happiness and usefulness, for these girls, and we cannot celebrate too much the forethought of such a founder, who provided that the girls of Quincy should have the best, not the best of his day merely, but the best that future time will bring. The address was replete with noble thoughts, bright as a new dollar and was enthusiastically received.

The programme included the following music by the school under the direction of Prof. J. D. Buckingham:

Jack Frost, Arr. from Hatton
A Song of Cheer, Arr. from Hugo Jungst
Sunset, Arr. from Hugo Jungst
Smiling Dawn, Handel
"Dear Woodward."

Dear Woodward, today would we herald thy praise,
As we gratefully, joyfully sing;
And thy Founder's best monument herein we raise,
When our tributes of honor we bring.
Oh, the days that are past, though they number but few,
Yet are many in richness of life;
May the years still to come, with sweet womanhood true,
Lofty thought, and deeds gracious, be rife.

Marked progress has recently been made in this department by the young lady pupils, and all the numbers were enjoyed.

The audience was a large one, limited only by the capacity of the study hall. The portrait of Dr. Woodward over the platform was trimmed with smilax, and conspicuous on the desk were a huge bouquet of lilies of the valley, a bouquet of beautiful pinks.

Before and after the programme many had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Palmer and Miss Small, the principal.

that "bread is the staff of life," like many other old saws, has to give way to the fellow with the pencil. Statistics of the world's food in a recent number of McClure's Magazine, gives Potatoes as the food most in use. Nearly 50 per cent. more bushels of Potatoes than Wheat being consumed yearly.

This has been a bad year to get good Potatoes. We have, however, just put in a car load of GREEN MOUNTAINS of very fine quality, which we can thoroughly recommend. ALL FAVORABLE.

Mayor's Bills So Reported in Legislature.

Will Give Opportunity to Reduce Tax Rate.

And the Water Commissioners Will be Abolished.

If the Mayor is only as successful in securing for Quincy the Metropolitan boulevard, as the other measures which he endorsed, there will be rejoicing in the city. Some surprise was manifest last evening when it was rumored that the two financial bills had been reported favorably in the Legislature, but today comes the news that the bill relative to the Water Board was also included.

Representative Sheppard, when interviewed, said all three of the bill had been reported favorably by the Committee on Cities, and all in the form of the original draft, except the term of years in the street improvement bill of $150,000.

This bill as drafted extended the debt over forty years. As reported it makes the term twenty-five years.

Section 1 of the bill as reported reads: "The city of Quincy, for the purpose of paying the expenses incurred in the laying out, locating anew, widening and constructing highways in the city of Quincy, may incur indebtedness to an amount not exceeding one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and may from time to time issue negotiable bonds, notes or script therefor, but not exceeding in amount the sum of fifty thousand dollars in any one municipal year. Such bonds, notes or script shall be denominated on their face, "City of Quincy Street Improvement Loan Act of 1899," shall be signed by the Treasurer and countersigned by the Mayor of said city, shall be payable in periods not exceeding twenty-five years from the date of issue, shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding four per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, and shall not be considered or reckoned in determining the limit of indebtedness of said city. The proceeds of said loan shall be used for the purposes of this act and no other."

THE WATER ACT.

The bill relative to the tenure of the board of Water Commissioners as reported provides, "Whenever a system of water works is substantially completed and put in successful operation in the city of Quincy the board of Water Commissioners upon written request of the Mayor of said city shall transfer said system of water works to the Commissioner of Public Works of said city and thereupon the powers of said board of Water Commissioners shall cease and all of its powers shall be vested in and all its duties imposed upon said Commissioner of Public Works."

THE REFUNDING ACT.

The bill authorizing the city to refund $100,000 of its debt provides that the city of Quincy by its city council is hereby authorized to issue from time to time bonds, notes, or script to an amount not exceeding one hundred thousand dollars for the purpose of refunding a portion of its indebtedness, at present existing as it becomes due. The bond, note or script under the provisions of this act shall be made payable not more than ten years from the date of issue and shall bear interest at a rate not exceeding four per centum per annum. They shall be signed by the Treasurer, and countersigned by the Mayor and auditor of the city, and may be sold or negotiated at public or private sale and the proceeds shall be used to discharge an equal amount of the existing debt of said city.

The municipal debt of the city is now apportioned as follows, and with the passage of the act it will be for the City Council to say how much of the $81,950.25 which matures this year and requires over $4 of the tax rate shall be refunded:

Year.	Amount.
In 1899,	$81,950.25
In 1900,	62,700.00
In 1901,	32,655.61

THE PATROL BILL.

Representative Sprague Honestly States His Views.

Recently the Quincy branch of the Granite Cutters' National Union presented a petition to the Legislature authorizing a parol in the vicinity of strikes.

Alexander Souter, the correspondent of the Granite Cutters' Journal and one of the committee of three on drafting the bill, reports progress on the bill as follows:

"It was intrusted to the care of Messrs. Sheppard and Sprague, representatives from this district. Mr. Sprague wished to meet the stonecutters of Quincy as a body and discuss the bill before he would attempt to do anything for or against, and, of course he was invited to be present at the next meeting. Mr. Sprague is not a professional politician and is new in the business, this being his first year in the legislature; but he was a member of the city council for several years.

"After the usual preliminaries he was given the privilege of addressing the meeting. He took for his text the well known prayer of the Pharisee, "Thank God I am not as other men are," which at first appeared rather egotistical. He explained that in asking the advice of his colleagues in the House, some advised him not to father it, while others told him to accept it all and put on a nice face and pretend to be its friend and it would be all right. But he (Mr. Sprague) was not in favor of the bill because it was against the freedom of the individual and was class legislation and that we did not require any such legislation. That was his belief, and he had the honesty to come here and tell us face to face, hence the text.

"He also stated that Messrs. Carey and States of Haverhill and Mellin of Worcester, thought our request was a good one and they would do all they could to assist in having it become a law. I do not care to follow his line of reasoning as it was mostly abstract and had very little direct bearing on the question. As to the justice or injustice of our request, the principal points raised were that it was against class legislation, against liberty and socialistic, and if it were to become law the use of brickbats might become a nuisance. Of course, the company present were excluded, but others might do it.

"When Mr. Sprague finished debate became quite general and a number of the members took part and feel safe in saying without bias that they handled the subject just as intelligently as Mr. Sprague did.

"The brick-bat issue was met by pointing out that it would be the duty of those who had the enforcing of the laws to see to that and, even if they should be used, that was not sufficient reason why the liberty of the people should be curtailed because of the actions of the few. Mr. Sprague was also reminded of the fact that not so very long ago in one of the towns of Massachusetts, where a strike was in progress, the people were compelled to keep off the streets during the time the oppositionists were going to and from work. I am sure that such evidence must make it plain that labor has not equal rights with the capitalist in protecting its commodity.

"The assertion that it was class legislation and against liberty was also met by stating that it was a plea for the freedom of the individual and was individualistic and not class, but backed by the branch and was in line with the spirit of the times, or the Republican party in particular. For some time back the greater part of legislation had been got because of collective effort and might have been aided by the help of the lobbyist. Of course, there is no fear of the lobbyist taking a hand to help us, because we have no money to spend in that way.

"He was reminded that the Dingley bill was collective effort and that the subsidy shipping bill was collective, and both were class legislation in the interests of the few and at the expense of the many. The interstate commerce law was Socialism because the railroad companies asked for it and its object was to do something for them which they could not do for themselves and was a complete failure.

"We ask for no help, only the liberty to help ourselves without infringing on the liberty of those who may be opposed to us; but at the same time we do claim the right to walk the streets and enter into conversation and reason with those who may be working in opposition. They are doing themselves and their fellowmen an injury by helping the capitalist to resist the demands of his workmen who may be on strike.

"A motion was made that a vote of thanks be extended to Mr. Sprague and after some debate it was finally voted that he should be given a vote of thanks for being present. The members of the branch do not expect much help from Mr. Sprague. He belongs to the successful middle class and his time has been so much taken up in looking after his business that any knowledge he possesses has been derived from his environment. He has had no time and probably no wish to study the social problems. He is not even capable of arguing the ism which he professes, i. e., individualism."

Fastidious Snakes.

Mr. A. B. Baker of the national zoological park notes that the large snakes refuse to eat rats captured about the buildings, but quickly devour those caught out of doors. Rats taken indoors were then kept for a day or so in a cage with an earth floor, after which they were readily eaten. A very similar experience was had with smaller snakes, copperheads, these declining to eat house mice, permitting them to run about the cage or even over their bodies with impunity, while field mice were quickly taken even after they had been dead for some little time. These facts seem to show that snakes have a very keen sense of smell and are largely guided by it in the choice of their food.—Science.

Bookkeeper Arrested.

Arlington, Mass., March 14. — The singular occurrence of last week at the office of the W. T. Wood company, ice tool manufacturers, wherein the books containing many of the accounts were partially ruined by somebody who entered the office at night, was cleared up, in the belief of the town police, last night, when they arrested the bookkeeper, W. B. Janes. The only accounts damaged were those wherein the firm was the creditor. It is said that the books have not been balanced for some time. On what charge Janes was arrested is not known.

Moran's Move.

Boston, March 14.—John B. Moran, a well-known criminal lawyer and politician, has divorced himself from the Suffolk superior criminal court in a letter to Clerk Manning, in which he said: "I hereby withdraw my appearance from all cases pending in your court in which my name has been entered for the defendant. I have arrived at the conclusion that, owing to my position politically to the district attorney's office, it will be impossible for me for the next few years to try cases in the Suffolk superior criminal court, either with pleasure to myself or justice to my clients."

A Worthy Object.

Washington, March 14.—The German ambassador has informed the department of state that the German central committee for the erection of hospitals for persons with diseased lungs has resolved to convoke a congress for the prevention and cure of tuberculosis as an epidemic. The congress will convene at Berlin on May 24, 1899, and continue its sessions to include the 27th of that month.

Newfoundland Strife.

St. John's March 14.—The political crisis continues. Premier Winter is negotiating with Mr. Bond for a coalition with the regular opposition. Messrs. Morine and Morris have 18 men assured, but the premier expects to secure a dissolution and to win the general election. Dissension in the colony is very keen, and troublesome times are expected.

Princeton Student Missing.

Princeton, N. J., March 13.—President Patton and the members of the senior class are much excited over the disappearance of Richard Webster, '99, of Islip, L. I. Over two weeks ago Webster left the university to visit his parents on Long Island, and after remaining home a few days left, as was supposed by his parents, for Princeton. President Patton ordered an investigation, but no trace of Webster has yet been discovered. Webster won the Stennecke scholarship at the beginning of the sophomore year, which yields the winner $500 annually through his college course.

He was an ex-representative in the legislature, a member of the Masons and many other secret societies, and had held a large number of important municipal offices. He was thought to be convalescent, but began to sink rapidly Saturday night.

A BATTLE WITH THUGS

In Which a Police Officer, Inspector and a Citizen Figured.

Trio of Footpads Created a Sensation In Lynn.

Police Have Landed Two Men Believed to Have Been Implicated.

Lynn, Mass., March 14.—A daring hold-up of a prominent citizen in front of his own home, situated within pistol shot from the city hall, by three thugs, a rescue by a police inspector, followed by a duel with the highwaymen and the wounding of the officer, an exciting chase over barb wire fences by another officer, and at length the capture of two suspected young men, gave the city a sensation last night that will last for some time to come.

The citizen was Charles Pierce, 60 years old, a retired broker, who was returning from his club, and was set upon by three daring highwaymen just as he was about to enter his own yard. One of the men felled Mr. Pierce to the ground, and all three began to pummel him. The old man vainly endeavered to ward off the blows with his arms and an umbrella, but, nevertheless, sustained a number of severe wounds on the head and body.

Just as the unequal battle was reaching a climax, Police Inspector Colby came around the corner and jumped into the fight. The thugs at once turned against the officer, and one of them pulled a revolver. Colby, however, whipped out his own weapon at the same time, and the highwayman, calling upon his companions, started on the run down street with Colby in hot pursuit. Colby fired five shots at the men, but not one took effect. One of the men, however, had dodged behind a tree, and when the officer went by he stepped out and fired. His aim was considerably better than the officer's, for Colby went to the ground with a bullet through his thigh, and only an empty revolver to protect him. Before the man could give him more than one blow on the head, Officer Donahue came up on the men, missing the two fleeing highwaymen altogether. Colby's assailant, seeing the officer, turned sharp off the street, and, running through a field, jumped a barbwire fence. As he did so Donahoe also began shooting, but his aim was as bad as Colby's, for he failed to bring his man, and in getting over the fence tore his hands. He kept on, however, for a mile, until he lost his man in dark streets.

By this time the entire neighborhood was aroused, and the police officers were diligently running down clues as to the men, while Pierce and Colby were placed in the care of physicians.

Colby's wound proved to be a severe one, but not necessarily dangerous, while Pierce had seven deep bruises in his head dressed, at the same time suffering from a severe nervous shock.

In the meantime every [illegible] officer in the city had been notified, and inside of an hour two young men, who were acting suspiciously at West Lynn, and who had attempted to run from an officer, had been arrested and taken to headquarters. Here they gave their names as Con Rogers and Lawrence Kennedy. Both were about 25 years of age, and Rogers said he had come from Albany, while Kennedy refused to give his former residence. A search of Rogers revealed a pistol holster and a number of 32-calibre cartridges. The bullet which had been exracted from Colby an hour before was also a 32-calibre, and with this evidence the police believe they have two of the men who participated in the affair.

They were both taken to the hospital where Officer Colby positively identified them. He said that Rogers was the one who shot him, while Kennedy, he said, was the man who struck him on the head with a revolver. To complete the identification, it was found that Rogers had on Officer Colby's hat, which had been knocked off in the scuffle. Two revolvers were also found near the scene of the fight between Colby and the three men, one of which was empty, while the other was fully loaded.

An Important Step.

New York, March 14.—At a meting of the executive committee of the League of American Wheelmen yesterday it was decided that the league should organize a national touring department. The first work of the committee will be to arrange routes for this country, that wheelmen traveling from one state to another will be able to secure all the information desired at the headquarters of the touring committee. The office will be located in Boston. President Keenan will make a trip to Europe in the near future so that the work of the committee will be made international in its scope.

Youth Charged With Forgery.

Malden, Mass., March 14.—Elias H. Cameron of Wakefield, aged 15, was in court yesterday to answer to a charge of forgery. A plea of not guilty was entered and the case was continued. Cameron is charged with cashing a check for $23 which he took from the American Express company's box in the Wakefield postoffice on March 23, after forging a signature to it.

Waldron Gave Up.

New York, March 14.—At the Greenwood Athletic club in Brooklyn last night Sullivan of Boston got the decision over Waldron of Trenton in the 22nd round. The men were matched to fight 25 rounds at 115 pounds. Sullivan had the better of the fight and in the 22nd round Waldron was so badly beaten that his seconds threw up the sponge.

Deadlock Unbroken.

Dover, March 14.—The general assembly adjourned at 3:06 p. m. yesterday without electing a United States senator. The election of a United States senator goes over until 1901, unless a special session of the legislature is called for the purpose of an election.

DRIVEN INSANE.

Connecticut Schoolteacher Alleged to Have Become Victim of Persecution.

New Haven, March 14.—As the outcome of alleged persecution, of which it is stated a well known citizen of Hamden was the instigator, Miss Maud Hauff of this city, who has been teaching a district school in Hamden since last fall, is in a critical condition from an attempt at suicide. The persecution it is said has been going on for the past two months, and Thursday last she learned that charges against her character had been made to the school committee. This so harassed her that Saturday she became insane, and it was necessary to put a guard over her, and she was locked in her room in Hamden. Sunday night she eluded her watchers and, clad only scantily, started for the millpond to drown herself. After a long quest she was found not far from the pond, lying unconscious, in a snowbank. She had stumbled over a stone wall in the dark and the fall had rendered her unconscious. Though in a precarious condition her reason has been restored, which the doctors in attendance ascribe to her involuntary snow bath. The town is considerably worked up over the affair, and it is probable that action will be brought against those who are considered her persecutors.

Failed to Materalize.

Providence, March 14.—It was expected that the plant of the Rhode Island locomotive works would be transferred to the International Air Power company yesterday, and representatives of the latter company came to this city for the purpose of concluding the deal. When the mortgage deed upon the Worcester property of the Air company, which it had been insisted by the representatives of the bondholders in the locomotive works should be given as collateral security for the faithful carrying out of the purchase agreement, was examined, it was found unsatisfactory. No agreement was reached, and the Air Power men retired. It is said that negotiations are ended.

Making Good Progress.

Chicago, March 14.—Rapid progress was made yesterday by the government court of inquiry investigating the beef controversy. Nearly a dozen witnesses were examined, three of them being inspectors of the government bureau of animal industry, and the rest of them employes in various capacities at several Chicago packing houses. Recorder Davis stated last night that he was unable to approximate the length of time it would take to exhaust the list of Chicago witnesses, but it seems likely that two or three days will be required, and possibly the entire week before the members of the court can leave for Kansas City.

Fisher's Warning.

New Haven, March 14.—Captain Fisher called the candidates for the Yale track team together last evening and told them what was expected of them in the way of preliminary training. He advised them to be particularly careful about keeping up to the faculty requirement in the matter of rank in their studies, and read a communication from the faculty relative to men who [illegible] present in danger of [illegible] being dropped for falling below the requirements. Each man whose name appeared on the list was personally cautioned.

A Timely Discovery.

Westerly, R. I., March 14.—An attempt was made yesterday by unknown parties to poison the family of Vito Gleone of this city with paris green. The poison was discovered by the milkman, who saw a powder in the bottom of the pail left outside the house, into which he was about to pour the milk for the family. The nature of the powder was revealed upon a chemical examination, and officers at once began an investigation. No cause has yet been found for the act.

Johnson Looking For It.

Cincinnati, March 14.—W. C. Johnson, senior vice commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, has issued a call for the executive committee of the national board of administration of the Grand Army to meet in Philadelphia on April 12, to select a commander-in-chief to succeed the late Mr. Sexton. Johnson has been endorsed by the department of Ohio, as well as by the local posts of this city, and will be a candidate for election as the successor of Sexton.

Knocked Off $100,000.

Fall River, Mass., March 14.—The stockholders of the Laurel Lake mills voted yesterday to reduce the capital stock from $400,000 to $300,000. Some time ago the mills were recapitalized and $200,000 of new capital was asked for; but business began to improve, and when the stockholders had paid in $100,000 it was felt that there was no necessity to call for the other $100,000. The action of yesterday rescinds the former vote to ask for the extra $100,000.

Rockport Quarry Idle.

Gloucester, Mass., March 14.—On account of a disagreement as to what constitutes a day's work, 200 of the employes of the Rockport Granite company at Bay View are out on strike, the quarrymen leaving last week and the engineers and pavers yesterday. The company posted a notice yesterday to the effect that the men could either work 10 hours a day or pack up their tools. A meeting was held and it was unanimously voted to strike.

Eckley's Fatal Mistake.

Altoona, Pa., March 14.—Harry Eckley, the Pennsylvania railroad telegraph operator who gave a clear track signal on Thursday last to the passenger train that afterwards ran into a freight train, causing the death of Engineer Tarr and Fireman Kern, and who subsequently disappeared, presented himself at the coroner's inquest yesterday. The jury rendered a verdict holding him criminally responsible for the accident.

Tebeau's Prediction.

Cleveland, March 14.—"You can say officially," says Manager Tebeau, "that the Cleveland team will play in Cleveland and not in St. Louis this year. The people can rest assured that the Cleveland team will be one of the most formidable bidders for championship honors." Tebeau predicts that this will be the banner year in the history of baseball. The Cleveland club left here yesterday for Hot Springs.

CHANGES IN MAINE CITIES.

Election of Officers For the Ensuing Year—Town Meeting Day.

Biddeford, Me., March 14.—In one of the quietest municipal elections in the history of the city Mayor Levi W. Stone, the Citizen nominee, was re-elected over L. H. Kendall, nominee of both Democratic and Republican parties, by 362 majority. The Citizens' party also carried every ward in the city. The result was a surprise to the members of the victorious party, who did not expect to carry more than five wards. The vote for mayor was: Stone, 1243; Kendall, 881.

Bangor, Me., March 14. — Arthur Chapin (Rep.) was elected mayor over John R. Mason (Dem.), his vote standing 1939 to Mason's 915, there being but four scattering votes. The Republicans elect six of the seven aldermen and 17 of the 21 members of the common council.

Brewer, Me., March 14.—D. A. Sargent (Rep.) was elected mayor for the second time without opposition, the Democrats having made no nomination. The Republicans also elected all 10 aldermen, there being no opposition. The vote was very small.

Belfast, Me., March 14.—Clarence A. Poor, the Republican nominee, was elected mayor of Belfast, over Sewall B. Fletcher, on the Citizens' ticket, by a majority of 270. The vote was very light, there being no gain over last year. Republican aldermen and councilmen were elected.

Augusta, Me., March 14.—Samuel W. Lane (Rep.) was elected mayor of Augusta over Moses R. Leighton (Dem.). Mr. Lane received 1150 votes, while Mr. Leighton had 599. The Republicans carried every ward.

Boston, March 14.—Nearly a dozen more towns in the state held their annual meetings yesterday, while others that were unable to clear up the business a week ago held adjourned meetings and completed the articles in the warrant. There were but few contests for town officers, except at Westfield, where the question of an electric road to Springfield was decided favorably. Two towns changed sides on the liquor question, North Attleboro, which was strongly license last year, voted no by a close margin, while Topsfield decided in favor of liquor selling.

Scott Acquitted.

Boston, March 14.—Robert Scott, a sailor, who was employed as a fireman on board the British steamship Chicago, was yesterday acquitted upon an indictment charging him with manslaughter in having caused the death of Thomas French, a coal passer on board of the same vessel, while she was lying at Charlestown on March 5. It appeared that on the day of the trouble between the men Scott was eating his dinner in the forecastle when French went to the door and threatened to strike Scott. He then dared Scott to go on deck and fight it out, and Scott complied, and they fought several rounds on the deck. Finally they clinched and fell near the hold. One of the spectators seized Scott by the leg and prevented him from falling into the hold, but the other man fell to the bottom and was killed by the fall.

A Matter of Doubt.

Providence, March 14.—On the eve of the Democratic state convention the men who are recognized as the party leaders declined to give opinions as to the nominee for governor. The city primaries held nothing last night, the delegates having varying opinions. Dalton E. Young of Newport, who has been mentioned for lieutenant governor, stated yesterday that he had not authorized the use of his name in connection with the nomination, and would not accept the tender if given. It is likely, therefore, that either Fayette E. Bartlett or Robert H. Wade will be named for the office.

United States Benefited.

Berlin, March 14.—Robert P. Porter, who, as special agent of President McKinley, visited General Gomez and secured from the Cuban commander-in-chief an agreement to bring about the disbandment of the Cuban army on the payment of $3,000,000 to the troops, expresses the opinion that the act of the Cuban military assembly in relieving Gomez of his command will enable the authorities at Washington to employ the general to better advantage in promoting the desires of the United States and the interests of Cuba.

Locomotives For France.

Philadelphia, March 14.—The French railways, operated under the control of the French government, yesterday placed an order with the Baldwin locomotive works of this city for 10 high speed passenger locomotives, to be finished in a few months. It is said that this is the first time France has gone out of its own jurisdiction for locomotives. A commission representing the French railways has been in this country for some time with the object of placing such an order.

Business and Pleasure.

Boston, March 14.—Chief Inspector Watts was detailed by Superintendent Eldridge yesterday to go to Italy with Lieutenant Rossetta and present the papers asking for the extradition of Antonio di Blasi, the alleged murderer of James Ellis. Di Blasi is in jail at Palermo. The papers will be presented at Rome, and if they are honored the trip to Palermo will be taken instead of di Blasi being brought to Rome and delivered up there.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The Charles Scott company's spring works at Philadelphia were destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $150,000.

The man who registered at Saville's hotel, Boston, as G. O. Brown and committed suicide has been identified as H. E. Nickerson of South Dennis, Mass.

The Bennington and Hoosick Valley Electric railroad filed a certificate with the secretary of state of New York, as a preliminary to the extension of the line from North Hoosick, Vt., to Lansingburg, N. Y.

By the will of the late George Young, the veteran hotel proprietor of Boston, nearly the whole of his property, which is understood to be extensive, is left to his niece, Mrs. Henrietta Rand, of Rye, N. H. A substantial money bequest is also provided for Mrs. Rand.

Hard to Please.

New York, March 14.—Mrs. Martha Place, who is in Sing Sing prison under sentence to be executed next week for the murder of her stepdaughter, has become very nervous since she learned that the best she could hope for was to have her sentence commuted to imprisonment for life. She had hoped for a pardon, and when informed there was a chance of her sentence being commuted, she said she did not see how that would be much preferable to being executed.

Razors Flying In the Air.

Cheyenne, Wyo., March 14.—A free-for-all fight with knives and razors occurred yesterday between soldiers of the Twenty-fourth infantry (colored) in a resort near here. Corporal Greelmouse was fatally stabbed and Sergeant Barnes, who was his assailant, was badly wounded. Barnes has disappeared, though a searching party is out after him.

Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

MADE A GREAT SCOOP.

Officers Capture Ten Alleged Shovers of the Queer at Boston.

Secret Service Agents Were Long on Their Track.

Headquarters of Extensive Operators Believed to Be In New York.

Boston, March 15.—Government agents, assisted by the local police, have arrested ten persons, all Italians, on the charge of passing counterfeit $5 treasury notes. The secret service men believe the notes were made in New York, and were sent to this city to be passed. They have obtained between $5000 and $10,000 worth of bad paper. The arrests were very cleverly made, nine in this city and one in Lynn.

While, through various means, the government officials claim to have succeeded in obtaining nearly $10,000 worth of the notes from nearly all the arrested parties at different times, no bad money was found on any of them yesterday, and a careful search of what is believed to be the headquarters in this city failed to disclose any of the counterfeiting paraphernalia.

The secret service agents, however, did not expect to find any dies or plates in this city, for every indication points to New York as the issuing point.

The names of those arrested are as follows: Francisco Cacci, 43 years old, 336 Main street; Peter Gonzales, 45 years old, 100 Pleasant street; Salvator Mastrapavola, 40 years old; Mrs. Angela Mastrapavola, 31 years, and Mary Mastrapavola, 12 years, all living at 2 Sun court; Antonio Cotogna, 36 years old, 259 North street; Antonio Mazzucci, 35 years, Charles street; Francisco Brosi, 35 years old, 8 Foster court; Joseph De Salvo, 40, 152 Endicott street, all of Boston, and Francisco De Marco of Lynn.

The arrest was most adroitly made, but was somewhat hastened by reason of the fact that one or two were preparing to leave for New York. In fact, Brosi was taken from the end of a moving train as it was pulling out of Park square station, bound for New York.

For nearly six months a large amount of spurious $5 treasury notes bearing the Jackson vignette have been coming into the hands of the secret service agents, a greater portion of it turning up in this city, and last November the government officials determined to make a strenuous effort to run down the counterfeiters. P. D. Redfern of New York came to this city and worked up the case. Two months ago the local police were called in, and with the assistance of other special detectives a most thorough search of the city was made.

The government officials soon discovered that the most of the bad money turned up in the Italian quarter at the North End, as well as in Lynn, but for a long time, so crafty were those who were passing the money, the evidence did not warrant an arrest. It was, therefore, decided that some unusual effort must be made, and a number of trusted agents were brought over from New York, all on close terms of intimacy with Italians. They went about the city and succeeded in buying about $10,000 worth of bad $5 notes. The secret service men claimed that all the bad money was obtained from the parties under arrest.

In order to make the case clear and to get as much evidence as possible, the arrest of all parties was delayed until the last moment. During the interim the officials discovered that frequent trips were being made to New York, and that upon the return of one or two of the men the notes became plentiful. This led to the belief that none of the money was manufactured in this city, but no headquarters could be discovered in New York.

Yesterday, after all 10 of the suspected parties had been faithfully overshadowed, it was decided to make a general haul, and no less than 20 officers, both government and local inspectors, were distributed about the city.

The first arrest was made on Atlantic avenue, where Cacci and Gonzales were quietly taken into custody and conveyed to the federal building. An hour after six officers went to Sun court, in the North End, and gathered in three members of the Mastrapavola family, and a hurried search of the house was made. Nothing of a suspicious character was found at the time, but the entire building will be carefully ransacked.

At the same time Cotogna and Mazzucci were arrested at their little shop not far from the Mastrapavola house, and then De Salvo was apprehended. In the meantime every railroad station in the city was carefully guarded and all outgoing trains watched, for there were two more still unaccounted for, and for a time the officers believed that they had escaped.

Just as the gong at the Park square station rang for the departure of the Fall River train an Italian was seen to step aboard the train, and the shadow signalled to the officers. Two of them jumped on the train and dragged the man off on the platform, and he was at once taken to the federal building with the others.

The notice of the arrest of Marco at Lynn was received soon after, and the secret service agents heaved a sigh of relief.

In the detention room every one was carefully searched, but none of the bad notes was found on them. This fact, however, does not in any way discourage the officers, for they say that they have sufficient evidence from their agents to convict every one.

The government officials are not prepared to say just how extensive they believed the gang to be, but they are convinced that the arrests made yesterday will lead at once to the discovery of the main office in New York.

Arrests In Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, March 15.—John Gallena and his alleged housekeeper, Elizabeth Smith, were arrested here last night on the charge of making counterfeit money. Gallena is alleged to have been selling bogus coin all over the country at the rate of $100 for $40. Other arrests are expected.

FIGHTING UNDER DIFFICULTIES.

Wheaton's Brigade Slowly Clearing Out the Rebels at Pasig.

Manila, March 15.—General Wheaton's brigade continues the work of clearing out the rebels about Pasig.

The Washington volunteers have captured and burned Patores, meeting with a sharp fire from the enemy while crossing the river.

Today's fighting was like that of the past week, the insurgents occasionally making a stand, but eventually fleeing. Their loss is supposed to have been small, as the Americans were unable to see the enemy in the thickets.

The progress of the American advance is slow.

Late yesterday General Wheaton's column encountered the enemy in such force between Pateros and Taguig as to necessitate a change in the original plans.

The cavalry attacked a rebel stronghold in the jungle, driving the enemy into Pateros. The Americans had one man killed and three wounded.

Scott's battery shelled the town and woods effectively.

Later the enemy crossed the river from Pasig. Two companies of the Second Oregon infantry cleared the right bank after a sharp engagement and then retired with three wounded. In the meantime the Washington volunteers closed in, driving small bodies of the rebels back upon Pateros. One man was killed.

During the night the enemy burned the town of Pasig.

General Wheaton's brigade continues the work of clearing out the rebels about Pasig.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 15.—Ought to pass was reported in the senate yesterday on a bill for an assistant clerk of the Springfield police court. A bill exempting ice dealers from the restrictions applied to pedlers was reported. Leave to withdraw was reported on a petition for defining the liability of registrars of voters to private action, and reference to the next general court on two petitions relative to selling articles in the street or from house to house. Ought not to pass was reported on the bill for licensing barbers, and leave to withdraw on the wide-tire bill.

An order was adopted extending the time for reports from all joint committees to March 22.

Under suspension of the rules a bill for a drawless bridge from Boston to Cambridge which came in from the house was immediately engrossed.

Bills were engrossed as to the membership of the Worcester Natural History society; for counting ballots at elections after 2 p. m. in cities under 100,000 in population; to authorize Worcester to change the grade of Belmont and Shrewsbury streets over commonwealth land; incorporating the Bartlett, Needham and South Middleboro cemetery associations.

A new draft of the resolution against the admission of Brigham H. Roberts as a member of congress from Utah was submitted to the house.

The resolutions in favor of a federal eight-hour workday were presented, as were the resolutions in favor of placing a steam launch and searchlight at the life saving station in Dorchester bay. Reference to the next legislature was reported on the bill to provide drill sheds for the mounted arms of the militia. Leave to withdraw was reported on the petition for incorporation of the Massachusetts electric freight railway.

No legislation necessary was reported on the fifth annual report of the board of registration in medicine. Reference to the next general court was reported on the bill to reimburse the town of Saugus for expenditure on the Salem turnpike. Leave to withdraw was reported on the petition to elect assessors in Newburyport by the people, and a similar report was made on the petition for preparation of a consolidated index of the records with Hampden county register of deeds. An adverse report was made on the petition to regulate the width of tires on draught wagons. Leave to withdraw was given on the petition regarding offices of provisional militia.

THE CASTILIAN'S END.

New Steamer Has Broken In Two on the Treacherous Gannet Ledge.

Cause of the Accident May Never Be Known.

Variation of Compasses In That Locality May Have Been a Factor.

Yarmouth, N. S., March 15.—The Allan line steamer Castilian, which was wrecked on Gannet ledge Sunday morning, while bound from Portland for Liverpool, via Halifax, has broken in two just beneath the bridge. She is lying in practically the same position as when she struck. Both ends of the ship have sagged considerably, and the salvers are working rapidly in order to save everything of value before a storm approaches.

It appears to be the opinion among mariners here that the cause of the accident to the Castilian will probably never be known. According to the weight of evidence gathered from those on board the vessel, who have been seen here, six hours after leaving Portland the vessel made Martinious light, just where the compasses told the officers they ought to have made it. From this point the course was shaped as usual and the steamer proceeded. She should have been far off the land and well clear of Cape Sable when she suddenly went on the ledge. It is probable that, as has been the case in many a previous disaster, this one will be attributed to the fatal, almost irrestible indrift at the entrance to the bay of Fundy.

In an interview with J. D. Huntington, manager of the Cream Pott gold mine at Pembroke, a few miles from Yarmouth, some facts were disclosed which it is believed are worthy of investigation.

Mr. Huntington says that some change is taking place in this part of the province, which renders compasses at all times uncertain. He first found this out about a year and a half ago, when with Mr. Christie of Halifax, who was running out the lines of some gold areas for the provincial mining department, they found there was a variation in the compass of five degrees from one extreme to the other, the instrument being of the best, and it has since been found that others were similarly affected.

Captain Barrett is almost alone on the wreck of the Castilian. Water rises and falls fore and aft throughout the steamer, and the surf roars about her ominously and spray drenches the decks. The great weight of ship and cargo and the wildness of the situation makes the position highly perilous. She threatens to break up at any moment, and the sea is so rough no boat can approach without risk.

Still Captain Barrett refuses to leave. The night and the sea have no terrors for him alongside the disaster which attended what was probably his last voyage. The captain is 73 years of age, and has sailed in the Allan's Atlantic steamers for many years without serious accident. The captain will not be persuaded to leave the magnificent ship he commanded until the proper officers are in charge to prevent piracy.

The work of saving cargo is proceeding slowly on account of the risk of approach. A large fleet of fishing craft hover round ready for plunder, and last night the agents were wired for a steamer to protect the wreck.

An important fact has come out. The lead log and lookout were all carefully used. The compass was out, and it is stated by government engineers who have been surveying in the neighborhood of Yarmouth and Cape Sable that there is a magnetic attraction in the land so great at times as to cause a variation of five points and again to render the compass entirely useless. Much corroborative testimony of this phenomenon is at hand.

Mormons Seeking Converts.

Jamestown, N. Y., March 15.—The Mormon elders who have been holding meetings here for the last few weeks have begun to attract attention. The women's organizations are especially active in making a fight against them. Strong resolutions have been passed by the Woman's Christian Temperance union and the Woman's Christian association against them. The elders have been holding Sunday meetings in a hall and street meetings on pleasant nights. It is reported that they have made some converts among the working people of this city.

Alleged Evasion of Law.

Boston, March 15.—Charles H. Nutting, 33 years old, agent for Lloyds Insurance company, was arrested yesterday on a charge of "aiding in the negotiation of unlawful insurance with a foreign insurance company not admitted to business in this commonwealth." The complainant is Insurance Commissioner Cutting, who has begun a war on foreign insurance companies doing business in Massachusetts and not complying with the statutes of this state. The penalty in cases of this kind is a fine.

Given Up For Lost.

Providence, March 15.—The three-masted schooner James W. Bigelow, from Jacksonville for this port, has been given up for lost, as she is over two months out. The vessel was making her first trip to the local firm of J. A. Potter & Co. She carried, in addition to her captain, seven or eight hands.

☞ There is a control of the milk business in Boston so strict that a person cannot change the source of his supply. The prisoner testified that she had tried to change the milkman, but could get no other, and the milk she was securing was below the standard. She was fined $50. That looks tough. To allow a trust to sell poor milk and then convict the parties using the milk when they have made every effort to improve the supply. Better get after the trust.—Newburyport News.

THE NEW SEWER.

What Metropoliton System Would Cost the City.

Would Require Large Expenditure In Quincy.

Would Outlet at Nut Island be a Nuisance?

The estimated cost of the Metropolitan high level sewer from West Roxbury to Peddock's island via. Quincy is $4,876,234, nearly five million dollars. Of this sum it is estimated that $1,381,268 will be needed within the limits of Quincy, as follows:

$479,148 for a sewer 11 feet 1 inch by 11 feet 9 inches on Adams street and in private land from the Quincy and Milton boundary at East Milton to Hancock street at its junction with Greenleaf street. This section would be 8,500 feet long and include rock tunnel for, 2,100 linear feet, earth tunnel for 1,930 linear feet, open earth cut for 2,820 linear feet, earth and rock cut for 1,655 linear feet.

$782,325 for a sewer 11 feet 4 inches by 12 feet from Hancock street via. Greenleaf and Sea streets and private land to Nut island, 20,080 feet long. It includes an earth tunnel for 850 linear feet, open earth cut for 10,180 linear feet, embankment for 650 linear feet, earth cut and embankment for 8,400 linear feet.

$53,400 for sewer 11 feet 4 inches by 12 feet in embankment on Nut island and Nut island bar; length 1,100 feet, earth excavation and embankment.

$26,195 for construction on Nut island of screen house, sand catcher and overflow.

In addition to the above the cost of the siphon between Peddocks island and Nut island, 60 inches in diameter for 2,940 feet is estimated at $117,600. This includes two lines of 60-inch cast iron pipe and head house.

The estimate of the cost of construction on Peddocks island is $806,732, including outlet and discharge sewers, reservoir with capacity of 40,000,000 gallons and outfall sewer; also roadway and improvement of shore line.

If the discharge is from Nut island instead of Peddocks island, the total estimated cost is $3,930,808, instead of $4,876,234.

In that event the item of $66,395 above noted would be enlarged to $97,895, and $114,200 added for two lines of 60 inch cast iron pipes 5,660 feet long for outlet sewer.

Relative to the Quincy sewerage system the report of the Metropolitan Commissioners says:

"The city of Quincy has recently commenced the construction of a system of sewers, and built a pumping station and force main to raise the sewage to the outfall sewer of the Boston main drainage works, which is to be used as the outlet for the Quincy sewage under a contract with the city of Boston.

"After the completion of the high-level sewer, the sewerage system of Quincy could be divided into two districts. The sewage from the upper district would reach the high-level sewer by gravity. That which would need to be pumped to the high-level sewer could be raised by the pumping plant already installed to pump the Quincy sewage to the Boston outfall sewer. This sewage would need to be raised about 30 feet to flow into the Boston main drainage system when reservoir at Moon Island is full. The lift to the proposed high-level sewer with outlet from Nut Island would be about 18 feet.

"All the large pumping plants connected with the metropolitan sewerage systems are the property of the Commonwealth, and it would seem expedient that the pumping plant of the city of Quincy should also belong to the Commonwealth. The sum of $100,000 has been included in the estimated cost of the high-level sewer to cover this purchase.

"The total annual charge in the south metropolitan district for the year 1910 may be divided somewhat as follows:—

Boston including areas in present Charles and Neponset metropolitan districts, $106,190.

Charles and Neponset valleys, excluding Boston $133,060.

Quincy, $14,150.

Total for district, $253,400.

"The above estimated expense to the city of Quincy in the year 1910, as part of the south metropolitan system, is not probably greater than the expense that would come to the city of Quincy in 1910 under the existing contract with the city of Boston for the disposal of the Quincy sewage.

COL. WHITNEY SICK.

Co. K. Boys Arranging to Come Home Together.

Camp Wetherill,
Greenville S. C., Mar. 12,

Warm weather continues to be in our favor. Today the weather has been exceptionally fine.

Tomorrow a vote will be taken by the several companies, to ascertain whether they wish to go home as a body or individuals. The reason for this is that an order was received from Governor Wolcott asking permission of 70 per cent. of men and officers to parade through the city of Boston.

Several companies throughout the regiment look upon this order with anything but pleasure. Several K boys dislike the idea of parading through Boston.

The Governor of Massachusetts wishes the boys of the 5th to go by boat via. Norfolk, Va., a government tug will meet the steamer when she arrives in Boston and will unload a shipment of rifles to be carried by the boys, if they choose to parade.

Major W. E. Morrison is still in command of the regiment.

Colonel Whitney has been seriously sick for the last two days. His condition is reported as more favorable today.

Private John V. Mead of K continues to improve every day.

The examination by the surgeons for the mustering out, is pushed rapidly along. About two more companies will finish the regiment.

Corporal Johnson will carry home as a souvenir of the "Sunny South," a handsome watch dog.

1st Sergeant Colbert will now be titled as Lieutenant Colbert. The boys are proud of his promotion.

Sergeant McGrath is now acting first sergeant of the company. We would like to see Sergeant McGrath wear home the 1st sergeant's chevrons.

A committee which consists of Sergt. McGrath, Corporal Leslie, and Private Morrissey, are arranging for special rates to carry K company home as a body. About 50 members have added their names to the list.

Private Frank Pierce is detailed as orderly to division headquarters. This is a very distinctive honor, for any enlisted man.

The health of K boys has improved immensely. Volunteer.

The Late Mrs. Butler.

Mrs. Margaret Butler passed away at her home on Newbury street, Saturday morning, after an illness of a short duration. It was a shock to the community, although many were aware of her illness, Mrs. Butler has been a resident of Atlantic for the past 24 years. She was the widow of Michael Butler who met his death by being blown up in the old Felting mill, about twenty-two years ago. Her funeral was held from the Sacred Heart church, Atlantic, Monday morning at 9 o'clock, the Rev. Fr. Johnstone officiating. The interment was at Mt. Calvary. They were met there by the Rev. T. J. Danahey of Newton, who was a devoted friend of the deceased and who read prayers at the grave. The flowers consisted of a magnificent pillow from John Neill of Boston, laurel wreath from Charles Neill and the employes of John H. Neill, a bouquet from Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hatch of Wollaston, bouquet from Miss Catherine Mahoney of Atlantic. She leaves one daughter, Miss Julia, employed as bookkeeper for John H. Neill of Boston, to mourn her absence and a host of friends.

An Explanation.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

An article in the Ledger, Monday, March 13, headed "A New Pilot," would give the reading public the impression that Town and Weymouth Fore rivers had been without proper pilot supervision, for the past two or three years. This is not only untrue, but a criticism on the Commission of Pilots, and their appointees, Mr. Timothy Bagley of Weymouth and Mr. Marcus E. Wright of Quincy. These gentlemen have piloted these waters some thirty-three years and held commissions for twenty-one years, when it became necessary to do so.

The appointment of Capt. Higgins is simply to fulfill the law, that two active pilots shall be in commission, and Mr. Bagley has become incapacitated from active service by serious illness. G.

TODAY'S COURT.

The continued cases against James H., and John J. Tracy of Weymouth were called. The cases were continued for two weeks with the understanding that at the end of that time if they had not been drunk in the meantime, they should pay a fine of $7 each. If they had been drunk they would have to be committed.

CARD OF THANKS.

Mrs. James E. Bagley wishes to thank all the friends who have shown her and her little family such kind sympathy in the hour of her trial and deep affliction.

Miss Delia Sullivan of Neponset, formerly of Atlantic, passed away Sunday after a short illness. Miss Sullivan was known throughout Atlantic by the young people as she attended the public school there, living at that time in Squantum. The deceased was 21 years of age. The floral tributes at her funeral were many and beautiful, showing her many friends, kind esteem for her. Her funeral was held from St. Ann's church this morning.

The corporation tax from the street railway companies will probably be received from the State in June and perhaps again in the fall, as there are two years due. The excise tax will be levied by the local board of assessors this year. It was not levied anywhere in the State last year, as the legislature had not provided that the companies should make return of their mileage. These reasons are why there has been so much delay, and out of it the companies seem to have saved one year of the excise tax.

BY ABSORPTION
NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

AUNT JEMIMA.

She Exhibits Her Marvelous Album at Wollaston.

"Aunt Jemima's Album" under the direction of Mrs. Mercie Reed of Rockland was given under the auspices of the Whatsoever Ten, King's Daughters, in the vestry of the Wollaston Unitarian church on Tuesday evening. The vestry was crowded with people, "standing room only" was to be had long before the leaves of the album were opened.

For comparison the entertainment, which originated with Mrs. Reed, was something after the order of the "Old Homestead," though instead of being a play a huge old-fashioned album was staged just behind the footlights. Aunt Jemima, Mrs. Reed—was supposed to be entertaining company in the parlor and exhibiting the family album giving a brief sketch of each subject, as she turned the leaves.

The whole thing was very cleverly done, and, as each leaf was turned, exhibiting some person well known to the audience in the form of a living picture in old fashioned costume, the crowd went wild with delight.

Quite often the quartette concealed behind the curtains consisting of Mr. E. Walter Arnold, Mr. Charles F. Wilde, Mr. Benjamin Sargent and Mr. William Gwinnutt, would sing a familiar old song such as "Tenting tonight on the Old Camp Ground," or Miss Lulu Phelan would sing a solo. Mrs. Amos Towle Leavitt was the pianist. Mrs. Reed was assisted materially by Mrs. Arthur Stanley and Miss Helen Foster. Many beautiful old costumes were worn.

The programme included:

Abijah, as a youth, William E. Howard.
Jemima, as a girl, Miss Blanche M. Taylor.
Abijah's mother, Mrs. G. R. Badger.
Quartette singing, "Rock me to sleep mother," solo by Mr. Gwinnutt.
Admiram and Jerusha, Percy L. Hall and Miss Blanche Taylor.
Polly, Elsie Patterson.
Hannah, as a child, Caroline Lewis.
Hannah, as a woman, Miss Howard.
Dorothy, Miss Lapham.
Abijah Jr., George Weston, Jr.
Abijah, C. Nelson Smith.
Quartette "Tenting tonight on the Old Camp Ground," solo by Mr. Arnold.
Abijah, and wife, Mr. Howard and Miss Taylor.
Sailor Boy, Kenneth Lewis. Quartette, "Sailor Boy Tom," solo by Mr. Gwinnutt.
Priscilla, as a child, Helen Blair.
Priscilla as a woman, Miss Lillian Dunham.
Twins, Miriam Rhodes and Helen Baker.
Penelope, Mrs. E. E. Jameson.
Minerva, Miss Helen Foster.
Nancy, Miss Helen Comins.
Ruth and Esther, Helen Sprague and Mildred Houston.
Faith, Hope and Charity, Miss Isadore Chase Lull, Miss Zanetta M. Sprague and Miss Elizabeth Thayer.
Parson Alden, Clifton Baker. Quartette, "From every stormy wind that blows."
Mrs. Carver and baby, Miss Marion F. Taylor. Solo, by, Miss Lulu Phelan.
Schoolmaster, Arthur Stanley.
Lawyer, Howard Haskins.
Abijah, as an old man, Mr. I. W. Faunce.
Quartette "When you and I were young," solo by Mr. Arnold.

Many Changes.

With the resumption of the granite business after a strike, lockout or suspension of work, there is always more or less changing about among the cutters. Men who did not like the boss over them, would try someone else or try and improve themselves. On the other hand it gave the bosses an opportunity to have a clearing out. Some men are not taken back because they are poor workmen, and others who are not considered to be just what is wanted, must also find work elsewhere.

For Embezzlement.

Harrison P. Clements, a well known resident of East Milton, was arrested Tuesday by Chief of Police Pierce for Inspector McCousland of Boston. Clements, who is 53 years of age, is charged with the embezzlement of $3,000 from E. Noyes Whitcomb, woodworker of Boston, by whom he was employed as a bookkeeper. It is alleged that he falsified his accounts by putting wrong footings at the bottom of columns of figures to balance them with cash on hand.

WEYMOUTH.

A grand concert was given at the Union Congregational church, at South Weymouth, Monday evening. An elaborate programme was furnished by the following well known talent: Mr. Arthur M. Raymond, organist; Miss Marion Van Buren, reader; Mr. Leon Van Vliet, 'cellist; Mr. Emanuel Fielder, violinist, Mr. N. S. Kerr, baritone; Mrs. Anna Ellis Dexter, soprano. The cantata, "The Holy City," was an interesting feature of the programme. The solos were rendered by Miss A. Estelle Powers, Miss A. Louise Holbrook, Mr. C. N. Hall and Mr. Stephen F. Pratt. A large audience was in attendance and evidenced its hearty appreciation by frequent applause.

Doing the South.

The Charleston, S. C., News and Courier reports Col. and Mrs. Israel Waterhouse of Quincy in the Congressional party of Congressmen and Mrs. Asbury C. Latimer who are doing the South. At Charleston March 10 there was a drive, a boat excursion in the harbor including landings at Fort Sumter, Sullivan island, and the Isle of Palms. The following personal concludes a two column report:

"Col. Israel Waterhouse, a Boston millionare and a globe trotter accompanies the Congressional party as a special guest, and with Mrs. Waterhouse adds greatly to the pleasure of the tour. Col. Waterhouse has been everywhere in the civilized world and also in some places where the natives are only half civil. He was one of the first passengers on the now celebrated railroad between Joppa and Jerusalem, and has climbed mountains, shot rapids and ridden mule back in many lands. Col Waterhouse, had, however, left some of the best things to do until the present and Charleston claimed his interested attention yesterday. He was evidently pleased with the city and the bay, and even though his horse balked on the steeplechase and had to be pushed around the curve by a laughing darkey he came under the wire waving his hat and declaring that there was no place like Charleston."

"Col." Waterhouse and wife sailed on Tuesday for Cuba.

Delightful Time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morse are having a delightful time at Homosassa, Florida. Last Tuesday they went fishing and caught 54 trout weighing 103 pounds. On Saturday they again went trouting, Mrs. Morse landing one that weighed 8 1-2 pounds and Mr. Morse one that tipped the scales at 10 pounds. Mrs. Morse also caught two black bass weighing 8 1-2 and 9 pounds. Mr. C. H. Alden, who is with them, shot a bald-headed eagle having a spread of eight feet. On Friday, Mr. Morse bagged 26 quails. On Wednesday of this week the party is due at Havana, where they will remain until Friday night. On Saturday they will be at Miami, Fla., leaving the same day for the Bahamas, stopping a Nassau for about a week.

Awarded a Quincy Young Lady.

Miss Ruth Randall writes from Bryn Mawr college: "The Mary E. Garrett European Fellowship, awarded annually to a student still in residence who has for two years pursued graduate studies at Bryn Mawr college has been awarded for the year 1899—1900 to Miss Edith Frances Claflin, of Quincy, Mass., who already holds an A. B. degree from Radcliffe. The Fellowships to the value of $500 each are intended to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign University. Miss Claflin distinguished herself at Radcliffe by completing the undergraduate course in three years and since then has done remarkably good graduate work in Greek and Latin at Bryn Mawr college."

EUROPE'S DANGEROUS RIVAL

The Austrian View of United States Trade Competition.

The Austrian view of United States trade competition is the subject of a recent report of Consul Baehr at Kehl to the state department. Dr. Alexander Peez, a Viennese authority on political economy, devoted a recent paper to the subject, in which he referred to America as "Europe's most dangerous rival," and said they could not give enough attention to the United States. "It is not known yet," said Dr. Peez, "how we will be able to make up for the loss of our sugar export to America. The balance of trade will be still more to their benefit when they are able to produce enough sugar in Cuba and Porto Rico to supply their needs. This will probably take them about seven years. We shall have to make good use of this time." Dr. Peez spoke also of the paper industry and referred to the past, when some of the English newspapers were printed on Austrian paper. "Now," he added, "the United States has wrested this trade from us and is already supplying most of the paper used in England."

Iron, machinery and cottonseed oil were also mentioned as instances of American inroads on the European market. In the course of his remarks Dr. Peez dwelt upon the wonderful rapidity with which the Americans, in their war with Spain, increased and equipped their navy. In America, he said, the whole population consists of skilled men and shrewd merchants, who bring about the wonderful progress of the country. He repeated what he has been advocating for years—that the countries of the European continent would have to form a coalition to protect themselves against outside competition. This plan is also being discussed in some of the newspapers in Germany.

Sentiments similar to those expressed by Dr. Peez, Consul Baehr adds, are frequently uttered by men in prominent public office and published by the press of Austria-Hungry, as well as of Germany.

MODERN SEAMANSHIP.

Marvelous Skill Displayed In Some Recent Buffetings With Storms.

The courage, skill and the happy results of the efforts of the crews of the Pavonia and Bulgaria to save their ships furnish two remarkable exhibitions of fine seamanship. The emperor of Germany has sent the high order of Hohenzollern to the master of the German ship, Captain Schmidt, and the English board of trade will give a distinct expression of their appreciation to the master of the Pavonia.

These two ships were knocked about on the high seas for three weeks, helpless by reason of the breaking down of machinery and in both cases deprived of the use of their rudders and with some of their compartments filled with water. Nevertheless they were faced up to the storm, kept afloat and finally reached port in distress, it is true, but, despite their hardships and perils, with their passengers and crews alive.

Their story outrivals the tales of Cooper, Melville, Clark Russell and Marryat not because it is merely true, but by reason that it deals with a condition of sea life which those sailors and writers had not knit into their Homeric fictions. These great iron hulks—machine boxes—with cargo spaces depending upon a bolt or a rivet being disabled, are transformed by the skill of their sailors into ships that come to harbor at last and show that seamanship is no lost art even in this age of iron, steel and steam.—Philadelphia Times.

WELDING OF COPPER.

Lost Secret Said to Have Been Discovered In St. Louis.

A young Norwegian working in a St. Louis machine shop claims to have discovered one of the lost arts, that of welding copper. The other day a specimen piece of welding was exhibited by C. W. Marshall of St. Louis, a friend of the young mechanic, who for the present withholds his name and the secret of his process.

He has been experimenting for five years and after almost giving up hit upon the idea accidentally. He was experimenting to temper copper, and in disgust threw a piece of the warm metal on the floor. When he picked it up, it was perfectly welded to a small piece of steel. The copper had been treated by a liquid not intended for the purpose, but which proved the material to render it possible to be welded.

He repeated the experiment several times, each time employing a larger piece of metal and meeting with the same success. He shows how the welding is accomplished in his little machine shop, but will not disclose the nature of the materials used until he has secured a patent on his secret. The specimen shown was perfect, the two metals apparently being drawn together with the solidity of one substance.—Chicago Times-Herald.

General Hampton's Feat.

Although General Wade Hampton is more than 80 years old, he performed a feat the other morning that proved him to be still active and vigorous. Discovering that the roof of his house in Columbia, S. C., was on fire, without permitting any of the household to be awakened he hastened out and himself proceeded to climb to the roof. Reaching the blaze, he managed to extinguish the flames.—New York Tribune.

THE OLD WAY

Of Treating Dyspepsia and Indigestion by Dieting a Dangerous and Useless One.

We say the old way, but really it is a very common one at present time and many dyspeptics and physicians as well consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigestion is to diet, either by selecting certain foods and rejecting others or to greatly diminish the quantity usually taken, in other words, the starvation plan is by many supposed to be the first essential.

The almost certain failure of the starvation cure for dyspepsia has been proven time and again, but still the moment dyspepsia makes its appearance a course of dieting is at once advised.

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting or starvation to a man suffering from dyspepsia, because indigestion itself starves every organ and every nerve and every fibre in the body.

What the dyspeptic wants is abundant nutrition, which means plenty of good, wholesome, well cooked food and something to assist the weak stomach to digest it. This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted and this is the method by which they cure the worst cases of dyspepsia, in other words the patient eats plenty of wholesome food and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest it for ihm. In this way the system is nourished and the over-worked stomach rested, because the tablet will digest the food whether the stomach works or not. One of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat or eggs.

Your druggist will tell you that Stuarts' Dyspepsia Tablets are the purest and safest remedy for stomach troubles and every trial makes one more friend or this excellent preparation. Sold at 50 cents for full sized package at all drug stores.

RECIPROCITY TERMS.

State Department Bargaining With Germany and France.

The Treaties May Be Signed Within Three Months.

Negotiations With Great Britain May Be Ended For the Present.

Washington, March 15.—Negotiations for reciprocity treaties with Germany and France have been resumed, and there is still a prospect that a treaty may be negotiated with Great Britain covering the British West Indies. These several treaty negotiations were interrupted some months ago by the service Mr. Kasson, our reciprocity commissioner, was obliged to give to the Canadian commission. As this work is closed, Mr. Kasson is free to resume the negotiations with the other countries.

JOHN A. KASSON.

Ambassador Cambon returns from Paris with the earnest hope of carrying through a treaty under section 4 of the Dingley law. On the part of France, it is proposed to give to the United States the "minimum" tariff list. The French tariff has two rates, a maximum and a minimum. Countries specially favored by France get the minimum rate, while those having no arrangement pay the maximum rate, 25 percent higher. The effect of this is to place higher duties on American goods than on those of England, Germany, Russia and some 31 countries with which France has made commercial arrangements. In the negotiations with Mr. Kasson this minimum rate is conceded, the only question being as to what the United States will grant in return. The law permits a 20 percent reduction of duty on designated articles, but no arrangement has been reached as to what these articles shall be. The French contention is that the list should be liberal, as their minimum list covers the entire tariff list. They also contend that the average of French duty on American goods is about 14 percent ad valorem, as against about 50 percent American duty on French goods. M. Cambon is awaiting further statistical information, and it is expected that active negotiations will proceed in about two weeks.

The German negotiations have been resumed on a rather broad scale.

Secretary Hay himself is carrying the matter forward, the detailed work on schedules not having been taken up as yet by Mr. Kasson. Whether the negotiations will prove successful it is too early to predict, although both sides, particularly the Germans, express their hope that a treaty will result within the next three months.

The British negotiations reached an advanced stage and then collapsed entirely. They were managed by Sir Julian Pauncefote and Mr. Kasson, who together outlined the articles to be covered by the proposed treaty. The document was about ready to sign last summer, when the London authorities announced that they were considering the advisability of granting countervailing duties to the sugar producers of the British West Indies, in which case there would not be the same need of a reciprocity arrangement. The imperial government has done nothing on countervailing duties, but no progress on the subject of reciprocity has been attempted of late. If Sir Julian goes to the disarmament congress at The Hague in May he is not likely to conclude the reciprocity negotiations before he goes, and after that the two years' period for negotiating reciprocity treaties under the Dingley bill will have expired.

The expiration of this period on July 24 next is urging all foreign countries to hasten their negotiations. It is said, however, that if they fall of completion within that time it will not necessarily end all the negotiations, as the president has the constitutional right, independent of this specific law, to negotiate treaties by and with the consent of the senate.

The negotiations with Peru have not proved successful, as that country was not willing to grant a reduction on the articles which this government considered should be covered.

Assertion and Denial.

Washington, March 15.—The Post says: A statement was made yesterday to the effect that Secretary Long would resign during the summer or at least before congress reassembled. He is credited with a desire to succeed Senator Hoar, who will be 75 years old when his term expires in 1901. Secretary Long said last evening that there was absolutely no foundation for the statement.

A Compromise.

Washington, March 15.—The contest that has been on between the towns of Gardiner, West Gardiner and South Gardiner, Mass., each holding out for an independent status in the movement to secure free mail delivery, has been settled. The contest is decided by the postoffice department establishing a main postoffice to be called Gardiner and located equally distant from Gardiner and West Gardiner, a compromise site agreed on by the principal business men of both places.

THE SAN MUN INCIDENT.

Italy Has Strong Backing, and Will Refrain From Force If Possible.

Rome, March 15.—In the chamber of deputies yesterday Admiral Canevaro, minister of foreign affairs, made a comprehensive statement regarding Italy's action in China. He confirmed the reported recall of Signor Martino, Italian minister at Pekin, and announced that Italy had obtained the approval of Great Britain and Japan before demanding the concession at San-Mun.

Great Britain, however, had requested, he said, that force should not be employed and had promised in return to give her diplomatic support at the court of Pekin. Other friendly powers, the minister continued, were then notified and indicated their acquiescence.

Admiral Canevaro then covered events already known, explaining that Signor Martino's action had been disavowed because his ultimatum contravened an agreement with England that only in the event of Sir Claude McDonald, British minister at Pekin, being unable to induce the Chinese foreign office to take back Signor Martino's first note, should Italy resume liberty of action in order to obtain reparation. He expressed confidence in the ultimate success of Italy's policy and reminded the chamber that Italy's duty was to refrain from force so far as possible, since she had gone to China without any previous provocative incident or violated rights to justify a resort to violence which might, if adopted, disturb the international equilibrium in the far east and exercise a fatal reflex action in Europe, beside injuring Great Britain, who had proved herself Italy's cordial friend, and exposing to conflict other powers that had shown themselves the well-wishers of Italy.

Kaiser at the Head.

Berlin, March 15.—The official Naval Gazette publishes an imperial order reorganizing the higher administration of the navy. Henceforth the emperor holds supreme command and the office of commander-in-chief, therefore, lapses, and the existing staff of the commander-in-chief becomes independent under the title of admiral's staff. The chief of the navy becomes directly subordinate to the emperor, and the admiral's staff, besides its ordinary duties, will occupy itself with the political aspects of the presence of German warships abroad.

Helping Small Landowners.

London, March 15.—In the house of commons yesterday Joseph Chamberlain introduced a bill empowering local authorities to advance money to small occupiers to acquire ownership of small houses on the principle of the Irish land act and the small holdings act. He said he believed such a measure would make better citizens and provide a popular form of thrift. The bill proposes that £240 may be advanced on houses of the value of £300.

Gohier Acquitted.

Paris, March 15.—M. Urbain Gohier, author of "L'Armee Contra la Nation" (The army against the nation), who was placed on trial on charge of having insulted the army, was acquitted yesterday on all counts. The acquittal was followed by a lively scene in the court, the spectators raising cries of "Vive la liberte" and "Vive la republique."

Children the Only Callers.

Thomasville, Ga., March 15.—The presidential party arrived at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. By special request there was no demonstration, but there was a wealth of bunting and decoration everywhere, the mayor having issued a proclamation inviting everybody to decorate his building in welcome of the chief executive. A number of patriotic mottoes were stretched across the streets and in front of buildings. A committee of school children called on the president and Mrs. McKinley and presented them with a large tray of violets, having the word "Welcome" in white blooms in the midst of the purple pillow, bordered with green. Mrs. McKinley entertained the children. They were the only callers during the day, notice having been given that the president is here for rest.

An Upper Leather Trust,

Boston, March 15.—A. R. Hatch, the Chicago lawyer, who is promoting a combination of upper leather manufacturers of the country, in an interview with a Boston Journal representative last evening, said that the plan is assured, and that the trust will be formed. Twenty-two of the largest tanneries in New England and the west have signed the agreement. These are more than half of the big concerns of the country, and with that number the scheme can easily be put through.

Scoundrel Confesses.

Chicago, March 15.—August Becker, the sausage maker who has been under arrest for four weeks on a charge of murdering his wife, made a full confession last night. He said that he cut his wife to pieces and burned the remains in a stove. Becker, when first arrested, admitted killing his wife, but declared he pushed her into the lake, and that she was drowned.

Caps and Gowns Not Popular.

Cambridge, Mass., March 15.—A postal card canvas of the Harvard senior class, recently taken, on the question of wearing caps and gowns during the term time, resulted in the defeat of that project by 209 votes to 170. As a consequence caps and gowns will be worn, as heretofore, only on class day, baccalaureate Sunday and commencement day.

Burglars Got Away.

Westerly, R. I., March 15.—Burglars made an attempt to enter the Westerly postoffice early yesterday morning, but were unsuccessful. The flash of a dark lantern in the rear of the postoffice attracted the police, and on investigation they saw two men. The police fired three shots at the robbers, but the burglars escaped in the darkness.

Revenue Stamp Decision.

Chicago, March 15.—The appellate court yesterday unanimously sustained the decision rendered by Judge Tuley last summer that express companies are obliged to furnish war revenue stamps to all shippers.

THE GRANITE STATE

How Votors Expressed Themselves at Municipal Elections Yesterday.

Portsmouth, N. H., March 15.—The annual city election resulted in a victory for the Democrats on the vote for mayor. Calvin Page was elected over Albert R. Judkins (Rep.) by a vote of 1336 to 1006. The Democrats elected six out of 10 aldermen and seven out of 18 councilmen. The Republicans will have a majority of two on joint ballot. The city elected a Democratic mayor two years ago, but at the last election a Republican was successful.

Somersworth, N. H., March 15.—At the city election yesterday Arthur J. Seavey, Democrat, was elected mayor by a majority of 27 over Charles H. Harmon, Republican. The Republicans elected three aldermen and two councilmen, while the Democrats elected two aldermen and four councilmen.

Laconia, N. H., March 15.—The annual municipal election was held here yesterday, and Edmund Tetley (Rep.) was elected mayor over David B. Story (Dem.) by a vote of 897 to 472. The Republicans elected six councilmen and the Democrats one. The Republicans made a gain of one councilman over last year.

Berlin, N. H., March 15.—John B. Noyes (Rep.) was elected mayor of the paper city over Daley (Dem.) by a vote of 512 to 433. The vote was very large and very little splitting was done. The council now has a Democratic majority or one member.

Rhode Island Democrats.

Providence, March 15.—At the Democratic state convention here yesterday the business was carried on harmoniously throughout and the state ticket was nominated in an expeditious manner. George W. Greene of Woonsocket received the nomination for governor on the first ballot, receiving 140 votes, while L. F. C. Garvin received the support of 31 delegates. Mr. Greene, after receiving the nomination, made a vigorous address, declaring that he will be elected to succeed Governor Dyer. Robert H. Wade was unanimously nominated for lieutenant governor, while Miles A. McNamee received the nomination for secretary of state, George F. Brown for attorney general and Edmund Walker for general treasurer, all being nominated by acclamation. When the candidates were notified of their nomination and presented to the convention they were given a rousing reception. "The cardinal principles of this campaign are a proper revision of the constitution and the right of home rule," said one of the speakers during the deliberations of the convention.

How Quesada Views It.

Washington, March 15.—Mr. Quesada has given out the following statement: "The action of the assembly in deposing me is in line with its conduct toward that faithful, unsullied patriot, General Maximo Gomez. The assembly does not represent the judicious sentiment of the Cuban people or army. Unmoved by any selfish interest, I have devoted all my life to the cause of the independence of Cuba and for four years have tried my best to establish the basis of the most cordial relations between the United States and Cuba. Sure of the decision of the Cubans, and knowing well that the Americans will not misjudge them from these hasty and ill-advised acts of a disgruntled and ambitious group, I shall continue to work for the self-government, reconstruction and order of my native country."

Asked to Explain.

Boston, March 14.—The Herald says: The committee on manufactures yesterday summoned Mr. Jenkins, the state inspector of gas meters, and inquired concerning the administration of his office. Mr. Jenkins was unable to furnish all the information desired, but said that his salary was $2000, and that he was allowed to charge fees of from 25 cents to $1.75 for inspecting meters, to cover rent of office and pay for help. He paid $20 a week to a regular assistant, and hired a second man when he needed him. He kept no separate account of moneys received, he said, and could not tell what the annual total was. He was requested to furnish an itemized account of his receipts at a later meeting. Twenty-four thousand meters were examined last year.

Providence Character Dead.

Providence, March 15.—Osceola R. Cook died last evening. He had been in bed but one day, and although ailing for the last 10 days or more had not called in a physician until yesterday morning. He weighed 449 pounds late last December, when he was last weighed, and has lost very little flesh since then. Few men in this city were more widely known than Cook. He was a political power among the colored voters of the city at one time and a hearty worker for the Republican party. His strength was tremendous, and although he grew to great size he had much muscle. Cook was born in New Bedford, and was the son of a full blooded negro father, and a mother who was a Seminole Indian and the daughter of the noted Seminole chief, Osceola.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

A petition was filed at Westerly, R. I., to allow the citizens to vote on the question of license. The liquor dealers have decided to make a big fight for license, while the druggists are opposed to it.

EAGLE AND THE LION

Can Secure Peace If They Unite In Demanding It.

Ties of Brotherhood Will Never Be Severed.

Are Rivals Only In the Sense of Commercial Expansion.

London Chamber of Commerce Hears an Eloquent Speech by Joseph Choate.

London, March 16.—The morning papers editorially compliment Mr. Choate upon the success and brilliance of his speech before the chamber of commerce last evening. The Daily Telegraph says: A speech in better taste could not be conceived. It was transparently sincere and cordial, without a suspicion of "gush," brimful of eloquence, humor and pathos; and, however high the standard of oratory may be set, it is impossible to demand more of it than this. Mr. Choate has established his position in his first speech and strengthened the ties of brotherhood and friendship that are making for the peace of the world.

Mr. Choate spoke deliberately and in rather a low tone. His humorous remarks met with peals of laughter. He had a wonderful reception, made quite the speech of the evening, and was listened to with the deepest attention, and resumed his seat amid perfect thunders of applause. Lord Russell personally congratulating him.

Mr. Choate, who on arriving was heartily welcomed by the chairman and officials of the association, sat in the place of honor, on the right of the chairman.

Rear Admiral Beresford, who replied to the toast to the navy, declined to be drawn into a discussion of the Chinese situation.

Vice President Harper then submitted the toast of "Our Guests," coupled with the names of Mr. Choate and Baron Russell of Killowen.

The toast was received with loud cheers, the company standing and shouting the name of Mr. Choate, who was thrice cheered.

Mr. Choate, on arising to respond, received an ovation.

The United States ambassador began jokingly, protesting that he was overwhelmed with embarrassment at being called upon to respond in priority to the lord chief justice. He felt that when the British lion was about to roar even the American eagle should hold his peace. He was delighted, he said, to receive and accept the invitation to the banquet, although he was not at liberty to discuss British commerce. His general instructions from his government were not to discuss politics, or only at extraordinarily festal occasions. After a few words on the subject of commerce, which he characterized as truly the "mainstay of the British empire," he continued as follows:

"I have felt, however, that I might properly avail myself of this first public occasion to express the appreciation of my countrymen for the forbearance, good will and friendship manifested to them so freely by the British people. It is true that peace between the United States and Great Britain is the first interest not only of those two nations, but of the whole world."

In expressing his gratitude for the cordial greeting he had received from all sorts and conditions of men since his arrival in England, Mr. Choate said:

"Everywhere I have been treated as a friend and as the representative of your friends and brothers. In fact, I have actually discovered the open door, open to such an extent as would satisfy even the yearnings of the rear admiral who had made the circle of the globe in search of it. I think I may say, as a testimony to the good feeling sought to be encouraged on our side of the water, that the president gave the best illustration of it when he said, in my letter of credence, that he relied with confidence upon my constant endeavor during my stay in Great Britain to promote the interest and prosperity of both nations."

After another reference to the open door and the "enlarged sphere of influence which a cordial brotherhood has opened up," the ambassador continued: "I beg that you will not mistake my meaning. I do not believe that, although friends, we shall ever cease to be rivals. In the future as in the past, we on our side and you on yours will still press every advantage that can be fairly taken, but it shall be a generous and loyal rivalry, and all questions, disputes and controversies arising shall be settled by peaceful means, by negotiations, by arbitration, by any and every possible means except war."

After pointing out that this was new sentiment, Mr. Choate remarked: "While the last great conflict between Great Britain and America failed to settle any of the great questions upon which either side took up arms—showing that between brethren war is the worst possible means of settling any controversy—yet in the 84 years that have since elapsed, what tremendous questions, heated words, threatening demonstrations, which would have inevitably have brought any other two nations into open and frequent conflict, have occurred on either side, and all been arranged and adjusted without resort to arms."

Referring to the Venezuelan imbroglio, he observed: "You know that on our side of the water we love occasionally to twist the lion's tail for the mere sport of hearing him roar. Well, that time he disappointed us. He would not roar at all. He sat as silent as the Sphynx, and by dint of mutual forbearance—our sober second thought aiding your sober first thought—we averted everything but a mere war of words."

Alluding to the "satisfactory dispelling of the cloud between Russia and England over the Niu-Chwang railway extension loan by means of peaceful diplomacy," Mr. Choate said: "That is the kind of diplomacy which I, just entering upon a diplomatic career, desire very much to understand, for I am fresh enough to believe that if these two countries, laboring together for peace, unite their voice in demanding it, it is almost sure in every case.

"I would like to quote my president again, for the last words I heard him say were that the United States today was on better terms with every nation on the face of the earth than it had ever been before.

"Now I have little more, to say of my own country. Our young republic has had hard work during the past century to subdue the continent and turn a wilderness into a smiling and wealthy garden, but that business is now pretty well finished, and so last year your brother Jonathan started out to see the world. He donned seven league, nay 7700 league boots, and planted his footsteps on the isles of the sea, and what gigantic strides he made—Hawaii, then Manila, and another step, my Lord Charles, would have brought him to Hong Kong. Well, our interests and commerce differ only in degree, and it is—I won't say as Lord Charles Beresford did, by putting fleets side by side, but by a common purpose and a united voice—for us to command peace for the mutual support of the commerce of the two countries."

After paying eloquent tributes to the late Baron Herschell and to Rudyard Kipling, Mr. Choate concluded as follow:

"Gentlemen, we are almost one people. What I say is, let our voices always be lifted together for the cause of human progress, and the advance of civilization."

"Linked together for the cause of human progress and the advance of civilization, and my word for it, if that can always be followed, why then law, order, peace and freedom, which are the nurses of commerce the world over, will prevail, and the cause of humanity will be advanced."

Named by Acclamation.

Providence, March 16.—The Republican state convention yesterday renominated by acclamation for governor Elisha Dyer of Providence and the following ticket: Lieutenant governor, William Gregory; secretary of state, Charles P. Bennett; attorney general, Willard B. Tanner; general treasurer, Walter A. Read. The platform requests the state's representatives in congress to use their utmost endeavors to secure the naming of a battleship after the state of Rhode Island. The platform continues: "Words are inadequate to express our admiration of the character and our confidence in the wisdom of our great leader, William McKinley."

Won't Create "Martyrs."

Washington, March 16.—In considering what policy should be adopted towards the Cuban military assembly the authorities have consulted Gonzales Quesada, the Cuban representative, who has advised that the assembly be allowed to run its course without molestation, as he holds that it has no strength outside of its own membership, and that any move to disband it would give the members an opportunity to appear as martyrs. This view has been accepted thus far, and may continue, although General Brooke, being on the ground, has considerable latitude of action.

Looking For a Counterfeiter.

Lawrence, Mass., March 16.—Agent Redfern of the United States secret service was in this city last night in search of one of the gang of counterfeiters who have been working this section. He gave the local authorities a description of the man wanted, and upon investigation it was found that the man in question came to this city Sunday, but left the next day. There is no evidence that the counterfeiters have attempted to work in this city.

Lorimer's Modest Wish.

Boston, March 16.—Rev. Wayland Hoyt, D. D., of Philadelphia, and Rev. Dr. Lorimer of Tremont Temple, addressed the Young Men's Baptist Social union, at the semi-annual banquet in the American House last night, both addresses being brilliant expositions of church work, especially among young men. Dr. Lorimer said that he would like to have $5,000,000 for a Baptist cathedral in this city.

A HARMLESS PUZZLE

Magnified Into Heinous Fault of a Young Schoolteacher.

Bicycle Suit Shocked Good People of Mt. Carmel.

Connecticut Town Divided Over the Sensational Case of Miss Hough.

New Haven, March 16.—Maude Hough, the young school teacher of Mt. Carmel, who has been driven nearly insane by charges against her before the Hamden school board, has become rational, but is still in a high state of nervous excitement. She is confined to her bed in the ancient farm house that fronts the snow covered sides of Mt. Carmel.

She remembers nothing of her wild flight into the mountains last Sunday, while suffering from an attack of emotional insanity. She is unaware that another teacher sits at her desk in the village school house.

The trials to which the young girl has been subjected in this quiet little Connecticut village seem almost incredible.

To amuse her pupils she wrote a harmless puzzle on the blackboard. This the village gossips magnified into a heinous fault. Then she failed to report to the school board that her mother occasionally visited her in school.

Mrs. Hough, the girl's mother, is determined that her daughter obtains her rights.

"Maude will not resign," says she. "The members of the school board must prove their charges or else exonerate her."

The little school house in which Miss Hough has been teaching since last fall stands in a sparcely settled countryside. It faces Mill river and Mt. Carmel, while across the canal, to the west, looms up a spur of the West mountain.

The young school teacher is attractive in appearance. She is slender, with light brown hair and blue eyes. Former Selectman John E. Andrews and his wife, with whom she boards, have only words of praise for the girl who helps to support her widowed mother, who lives in New Haven.

"And she has her school in fine shape," said Mr. Andrews. "Mr. Foote, the school visitor, told me she was the best instructor he had ever seen."

The worst that can be said about Miss Hough is that she has made mistakes. The principal mistake is that she did not know who were her friends. Miss Hough came to Mt. Carmel in September. It was her first position. It was also the first time in her life she had ever earned any money. Her pay was $36 a month, and out of this she was expected to pay her board and clothe herself.

This amount—$36—seemed a fortune to the young girl. Long before, she had hankered for a bicycle. So she went into New Haven and bought one on the instalment plan. Sereno Cook, the selectman with whom she boarded, evinced surprise. With the bicycle she bought a bicycle skirt, perfectly modest and equally trim.

One of the stories told about the town was of Miss Hough's appearance in her bicycle skirt. With some of her pupils she went skating, and a plough-hand saw her in that skirt. He rushed down to the village store to tell his news, adding embellishments of his own. This was brought up against her at the school inquisition.

Mr. Cook was solemnly excited yesterday. He denied that he had ever pestered the young woman.

Miss Hough's mother says the school people have a resignation from her daughter, but that it was obtained by duplicity. The girl wrote two in a moment of anger, put them in a book, and when she sent her mother to find them they were gone. Miss Hough will not submit to dismissal without a fight. All Mt. Carmel is divided over the affair and lively times are anticipated.

In a Dangerous Position.

Baltimore, March 16. — The British steamship which stranded yesterday off Cape Henry life saving station proves to be the British steamship Brator of London, bound from Daquiri, Cuba, for Sparrow's Point, Md., with 3000 tons of iron ore. She went ashore during a dense fog, and her position is regarded as dangerous on account of the high sea.

Clothing Caught Fire.

Haverhill, Mass., March 16.—Mrs. Rachael Riley, colored, left her bed during the night an dattempted to light a lamp, but in some way set fire to papers on a table, the flames spreading to her clothing. Her screams brought neighbors to her assistance, but the flames were not extinguished until she had been fatally burned.

To Resume Operations.

Webster, Mass., March 16.—The large sash and blind factory of Joel Goddard & Co., one of the largest of the kind in New England, which has been closed for the past 18 months, will resume operations on Monday next, giving employment to a large number of men.

Brought $841,000 Cash.

Legislative hearing.
Woman wants work.

Good Afternoon.

The Mayor's bills in the Legislature are sailing along right merrily. They have not only been engrossed in the House but also in the Senate. Today they will probably be enacted in the former and may reach the Governor tomorrow. For measures which have caused so much open opposition their success is marvelous.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Congressman Dingley's funeral cost the nation $4,500, a sum greater by far, we imagine, than the modest congressman ever spent for his personal expenses in any year of his life. It is doubtful if the performance was any honor to him.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ A petition for electrics from the residents of the Back Bay in Boston yesterday, came near tying up the Boston Elevated railway system with astonishment. The haughty Dons and proud Donas of the Back Bay have become weary of riding in horse cars and have decided to make use of the jolly trolly for transportation. It is a great victory for the trolley.—Fitchburg Sun.

☞ The struggle of the shoe workers in the city of Marlboro has done uncalculable damage; it has ruined merchants, and broken up and pauperized many homes; it has cost the manufacture heavily, but they have won. The cause of organized labor has been greatly weakened. It may be that the strikers had some right on their side; perhaps a great deal. But they have failed, and to fail in a matter that involves so much as this did, is a crime. There never was the slightest chance for them to win, and their leaders were in a position to know it from the very start. If they did not know it, they are not intelligent enough to lead; —if they knew it and went heedlessly and recklessly ahead they are criminally unfit to lead.—South Framingham News.

☞ A high debate is just now going on between the champions of our moral and material interests. That we have interests of these two sorts is admitted by all. With one class of citizens the supremacy of the moral interests crowds the material quite out of sight. With another class the moral must wait in the background till the material are well secured. A third class, rarely in the majority, can sweep the field with that broad and long vision which sees that both public and private welfare must depend on steady fidelity to sound prinicples; that is, on reason and justice. A great Teacher has shown us what to "seek first." But he frankly recognized the material concerns of maukind when he said, "Your Father knoweth that ye have need of these things." — Christian Register.

☞ Roosevelt is showing himself to be a Governor who accepts the responsibility of the administration of an imperial State, and an official who cannot be diverted from what he deems to be right, by any influence, however backed by wealth or prestige. Armour & Co. have been violating the butter laws of New York by selling oleomargarine. The penalties for which they are liable amount to $1,250,000. The Armours offered to compromise by the payment of $20,000 and a promise to sell no more oleo as butter within the state. The State Commissioner of Agriculture and the Attorney General were disposed to accept the offer and discontinue the suits for the recovery of the fines, but Gov. Roosevelt refuses his sanction, and orders the law officers to proceed with the prosecution of the cases. This must be a new sensation for Armour & Co., for they are not accustomed to meet people who are unmoved by an offer of $20,000.—Lynn Item.

☞ President McKinley's instructions to the commission sent to the Philippines state that "the temporary government of the island is intrusted to the military authorities, and will continue until Cóngress shall determine otherwise." It is a perfectly distinct and satisfactory definition of the President's position. — Milford Journal.

☞ It will be sad news to the anti-imperialists that ten per cent. of the volunteers at Manila want to stay there and engage in business, farming and mining. They have been representing that country as a sort of annex to the bottomless pit for so long, that it will disturb them terribly to find that "white men" cannot only live there but that they like the country and see many openings.—Malden Mail.

European Interference.

The debate on "European Interference in American Affairs" was concluded at the meeting of the Quincy High School Debating Society on Wednesday.

Misses Poland, Priest, Sheahan, Sibley, and Souter, of '99, spoke on the affirmative side; Misses Thayer, Vogler, Whittemore, and Wilson, of 99, spoke on the negative.

In the animated open debate that followed the following speakers took part: Mr. Lewis, 1900; Mr. Northcott, 99; Mr. Hayward, 1900; Mr. Murphy, '99; Miss Whittemore, '99; Mr. Wade, '99.

Mr. Wade was the critic and presented a good report.

There seems to be no lack of debating talent at the High school, as the off-hand speeches of the pupils show considerable readiness in argument.

The first number of the entertainment was a very pleasing piano solo by Miss Newcomb, 1900.

Not Friendless.

The report that Johnny Griffin, the pugilist, died friendless and alone in New York on Sunday does not seem to be verified by the facts. When Undertaker Bean of this city went to New York as a representative of the family he found that the Lenox club was making arrangements for the funeral, and objected to giving up the body. Mr. Bean, however, obtained a permit from the coroner and arrived in Quincy with the body on Wednesday. It was taken to the residence of his sister, Mrs. Cappiferri on Water street. This morning the funeral took place from the Catholic church at Weymouth Landing, and the interment was in the lot at South Weymouth with his father and mother.

Confirmation.

Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of Massachusetts, made an official visitation to Christ church Wednesday evening. Although the weather was unpleasant there was a large attendance. Bishop Lawrence administered the rite of confirmation to thirty-one applicants which was the largest class in the history of the church. Following the confirmation, Bishop Lawrence gave an interesting address, his theme being the trial and crucifixion of Christ and Christian conservatism. Special music was rendered by the choir during the services.

Further Time for Boynton.

The Governor has approved the unanimous action of the Legislature in amending and extending the Boston, Quincy and Fall River Bicycle Railway charter. With the exception that all railways built under this charter is made non-forfeitable, and also the extension of the time for building the first section until July 1900, and the completion July, 1902, no change is made in the provisions of the bill.

Do You Eat Gelatine?

Gelatine as an article of regular diet all-the-year-round is beginning to take the place it is entitled to on American tables. American manufacturing enterprise has produced at least one brand of gelatine superior to any known abroad, where the use of gelatine has heretofore been far more general than in this country. A housekeeper who once uses gelatine never gives it up, because it is so convenient, economical and satisfactory in every way, while those who sit at her table never grow tired of it, because of the almost unlimited number of desserts that can be made from it.

It is no secret that the favorite brand of gelatine in dainty homes as well as in the leading clubs and hotels, is the Keystone Silver White Gelatine. This superior food product had the honor of receiving the unqualified endorsement of the organization of chefs of the country, a distinction never before bestowed on any article of food. It has none of the faults of other gelatines. It is double-refined and its purity and sweetness are apparent at the first glance on opening the box. It dissolves readily and quickly in hot water, making a firm jelly which, when not colored, is almost transparent. It will be found more economical to use this double refined gelatine because a package makes one-third more jelly than an equal quantity of other gelatines. For its nourishing value, its cleanliness, convenience and economy this gelatine stands alone. Almost every grocer sells Keystone Silver White Gelatine, but anyone who fails to find it can get a sample by writing to the makers, the Michigan Carbon Works, Detroit, Michigan, enclosing the name of her grocer.

CITY OPPOSED

To Plans for Metropolitan Sewer.

Only Remonstrant at the Hearing.

Recommended Reference to the Next Legislature.

(Special to the Ledger.)

The Metropolitan Sewerage Commissioners, who were quietly engineering the bill for the South Metropolitan high level sewer through the Legislature, were surprised at the hearing at the State House this morning to find a strong opposition from Quincy.

It was only last evening that City Solicitor Blackmur became aware that a hearing was to be held today, but he was on hand with a formidable remonstance.

Braintree, Weymouth, Hingham, Hull and other towns which should be vitally interested in the scheme to dump so much sewage on their shores were not represented.

The hearing was however largely attended by those who are pushing the scheme. After several had spoken in favor and none in opposition, City Solicitor Blackmur told why Quincy objected, and Boston later endorsed some of the objections. Mr. Blackmur claimed that the report had been issued but a few days and no opportunity had been offered for a careful study, but everything was left optional with the commissioners and they were not responsible to anyone. There was no guarantee that the health interests of the City of Quincy would receive proper attention.

Chairman Shea of the Quincy Sewerage Commission, Engineer Branch, ex-Chairman Whitman, C. F. Knowlton and others were in attendance.

A more detailed report of the hearing will appear in the Ledger tomorrow.

A Big Fraud

Perpetrated on the Public for Years.

Year after year the public has been paying exorbitant prices for so-called Clay worsteds, both in ready made and custom suits, and during all this time not a yard of the genuine article has found its way to the ready-made clothiers, and very little, if any, to the ordinary custom tailor. Every season the market is flooded with these clever imitations, many of which are no better than the above mentioned, and not any that are worth the prices paid. After a very little service they grow dull and rusty, soon get out of shape and show the cheap material and poor making.

To prevent being imposed on and to avoid paying a fabulous price for any of these many worthless garments, half made from fraudulent imitative material—insist on having BLACKFAST WORSTED Suits. They are conceded by reliable manufacturers and dealers to be the nearest to a genuine Clay of any black worsted on the market. Like the Clays—owing to the fine worsted yarns and pure dyes used, and skilful manufacturing, they are noted for their beautiful finish and great wearing quality. These goods are cut, trimmed and made into ready-to-wear garments, to fit any form, by expert tailors, and are renowned for perfection in fit and permanence in shape. Purchasers should see that each suit bears the Blackfast Label.

They are made in slims, stouts and regulars, sizes 33 to 50, and are sold for the following prices:

$10, $12, $14, $16.50, $18, $20.

BRILLIANT WORK.

What the Award to Miss Claflin Really Means.

Concerning the award at Bryn Mawr college to Miss Edith Frances Claflin of Quincy, announced in Wednesday's Ledger, the Boston Transcript says:

"The most important and interesting event of the college year took place Wednesday in the announcement of the three European fellowships. So much interest always attaches to the awardment of these three largest of the college prizes that it may not be beside the point to explain about them. The Bryn Mawr European fellowship is awarded annually to a member of the graduating class of Bryn Mawr College on the ground of excellence in scholarship. It provides the student with the means to spend a year abroad in study at some foreign university, English or continental. The choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the faculty.

"Two European fellowships, founded by Miss Garrett of Baltimore, are open to graduate students who are enrolled as candidates for the degree of doctor of philosophy. One, founded in 1896 and named by the donor the President M. Carey Thomas fellowship, is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student in her first year of the graduate work at Bryn Mawr College; the other, founded in 1894, and known as the Mary E. Garrett fellowship, is awarded annually on the ground of excellence in scholarship to a student still in residence who has for two years pursued graduate studies at Bryn Mawr College. These fellowships like the Byrn Mawr European fellowship, are of sufficient value to defray the expenses of one year's study and residence at some foreign university, English or continental. As in the other case, the choice of a university may be determined by the holder's own preference, subject to the approval of the family.

"The Bryn Mawr European fellowship has this year fallen to Miss Cora Hardy of Alabama; it may not be uninteresting to add that Miss Hardy is the second winner of this fellowship coming from the South, Miss Leftwich of Baltimore holding it for 1895. Miss Hardy has already distinguished herself in her academic career, having been awarded the James E. Rhoads junior scholarship for 1897-8 and the Anna Powers memorial scholarship for the present year. Miss Hardy's work is in Latin and French.

"The president's fellowship is awarded to Miss Florence Parthenia Lewis, fellow in philosophy. Miss Lewis is from Kansas and has received her two degrees of A. B. and A. M. from the University of Texas in 1897 and 1898.

"Miss Edith Frances Claflin is the winner of the third, the Mary E. Garrett fellowship. Miss Claflin took her A. B. from Radcliffe in 1897, and came to Bryn Mawr the following year as graduate scholar in Greek and Latin. She has spent the present year in continning her study for her doctor's degree. It is probable that she will spend her year abroad in Athens, studying under Dr. Smyth, the head of the Greek department of Bryn Mawr, who for the next year has been granted leave of absence to accept the charge of the American School in Athens. In view of Dr. Smyth's year in Athens there will in all probability be awarded this year a fourth European fellowship, the regular resident Greek fellowship being for the nonce converted to a travelling fellowship.

"That the ability which wins these prizes really amounts to something solid is proved by the fact that out of the eighteen students who have been European fellows twelve have at present prominent educational posts, and the remaining six are still studying. Among these are Miss Brownell, warden of Sage College, University of Cornell, and instructor in English at Cornell; Miss Emery, dean of women of the University of Wisconsin and assistant professor of classical philology; Miss Maddison, secretary to the president of Bryn Mawr College and reader in mathematics: Miss Warren, instructor in Latin at Vassar; Miss Balch, instructor in economics at Wellesley; Miss Hamilton, head mistress of Bryn Mawr School of Baltimore, the largest of the Bryn Mawr preparatory schools.

Mr. Walter E. Loud, the violinist of this city, won new laurels for himself in the Union church at East Braintree Wednesday evening. His playing was magnificent and surpassed all previous efforts. The sweet tones of this king of all instruments mingled with those of the great organ carried the large audience to the highest point of enthusiasm.

The regular meeting of the Wednesday night club was held with Mrs M. B. Macleod, Taylor street, Wollaston. In spite of the inclemency of the weather only two of the regular members were detained on account of sickness. The first part of the evening was devoted to whist. Lunch was served at 10.30. The next regular meeting will be held at Mr. E. C. Sawins, Botolph street, Atlantic.

IF YOU HAVE PAIN IN YOUR BACK,

Let us give you a piece of advice: Pain in the back is an almost infallible sign of Kidney disease, a surer sign is the condition of your urine, if you have a pain in the back then look to the condition of your urine. It is easily done. Take a glass tumbler and fill it with urine, after it has stood 24 hours, if it has a sediment, if it is milky or cloudy, if it is pale or discolored, stringy or roppy, your Kidneys and Bladder are in a dangerous condition and need immediate attention, or the consequences may prove fatal.

Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the one medicine that really cures all diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder and Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation and corrects the bad effects of whiskey and beer on the system. It is wonderful how it makes that pain in the back disappear, how it relieves the desire to urinate often especially at night, and drives away that scalding pain in passing water and in a remarkably short time makes you well and strong. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold at all drug stores for $1.00 a bottle, or six bottles for $5.00.

If you would like to try this wonderful medicine you can do so absolutely free. Send your full name and address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Roudout, N. BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." FOGG'S LATEST STORY

Creates a Fresh Sensation In the Ware Murder Case.

Retracts Testimony Which Implicated Trewergy.

He Now Claims That He Was Scared Into Telling a Story Which Was False.

Bucksport, Me., March 16.—Before Recorder Remick of the Western Hancock municipal court, Joseph A. Fogg, Jr., was arraigned on the charge of perjury, pleaded guilty, and was sent to Ellsworth jail, in default of $5000 bonds. Fogg had confessed that his testimony in the hearing of W. T. Trewergy, arrested on the charge of the murder of Sarah Ware, was false in every particular.

The writ specified the offence as having been committed upon the 10th instant in certain testimony uttered by Fogg, in the hearing of U. T. Trewergy, charged with the murder of Sarah Ware on or about Sept. 17. It was solely on Fogg's testimony that probable cause was found against Trewergy, and he was held for the grand jury, and is now in Ellsworth jail. Fogg's testimony at the hearing was sensational in the extreme, and was in substance that a few nights after the disappearance of Sarah Ware he was asked by Trewergy to help do a job, and he accompanied Trewergy on a jigger to a certain spot in the Miles' lane, and helped Trewergy move the body to another spot, where the body was found Oct. 2. Fogg's statement was not shaken to any extent by a rigid cross examination.

On Tuesday Fogg confessed to Chairman Hall of the board of selectmen that he had testified falsely, and that his whole story was a lie from beginning to end, and repeated the same in the presence of Detective Odlin. County Attorney Bunker was notified and at once ordered Fogg's arrest. At the hearing Fogg declined counsel, and was allowed to tell his own story.

He said that he was seen by S. L. Heywood, L. F. Tapley of Bucksport, and Detective Tracey of Bangor, who told him that they knew that he knew all about the murder of Sarah Ware, and wanted him to tell them what they knew he had told his wife, mother and another party. He had seen them a number of times, and they told him he would have to go to state prison if he did not tell what he knew; that Tracey told him that he had a writ for his arrest, and would send him to state prison if he did not tell; that Tracey said he had $500 in his possession, and half of it would go to him if he would tell.

Fogg then created a sensation by saying that Tracey and Tapley went out to the Miles' lane to see if there was a stone wall there, and also told him he found the body at the place where the bit of cloth was found, which, at one time, was thought to have had some connection with the case, but which afterwards was disproved. Fogg said that he was scared into telling the story, and was ignorant enough to believe it would come out all right. After the hearing he thought of what he had done, and could keep it no longer, and told some of his folks that he had lied, and afterwards told Hall and Odlin. He had seen Tapley since the hearing, but none of the others. He said that Tapley had told him to stick to his story, and Trewergy would look through the grates. Fogg nearly broke down several times.

The Mr. Heywood referred to has been very prominent in the investigations, independent of the regular authorities, and made the complaint for the arrest of Trewergy. He, with Tapley and Tracey, traced to Fogg a report which was said to be in circulation that Sarah Ware was murdered before her body was found, or it was generally known that she was murdered.

The charges Fogg has made have added to the intense interest in the case, especially as Fogg, at the Trewergy hearing, was as unshaken in cross examination as he was in his latest recital. The people of this town, as a rule, do not know what to think of Fogg. It is believed that application for Trewergy's release on a habeas corpus writ will be made.

A Grand Victory.

Washington, March 16.—A telegram from Major General Otis, dated March 15, says: "The Twentieth infantry had an all-day fight at Pasig. Three thousand rebels were encountered and defeated. They were routed with heavy loss. Our loss was small. Three hundred and fifty rebels were made prisoners. Wheaton's brigade now holds the towns of Pasig and Pateros. This news is based upon official information. Our gunboats fought their way into the lake."

Smallpox Spreading.

Raleigh, March 16.—Smallpox continues to spread in this state. So rapidly is the disease assuming the proportions of an epidemic that the state board of health has appointed a smallpox inspector. Compulsory vaccination in the town and country has been resorted to. The greatest secrecy prevails in infected districts as to the extent and fatality of the disease. Unless the epidemic is speedily checked, compulsory vaccination will be ordered over the entire state.

Injuries Caused Death.

Hartford, March 16.—Victoria Martin, a young colored woman, who was struck by a lighted lamp thrown by George Dunn last Saturday night, died at the hospital last night. She was burned so badly that no hopes had been entertained of her recovery. The affair was the outcome of a jealous quarrel. The police have been unable to find Dunn.

Steamer Pigeon Post.

Paris, March 16.—The proposal to attempt to establish a system of pigeon post on board the steamers of the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, between Havre and New York, which has been for some time under consideration, has finally been approved, and it has been decided to begin the experiment next month.

"CHIN" OF COLONEL CHINN

Results In an Indictment Against Him as a Common Nuisance.

Lexington, Ky., March 16.—As a result of the assault made by Colonel Jack Chinn upon C. J. Bronston in the Phoenix hotel, last Wednesday, the grand jury yesterday returned an indictment against Chinn for common nuisance, "by using insulting, abusive, indecent and riotous language for the purpose of provoking assault."

COLONEL JACK CHINN.

The indictment is very unusual. Chinn is known all over the country as a politician and race horse starter.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 16.—Bills were adversely reported in the senate yesterday to provide for changes in the law relating to bounties for soldiers of the Rebellion; to place the control of public baths in Boston in the hands of the board of health; as to sale of milk from injured or diseased cows; and on authorizing cities and towns to establish death benefit and retirement funds for employes.

Leave to withdraw was reported on the petitions for nomination of senators by direct vote in caucus; on a petition that the East Boston tunnel act shall not be compulsory; and ought not to be adopted was reported on resolutions favoring the East Boston tunnel.

Bills were engrossed for better enforcement of the Boston building laws; and regulating the alewives fishery in Herring or Monument rivers in Bourne.

"Ought not to pass" was reported in the house on the bill extending the authority of milk inspectors outside the cities or towns where they now have jurisdiction, and on the bill to compel street railway companies to make special rates for workingmen, women and children. Leave to withdraw was reported on these petitions: For the reorganization of the institutions registration department of the city of Boston; for the construction of fishways where none now exist; to permit the taking of butterfish in Buzzard's bay by nets or weirs; that the close season on woodcock, quail, ruffled grouse, gray squirrel, hare or rabbit be from Jan. 1 to Oct. 1; to exempt from taxation personal property situated and taxed outside the state and stores in foreign corporations; to prohibit the use of purse seines or nets; allowing cold storage companies to keep game birds in the close season provided they have not been killed in this state; prohibiting the use of purse seines for the taking of menhaden.

Ought not to pass was reported on the bill allowing the sale and keeping of quail from May 1 to Oct. 15, if the birds have been killed outside the state, and on the bill to allow persons arrested for drunkenness to be released from custody on their written statement that it is their first offense within a year.

Reference to the next general court was reported on the bill to tax foreign corporations doing business in this state, and on the bill fixing the license fee for milk peddlers at $50 a year.

Favorable reports were made on the bill to reduce the time in which a prisoner committed for non-payment of fines shall be discharged; on the bill including September in the months when milk containing not less than 12 percent of solids shall be deemed standard; on the bill that the close season for duck shall begin March 1.

To Visit Chicago.

Washington, March 16.—Messrs. Gordon, Revelle and Dawes, constituting the committee on invitation for the Chicago day celebration at Chicago Oct. 9, have formally invited Secretary Long, Postmaster General Smith and Adjutant General Corbin to attend. All accepted, and Secretary Long agreed to speak at the banquet. Major General Wheeler also is to be urged to participate in the celebration as commander of the first division of the parade. Major General Merritt is to be the grand marshal.

To Study Our Methods.

Washington, March 16.—Lieutenant Vitale, military attache of the Italian embassy, has been granted permission by the war department to accompany troops from New York to San Francisco, and thence to Manila, and to remain with the army during the campaign in the Philippines. He desires to study for his government the American method of land and sea transportation of troops, and to observe campaign methods in the islands.

Halifax Theatre Burned.

Halifax, March 16.—The Lyceum theatre was burned last night. It was erected 50 years ago, and many noted actors had performed there in times past. A frozen gas meter exploded in an attempt to thaw it, and the burning gas spread through the hall.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—5:53; sets, 5:53.
Moon sets—Morn.
High water—3:15 a. m.; 3:45 p. m.

The storm center has moved from the lower Missouri valley to Ontario with increasing intensity, and rains and snows have been general from the Missouri and Mississippi valleys eastward. Fair weather will prevail generally except in New England, where rain and snow will continue. It will be colder in the lower and eastern upper lake region and in New England. High winds will prevail on the north Atlantic coast, shifting to southwesterly and westerly.

STRONG TIDE AND CURRENTS.

To These Captain Barrett Attributes the Wreck of the Castilian.

Yarmouth, N. S., March 16.—Captain Barrett of the wrecked steamer Castilian came ashore and gave a short statement of the disaster to the press. He said he swung the ship at half-way rock, eight miles from Portland, and found the compasses accurate. He shaped his course 16 miles south Sea island, the weather being clear. He ordered soundings taken at 1 a. m. and the report was 67 fathoms. A report was ordered again at 2 o'clock, and depth was 37 fathoms. He got later soundings which were satisfactory. After 3 o'clock the water shoaled.

At 3:30 there were 17 fathoms, which produced anxiety. It was perfectly clear at the time, and he ordered the ship swung south, and he went into the chart room. The first officer shouted that he saw something white on the starboard bow. He came out dazed by the light. He could not see the ship swinging. There was a grinding noise and then a standstill. At 3:40 he sounded full astern, but there was no move. He was anxious for the safety of the passengers and feared a panic. He sent for aid and then followed a dreary wait. He was delighted at seeing the rescuing boats stick to the wreck as long as possible. Later he held an examination, which showed it was hopeless that the ship would ever come off the rocks.

He attributed the disaster to the strong set of the tide and currents. He was familiar with them and allowed for them. He thought the compasses were correct. He had no idea where he was when she struck, but thought he must be on Blonde rock. He expected to have the command of one of the new boats building. Captain Barrett goes to Halifax today for an inquiry. He is exhausted by the strain, and is anxious to get through with the business.

Several hundred head of cattle and sheep and all the horses have been saved. The wreck still holds fast. Captain Bartlett, the Allan's marine superintendent, is in charge. The sea is smooth.

England and Italy.

Washington, March 16.—One of the highest officials of the administration is authority for the statement that there may be a decided misunderstanding as to the attitude of England toward the "open door" policy in China, growing out of the San Mun affair. He saw no reason for the broad assumption based on this one incident to suppose that England had determined to abandon this important policy. Her purpose in supporting Italy he believed to be inspired simply by a desire to help an old and trusted ally to a small fragment of Chinese soil, without in any way committing herself to a recognition of the expediency of a partition of China.

Consolidation Favored.

Hartford, March 16.—The directors of the Connecticut and Rhode Island Police Chiefs' union held a meeting here for the purpose of determining the advisability of admitting the chiefs of all New England cities into membership in the union. Favorable responses were received from Worcester, Fall River, New Bedford, Springfield, Holyoke, Nashua, Concord, Manchester, Portland, Bangor, Lewiston and 40 other cities. The directors decided to make a favorable report on the consolidation to the next annual meeting of the union, which will be held the third Tuesday in May.

To Move City of Dead.

Clinton, Mass., March 16.—The bids for the removal of nearly 3000 bodies from the old to the new St. John's cemetery, including the transfer of monuments, headstones, curbings and fences, were opened last evening. The movement becomes necessary to make way for the extension of the metropolitan water system of Boston. The city of the dead will be taken to Lancester, three miles away. On account of the complex nature of the proposals the successful bidders will not be announced for a week or more.

Nova Scotia's Bid.

Halifax, March 16.—In the Nova Scotia legislature yesterday the government introduced a measure in reply to H. M. Whitney's application for exemption from royalty charges on coal raised and used in the projected smelting works at Cape Breton. The coal royalty is 12½ cents per ton. Mr. Whitney wanted the total exemption for five years. The government offers 50 percent exemption for eight years instead, provided the erection of smelting works, to cost $3,000,000, is commenced by Aug. 1 next.

To Enforce Bait Act.

St. John's, March 16.—The colonial government is fitting out the revenue cruiser Fiona for the annual spring campaign against the supply of bait to French fishermen in Newfoundland waters. Owing to the vigorous attitude manifested by Joseph Chamberlain toward French agressions, the bait act will be enforced more stringently than ever, and it is believed this course will have the effect of crippling the French fishing industry on the grand banks this season.

Mother's Wish Fulfilled.

Lowell, Mass., March 16.—A wedding by a death bed was a peculiar feature in this city yesterday, when Miss Maria Carrie Coggeshall and Fred B. Brennan were married at the home of the bride's parents. The mother of the bride is at death's door, but it has been her fond desire to witness the marriage ceremony of her daughter, and it was her wish that the wedding should take place before her death. She was present at the ceremony on a stretcher.

Burned at Sea.

London, March 16.—The Norwegian bark Axel, at Berwick on Tweed, reports that on Feb. 20 she sighted the abandoned British schooner Delight of Charlottetown, P. E. I., whose crew were reported landed at Lisbon prior to March 8. The Delight was boarded and found to be on fire and with rudder gone, but otherwise little damaged. Six hours later flames shot up from the Delight and she disappeared beneath the waves.

Mrs. Place's Doom.

Albany, March 16.—Governor Roosevelt has refused to commute the sentence of Mrs. Martha Place, the Brooklyn murderess, and she will be electrocuted some day next week at Sing Sing.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER.

Vol. 11. No. 64. QUINCY, MASS., FRIDAY, MARCH 17, 1899. PRICE 2 CENTS.

A Big Fraud

Perpetrated on the Public for Years.

Year after year the public has been paying exorbitant prices for so-called Clay worsteds, both in ready made and custom suits, and during all this time not a yard of the genuine article has found its way to the ready-made clothiers, and very little, if any, to the ordinary custom tailor. Every season the market is flooded with these clever imitations, many of which are no better than the above mentioned, and not any that are worth the prices paid. After a very little service they grow dull and rusty, soon get out of shape and show the cheap material and poor making.

To prevent being imposed on and to avoid paying a fabulous price for any of these many worthless garments, half made from fraudulent imitative material—insist on having BLACKFAST WORSTED Suits. They are conceded by reliable manufacturers and dealers to be the nearest to a genuine Clay of any black worsted on the market. Like the Clays—owing to the fine worsted yarns and pure dyes used, and skilful manufacturing, they are noted for their beautiful finish and great wearing quality. These goods are cut, trimmed and made into ready-to-wear garments, to fit any form, by expert tailors, and are renowned for perfection in fit and permanence in shape. Purchasers should see that each suit bears the Blackfast Label.

They are made in slims, stouts and regulars, sizes 33 to 50, and are sold for the following prices:

$10, $12, $14, $16.50, $18, $20.

SHOT BY MOB.

Lynching of Negroes at Palmetto, Ga.

Were Under Arrest For Alleged Incendiarism.

Job Was Planned and Carried Out In Short Order.

Atlanta, March 17.—Governor Candler has issued a proclamation offering a reward of $500 "for the apprehension and delivery of the first member of the mob and a further reward of $100 for each additional person implicated in the killing of the four negroes at Palmetto this morning." The governor says: "I regard the outrage as simply inexcusable. These men had been arrested, and as there was proof at hand to convict them the law was amply able to punish them."

The announcement by the governor is due to the fact that 20 men, armed and masked, rode into Palmetto at an early hour yesterday morning and put to death four negroes, fatally wounded one, shot another and broke the arm of a seventh man. Two others who were of the crowd upon which the bullets were showered miraculously escaped.

These unfortunates were under guard of three men awaiting the hour of 9 o'clock, when they were to have a hearing before a justice of the peace on the charge of arson. William Cotton, the leader of the nine men, confessed some time ago that a conspiracy had been entered into which resulted in two incendiary fires here in February, and on this evidence the men were to have been tried. The dead are:

William Cotton, Jr., Harrison Hudson, Edward Brown, Henry Bingham. Fatally wounded, John Bigby; wounded, John Jameson and George Tatum.

Isom Brown and Clem Watts, the two other members of the gang, escaped injury. After the inquest they were liberated and left on the train for Atlanta. The town is quiet and under the protection of the Capitol City Guards of Atlanta and a posse of 75 well-armed citizens.

The negroes were confined in the office of the Johnson warehouse, a one-story building just across the track from the Atlanta and West Point depot. They were arrested Wednesday and tied together with ropes and were passing the night under the protection of three guards sworn in for that purpose. Their preliminary trial was set for 9 o'clock yesterday morning.

About 1 o'clock yesterday morning about 20 men, masked and armed, rode up to the warehouse. Without waiting to announce themselves to the guards within, they forced the door of the warehouse and a second later stood in the office where the negroes were lying on the floor around the fire. The guards were covered by Winchesters, and with hands up were marched to one side of the little room and stood against the wall. The negroes, who were frightened into silence by the bursting of the door, now realized their peril. Scream after scream went up from the victims as they saw the gleam of firearms. Their appeals for mercy were unheeded. A short, heavy set man, whose features were completely concealed by a white handkerchief, acted as leader. He cursed the blacks into silence for a moment and told his men to get ready. After looking at each negro he commanded them to get up. A last appeal for mercy was unheeded and the word "fire" rang out in the little room. The volley filled the room with fire and smoke, and the negroes fell in a heap on the floor.

The noise awakened all the little town, and as lights began to twinkle in windows here and there a second volley sealed the doom of those who were fortunate enough to escape the murderous fire of the first charge. As the men made ready to depart, three or four men with pistols sent bullets into the prostrate forms on the floor, and inside of 10 minutes after the masked crew had entered Johnson's warehouse on their murderous errand they had completed their work and were on their way to safety on the backs of fleet horses. Citizens began to arrive at the warehouse, being under the impression that the guards were murdered by the negroes. Mayor Arnold telegraphed Governor Candler of the occurrence and asked for some militia. He then deputized 75 citizens to preserve order, and arming them with rifles placed them on duty in different parts of the town.

Daylight in the warehouse revealed a sickening sight. Blood covered the floor and the walls were indented with bullets from Winchesters and other arms. Wives and children of the negroes knelt by the bodies of their dead and endeavored to console the wounded.

Doctors administered to the wounded until noon, when friends removed them to their homes. The dead, whose bodies were horribly mangled, remained where they were until shortly after noon, when a coroner's jury was empanelled. In the absence of Coroner Dunlap, Justice of the Peace Cummings summoned the jury and conducted the inquest.

The jury rendered a verdict, which, presented in writing, reads: "We, the coroner's jury, empaneled in the case of the death of Harrison Hudson, William Cotton, Jr., Edward Brown and Henry Bingham, find that they came to their deaths from gunshot or pistol shot wounds from a crowd of masked men, to the jury unknown, a little after midnight on the morning of the 16th of March, 1899. T. J. Bullard, Foreman."

The town has been visited by two incendiary fires since Feb. 1, and the citizens have been afraid to rebuild, owing to the oft-repeated threats of the negroes that they would do the same thing again. The county authorities have been very active in their efforts to apprehend the incendiaries, and day before yesterday arrested nine negroes. William Cotton had confessed to Dr. Johnson that he and eight companions had conspired to burn the town and loot the stores.

The burning part of the program was successfully carried out, but the fire spread so rapidly that they were unable to obtain anything from the stores. Dr. Johnson got the names of the eight accomplices from Cotton, and on this evidence the warrants were sworn out.

The Capital city guards of Atlanta, 55 men, under command of Colonel John S. Candler, late of the Third Georgia volunteers, arrived at 11 o'clock, and reported to Mayor Arnold. The mayor distributed the men through the little town, and, together with the citizens now doing duty as deputy sheriffs, it is believed there is a force sufficient to quell any uprising by the negroes.

From the best information obtainable the mob did not exceed 20 men. They made no noise to announce their coming, and the dispatch with which they got away from the scene of the crime would seem to indicate the number employed in the work was small. The two negroes who have talked say the room was crowded with negroes, but the office would not hold over 30—mob, prisoners and guards.

The doors of the warehouse were not bolted, and were forced without trouble.

The town was quiet last night. The only sign of life was the walking to and fro of the members of the patrol. The citizens have quieted down and place confidence in the ability of the militia to preserve order.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 17.—After a debate extending over two days, the house yesterday ordered to a third reading the bill appropriating $170,000 for the extermination of the gypsy moth, with a rider that $10,000 shall be used against the brown-tail moth.

Ought to pass was reported on a bill defining more accurately the powers of trustees and guardians to sell personal property in their hands for the purpose of changing inventments. The following bills were reported: Extending the weekly payment law to all contractors and any persons or partnership; to prevent the unlawful blasting of rocks or other blasting operations; fixing the salary of the assistant clerk of the police court of Lowell at $1500 a year; for the appointment by the superior court of three commissioners on the abolition of the East Boston grade crossings; authorizing the trustees under the will of James M. Wood to convey an estate to the Lawrence home for aged people; for salaries for the members of the metropolitan park commission, the salaries being determined by the governor; appropriating $5000 for new apparatus at the Lowell normal school; for the appointment of five more assistant watchmen at the state prison.

Ought not to pass was reported on the following: On the bill to increase the salary of the assistant engineer at the state house to $1200 a year; giving boards of aldermen or selectmen within the metropolitan district power to issue permits for blasting; to prohibit laundries from being conducted on premises used for living purposes; that all laborers on public works shall be citizens of this state; allowing the sale of liquors after 4 p. m. on election days and holidays not of a religious character. A resolve appropriating $18,000 for the Lowell textile school, and a bill appropriating $15,000 for the purchase of land at the North Adams normal school were reported.

Bills were engrossed in the senate for the purchase of land in Dedham for a building for registry of deeds and probate; to authorize Worcester county commissioners to borrow money to complete and equip the new court house at Worcester; as to fees for serving precepts for elections, etc.; giving the librarian of the state library $800 additional for assistance; for an assistant register of probate and insolvency for Hampshire county; for transfer of juvenile offenders in need of hospital treatment; resolves for a barn at Westboro insane hospital, and for purchase of machinery for the same institution.

Senator Luscombe's motion to reconsider the rejection of a bill to authorize towns to appropriate money for free public lectures was rejected without a count.

A bill was favorably reported to permit Brockton to incur indebtedness for widening and improving streets, as was another to authorize the establishment of vacation schools, and a resolve to provide for repairs at the reformatory prison for women. There were adverse reports on the petition for prohibition of importation of uninspected milk; an increase of salary of Suffolk court stenographers; on extending the open season for shooting shelldrakes; on defining the penalty for larceny from expressmen's wagons.

A Youthful Murderer.

Cincinnati, March 17.—The murderer of Mrs. Anthony Stiegler of Mount Lookout, whose dead body was found in her home Wednesday, is Albert Luken, aged 16, living with his widowed mother in Clifton. Luken was arrested yesterday and made a full confession, saying his motive was robbery. He got about $70.

THEY MUST "MOVE ON"

Cuban Organizations Cannot Interfere With Uncle Sam's Plans.

Money For Troops Expected to Reach Havana Today.

Cubans Generals' Adherence to Gomez Will Be Death Blow to Assembly.

Washington, March 17.—There has been further telegraphic correspondence between General Brooke and the war department regarding conditions in Cuba, with the result that hereafter General Brooke will confine himself wholly within the terms of the resolution adopted by congress before the war. No government, organization or set of men will be recognized. The United States government will deal directly with the people of Cuba. It is not stated who the "people" are, but it is inferred that the United States authorities will determine that point as different questions arise.

In the same connection it is regarded as important that the census which has been determined upon should be taken so as to ascertain the resident citizens of the island. The Cuban assembly will be dealt with as any other organization. If its sessions provoke riot and disturbances it will be dispersed like any other disorderly body. If its meetings are harmless and amount to nothing more than the vociferation of men, no attention will be paid to it. If the assembly gets in the way of the United States authority in the preservation of the peace and tranquility of the island, then the assembly or any other set of men must, in the language of the Americans, "move on."

The United States transport Meade, which left Newport News on Monday with the $3,000,000 allotted to the Cuban troops by the United States government is expected to arrive today. As yet arrangements have not been made for storing the money, and until that matter is settled the allotment will be left on board under guard.

Governor General Brooke is still waiting for the muster rolls, which will probably need much handling before they can be got into shape to proceed properly with the distribution. To this end a corps of clerks will probably be installed at El Vedado, near headquarters.

A dispatch from Havana states that General Betancourt has arrived from Matanzas and conferred with Generals Diaz, Monteagudo, Robau, Nodarse and Peraza, who on Wednesday night decided to act in conjunction with him in condemning the action of the military assembly. Considerable interest attaches to the attitude they will adopt with respect to General Gomez, because they command over 20,000 Cuban soldiers. If they adhere to Gomez, it is asserted that their action will probably be the assembly's death blow. The general feeling is that they will support him, but they would like to secure the cooperation of General Mayia Roderiguez, commanding general in the province of Pinar del Rio, Matanzas, Havana and Santa Clara, but this may prove difficult, as he has already publicly expressed his adherence to the assembly. Should Roderiguez continue to defend the assembly's course and should these generals declare in favor of Gomez, trouble might follow. They are corps commanders under him, but their united influence is considered stronger than his. The meeting they had arranged for yesterday afternoon was postponed.

Failed at St. Petersburg.

London, March 17.—The Vienna correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says: A startling story, emanating from an absolutely trustworthy source, is forwarded from St. Petersburg. It appears that on the day preceding the explosion of the navy powder magazine at La Goubran, near Toulon, the Russian minister of war, Lieutenant General Kouropatkine, received telegraphic warning that both the Toulon and St. Petersburg powder stores would be exploded within 24 hours. He immediately drove to the powder magazine and, after an inspection, gave every employe three days' leave, installing fresh guards, establishing a military cordon and taking other precautions.

Good Afternoon.

"Are you thinking about anything to shake and wake this town up a month hence? Don't you think it time you were putting your thoughts to work? Just as much interested in it as anybody, are you not? If you don't do or say something, do you expect anybody else to do it? Why should you? The way to make a town grow is for every man in it to feel and show an active, vital, living interest in it and to be willing to do a little more than his share."

The above is an editorial from the Greenville, S. C., News which, is looking for some other attraction now that the soldiers are going. We should think Greenville would want a rest after the excitement of the winter. It is good advice however that the News gives its readers.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Ex-Congressman Barrows announces his retirement from politics. Very well. Mr. Barrows has had the usual experience and traditional fate of clergymen who get into politics.—Milford Journal.

☞ More capital has gone into these concerns (the trusts) in the first two months of 1899 than in the whole year 1898, and the effects on business are watched with grave concern. Already labor shows natural signs of uneasiness over the great profits figured out on paper from combinations of business, and it will be fortunate indeed if the movement towards voluntary advances in wages well under way shall be carried out so generously as to obviate labor troubles in an undisputed era of remarkable industrial prosperity.—Boston Transcript.

☞ Looking at the present political situation in Utah we think that all churchmen will agree that a church cannot mix in politics and maintain long its own self-respect. There has been no hint of church influence since the legislature met, save in the words and writings of one of the apostles, and the high authorities of the dominant creed must be glad of it. The wisest provision of law in the United States is one that forbids the state from trenching upon the prerogatives of the church, and inhibits the church from interfering in the civil government of the country. In keeping that law inviolable depends the perpetuity of free institutions, and that fact ought to be impressed upon every man, woman and child in the state —Salt Lake Tribune.

☞ It is gratifying to notice that "ought not to pass," and "leave to withdraw" are reported from committees on measures introduced in the legislature. It will serve as a check on the mania for legislation, and, though it is probable that a good many bills may be passed which might just as well have gone the way of those which are rejected, the statute book of this year is likely to be considerably smaller than that of last year.—New Bedford Standard.

GIGANTIC PROJECT.

The New Metropolitan High Level Sewer.

City Solicitor's Arguments Against the Bill.

Quincy Would Suffer Damage and Inconvenience.

The argument of City Solicitor Blackmur at the State House Thursday before the Committee on Metropolitan Affairs and Drainage, on the bill proposed by the Metropolitan Sewerage Commission upon a high level sewer through Quincy, will be of interest. He spoke as follows:

"This is a sewerage system, according to the report of the commissioners submitted to you, designed to provide a system of sewerage for an area of two to three hundred square miles, if not more, comprising five cities and four towns and including several districts of the City of Boston, and to provide for about 1,600,000 people at a cost of about $4,000,000.

Mr. Chairman, it is a gigantic project. I do not deny the need, or question the cost, but first, the general scheme, an second, the method of disposal of the sewage, I think should be further considered. It is a serious question how long the sewage from the whole metropolitan district can be discharged into Boson Harbor without serious pollution of its waters, and without becoming a nuisance to the towns, situated on its borders. Even as far inland as Worcester, the cities and towns are seeking an outlet at Boston Harbor.

It seems to me that the time has come for a more comprehensive study of the whole matter of sewage disposal for the Commonwealth than has yet been made. It would settle a great many questions now in doubt.

The State Board of Health are equally interested in this matter with the Board of Metropolitan Sewerage Commissioners, and I believe that this bill should be referred to the next General Court, and I would suggest that a resolve be passed submitting the question of sewage disposal, not only for this metropolitan district, but other districts in the Commonwealth lying outside of the same.

It may be economy, and it certainly will be in furtherance of the general health, that some comprehensive plan should be adopted to carry the whole sewage of the district to a point entirely outside of the harbor, or to pump it to some point entirely outside of the metropolitan district to be treated by filtration or otherwise. I am not alone in believing that something of this sort must ultimately be done, and it seems to me that it is not too early for this question to be thoroughly investigated and a plan adopted for future development, so that sewer construction for the next few years can be designed with a view to being a part of such ultimate development.

Mr. Chairman, the State Board of Health enjoys the confidence of the people it represents the whole community, and not a district. The gentlemen who submitted this were sent to solve a problem for a district as economically as they could. Understand me, I do not believe that any one of the gentlemen composing this commission would knowingly champion a project which would cause injury to a municipality or to a district but we do not know how much consideration they have given to subjects collateral to the disposal of sewage for the district subjects which it would be within the province and he duty of the State Board of Health to consider subjects which the State Board of Health had in their jurisdiction for years and with which the Board are already familiar. The Legislature heretofore has incorporated in all its acts unless I am mistaken the provision that plans for sewage disposal shall first be submitted to and be accepted by the State Board of Health before authority is given for the construction of their system.

We do not believe that the floating experiments made on behalf of the sewerage commissioners show that a matter such as sewage would not flow into Quincy Bay with certain conditions of the tide and we do believe that the question whether the sewage should be discharged at a point farther out into the harbor or whether storage basins should be erected and the method of discharge has been conclusively settled by the Commissioners.

We think that the commission should be compelled on the initiative of Quincy or town adjoining effected by the discharge to build reservoirs and discharge only on the ebb tide if Quincy or those towns found that any other method would be detrimental to their interests. In other words we do not believe in leaving the method optional with the Metropolitan Sewerage Commissioners.

The City of Quincy recognizes the fact that Legislature in pursuance of its police power and for the benefit of the general health of a district can and probably will order the construction of a metropolitan sewer through Quincy's territory. We must necessarily suffer some damage and inconvenience in the tearing up of our streets and property, and we think that some consideration should be shown the City of Quincy and that some compensation should be given to the City of Quincy in the way of providing for connection to be made between the metropolitan system and the Quincy system.

We believe that the taking of the pumping station of the City of Quincy should not be optional with the Metropolitan Sewerage Commissioners but should be made mandatory and that all the cost of connecting high level sewers with low level sewer and the pumping should be borne by the Commonwealth and not by Quincy."

Many questions were asked Mr. Blackmur by the Committee and as a result of same the bill was postponed with the understanding that some amendment should be drawn providing for a change in the outlet if necessary which would protect Quincy and other towns if it were possible and to provide for other matters which would be more satisfactory than those now contained in the bill.

As above stated the Committees postponed the matter and asked that the Chairman of the Metropolitan Sewerage Commissioners and Mr. Blackmur get together and agree upon a modification of the bill.

Cooperative Bank Loans.

The savings bank commissioners, in their annual report to the legislature, call attention to the large amount of real estate held under foreclosure by the cooperative banks of the state, and to the necessity of these institutions exercising greater care in making loans on real estate. It appears from their report that the amount of real estate thus held increased during the year nearly 50 per cent., and they state that unless the plethora of money now existing shall be "the means of increating a demand for and satisfactory sale of estates now held, and prevent the possibility of any further considerable increase in the already large amount," some stringent legislation may be required to further regulate the making of loans.

S. of V. Prize Drill.

The Brockton Enterprise reports that a communication was received Monday evening from Francis L. Souther Camp of Quincy, inviting Captian R. B. Grover camp to organize a drill squad to meet the squad from the Quincy camp for a prize drill early in April. It was decided to leave the matter in the hands of Harry S. Reed, the sergeant of the guard. Mr. Reed will consult with Melvin C. Holmes, chairman of the committee in the Quincy camp, and come to terms concerning the proposed drill. The Brockton squad, if formed, will consist of W. F. Churchill, George C. Holmes, E. Frank Davy and Harry P. Reynolds. Sergeant of the Guard Harry S. Reed will be the drill master.

Easter Supper.

Wednesday evening the Ladies' Benevolent society of the Memorial church of Atlantic gave an Easter supper which was well patronized though the weather was stormy. Easter souvenirs in the shape of eggs with the menu printed on one side and a water color sketch upon the other were distributed to the patrons. A dramatic entertainment was given in the evening which was highly applauded. The following young ladies took part: Miss Ella Horton Miss Laura Hall, Miss Corinna Wilde, Miss Winnie Seaman, Miss Eva Clare, Miss Hattie Chisholm, Miss Jennie Wilson.

Verdict for Mrs. Jameson.

The case of Mrs. L. M. Jameson of Quincy against the Lynn & Boston street railway was heard Thursday in the third session of the superior court in Boston and she was given a verdict of between $3,000 and $3,500. The suit was for damages for injuries recieved on the defendants road in 1897 by the sudden starting of the car. A. W. McAnarney represented Mrs. Jameson.

COMPANY K LETTER.

The Boys Will Not Come Home in a Body.

With Co. K, 5th Mass. Regt.
Camp Wetherill
Greenville, S. C., Mar. 15.

Another rain storm struck camp Monday night and it has continually poured until today. While we have hopes of clearing weather the clouds still hang heavy over us. The wind with the rain was extraordinary strong playing considerable havoc with some of the tents.

The vote which was taken by each company respectively whether or not the regiment would parade through Boston on its return home from the campaign which it has served in was a complete failure. Several companies disapproved the idea of undertaking such an accomplishment. About twenty-five per cent. of K members were in favor of parading while the other three quarters were contrary-minded.

Second Lieutenant Colbert formerly First Sergeant of K has been detailed to Company A of Charlestown. Sergeant McGrath was promoted to 1st Sergeant. These promotions are pleasing to the boys.

Private John V. Mead who is an inmate of the hospital is reported as progressing rapidly.

The papers throughout the regiment for mustering out are near completion.

Corporal Frank A. Gannon who has been in the hospital for some time is convalescing.

After which there were vocal and instrumental selections, until eleven o'clock warned all that it was time to say good night. Mrs. Richardson received a number of useful and pretty presents.

The Noon Fire.

The alarm from Box 56 at 12.12 this afternoon was for a slight fire at the Wollaston school building. The fire was caused by the over heating of a furnace pipe which set fire to the wood work about the register in one of the rooms on the first floor. it was quickly extinguished. The recall sounded before the Central station apparatus was half way to the box but the wind and noise prevented the drivers from hearing the whistle.

Runaway Boys.

Walter Dunn, aged 18 years, of Washington street; Timothy R. Coffee, aged 15 years, of Mill street; and a boy named Taylor aged 15 years, of Main street, are reported as missing since Wednesday. As far as known the boys did not have any great amount of money with them. It was thought that the boys had the navy fever and ran away to enlist. Inspector McKay, who has the case has not as yet been able to find any trace of them at any of the enlistment places in Boston.

☞ By repeated annexations we advanced to the Pacific. In the centuries to come, the great ocean at the west may be as important commercially as the smaller ocean at the east. It is in the course of nature that the most prominent power in its waters should be the United States. To advance still further is in accordance with the uninterrupted tendency of the country. To decline to take and keep what the fortune of the most righteous of wars has given us would be to arrest the great current of our historic advance, to throw away one of the greatest of opportunities, and to confess national incompetence.—President Adams of Wisconsin University.

DRINK GRAIN-O

after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about 1-4 as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

BARNUM'S IS ANGLICIZED

Greatest Show on Earth Becomes English, You Know.

IS CAPITALIZED AT $2,000,000.

Show's Headquarters Are to Be Removed From Bridgeport to Stoke-on-Trent—Provincial Tours Will Be Made In 1899 and 1900—Tody Hamilton's Statement.

When the late Phineas Taylor Barnum took the smallest man on earth to England and introduced him to royalty and others, it never occurred to his fertile Connecticut mind to incorporate Tom Thumb there under the limited liability act as a permanent British institution. He brought him back, and Tom died an unadulterated American citizen. So did Barnum.

How different in the destiny of the Greatest Show on Earth, the enterprise which was the creation of Barnum's genius in its maturer phase, and constituted both his monument and his legacy to the great and gay American people!

We have before us the prospectus of Barnum & Bailey, limited, a company now being floated on the London market in the ordinary, that is to say, the non-Barnum, fashion. The Greatest Show on Earth is to be expatriated. Its headquarters are to be removed from Bridgeport, Conn., to Stoke-on-Trent. Its elephants are to become British elephants, its monkeys British monkeys, its simultaneous performances in four rings British performances in British rings, all capitalized at £400,000, in 400,000 shares of £1 each. The programme of its future operations ignores the continent which produced Barnum. Provincial tours in Albion are set down for 1899 and 1900. Then will occur a continental tour occupying at least two years. Nothing definite is said in the purely British prospectus of this now purely British grand aggregation of its return at any time to the shores where repose the bones of Barnum. As an American grand aggregation it has passed, perhaps forever, beneath the eastern horizon.

It is not surprising that the accomplished Mr. Tody Hamilton, whose soul stirring advertisements have appealed so often and never in vain to the imagination and the pockets of the American public, should attempt to break the force of this national misfortune by the statement with which he has favored us. We note a change already in Tody Hamilton's style. The tone is apologetic, not triumphant; the adjectives are at least three octaves under the old pitch, and—will it be believed?—he refers to Bridgeport as "Bridgeport, Conn., U. S. A." Tody's old American heart is not in this proclamation.

It is in vain that he attempts to dismiss cheerfully the sadder international aspects of the expatriation of the Greatest Show on Earth by calling it "the latest gift of America to England, adding another link to the friendly chain binding the two Anglo-Saxon countries together." It is in vain that Tody holds out this vague prospect:

"It is further stated that one of these days the big affair will revisit the land of the free and the brave where the big show was born, reopen some fine spring day in Madison Square Garden and make the usual tour of the United States, but with an absolutely new, grand and most magnificent show, with every department augmented, with new animals, new acts, new attractions, new everything, to again capture the plaudits of the people of America and reinstate itself once more in their hearts."

Inspired indeed is this effort, coming as it does from one who was so recently at the head of his profession!

It only remains for the Wild West show to recognize at Berlin as the Mitbeschrankterhafnungungebildetewestlicheweltgesellschaft, or something of that sort and to promise to reappear some in the United States "to again capture the plaudits of the people of America and reinstate itself once more in their hearts," with the Sioux braves all smoking long stemmed porcelain pipes and the Arapahoes slashing with blunt swords at each other's impassive countenances under the rules obtaining just across the river from Heidelberg.—New York Sun.

Mummy Photography.

A Paris photographer has introduced a novel style of taking photographs, which is having a great success. He calls it "mummy photography." The subject is swathed in mummy cerements, put into a genuine sarcophagus imported from Cairo, and pictured in an upright position. A smiling, living face, looking out from embroidered graveclothes, gives an odd effect. No actress' salon is complete without a counterfeit presentment of her own mummy.—Paris Cor. St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Miss Winnie Davis' Statue.

The design for the statue to be erected in Hollywood, at Richmond, over the grave of Miss Winnie Davis, the "Daughter of the Confederacy," has been chosen and approved by Mrs. Davis. The design, which is by Zolvey of New York, is the figure of a sitting angel. It is to be of Italian marble and will be erected by the Daughters of the Confederacy.—Philadelphia Press.

Their Interest Is Genuine.

When Dewey Cometh Home.

Fill the streets with all the people,
Clang the bells in every steeple,
Let the drummers pound and rattle,
Sound the trumpets as in battle,
Let the cannon boom together,
From restraint cut every tether
While Columbia doth don her
Choicest garb her son to honor
When he cometh home!
—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

REES TALKS OF FILIPINOS.

The Lieutenant Believes the Rebellion Will End in a Few Months.

Lieutenant Commander Corwin P. Rees, who was executive officer of Admiral Dewey's flagship Olympia and who is now in New York on leave, visiting at the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. George B. Merrill, said recently:

"I cannot believe that the rebellion can continue more than a few months at the very furthest. My reasons for saying this are founded not alone upon the accounts cabled to us, but upon my knowledge of the Filipino character as developed by its contrast with the Spanish. For years their warfare with the Spaniards led them to believe that war is a sort of easy pastime.

"After a battle with the Spanish army in the Philippines the Filipinos and the Spaniards both would gather in the cafes of Manila, smoke their cigarettes and chatter vainglorioously about their deeds of valor, although the so called engagement would rarely be more than a mere skirmish or sham battle. It takes a long while for the average Filipino to get an idea into his head, and the rebel army has not yet grasped the awful meaning of modern warfare. Their real slaughter at the hands of the American has of course not yet begun, but bloodshed will be unnecessary as soon as the natives understand the force of the power they are foolishly trying to withstand. I think they are nearly at that point now. When once they realize the horrors of genuine war, panic will put an end to even their wish to rebel.

"Aguinaldo, who has everything to gain and nothing to lose by inciting the ignorant natives to revolt, knows the futility of their insurrection, but he is both vain and venal and is seeking to prolong the cabal for the double purpose of ministering to his pride and, as he hopes, of adding to his fortunes by betraying his people. He would sell out the Filipino cause any day for a price."—Special Chicago Record.

THE SHERIDAN AT MALTA.

Our Troops Land and Parade by Permission of the British Governor.

The American transport Sheridan, bound from New York for Manila with re-enforcements for General Otis, arrived at La Valetta, Malta, the other day. The troops aboard, numbering about 2,000 men, were landed the next day in order that they might have a chance to stretch their legs after their long voyage and to see the sights of the town. Permission for their landing was given by General Sir Francis Grenfell, the governor of Malta, who later inspected the troops at the parade ground and witnessed a march. The governor's staff, Admiral Sir John Hopkins, commander in chief of the British Mediterranean squadron, and General Lord Congleton accompanied the governor. An immense crowd was present, and there was much enthusiasm displayed over the American troops. Their fine appearance was very favorably commented upon.

The London Daily News, commenting upon the landing of the American troops at La Valetta, says that apart from the sightseeing and the fraternization with the British troops the moral for the United States is that they had better see about the Nicaragua canal immediately. These men, it adds, are simply crawling round the world to reach a place they ought to be able to get to by a straight run across the Pacific. It is a good way to learn geography, but is not exactly the way to reenforce garrisons in a crisis in their struggle with a determined enemy.—Special Cable to New York Sun.

NEW MAGAZINE RIFLE.

It Discharges Seven Cartridges by Pulling the Trigger Once.

A test was made at the navy department at Washington recently of a new magazine rifle of the regulation navy caliber which is peculiar in that the gas generated from the explosion of a cartridge rejects the shell, loads the rifle and cocks the trigger. The magazine holds seven cartridges, and by an automatic arrangement these may be fired in succession by pulling the trigger once.

The test was pronounced as highly successful by a number of army and navy officers who witnessed it. The piece worked well and a very high velocity was obtained. One of the projectiles fired at a Harveyized steel plate from a distance of two feet penetrated the plate one inch. Major General Miles was among those who witnessed the test.

Her Life For Her Hair.

Miss Mabelle Ethelind Wallace of Battle Creek, Mich., died recently of brain fever, resulting from an unusual cause. She boasted of a magnificent head of hair, which when unbound descended almost to her feet and of which she was naturally somewhat vain. Its weight, however, became unbearable and caused her to suffer from continuous headache. She would not consent to having it cut off, and finally she was attacked with the fever that caused her death.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A Sense of Bereavement.

I'm standin alone on the capitol steps,
A-watchin the cars go past
An thinkin of stories
That tell how life's glories
Must all go to pieces at last,
An the world seems so holler an cruel an sad
As I think of each great empty hall!
No more 'propriation,
No burnin oration,
No congress—no nothin at' all!

Like the sailor all weary who leaned to the helm
An trusted a star in the sky
An found that his beacon
Was only a weak 'un—
A meteor to flicker an die—
I ponder again, with sensations of pain,
While the crows in their mockery call.
No more jolly friskers,
No jokes an no whiskers,
No congress—no nothin at all.

THE OLD WAY

Of Treating Dyspepsia and Indigestion by Dieting a Dangerous and Useless One.

We say the old way, but really it is a very common one at present time and many dyspeptics and physicians as well consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigestion is to diet, either by selecting certain foods and rejecting others or to greatly diminish the quantity usually taken, in other words, the starvation plan is by many supposed to be the first essential.

The almost certain failure of the starvation cure for dyspepsia has been proven time and again, but still the moment dyspepsia makes its appearance a course of dieting is at once advised.

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting or starvation to a man suffering from dyspepsia, because indigestion itself starves every organ and evrey nerve and every fibre in the body.

What the dyspeptic wants is abundant nutrition, which means plenty of good, wholesome, well cooked food and something to assist the weak stomach to digest it. This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted and this is the method by which they cure the worst cases of dyspepsia, in other words the patient eats plenty of wholesome food and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest it for ibm. In this way the system is nourished and the over-worked stomach rested, because the tablet will digest the food whether the stomach works or not. One of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat or eggs.

Your druggist will tell you that Stuarts'Dyspepsia Tablets are thepurest and safest remedy for stomach troubles and every trial makes one more friend or this excellent preparation. Sold at 50 cents for full sized package at all drug stores.

Beyond Jurisdiction.

Boston, March 17.—With reference to the death of Mrs. Rivers, wife of Charles C. Rivers, in which case the certificate gave neglect as the cause of death, the district attorney says: "As the matter now stands no one will be prosecuted. The medical examiner allowed the body to be shipped to Maine without an examination, and therefore the matter is now out of our jurisdiction. At any rate, there will be nothing done for the present." This is the case of which Christian Scientists took charge, and a physician being called to sign the death certificate entered the word "neglect."

Investigating at Omaha.

Omaha, March 17.—The army board of inquiry arrived in this city yesterday and started to work by looking through the packing plants at South Omaha. Particular attention was paid to the point brought out in the testimony of the Philadelphia physician to the effect that he had seen meat chemically treated in the Swift plant here. That company maintained that the operation the doctor saw was simply the injection of salt into the interior of hams for the purpose of producing an even cure. The process was exemplified and a sample of the fluid submitted for analysis.

China's "Preposterous Demands."

London, March 17.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail says: The preposterous demands of the Chinese have brought the negotiations for the extension of the cosmopolitan settlement to a deadlock, and the British and American associations, which met jointly yesterday to advocate united action by the two governments, adopted resolutions of the most vigorous character, which will be transmitted to London and Washington.

OFFICIALS GRATIFIED

At Announcement That Queen Regent Will Sign Peace Treaty.

Last Step Necessary For Ending Hostile Relations.

Duke de Arcos Likely to Be Spain's Next Representative at Washington.

Washington, March 17.—The news from Madrid that the Queen Regent of Spain would sign the peace treaty ratification today was telephoned to the president at Thomasville, Ga. He was much gratified at the fact that this last step necessary to the ending of the hostile relations with Spain was assured. Arrangenemts for exchange of ratifications and the payment of the $20,000,000 must yet be made, but no action by the president will be needed until his return to Washington. The officials here are gratified at the news from Madrid that the Spanish government has abandoned the idea of again submitting the peace treaty to the cortes and proposes to have it ratified by the vueen regent. turn to Washington.

The officials here are gratified at the news that the Spanish government has abandoned the idea of again submitting the peace treaty to the cortes and prop poses to have it ratified by the queen regent.

With this disposition on the part of the Spanish government there is no reason, it is said, to apprehend any failure to meet the obligations of the treaty requiring that the final exchange of ratifications take place within six months after the date of its signature at Paris, which date would fall on June 10.

According to the treaty the ratifications must be exchanged in Washington, and Secretary Hay himself will act as the representative of the United States government in this matter. Although it is not positively known, it is believed that the Spanish representative will be the Duke de Arcos, and that the latter will be accompanied by a distinguished suite.

If the duke comes as a special envoy from Spain, after completing his functions in that capacity he will present a new set of credentials entitling him to recognition as the minister from Spain to Washington. He is already favorably known in this country, his wife being of American birth and he being a frequent visitor to the United States. He is now Spanish minister to Mexico.

Its Cause a Mystery.

Worcester, Mass., March 17.—Louis Plouffe, the only survivor of the street railway accident at Millbury, in which a car ran off the McGowan bridge into the Blackstone river, is in a critical condition, as it is feared pneumonia will set in. The bodies of Michael Shea and Fred White were taken to Bondville and Whitinsville, respectively, yesterday. The cause of the disaster is still a mystery. It is attributed to sunken tracks at the entrance to the bridge. State Railroad Inspector Wheeler and Insurance Inspector Borden, who made an examination of the case, think it due to the short trucks used on the Millbury division of the Worcester and Suburban road.

Contradictory Reports.

Rome, March 17.—The pope's physicians deny all the alarmist rumors that have been put in circulation regarding the condition of their patient. They declare that the wound made by the recent operation is about healed; that the pope's lungs and heart are absolutely healthy, and that his weakness is not more than is natural in a nonogenarian. On the other hand the newspapers print a variety of reports. While The Tribuna states that the pope has resumed his usual avocations, giving audiences, etc., The Opinione declares that he had several fits during the day, and The Fanfulla avers that weakness and other signs of breaking up are increasing.

What McKinley Thinks.

Minneapolis, March 17.—United States Senator Kyle of South Dakota said here yesterday that President McKinley had lately received private advices to the effect that the Filipino republic was on its last legs. The senator said he had received this information from sources very near the president, and that the latter anticipated the final collapse of Aguinaldo's government and complete possession by General Otis within a few days.

We'come Rain.

San Francisco, March 17.—There is hardly a section of California that has not been visited by rain within the past two days, and in most places it has been raining almost constantly for 48 hours. Had rain not fallen at this most opportune time, this would have been the second dry season, but now crops are saved, the rivers will furnish plenty of water for the miners, and business generally will be good.

In Honor of Dewey.

Harrisburg, March 17.—A resolution was adopted in the assembly yesterday requesting Governor Stone to name Monday, May 1, as "Dewey day," and designate the same as a legal holiday. The preamble to the resolution recites that the victory of Admiral Dewey and his brave followers in Manila harbor on May 1, last was one of the greatest achievement in naval warfare the world has ever known.

Shortage of a Million.

London, March 17.—G. R. Birt, the missing chairman and managing director of the Millwall Dock company, who disappeared in February last, resulting in the discovery of a deficit of over $1,000,000 in the amounts of the concern, was arrested here yesterday.

Somewhat Improved.

Washington, March 17.—A cablegram received by General Miles last evening from Martinique announces that the condition of ex-Secretary of States Sherman is better.

"OLD HUTCH" IS DEAD.

Famous Wheat Operator Who Lost Millions of Dollars In Speculation.

Chicago, March 17.—Benjamin P. Hutchinson, the former board of trade operator and packer, died of heart failure yesterday afternoon, at the Lakeside sanitarium, Lake Geneva, Wis. He was 70 years old. The remains will be brought to Chicago for interment. Mr. Hutchinson's health began to fail rapidly three years ago, and during the last two years he has been at the sanitarium where he died.

B. P. HUTCHINSON.

Mr. Hutchinson was at the height of his fame in 1888, when he ran his corner in September wheat. After that his decline began, and the financial end came in 1891. His last deal was a big one, he being on the wrong side of the market for $2,000,000. Financially crushed, he left town and went to New York city, where he opened a second-hand store. He gave up that and returned to Chicago, where he traded in a small way when he could get people interested in his schemes, but his career may be said to have closed with the big deal of '91. No one knew how much he was worth. He would never talk about his private affairs. The estimates of his wealth when at its height place the amount anywhere from $2,000,000 to $16,000,000. A conservative estimate places his richest days at $4,000,000 to $6,000,000.

Edwards Knocked Out.

New York, March 17.—At the old Broadway Athletic club last night Joe Walcott, the colored pugilist, and Billy Edwards of Australia met at 148 pounds and were scheduled to fight 20 rounds. Walcott was a very pronounced favorite in the betting. The colored man was the aggressor from the word "go" and outpointed the Australian all the way. Edwards exhibited remarkable gameness and staying powers, but the onslaughts of the negro were too much for the Antipodean, who, after going down twice in the 13th round, was knocked out. A right swing did the trick. He fell in a heap with his head hanging over the ropes and had to be carried to his corner. His wonderful recuperative powers enabled Edwards to walk out of the ring within three minutes after the final blow had been delivered.

Combine In Wool.

Boston, March 17.—A combination of the chief woolen mills in the east, a counterpart in many respects to the American Woolen company (the worsted mills' combine), is reported to be under consideration by several wool houses in this city. Five concerns in this city, two in Hartford and three in Philadelphia are said to have offered assistance. With the two combinations the wool market would be so limited that dealers in raw wool who are not "on the inside" are likely to protest with vigor. A member of one of the firms interested said that the combination of woolen mills would be solely for economy and for the correction of abuses which have crept into the trade because of the fierce competition of the last few years.

Investigation Asked For.

Albany, March 17.—It is understood upon undisputable authority that the New York district attorney's office is to be investigated by a legislative committee. The special subject of investigation is to be the reports that indictments have been "hung up" and pigeonholed through political influence, and that the affairs of the office have been neglected. The committee will also investigate the rumored complications in the district attorney's office in regard to the recent investigation into the Adams murder case. Governor Roosevelt is understood to have expressed his sympathy with the project providing it can be done immediately.

Due to Currents.

Boston, March 17.—Captain Pye of the steamer Halifax, who is familiar with the currents about Nova Scotia, in speaking of the wreck of the Castilian, said that he had no doubt the strong northerly current was an important factor in forcing the vessel to her doom. He says that ordinarily the current sets north on the incoming tide and south on the ebb tide, but that recently the direction has been northward all the time.

Raise For Workers—and Consumers.

Chicago, March 17.—Representatives of the Stove Founders' National Defense association and delegates from the Iron Moulders' union of North America held a conference here yesterday and voted an advance of 10 percent in wages, which directly benefits 15,000 stove moulders. A further increase of 10 percent in the prices of stoves will follow the paying of higher wages, which takes effect April 1.

A Dangerous Job.

Chelsea, Mass., March 17.—Chief Spencer of the Chelsea fire department yesterday superintended the removal of five tons of dynamite which had been stored secretly in a barn in Chelsea for the past two months. The barn in which the dynamite was found is situated in a thickly settled part of the city, and is within 12 feet of a large apartment house, fully occupied.

Harrison For Mayor.

Chicago, March 17.—The Democratic city convention yesterday renominated Carter H. Harrison for mayor. The platform adopted steers clear of national issues, and the mayor will stand on his record against the Allen bill and other street railway legislation.

LIFE IN ARKANSAS.

Factional Fight Over Municipal Politics Results In Five Deaths.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 17.—Five lives were lost here at 6 o'clock last evening in a factional fight over the coming mayoralty election. The dead:

Thomas Toler, chief of police; Thomas F. Goslee, police sergeant; James Hart, city detective; Louis Hinkley, driver of a beer wagon; John Williams, son of Sheriff Williams. Edward Spears was shot in the neck and may die.

The sheriff was a warm supporter of the regular Democratic nominee, while Toler, Hart and Goslee were supporting an opposition candidate. Early in the afternoon shots were exchanged between Sheriff Williams and his son John on the one side, and Sergeant Goslee on the other, but no one was injured. After this both parties determined to have it out. Toler, Hart and Goslee were walking on Central avenue at about 5:30, when they were met by Sheriff Williams and his two sons, John and Coffey, and Edward Spears. No one can tell who fired the first shot, but in a moment there was a general fusillade in which 40 or 50 shots were exchanged. When it was over Toler, Hart, Goslee and Hinkley, a non-combatant, were dead, and John Williams was mortally wounded. Williams died an hour later. Louis Hinkley attempted to separate the combatants when the fight opened. He was shot in the head and instantly killed.

The mayor, immediately after the shooting appointed Judge Belling chief of police. Deputies were sworn in at once, and all saloons were ordered closed. There is little factonal feeling outside of those engaged in the shooting. Order was easily restored, and the city is now quiet. The sheriff and his son Coffey are under arrest, and no further trouble is anticipated.

Sheriff Williams says a policeman attempted to assassinate him yesterday afternoon. A bystander disarmed the policeman. The sheriff says he was not present when the fight occurred last night. He claims he did not reach the scene until the shooting was over, and that the policeman who attempted to assassinate him in the afternoon began the trouble last night by shooting the sheriff's son, John.

Sheriff Williams was not present when the battle occurred, but soon appeared, and on learning of the death of his son became frantic with rage. About 20 minutes after the main battle another affray occurred near by in which four or five shots were fired. In this fusillade Detective Hart went down with the whole top of his skull blown off.

All of the dead men leave large families.

Age Was Against Him.

New York, March 17.—Samuel H. Jollie, aged 65 years, who came from Lynn, Mass., to Brooklyn several years ago, committed suicide yesterday. He was a Mason. His friends and relatives all live in Lynn, where he was at one time in the shoe business. His experience in this city had not been very happy, for he was unable to gain a living, and while he worked at times for a news company, and again for a rubber manufacturer, his age was against him, and his health was not good enough to warrant him doing hard work.

Against Alger.

Chattanooga, March 17.—Judge Clark, in the United States circuit court, has filed a decision dismissing a bill of Secretary of War Alger against the heirs of John F. Anderson. General Alger sued for the return of $150,000 which he had paid the Anderson heirs for land in Franklin county. He claimed that he had been imposed upon by false representations. At a previous trial General Alger was given a judgment for the amount asked.

Knife For Two.

Boston, March 17.—There was a serious stabbing affray on board a coal barge at the Boston elevated railroad wharf yesterday, and Coleman Conroy is at the city hospital suffering from a bad knife wound and Thomas Conroy is at his home suffering from minor wounds. The men were employed as stevedores, and they got into an altercation with a colored man named Thomas Garro, who, it is alleged, cut both the Conroys.

Platform Gave Way.

Providence, March 17.—The rear platform of a Thornton electric car which was crowded with passengers last evening broke from the car and a dozen men were thrown into the street. William Bradley went backward over the dasher and was severely hurt. The others escaped with slight injuries.

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 222 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

FOR RENT.

Furnished Rooms Open All Night.

We wish to announce the arrival of spring. Possibly you didn't know that spring, gentle spring, had sprung. "She have."

You may find a little snow in patches up on President's Hill or the ground may be a little frozen this morning, but, nevertheless, spring has sprung, for a few unmistakable signs have been noticed lately. Some Robins have been reported by Chief Joe Hayden. Spring beds have been noticed in the furniture stores, and just now there seems to be a greater variety of spring water to select from for culinary purposes than usual.

As our ad. man was walking down Kneeland street in Boston, last week, he saw a sign that made him think that at least one man thought it was going to be warm; for on one of the buildings there he read: "For Rent. Furnished rooms open all night." That man surely wouldn't expect to rent a room that was open all night, to a man in cold weather.

The surest signs of spring are at the Quincy Clothing Co.'s counters, nowdays. New things for spring. When they say new things it MEANS NEW things. It don't mean things that were once upon a time new, or that were new last spring and have been brushed up and fixed up for this spring; but it means goods that were made for them for spring of 1899.

Every part of our store is showing new things. On some counters you find new Men's Suits, new Pants, new Spring Overcoats. The Boys' counters show new Suits, and the leader. the Little Magnet Suit, all wool, double seat and knees can be found there at $1.98.

The Furnishing counters show new Hats, new Neckwear, new Shirts, new Gloves, and new Hosiery. Is fact, every corner of our store has something new in it. Bought to be sold at the cheap store prices.

We invite you to look through our store at new things we have bought for your benefit—and ours. We caution you about looking at the Spring Overcoats unless you want one—for you can't help buying one when you see the nobby ones at $5.50, the swell ones at $7.50 and the top notchers from $9.98 to $16.00.

When first the crocus thrusts its point of gold
Up through the still snow-drifted garden mould,
And folded green things in dim woods unclose
Their crinkled spears, a sudden tremor goes
Into my veins, and makes me kith and kin
To every wild-born thing that thrills and blows.
Sitting beside this crumbling sea-coal fire,
Here in the city's ceaseless roar and din,
Far from the brambly paths I used to know,
Far from the rustling brooks that slip and shine
Where the Neponset alders take their glow,
I share the tremulous sense of bud and briar
And inarticulate ardors of the vine.

There was a very large attendance at Music hall last evening at the minstrel and variety entertainment by the Boston Ideal minstrels, under the auspices of Division 5, A. O. H.

O'Connor; Mart Ryan and Jack Foley in "The Real Things"; George Crawford in imitations of Albert Chevalier, the noted coster singer; Philbrick and Ellis, in a domestic drama, narrated in song and concluding with the origin of the cake walk; Master Charles Eggleston, the phenomenal boy soprano, were on the programme. NEW UNITY CLUB.

Old Enough to Have Its History Written up.

The second regular meeting of the new Unity club was held in the chapel of the First church last evening. There was a large number present, and all seemed much interested, and to have heartily entered into the spirit and purpose for which the club was formed.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. Frederic Allison Tupper, and the records of the last meeting were read by the secretary, Miss Winnifred E. McKay.

The new constitution was presented by the executive committee and after some discussions was duly approved. In the constitution special regard is paid to the needs of the young people, —from the fact that the meetings are to be held always on Friday evenings, and are to begin at 7.30 o'clock. New members may be admitted to the club by signing the constitution, and paying the annal dues of twenty-five cents.

HISTORIAN CRANE.

NOTE.—The editor has been forbidden to use the above cut, but as Patti and other artists repeat their farewell trips several times, the picture is reproduced by urgent request. Perhaps the only resemblance that it bears to the humorist is that it is a man.

A most pleasing and interesting entertainment was given at the close of the business meeting, which everyone greatly enjoyed. The first number of the programme was a solo by Miss Florence Emery, with a violin obligato by Mr. Robert Porter. This was very ably rendered, and served to prove the truth of President Tupper's remark, that the society has rare musical talent.

Rev. E. C. Butler made a few remarks concerning the purpose for which the club was formed, and the need for hearty and earnest work on the part of each and every member.

A very interesting little talk was given by Mrs. Harry Porter on the subject of Norwegian folk songs. Mrs. Porter illustrated her talk at the piano with melodies characteristic of the quaint and peculiar music of the Norwegian people.

A very able paper on "Modern History" was read by Mr. Emery L. Crane, which proved most interesting and enjoyable to all present,—from the fact that it was a history of the birth and growth of this new Unity club. As a rule, a paper upon a historical subject is apt to be uninteresting, but Mr. Crane's paper was most bright and entertaining,—it being written in rhyme, and thus proving that not only is there musical power, but great literary capabilities among the members of the new club.

The programme ended with a solo by Miss Emery, and a short social hour followed the entertainment. The evening was undoubtedly a success, and those most interested in the welfare of the club feel that it will progress, and will be enjoyable to the society and community as well.

The next meeting will be held in the chapel Friday evening, March 31. All those interested, whether members of the society of the First church or not, are most cordially invited to be present.

Not Runaways.

The report that Walter Dunn, Timothy R. Coffee and young Taylor were runaway boys, is denied by their parents, who also state that the boys were 19 years of age. The young men had permission to go in search of employment. At the same time the parents are anxious as to their whereabouts as they have had no tiding from them.

Miss Arnold at Braintree.

A good sized audience of teachers, parents and other friends of education assembled in Monatiquot school hall, Tuesday evening, to listen to a lecture upon School Discipline by Miss Arnold, a supervisor of Boston public schools.

Seated upon the platform with the speaker were Mr. E. E. Abercrombie, Superintendent I. W. Horne, Mr. Joseph A. Ewart, principal of the High school, and the Rev. A. A. Ellsworth.

Mr. Ewart, as chairman of the lecture committee, pleasantly introduced Mr. Abercrombie, the president of the Literary club. Mr. Abercrombie gave a cordial welcome to all present in behalf of the club. He briefly outlined its scope and work and thanked Mr. Ewart and his co-workers for their efforts in securing such a noted speaker for the evening.

Mr. Abercrombie said he had been criticised as unfriendly to the school because it had been his privilege in open town meeting, as a member of the board of appropriations, to sometimes oppose school appropriations. Braintree, he affirmed, had no warmer friend of the public schools and the educational work they were doing than himself.

Mr. Abercrombie read an extract from the Conservative, a western paper, upon what schools should accomplish in training our future citizens and then declared it to be a special honor and pleasure to introduce the speaker of the evening, Miss Arnold of Boston.

Miss Arnold was warmly greeted and said in part:

In facing an audience of parents she felt like calling them all fellow teachers, for was it not true that the child's earliest and perhaps best teaching was in the home? Although she should speak from the standpoint of the school room yet she knew that her listeners understood and appreciated what she said, for were they not all fellow teachers together. She was sometimes reminded of Gough's story, where a man went out of his home one evening a plain, humble citizen and returned in a few hours a Corporal in the militia! Proud and elated he strutted to and fro across the kitchen floor, his wife clinging to his arm and keeping step.

His wondering children looked on till one of them ventured to ask "Mother, are we all corporals?"

"No! only your father and me," was her reply.

The speaker asked that they, with her, should consider themselves as corporals in the consideration of the evening's subject.

The subject, "school discipline," was homely, but a matter that always had been with us from time immemorial and always would be. Discipline was defined as teaching children to behave themselves while acquiring knowlege.

The chief faults of the school room were whispering, carlessness, cheating and lying. Miss Arnold made a sharp contrast between the punishment that should be given whispering, a minor offence against school discipline, and other acts like lying and cheating, that were in themselves morally wrong.

She presented the different methods of school discipline that obtained under the old iron shod rules in school.

She condemned the monitor system as having a baneful effect upon pupil and monitor; also spoke strongly of the evils of "going alone."

She spoke strongly of the necessity of teaching children to be self-controlled and self-goveroning.

In closing Miss Arnold made a strong plea for higher ideals in teaching and for schools that were not quiet and studious through compulsion, but schools where the pupils made a choice for the right and good in their work as a result of careful education in self-government.

Schools, where, when the teacher said, "Come" the response was immediate and the work went on without the stern discipline that was once considered so necessary to a good school.

Miss Arnold spoke for about an hour in a charming way illustrating her points with many stories from real life in the schoolroom.

At the close of the lecture she received the heartiest expressions of approval from the audience.

Previous to her lecture a reception was given Miss Arnold in the school committee room, Mr. Joseph Ewart presenting the guests.

OF GOLF AND DEATH.

Our planet is a links whereon we play
Few holes or many, as death may decree.
We call him Colonel Bogy; 'tis the way
Of mankind to invent a kindlier name.
A jesting phrase for the arch enemy.
With every match the colonel leaves the tee,
But all alone he finishes the game

Some start with the rash confidence of youth,
To end in an untimely bunker grave;
The colonel is inclement, void of ruth,
Spares not the slashing driver in his pride;
No deft approach, no pawky putt can stave
Him off—many, not overbrave,
Tear up their cards in futile suicide.

Sooner or later, oftener soon than late,
We pass, and the next victim forth is led
Vaunting himself superior over fate,
But ere the home green is in sight he yields;
With one grim stroke the colonel lays him dead.
Yet is the long match ours; 'tis soothly said
The colonel plays not in the Elysian fields.

IN THE TREE.

The man in the tree was thinking.

Way off under a sunny sky was a squalid hut on a hillside. There were orange trees around the hut and in the distance were long stretches of vineyards, where men and women once sang as they worked.

Now the women were working alone save for the presence of a few half grown youths and crippled old men.

And the women did not sing as they worked. They wept sometimes, but more often they looked silently and wonderingly off into the west, where the sky line was broken by the crumbling bastions of a ruined castle.

Off beyond the castle was the sea and beyond the sea was—they knew not what. Strange lands where men and youths went to come back no more.

This was the picture that came to the mind of the man in the tree.

But one cannot sit with a cramped leg and dream of distant things for long. So the man in the tree moved and the picture under the sunny sky gave place to another, which was more immediate and more distinct.

Spreading out before him and underneath was a wooded valley with a hill beyond. Down into this valley a hundred yards to the right dipped a trail.

Yesterday it had been a mere mule path half closed by underbrush, but now it was clearly defined. The bushes had been broken off, bent over and pushed aside, while the tramp of many feet had ground to powder the weeds and grass.

At a distance of perhaps half a mile beyond and below him the trail traversed an open space. As he looked at this opening in the screen of green he saw figures crossing it. They stood out sharp and distinct in the bright sunlight. They were men with guns. Few of them wore coats. Many of them were bare from the waist up. Their faces were dark, almost black at that distance, but their chests were white. What fine targets they made, those white chests!

The man in the tree picked up the slim barreled rifle which had been resting across his bent knees. He raised the sight slide and squinted through it until he could see the steel pick on the end of the barrel outlined against the white flesh of a figure in the sunlighted gap of the trail.

A little tongue of flame darted from the muzzle of the rifle. One of the figures in the green frame stumbled and fell.

The man in the tree laughed softly and patted the stock of his rifle.

Still the men with guns streamed along the trail. Aha! They are running. They will soon begin to run the other way. Just wait until the trenches get the range. A white back makes as fine a target as a white chest.

But hour after hour passed and the human current did not ebb.

Were they hours or only minutes? What was happening up on the hillside? The man in the tree turned to see.

Far up behind him on the crest was a square hut, with a thatched roof. It looked like a dovecot, but it was not. It was a blockhouse. What was taking place there he could only guess. He saw an irregular line of dark figures scrambling up the hill, some of them falling to rise no more. Why did not the rest go back? Now they swarmed about the building. How their guns smoked!

"Carajo!" The red and yellow flag is down.

Then the man in the tree looked into the heart of things and saw his fate. These half naked pigs who fought like devils, they would not be driven back. He was cut off. To the right, to the left, in front, behind—they were there, these men with guns who fired and ran forward, and fired and ran forward again.

The picture of the faraway hut on the hillside, the women and the vineyards came once more, and the man in the tree bowed his head and wept.

It passed. He looked again down the hillside. Not alone on the trail, but in many other places the figures moved now.

The man in the tree tightened the strap which passed under his arms and around the tree. He fitted the rifle stock to his shoulder and peered out under the leaves. There was a big fellow with something red sewed to his shirt sleeve. Probably an officer. S-r-r-r! That must have gone too high. S-r-r-r! Just a little to the left. S-r-r-r! That went true. He's down. Very busy was the man in the tree.

Not too busy, however, to note the approach of a little squad of men who stopped and looked up into the trees and now and then fired into the dense foliage of the branches.

The man in the tree laid his rifle carefully across his knees and reached into the leaves above him. He brought down a gourd water bottle, held it to his ear and shook it. From the pocket of his blue and white cotton blouse he fished out a piece of dry black bread. His meal ended, he threw the empty gourd from him and began to count the cartridge clips still remaining in his hat.

"Uno, dos, tres, quatro—Christi!"

Only 20 more shots, and then—why, then the war would be at an end for the man in the tree. It remained but to die. Think you, good St. Jose, who watches over the vineyard folk at home heard that prayer or did the guns make too much noise?

On came the squad. The leader was tall and fair. He wore a blue shirt with chevrons on the sleeve and a stripe which had once been white down the outer trousers seam. He was making straight for the tree in which sat the man with the rifle.

At a distance of 100 feet the man in the tree had brought the pick on the end of his rifle down so that its top just reached the space between the blue eyes of the man on foot. His last shot should be a fancy one.

Two of the squad eyed a tree to the right, but the rest pressed on behind their leader.

"At the third step I will fire," decided the man in the tree.

At the second step the officer halted. A thick bush with briars was in his way. He could see over it, and peered curiously into the branches of the tree.

"I believe that's where he is," said he. "The shots seemed to come straight from this direction."

"No; it was farther to the left," said a man behind him. "That's the one, that tree over there."

"Let's try a shot or two anyway," said a second.

"What senseless chatter," thought the man in the tree.

"No; it's a waste of lead," said the officer. "Dave was right. It must have been the other one. Come on!" He stepped back from the bush and started toward the left.

As he moved off the man in the tree followed him through the sights. He had moved half a dozen paces before the rifle sputtered. The tall fair man pitched heavily forward.

"He was there, blasted coward!" said one of the squad. The others said nothing. They were shooting.

"Why don't he drop—curse him?" muttered a soldier after a score of shots had raked the branches.

For answer they saw a rifle slide down, strike a branch and bound off to the ground. The strap was doing its work.

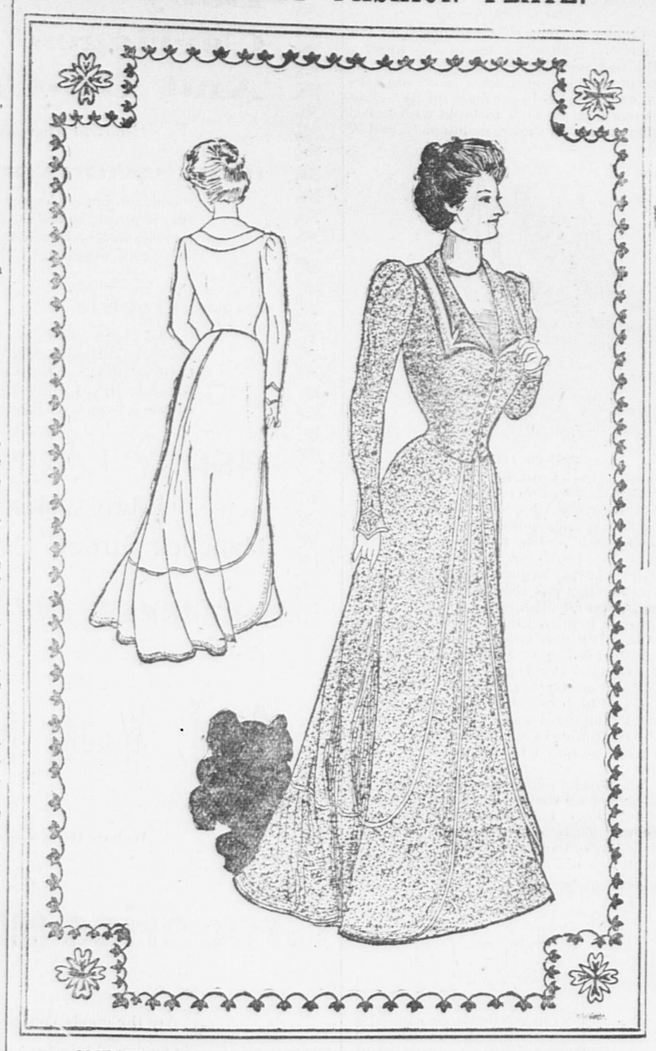
* * * * * * *

Two women sat dry eyed, heartbroken and comfortless. One was by a window against which beat the cold rain of October. The skies wept for her. The other stared out over sun kissed vineyards, where the leaves were yellow and brown.

"He will come no more," said the first.

"Ay! El no viene mas!" said the other, meaning about the same.—Sewell Ford in Short Stories.

OUR WEEKLY FASHION PLATE.



COSTUME OF BLUE AND WHITE PIQUE FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

Pique and kindred materials are to be among the most popular of summer fabrics for women's wear. They are to be had in all the brilliant shades of the principal colors, and will be self-trimmed or made with bands of a plain contrasting color of pique or braid, as they suit the fancy. To insure satisfaction in the wear of a pique gown, the fabric should be thoroughly shrunk before being made up. Even when this precaution is taken, a second shrinking is likely to occur when the gown is first laundered. It is therefore advisable to make a garment of pique a trifle larger than it would be if rendered in cloth. In the pattern of a blue and white costume of this material which is issued with Harper's Bazar where this costume appears, this extra size is allowed for. The color of the material is that known as wisteria blue. The skirt is a plain circular with a flat applied circular flounce, which stimulates a redingote front. The flounce is headed by a flat band of white pique and finished at the outer edge in similar fashion. An additional trimming of several rows of white stitching ornaments this edge of the flounce. The bodice has a fitted and seamed back, and is fitted to the front of the figure by darts. On each side of the front opening is a row of crystal buttons. The chemisette and collar are of white pique, as are also the under revers. The outer revers are made of blue with white stitching, and may be made adjustable or fixed, as may be preferred. The sleeves are of the prevailing coat variety with a shaped and pointed cuff, edged with a flat white band.

To make this garment of pique 27 inches wide will require 10 yards of blue and 2 yards of white material.

Some Mexican Stupidity.

In the "Observations of a Ranchwoman" are plentiful instances illustrating both the "shif'lessness" and stupidity of Mexican servants. Here is a sample of the latter quality:

Complying with law and custom, I provided four men to do each a day's work toward cleaning a public ditch for irrigation purposes. At the end of the day a youth presented himself and the bill. The names of but two men were inscribed as having worked, but the sum demanded amounted to the wages of four.

"What is the meaning of this?" I inquired. "If only Luciano and Pedro worked, why do I pay the wages of Matildo and Jesus?"

"Two men worked," was the stolid rejoinder.

"Then I won't pay the wages of four."

"But two men did four days' work."

"All in one day? That is impossible."

"But, senora, they did!"

"That cannot be. I must understand better before I pay two men the wages of four. Go and request the majordomo to look into this affair."

Presently the majordomo appeared.

"Senora," said he, "the bill is correct. The men have worked."

"Senor, I repeat, the thing is impossible. Two men cannot in one day do the work of four men."

"Senora, four men worked."

"Why, then, did this man tell me that only two worked? And why are not the names of Matildo and Jesus on the bill?"

"He told you that only two worked, because there was no room on the bill for the names of the others."

The majordomo spoke quite impatiently, as if I should have divined that process of reasoning by instinct. I induced him to squeeze in the names of Matildo and Jesus, which he did without a smile, and we parted on the best of terms.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 19—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Self mastery.—I Cor. ix, 24-27.

Paul here illustrates the Christian life by a foot race and a boxing contest. In order to win the race at the Isthmian games one had to carefully train himself for the contest, and this necessitated many self denials, "temperance in all things." To win the boxing contest one must not only feign heavy blows, but actually strike them. There must be no fighting "as one who beateth the air," but as one who "strikes under the eyes." This is the negative and positive side of the Christian life. We must deny ourselves, but that is not all. We must be in active operation against evil within and without us. There are things we must not do and things that we must do. The successful contestant in either of these contests had first to master himself before he mastered others. To do so he had to deny himself of many things in training and had also to learn to do certain things efficiently. The Christian who will master the duties of the Christian life and win the eternal crown of reward must be governed by these same principles. He must first of all master himself. He must be willing to deny himself of everything that will weaken his power over himself or will threaten to rule him if he does not rule or destroy it.

Christianity teaches self mastery. It praises and eulogizes the man who is able to control himself. It points out the absolute necessity of self control if we are to win the race and the battle of the Christian life. Nor does it ignore or try to conceal the fact that self mastery demands self denial, temperance in all things. It emphasizes this fact and illustrates it. Paul here declares that he keeps his body under—that he brings his physical desires under—perfect control; that he bruises it, leads it about as a slave and smites it under the eyes. This language is of course only figurative. Self torture never produces self mastery. It weakens the body rather than strengthens it. Constant self denying labor for others is undoubtedly the idea in the mind of the apostle. Thus he kept his body under and made it conduce to his growth in power and in grace.

Self mastery is a Christian grace much needed today. It is needed not only in reference to sobriety, but in all things, in drinking, in eating, in thinking, in speaking, in actions of all kinds. Many Christians practice sobriety, temperance in drink, but are very intemperate in speech, in desires, in habits of other descriptions. We must be temperate in all things if we would win the prize of eternal life. We must do but one thing, and whatever in our lives does not assist us in this one thing must be controlled or destroyed. If contestants for worldly prizes are so ready and willing to deny themselves for prizes which soon fade away and are forgotten, how much more ready should we be to do the same for an eternal crown!

Universal Peace.

Apart from the temporal peace between the kingdoms on earth we are in a higher sense also reminded of the millennial reign of peace toward which the signs of the times are clearly pointing. As followers of Jesus, we are looking forward to that ideal government of God, indicated in the Scriptures, when Christ shall rule His people in peace and equity, "and we are aiding the realization of this ideal and the coming of God's kingdom just so far as in our daily lives, in our business, in all our intercourse with men, we make the principles of Christ's kingdom our own." For the coming of this kingdom of peace we as Christians ought constantly to labor and be sincere when we pray, "Lord, for Thy coming us prepare."—Moravian.

Good Intentions.

Many a good intention dies from inattention. If through carelessness or indolence or selfishness a good intention is not put into effect, we have lost an opportunity, demoralized ourselves and stolen from the pile of possible good. To be born and not fed is to perish. To launch a ship and neglect it is to lose it. To have a talent and bury it is to be a "wicked and slothful servant." For in the end we shall be judged not alone by what we have done, but by what we could have done.—Sunday School Times.

How They May Commingle.

The weeping of the old men who remember the glory of former days and the shouting of the young men who behold the glory of the present and future make a singular medley of sad and happy experiences and memories and realizations and hopes. Yet they may all commingle in gracious and glorious victory in the present.—Rev. E. D. Pepper.

Singing From the Heart.

Singing is a heart service. It is making melody within the heart to the Lord. Some of God's most acceptable hymns are sung in silence. The heart simply hums some old tune which none save God can hear.—Presbyterian Journal.

Toward Heaven.

A church without weak souls in it, bearing them toward heaven, would deserve the condemnation of men as much as a lifeboat that had gone to a ship blown up and refused to take on board any but those not wounded.—Christian Standard.

An Old Legend.

An old legend says that the devil once gave a hermit the choice of three great vices, one of which was drunkenness. The hermit chose this as being the least sinful. He became drunk and committed the other two.—Universalist Leader.

The City Council at a recent meeting appropriated $50 for plans for the widening of Coddington and Sea steets. These plans have been made and it is proposed to do the work this spring the matter should be rushed along as fast as possible so as to be well under way if not complete before the beach season opens. That Coddington and Sea streets should be widened every one who has occasion to use these streets will admit. If an order is introduced for this purpose at Monday night's meeting of the City Council, some time must necessarily elapse before the order is finally passed, as a public hearing must be held. It is the intention of the street railway if street is widened to rebuild its Houghs Neck line. A heavy rail will be laid in place of that now in use and with the new rail and improved equipment it will be possible for the company to give the residents of Houghs Neck better car service than they have ever had before. If widened, as it should be, the street will make one of the prettiest drives in the city, and more attractive that the Metropolitan boulevard.

We doubt it, but even if it was true they are a credit to the originator and they lose nothing by the splendid delivery which the governor gives to them.—Newburyport News.

☞ The charter of the Bicycle Railway Co. has been extended, and the Governor has presented the pen with which he signed the bill to Mrs. Boynton, the wife of the inventor. It is mentioned as a coincidence that the ancestor of the Governor, named Roger Wolcott, and the ancestor of Mrs. Boynton, Josiah Bartlett were old friends, and each affixed his name to the Declaration of Independence. Now let the road be built. It must be begun before July 1900, and finished in two years from that date, or else another extension will be necessary.—Lynn Item.

The Brockton Times has this to say of the late Johny Griffin of East Braintree: Few men entering the pugilistic ring were possessed of such gentlemanly instincts or such a courteous bearing. He had too much sensibility for a really successful fighter, and it is a pity that he was ever attracted to a vocation the associations of which would not be otherwise than fatal to a man of his temperament.

LEGACY OF $20,000.

Begueathed to Weston W. Osborne.

Half Brothers of Cyrus Washburn Contest Will.

Children of Mr. Osborne Also Remembered In Will.

Weston W. Osborne of Wellesley, who up to a year ago was a resident of Bigelow street of this city, is one of the principal legatees under the will of Cyrus Washburn late of Weymouth and Wellesley, who died in the latter town Feb. 16 of this year. He will not only receive $20,000 by bequest, but one-sixth of the balance of the estate of $250,000 after all bequests. The children of Mr. Osborne also receive bequests.

The Herald says, the will left by Cyrus Washburn late of Wellesley, and recently offered for probate in the Norfolk probate court at Dedham, is to be contested.

The grounds for contesting are not yet known, but will be undoubtedly the usual statutory ones. The dissatisfied heirs are Abial and Hiram G. Washburn, both of West Bridgewater, and half brothers of the deceased. Robert O. Harris of Brockton will act as their counsel. Charles Q. Tirrell of Boston will appear for the defence.

Cyrus Washburn, the testator, died in Wellesley on the 16th of last month. He was one of the town's best known and well-to-do citizens, and left an estate estimated at between $200,000 and $300,000. His only heirs-at-law and next of kin were Elizabeth Washburn of Wellesley, his widow; the two half-brothers mentioned above; Mary E. Waite of Avon, Me., a niece; Lizzie E. Hawes and Mary W. Wood, both of East Weymouth, nieces; Cyrus P. Wood of Hingham, a nephew, and Weston W. Osborne of Wellesley, a nephew.

His will was lengthy, and was executed March 24, 1897, witnessed by Hiram G. Janvrin, William H. Warren and Walter J. Young. In it he names his wife, Elizabeth Washburn, and Weston W. Osborne as executors.

In the first clause he bequeathes to his wife, Elizabeth Washburn, "all my household furniture and utensils; all my ware, silver and china; all pictures and ornaments, and all my household effects of like nature. I do give her my horses, cows, carriages, sleighs, harnesses and stable stuff."

In the second clause he gives his wife "the sum of $200 to be paid her in any event monthly, by my executor, during her life." S. Ellen Nash is given $1,000. He gives to Lizzie E. Hawes, wife of Martin Hawes, and a niece, the income of the double house and lot on Shawmut street, East Weymouth, during her lifetime, "she to keep same in good repair. After her decease, the property to go to the children of my neice, Mary E. Waite of Avon, Maine"

Mary W. Woods, a niece, gets the income of the double house and lot and single house and lot in rear, on corner of Shawmut street and Washburn street, East Weymouth, as per plan of Quincy A. Reed. "After her decease the property to be given to the Methodist Episcopal church of East Weymouth, to be managed by the trustee of said church." To the same niece the sum of $5,000, "to be paid in any event, within one year after my decease, but earlier if she need it."

Eliza Wood, wife of Cyrus P. Wood is given "during her lifetime, the income of slate roof house and lot on Washburn street, Easi Weymouth, now owned by me. After her decease same to be deeded to her two daughters, Fannie and Elida Wood."

Deceased gave to Mary E. Waite of Avon, Me., the farm in that place now occupied by her, in trust for her children, and $1000; $20,000 is given to Weston W. Osborne; $20,000 to Nellie D. Osborne, wife of Edward Osborne; $5000 to Lillian Osborne, daughter of Edward Osborne.

In the 11th clause he gives the following legacies: (A). To the Boston University of Boston, four houses and the lots on which they stand, "on lower end of right hand side of Shawmut avenue," East Weymouth; (B), to Hiram G. Washburn of West Bridgewater, two double houses and the lots on which they stand on Washburn street, East Weymouth, and one single house on the same street; (C), to Abial Washburn, four French-roof houses and the lots on which they stand on Washburn street, East Weymouth; (D), to the three daughters of Abial Washburn, $500 each; (E), to Fred, son of Abial Washburn, $1,000; (F), to Cyrus, son of Abial Washburn, $1,000; (G), to Lizzie, Wilbur, George, Frank and Mary, children of Hiram G. Washburn, $500.

One thousand dollars is given to Lucy, daughter of Joseph F. French of Abington, and to the Deaconess Home of Boston and lots on left hand side of Washburn, and to the Deaconess Home of Boston Methodist Episcopal church, two houses Washburn avenue, East Weymouth; to Fannie, Ethel, William and Florence, children of Weston W. Osborne, $500 each.

In the 15th clause he gives to his wife, Elizabeth Washburn, "the house we now live in and about 1 1-2 acres of land connected therewith, and, also our cottage at Martha's Vineyard, also the furnishings in the cottage. I, also, give my wife the stable on the land near the house."

He directs that "the remainder of my estate be divided" among the following named parties: Weston W. Osborne of Quincy, Nellie D. Osborne of Neponset, Mary W. Wood of East Weymouth, Lillian W. Osborne of Neponset, Cyrus Washburn of West Bridgewater, and Frederick Washburn of Brockton.

In a codicil the testator gives to Lizzie E., wife of Martin Hawes, "the land and house, No. 2, on Washburn avenue, during her lifetime, she to keep the house in repair so long as she lives." After her decease the property is to go to the four daughters of Mary E. Waite, of Avon, Me.; also $100 each to Hiram G. Janvrin of Lexington, William H. Warren of Medford, and Walter J. Young of Melrose. These three beneficiaries are the witnesses to his will.

The codicil was drawn at Boston, June 30, 1898, and was witnessed by William E. Brown, Levi D. Fox and Frank Henkle.

COUNTRY RESIDENCE.

Designed For Elegance as Well as Comfort and Convenience.

[Copyright, 1899, by George Palliser, 32 Park place, New York.]

In ancient times the Greeks brought the study of architecture up to the highest standard, and they certainly did some of the most marvelous work ever accomplished, as ruins still in existence testify. The Greeks were the first to build with stone. They cultivated the art assiduously, and it flourished. Then came the Romans, who at that time had no real style or ideas of their own, but who, when they saw what the Greeks were doing, invented ways and means with a view to improving Greek methods; hence originated the Roman style. The Greeks made everything square. The Romans put the arch over the opening, thus embellishing their work. They not only improved the form, but elaborated it. Still they never changed the three principal orders of architecture used by the Greeks—the Doric, the Ionic and the Corinthian. These were developed to their best and highest state. They simply could not be improved and still stand as examples of dignified strength and beauty, copied and followed by our worthiest architects.

The Greeks were undoubtedly the forefathers of all that is good in architectural style. They builded better than they knew. Their climate, their materials, their love of truth and honesty, shone forth in all they did. From them we can safely take a lesson today and endow our simple homes with honesty in construction, with outlines of sensible beauty, and blend them into fitting monuments of usefulness, wherein the homely virtues may ever grow stronger.

In no country have modern homes attained so high a state of perfection as in America. With forests of timber to work from, it was but natural for us to build of wood. And the wooden era has been a long one, although it is safe to predict that it is shortening. As timber becomes scarce other materials come into play.

A wooden house is susceptible of the greatest artistic treatment, and in the hands of an experienced architect it can be worked out with the most advantageous results. This plan and exterior illustrate what can be accomplished in this line.

This is a country residence, a home that has been well studied and thought over. The first floor contains parlor, dining room and kitchen. A large front hall can be used as a sitting room. A piano can be placed alongside the main staircase. A large fireplace adds to the coziness. The dining room is reached by an entry which keeps the parlor isolated. A rear hall and stairs for servants are good features. A conservatory adjoining the dining room makes it very pleasant and cheerful. On the second floor are four large bedchambers, with all necessary appurtenances. Altogether this house is a perfect and comfortable one.

Painting a Bathtub.

Every particle of grease and grime should be removed with soap and hot water. The tub should then be thoroughly sandpapered to take off old particles of paint.

The first coat should be ordinary white paint, and great care should be taken not to get it on too thick. A second coat of the same paint is added after the first has been allowed to dry for 24 hours. When this is dry, it should be carefully sandpapered.

The tub is now ready for the white china gloss, the last coat. The paint should be thoroughly stirred in this and in every case before use. The tub should be let stand several days before water is turned in, and the cold should always be run in first.—Exchange.

Household Economy.

The art of true housekeeping is to make the home cheerful and attractive, to make the meals tasty and palatable and to economize in details. The waste of the house should be minimized as far as possible. There should be some regular system of caring for food fragments. Tin lined boxes or baskets should be kept in some convenient place in the kitchen, and after each meal the food left over should be sorted and put separately in them. One should be marked for meal, another for bread and crumbs, a third for vegetables and a fourth for fruit, etc. In the tin lined boxes the food will keep wholesome for several days. If possible, the boxes should be hung near an open window where they will keep cool.

Practical Education.

The following extracts are taken from a recent communication from the pen of Rene Bache and will be of interest to educators:—

The Government at Washington recently has been giving a good deal of attention to the question of establishing cooking classes in the public schools of cities and towns throughout the country, and recomendations in favor of the adoption of such a system will be made in a forthcoming bulletin of the Department of Agriculture. This bulletin will contain for illustrative purposes, a description of the methods of culinary instruction which have been practiced for some time past in New York. The knowledge gained is spread very widely and carried into a great number of homes.

Those who have made this question their specialty assert that a study of the chemistry of cooking and an intelligent application of the information thus gained cannot fail to work a revolution in the homes of thousands who now suffer from ignorance of the simplest laws governing the proper preparation of foods. The courses of instruction in the public schools—are made so interesting as to fascinate the pupils, and thus the knowledge is easily absorbed. For example, the potato is taken as a topic, and the pupils begin by learning something about the botany and history of the plant. They ascertain that it contains a poison which is neutralized by cooking. The starch of which it is mainly composed they examine under the microscope admiring its beautiful pseudo-crystalline forms. In a similar way other vegetables are taken up, and it is shown why white vegetables should be cooked in unsalted water, and why green vegetables should be cooked in boiling salted water. Incidentally the usefuiness of fresh vegetables to the body is explained.

Things of this sort can be taught by an intelligent teacher in such a way as to make learning a recreation. The science of cookery becomes a source of amusement, and the pupils are eager to learn more of it. They find out that rice is the the most easily digested of all starchy foods, they learn how eggs may be tested for freshness, and how to keep them they ascertain that peas and beans are particularly suitable for men at hard work, inasmuch as they are extremely digestible and yield a large proportion of muscle forming substance; they investigate the composition of cream, and examine its fat gobules under the microscope; they study tests for tannin in tea, which is especially injurious to children, and they find out much which they had never dreamed of before about the anatomy of the chicken, which information is of use when it comes to trussing or carving a fowl.

The introduction of the microscope into the cooking classes in New York has been found most advantageous. It is believed that it will accomplish wonders for the homes of the future. These instruments are employed for an immense variety of useful purposes. By their aid, for example, the growth of yeasts is illustrated. The yeast plant, of course, is a humble fungus, but it is difficult to see how modern civilization could do without it. But for its assistance, bread would be an impossibility. In like manner it is shown how germs of different kinds, contain in ordinary dust that float about every where get into the household products stored in pantry and, by the production of moulds or otherwise spoil them.

Similar lessons are given in the chemistry of cleaning. The little girl who studies in one of these schools of domestic science becomes interested in the bacteria of the dishcloth, of the icebox, and of the garbage-pail, and, when she becomes mistress of a home, these things will receive her serious attention. With such a mother, little Johnny will not be soon among the boys who buy a hot a fried cake for a penny and a cup of hot coffee for another penny, and stand in the snow and slush to eat them. For this mother has learned how to make whole-wheat bread at school and she knows that one of her nice light muffins and a little flat bottle of heated and cooled milk which she tucked in Johnny's pocket in the morning will give him more nourishment than a cartload of coffee and fried cakes. Such a wife and mother is a blessing to her home, and consequently to the State. If she has servants they are good ones because she is a capable mistress.

The courses of instruction described require the writing of essays on cooking and food materials by the pupils.

The compositions betray the absorption of much knowledge, which in the course of time is likely to become of practical use. By the help of the cookery school, scientific information is reduced to a highly digestible condition, so that it may be absorbed readily. Necessarily, a good deal of the instruction relates to the fundamental facts of chemistry, and the pupils are taught to know something about the compesition of the air, upon the oxygen in which the combustion of fuel depends; the formation of coal, the make-up of wood, the process of the manufacture of illuminating gas, and the nature of the friction match. They are taught how to discover adulterants in baking powder, and how to find out whether the milk in the baby's bottle is in proper condition. From time to time the teachers visit manuactories of good products, such as flour mills, cream tartar works, chocolate factories, canning establishments, and houses which import tea, coffee, and spices.

Special instruction is given in the anatomy of digestion, so as to enlighten the pupil as to the processes by which food is transformed into muscle, blood and fat. This course includes the anatomy of the mouth, the tongue and its use; the teeth and the effect of their loss upon digestion; the saliva; the action of the muscles in swallowing; the stomach and the gastric juice, including fermentation in the stomach and causes of vomiting in infants; the intestines and the work carried on in them. It is stated that this sort of instruction "wakes-up" the pupils mentally, and the more they learn, the more eager they are to obtain knowledge on the subject. Rene Bache.

A Worthy Act.

Miss Thompson of Thayer Academy witnessed from her room in Boston one night last week, the burning of a house by which a large family was made homeless and without even proper clothing. She called the attention of her students to the matter and they have generously donated. It was a kind and noble thought on her part, which met with a ready response from her pupils.

HOLOCAUST.

Windsor Hotel, New York, Is In Ruins.

The Death List Has Already Reached Fourteen.

Many of the Injured Not Expected to Recover.

Terrible Scenes Attending Guests' Frenzied Efforts to Escape.

Several Leaped From the Sixth and Seventh Stories to the Ground.

New York, March 18.—Fourteen persons are known to have been killed in a fire which broke out in Hotel Windsor shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, just as a St. Patrick's day parade was passing the building.

Regarding the origin of the fire, The Herald says that John Foy, a waiter in the hotel, while passing through the hall on the parlor floor, the first above the street, saw a man, a patron of the hotel, whom the waiter did not know, light a cigar or cigaret, and toss the match aside. It was still blazing and fell into the folds of a lace curtain. In an instant the fabric was ablaze, and the flames shot to some surrounding draperies.

Hundreds of people were in the hotel when the fire broke out, and for many of them escape with safety was impossible. Probably from 10 to 15 lives were lost within a half hour and 30 or 40 other persons were injured in jumping from windows and in rushing through the roaring flames in the corridors and on the stairways. Many who were injured died later at nearby residences and at hospitals, and others who made wild leaps to the stone sidewalk were so badly injured that they are still hovering between life and death.

It may be 24 hours or more before the complete list of fatalities may become known, and it will be longer than that before it can be ascertained definitely how many charred bodies are in the mass of fallen masonry that marks the spot where the hotel stood.

The flames could not be checked, and in two hours from the time that the fire broke out the entire structure was in ruins and the streets on three sides of the building were filled with debris from falling walls and tall chimneys, while the streams of water being poured upon the interior of the ruins had no other effect than to fill the air with clouds of scalding steam, making it impossible for any one to approach near enough to search for missing bodies.

The fire was the most spectacular affair of the kind that could be imagined. When it broke out Fifth avenue was crowded with people watching the St. Patrick's day parade, and every window in the front of the hotel, facing Fifth avenue, was filled with spectators watching the marching men and floats in the street.

As soon as the flames were first discovered shooting from the windows, that part of the St. Patrick's day procession which was near the building came to a halt and in a few minutes the parade was disbanded, for the police came rushing towards the fire from every direction, and as far as they were able drove the people from the streets. One alarm after another was turned in and the first of the fire engines were not long in appearing upon the scene, and they caused a wild scramble among the paraders and spectators as they rushed along the street and got into position for service. In addition to the regular guests of the hotel the windows were crowded by a large number of spectators, residents of this city, who had congregated there to witness the parade.

Soon after the first alarm was given people in the lower floors of the hotel, those who had easy access to the street and stairway, commenced to pour out of the building in great numbers, but it very soon became apparent that a great majority of the occupants of the hotel were either panic stricken or were unable to make their way to the ground floor. Windows were thrown up on every side of the building and guests, mostly women, in all stages of terror, made their appearance and commenced to make frantic appeals for assistance to the crowd standing below. As the flames gathered about them they became more and more terror stricken, and presently several of them stood upon the narrow window sills and beckoned to the spectators below that they were about to leap to the streets. A number of women left the window sills and dropped to the street. In most of the cases the efforts to catch them and break their awful fall were unavailing, for they struck the sidewalk and in most cases broken limbs were the result.

As soon as the firemen could get their scaling ladders into position they climbed the sides of the building and entered at every window where there was an unfortunate guest appealing for assistance, and many cases of heroic rescue were witnessed by the throng in the street.

Several occupants of the hotel appeared at the windows of the sixth and seventh stories, and even on the roof, and made their leaps to the streets from those points. Very few of them escaped either instant death or injuries which resulted in their death a short time later.

In the meantime the entire building was being enveloped in flames, which shot out from every window and formed a picture which struck terror to all those who were witnessing it.

Within 40 or 45 minutes after the fire broke out the walls on the Fifth avenue side showed every indication of falling, and presently with an awful crash they struck the asphalt covering of the street in front of the hotel and caused the hundreds of people who were standing there to scatter in every direction. This weakened the walls on the Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets sides, and they followed a moment later. When the walls fell the bricks and mortar and twisted girders and corrugated iron filled the streets on three sides of the hotel.

The doorsteps and iron fences in front of the houses on the opposite side of the street from the hotel were wrecked by the falling walls, and the amount of debris piled in the streets was so great that travel will be impeded for several days. The northeast wing of the hotel continued to burn for half an hour after the walls of the other part of the building fell. The firemen continued to play streams upon the flames and also upon all the adjoining buildings, which seemed in imminent danger of catching fire, but the flames were brought under control before they could reach any of them.

Many thrilling rescues occurred within a period of a few minutes. Meanwhile electrifying scenes of frenzied men and women were being enacted on almost every floor of the great building. How many persons are buried in the ruins is not known, but at least three or four persons were seen to jump, whose bodies have not been recovered. A young man, apparently an employe, jumped from the roof on the Forty-sixth street side of the hotel. Another unknown man jumped on the Fifth avenue side and two more were seen to jump from the rear. Shortly after that two women jumped from the roof to the courtyard below. It is known that two of these at least are dead. Eye witnesses say they saw a woman throw a child from a window and fall a moment later herself, just before the collapse of one of the walls. As yet no trace of these bodies has been found.

Up to midnight the ruins had not cooled off sufficiently to allow a search for bodies. A big force of men is now at the ruins ready to make a search as soon as possible. It is believed by both firemen and police that there are a number of bodies in the ruins. The list of missing for so many hours after the fire was practically over is very large. Doubtless very many of the missing are comfortably housed in the Fifth avenue homes which were thrown open to the sufferers. Doubtless also some of the missing will never be found.

The following is a list of the dead:

Leland, Mrs. Elizabeth, wife of Warren Leland, proprietor of the hotel.
Leland, Helen, daughter of Warren Leland.
Paddock, Mrs. Amelia.
Kirk, Nancy Ann (Mrs. James S. Kirk), Chicago.
Pierce, Mrs. M., Macon, Ga.
Grandy, Miss Laselles.
Gibson, Mrs. Addie.
Goodman, Eleanor Louise.
Connolly, John.
Unknown woman, (No. 1).
Unknown woman, middle aged.
Unknown man.
Unknown child, thrown from window by mother.
Unknown woman, mother of above child.

The Windsor hotel was one of the most comfortable and attractive hotels to be found anywhere. It had a frontage of 200 feet on Fifth avenue, and occupied the entire block between East Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets. The front centre of the building was eight stories in height. It had also two wings, each seven stories in height, and 75 feet in length. There were more than 500 rooms in the hotel. The building was chiefly of brick. It was thoroughly equipped for fighting fire, and had pumps equal in force to six of the most powerful fire engines. It cost about $750,000 000 to build.

The Windsor for many years was one of the most exclusive hotels in the city. It was the rendezvous of all the great Wall street operators from the days of Commodore Vanderbilt and Daniel Drew. Jay Gould, who lived opposite, was there nightly. Railroad men and capitalists from all parts of the globe made the hotel their headquarters, and many large financial and railroad deals have been planned there. President and Mrs. McKinley always stopped at the Windsor, and celebrities of all kinds were its guests.

After the first owner's death, the hotel was sold on foreclosure to satisfy a judgment of $180,000. It was purchased for $350,000 by Mr. and Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry. Mr. Leland, the proprietor of the hotel, took charge of the Windsor shortly after the close of the world's fair at Chicago.

Hotel Fire at Providence.

SPRING ORDERS COMING.

Trade Increasing In Volume In All Sections of the Country.

New York, March 18.—Bradstreet's says: An activity which in some directions represents the continuance of pre-existing conditions and in others reflects a special impulse communicated by the nearer approach of spring forms the leading note of this week's trade advices. In the iron and steel industry activity continues unabated, the upward tendency of prices being strikingly maintained and the eagerness of consumers to take the product remaining unchanged. The more springlike weather has induced a greater keenness in the demand for seasonable goods, and from most sections of the country come reports of a marked activity in jobbing lines having to do with dry goods, millinery and footwear. Cotton fabrics generally are in a strong position. Wool does not display any animation, though prices are maintained. The lumber trade exhibits every indication of activity. The cereals weakened during the week, probably in sympathy with wheat, which experienced a marked drop on Thursday.

In the skilled labor market conditions continue favorable, reports of increased wages affecting cotton operatives, puddlers, stove molders and others being of almost daily occurrence.

Iron and steel maintain their activity, and there are reports of larger orders for steel rails and structural material, together with an advance in prices of light hardware and greatly increased sales as compared with a year ago. Pittsburg reports general trade steadily increasing in volume, while furnaces and mills are supplied with orders sufficient to keep them running for the next two months.

Dry goods sales are reported to be running ahead of last year, and business in millinery as ahead of that for previous years. The influence of warmer weather is being felt at widely separated distributive points, whence come reports of the advent of country buyers in increasing numbers.

Business failures for the week number 205, an increase of 28 as compared with last week, but a falling off as compared with the corresponding weeks of the four preceding years, the figures being 233 for the like week in 1898, 231 in 1897, 300 in 1896 and 252 in 1895.

Loss of Over $300,000.

Amesbury, Mass., March 18.—A fire which broke out at 2:30 this morning has spread destruction throughout the heart of this prosperous town. The flames quickly spread from the Opera House to the Bahan block, and soon this, too, was in flames. In the latter was located the postoffice. The flames surged across the street, and seized upon the Rand-Adams block, a frame structure, and from this it spread to the Episcopal church. The falling walls of the Bahan block filled that section of Main street immediately in front of the fire, and the scene at 4 o'clock was a dreadful one. Owing to the inadequacy of apparatus and the insufficiency of the water supply, the whole section surrounding the buildings was in danger. The brands from the burning buildings ignited several dwelling houses. The loss will reach over $300,000.

Got Full Limit.

Paris, March 18.—Ex-Lieutenant Boisson, formerly of a French infantry regiment, who was arrested in this city on the charge of carrying on an illicit correspondence with a foreign government, involving military secrets, was yesterday sentenced to five years' imprisonment, to pay a fine of 1000 francs and to be placed under police supervision for 10 years. The court, in pronouncing sentence, said it regretted that the law did not allow more severe punishment to be inflicted on the prisoner.

Alleged Abortionists.

Boston, March 18.—Mabel Smith was taken into custody last evening, accused of being an accessory in a criminal operation performed upon Mrs. Frances Adams. Miss Smith is said by the police to be an assistant of Mr. and Mrs. Barrows, who are now under arrest and under $5000 bonds, charged with performing the operation. Her arrest was brought about by statements made by Mrs. Adams at the hospital yesterday.

Brunetti Slated.

London, March 18.—The Madrid correspondent of The Standard, after referring to the ratification by the queen regent of the treaty of peace between Spain and the United States, says: Official relations between the two governments will now be promptly renewed. It is rumored that the minister to the United States will be Don J. Brunetti, Duke D'Arcos, former Spanish minister to Mexico, whose wife is an American.

Everett's Aspiration.

Everett, Mass., March 18.—The Everett Herald, in its issue last night, printed coupons addressed to the second assistant postmaster general at Washington, petitioning that the city be placed under the control and within the jurisdiction of the postmaster of Boston. Everett, with a population of 25,000, has only three deliveries a day in the business district and two in the dwelling house district.

Troops to Quell Strikers.

Lake City, Colo., March 18.—Special trains bringing three companies of infantry and two troops of cavalry from Denver and Pueblo have arrived here. There are 235 soldiers here. They will march to the mining camp, Henson, three miles from here. The Italian strikers have been kept in ignorance of the arrival of the troops.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—5:50; sets, 5:56.
Moon sets—1:32 a. m.
High water—5 a. m.; 5:45 p. m.

In the east, extreme northwest and extreme southwest fair weather has continued. The temperatures have risen from 2 to 20 degrees from the gulf of Mexico northward and have fallen 12 to 34 degrees in the rear of the storm. Snow will continue from Minnesota eastward, probably reaching New England tonight. Winds on the Atlantic coast will be brisk and mostly easterly.

WITHIN THE TIME SET

Final Exchange of Ratifications of the Peace Treaty Will Occur.

Problem as to Prisoners In Aguinaldo's Hands.

Historical Document Created by the Blowing Up of the Maine Off Havana.

Washington, March 18.—The first news of the signature of the peace treaty by the queen regent of Spain was conveyed to Secretary Hay and the officials of the administration through a press bulletin. The secretary was naturally gratified at the action which he had expected would follow the course of the cortes. The action makes it possible to exchange the ratifications, and thus complete the treaty within the time set by the treaty itself as the maximum.

The signing of the peace treaty cannot in any manner affect the status of the Spanish prisoners in the hands of Aguinaldo, for the United States government is doing all that it can to secure their release. Still it is apprehended that the Spanish government, being able to address itself directly to the United States government as soon as the ratifications are exchanged, will not neglect to press the matter upon the attention of the state department, and perhaps will solicit authority to resume direct negotiations with the insurgents, looking to the release of the prisoners. The hope is entertained, however, that it may be unnecessary to decline such a request, for by that date the insurrection may have been quelled. If the Spanish government should insist, however, some disagreeable questions may be raised, involving the formal recognition of the insurgents by Spain, in which case perhaps it might claim the right to deal directly with Aguinaldo.

Contrary to an expectation that seemed to have obtained in some quarters, the signature of the treaty yesterday does not involve the immediate discharge of all the volunteer soldiers. It was stated positively at the state department that legally the treaty does not go into effect until the ratifications have been exchanged, and it will further be necessary for the president to proclaim it before the people of the United States, including the soldiers, can know officially that the war is over.

In all other respects, however, the state department will treat war as at an end. It is believed that the new Spanish minister will come prepared immediately after making the exchange of ratifications, to institute negotiations for a treaty of trade, commerce and amity.

The tension between Spain and the United States over affairs in Cuba, which had existed for years, was brought to the breaking strain by the blowing up of the Maine, Feb. 15, 1898. On April 19 congress ordered armed intervention in Cuba, and on April 25 it declared war. After a campaign of 113 days, during which Dewey destroyed the Spanish fleet at Manila, the fleet under Sampson annihilated Cervera's ships off Santiago, and Santiago and Manila had fallen before the attacks of the American army, Spain sued for peace.

On Aug. 12, 1898, a peace protocol between the United States and Spain was signed. It demanded that Spain relinquish her sovereignty over Cuba, cede to the United States the other West India islands, one of the Ladrones, and further provided for negotiations which should "determine the control, disposition and future government of the Philippine islands."

In furtherance of these demands, which Spain accepted, Premier Sagasta on Sept. 4 introduced into the cortes the following bill: "The government is authorized to renounce rights of sovereignty and to cede territory in the Spanish colonies in accordance with the peace preliminaries agreed upon with the United States of America."

On Sept. 13 the cortes passed the bill by a good majority, and the government was duly authorized to cede by treaty the colonies which should be agreed upon in negotiations with the United States. The joint commissioners met at Paris, and, after negotiations lasting about 10 weeks, a treaty was signed Dec. 10, 1898, which left the United States in possession of Porto Rico and other West Indian islands, Guam, in the Ladrones, and the Philippines, and Spanish sovereignty over Cuba was resigned.

Climax Looked For.

Washington, March 18.—There was much reticence shown at the war department yesterday to discuss a cable dispatch from General Otis, which was regarded as most important to those who read it, as indicating that hostilities might cease very suddenly in the Philippines, and a collapse of the insurrection come at any time. The reason for the belief of General Otis that a climax might come at any hour was not stated, but his assumption was based on the favorable reports he had received from various sources that the Filipinos were tired of the war and Aguinaldo's leadership. It is believed at the war department that the method in which the Americans have conducted the fighting has done much to convince the Filipinos of the uselessness of trying to drive out the United States forces. The fighting has been of a different character from that to which they were accustomed when the Spaniards were in possession of Manila.

General Otis' cable dispatch has caused a great deal of gratification. It was sent to the president at Thomasville, Ga. The preparations that have been under way to send further troops and supplies to the Philippines have not been curtailed, however. The light batteries which General Otis asked for will be sent, as they may be useful in future operations, and in case of disturbance in distant parts of the island.

Queen Regent Praised.

London, March 18.—The Times, dealing editorially with the manner in which the cortes and Spanish government shirked the ratification of the treaty, says: All have combined with a pusillanimity of which the world will not fail to take notice, to throw the odium upon the unfortunate lady who, more than all of them put together, has won for Spain sympathy and respect in her troubles.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 18.—In the senate yesterday, the committee on public health, with no dissenters, reported reference to the next general court on the petition for legislation authorizing the practice of osteopathy. A bill to provide for a normal school building in Boston through the issue of $300,000 bonds outside the debt limit by the city treasurer was reported. Bills were engrossed to raise the salary of the Worcester assistant register of probate and insolvency; for a referendum in Haverhill on separating grade crossings; to provide for election of city officers by viva voce vote; for the appointment of county police. A bill to limit the term of members of the state board of registration in pharmacy to five years was passed to a third reading.

Reference to the next general court was reported in the house on the bill to regulate passenger fares on railroads within the suburban district of Boston. Ought to pass was reported on the bill to establish a district court of eastern Franklin. The bill providing for 12-ride tickets on the railroads in the suburban district was referred to the next general court. A bill for the Plymouth county tax was reported, as were similar bills for Hampton and Bristol counties. An adverse report was made on the bill giving licensing boards discretion in the matter of abuttors' protests. A bill extending the time in which the Marlboro and Westboro Street Railway company may construct its tracks, to 1901, was reported. Leave to withdraw was reported on the bill to provide that any person, not a registered pharmacist, who shall sell intoxicating liquor in the name of a registered pharmacist shall be fined not more than $500. A similar report was made on the bill for company cooks in the militia with increased rank and pay.

The railroad committee referred to the next general court the petition that more workingmen's trains be provided by the railroads running into Boston. Leave to withdraw was reported on the bill to allow the Manufacturers' Trust company of Holyoke to remove to Boston. Ought to pass was reported on the bill to prohibit the employment of women and persons under 18 years of age more than eight hours a day in factories or shops. The bill to provide for a rate of 1 cent a mile on commutation tickets on railroads within a radius of 25 miles from their terminals in Boston was referred to the next general court.

Mr. Blood had substituted for the adverse report of the committee on public service the bill for an increase of salaries for the judge and clerk of the police court of Fitchburg. Similar action was taken on the bill to increase the salary of the clerk of the third district court of eastern Middlesex.

The bill to impose a tax on legacies was referred to the committee on ways and means on the point of order that it involved the collection and expenditure of public money.

Woburn Interested.

Woburn, Mass., March 18.—The progress of formation of the big upper leather trust is being kenly watched by the leather men in this city of tanners, as it is admitted that nearly all of the manufacturers will be swept into the organization. In the event of the trust assuming full control, the future of the leather business in this city becomes a problem. In the decade from 1885 to 1895 the total amount of capital invested decreased from over $2,500,000 to a little over $1,000,000. The prospects at present are a little more encouraging than for many years, yet the force of hands is only a trifle over one-half the number in 1885.

Dividend Coming.

Boston, March 18.—It is learned from the committee having in charge the settlement of the affairs of the Electrolytic Marine Salts company that an early dividend is expected to be declared to the stockholders. The committee has now in its possession $387,000, outside of the company's plant and supplies. This amount includes $75,000 which has been returned by Rev. P. E. Jernegan, who was at the head of the corporation.

Sardine Syndicate.

Eastport, Me., March 18.—C. H. Randle, representing a syndicate of Chicago capitalists, yesterday concluded an arrangement whereby it is claimed 75 percent of the entire sardine industry of the east will be controlled. A large number of the sardine packers of Eastport, Lubec and vicinity have agreed to sell their plants to the syndicate, the transfer to take place on or before April 15.

Quiet at Hot Springs.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 18.—Peace and quiet prevails in this city, although the details of Thursday's bloody street riot, in which five citizens were killed, are eagerly discussed on the streets. Governor Jones has arrived from Little Rock. Judge Belding, who was sworn in as chief of police, has appointed 150 special policemen, and no further trouble is now anticipated.

Narrowly Escaped Death.

Manchester, N. H., March 18.—Mr. and Mrs. James Fillent and their family of four children narrowly escaped being asphyxiated. The parents were awakened early in the morning by the coughing of their youngest daughter. Both man and wife were in an almost helpless condition and were nearly overcome by coal gas. They were resuscitated by neighbors.

To Explore the Amazon.

Washington, March 18.—Secretary Long yesterday cabled orders to Captain Todd of the Wilmington, now at Para, to go up the river Amazon as far as the vessel can proceed, probably about 1500 miles, make a thorough study of this comparatively unknown country, and gather specimens of the fauna for the United States national museum here.

Beat Brockton Bank.

Brockton, March 18.—A man believed to be Maximilian Schoenbein, the notorious bank burglar, one of the greatest all-round crooks in the country, is wanted here for passing a forged check for $18, drawn on a Jersey City bank, at the Brockton National bank.

TROOPS FOR ALASKA.

Measure Considered Necessary For the Preservation of Our Rights.

Americans Irritated by British Columbian Legislature.

Fatal Clash In the Klondike Over the Troublesome Border Question.

Washington, March 18.—A dispatch from Vancouver, B. C., states that a few miles off the desolate Dalton trail, Canadian and American miners have met in conflict. Four are reported to have been killed outright, and a number of others are said to have been seriously wounded.

The hostile collision is exactly what was apprehended by the representatives of the United States government in the late Canadian conference. It is said by one of these officials that they are sadly embarrassed in their efforts to settle the Alaskan boundary dispute by the British Columbia legislature, which, so far from endeavoring to secure a peaceful adjustment of the boundary difficulties, had, by the passage of irritating legislation, done much to retard an agreement.

With infinite difficulty the joint commissioners had succeeded in reaching an agreement to which all could subscribe, loking to the settlement of this boundary question, and of the conflicting mining interests generally. Within a week the British Columbia legislature had passed an act nullifying completely all of the interests which American miners had so painfully and expensively acquired in the Atlin district. This caused great irritation, and was the subject of considerable discussion before the commission. It was believed, however, that with the ratification of the treaty, which was expected to be negotiated, carrying with it the provision for the settlement of the mining controversies, the obnoxious law would be vacated by the superior force of the treaty.

Apprehensive of trouble in the event of the failure of that instrument, the United States and Great Britain reached an agreement in the nature of a modus vivendi, roughly defining by certain landmarks the boundary between the British and American possessions from the Klondike section down to British Columbia.

The officials here cannot tell from the vague report brought by the Vancouver dispatch just where the collision took place between the American and Canadian miners, so it is impossible to tell who is at fault. It is said, however, that the Canadians have been particularly aggressive in this boundary matter right along; that they have several times advanced the lines of the boundary claimed by them, and that in each case this extension coincided or followed very closely the discovery of new gold fields in the vicinity.

The indications are that the United States government will be obliged to take some steps to police its side of the border in Alaska, in a method corresponding to the Canadian system. There will be nothing threatening in the adoption of such a course, for, in the official belief, there is much less risk of conflict between the regularly organized and responsible bodies, like the Canadian mounted police on the one side, and the United States military forces on the other, than between bands of miners as opposed to the Canadian police. Consequently, it is probable that as soon as Colonel Ray arrives here from Porto Rico, or perhaps even before, the war department will take steps to organize a suitable force for this purpose.

The reports sent by the United States army officers in Alaska refer to the Porcupine river locality, where this conflict is reported. Lieutenant Richardson reported that 18 prospectors had gone up the Porcupine and Salmon rivers. He gave in detail the geography of the Porcupine and its sudden and dangerous floods in the spring, but did not indicate that any question existed as between the American and Canadian interests.

Denial at Ottawa.

Ottawa, March 18.—Comptroller White of the Canadian northwest mounted police has received from Vancouver, B. C., a denial of the story of a clash between Canadian and American miners at Porcupine creek, on the Dawson trail. The story spoke of the killing and wounding of some on either side.

Maine Legislature Adjourns.

Augusta, Me., March 18.—The 69th Maine legislature adjourned sine die at 11 o'clock last evening. The afternoon session was devoted to the disposal of the last measures, the resolutions of thanks to the presiding officers and farewell speeches by a dozen of the best speakers in both bodies. The payroll of the house was $21,982, and of the senate $10,307. The evening was devoted to a mock session, followed by a song service. Then the two bodies were called to order, and the general appropriation bills for 1899 and 1900 were passed. Several hundred spectators were present.

Kautz's Diplomacy.

Washington, March 18. — Admiral Kautz has cabled the secretary of the navy from Apia, N. Z., that he has arranged for a meeting of the three consuls, those of Great Britain, the United States and Germany, at an early date, to have a full and free discussion of Samoan affairs. The cable dispatch is dated a week ago, so that this meeting has undoubtedly taken place, and the admiral's next report may be expected to tell the results of the conference.

Throws Blame on Satan.

Boston, March 18.—James Hutchinson, a colored janitor, was arrested yesterday on a charge of larceny of $475 from Dr. Isaac L. Roberts, a colored physician of the West End. Hutchinson, the police say, has admitted that he took the money, and he is also said to have declared that he was tempted by satan and could not resist. Considerable of the supposed stolen money was recovered.

A Satisfactory Soap

Mr. A. Brackett of last year's board of Selectmen is looking for $600 which he advanced out of his own pocket to pay the snow shovelers last February. SAMPSON AT BERMUDA.

Cordial British Welcome Given the Admiral at Hamilton.

MANY SOCIAL FUNCTIONS HELD.

One of the Most Delightful Was a Garden Party and Dance at the Admiralty House—Fraternity and Good Will Between the Two Nations Were Deeply Toasted.

The very cordial feeling in British colonies toward America and Americans was well displayed during the recent visit of Rear Admiral Sampson to Hamilton, Bermuda. The American consul, Mr. Maxwell Green, received a telegram from Admiral Sampson stating that the New York and the Indiana would touch at Bermuda on their way to the West Indies and inquiring for pilots. The consul applied to the local British naval authorities and was informed that the British navy did not employ pilots at Hamilton, but that they would recommend a couple of men. This they did, and the American warships were safely brought into Grassy bay.

The telegram caused great excitement in the official and tourist circles. The British secretary for the colonies, the Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, cabled to his local subordinates to stroke the American eagle's feathers the right way, and a meeting of the American tourists in Bermuda was called at the Hamilton hotel, at which it was decided to give a dinner, reception and ball in honor of Admiral Sampson and his officers. Subscriptions were $5 a head, and not only was sufficient raised for the affair, but after all bills were paid a balance of $60 was left, and this was contributed to a local hospital. A managing committee was appointed, with Rear Admiral John H. Upshur, retired, as president and Consul Green as secretary, while F. W. J. Hurst, the treasurer of the New York Yacht club, was chosen to make the introductions to Admiral Sampson.

Various official functions were organized by the local authorities, and the natives, represented by the Royal Bermuda Yacht club, decided to hold a regatta and give a lunch at White's island. This latter function did not come off, for want of time. American and other foreign vessels of war have often visited Bermuda, but never have they met with such a reception as that accorded to Admiral Sampson and his officers and men. It was in sharp contrast to the treatment met with recently by the two Spanish warships conveying to Spain the ashes of Columbus.

When Admiral Sampson arrived in a launch at Hamilton, he was met by Admiral Upshur and Consul Green. A company of the Worcestershire regiment, quartered at Camp Prospect, accompanied by the band of the same regiment, formed a guard of honor. "God Save the Queen" was played, and when Admiral Sampson landed the band struck up "The Star Spangled Banner." The carriage of the governor was in waiting, and Admiral Sampson, accompanied by his suit, was driven to the government house and thence to the admiralty, his visit being shortly returned on board the New York, his flagship.

The governor, General Barker, gave a dinner to Admiral Sampson. The admiral of the English West Indian fleet gave a garden party and dance at the admiralty house. This was one of the most delightful functions during the stay of the fleet. The grounds of the admiralty house on the north shore are picturesque. Admiral Sampson and his officers arrived in launches directly from their ships and marched up from the admiralty landing. Admiral Upshur gave a dinner to Admiral Sampson at the Hamilton hotel, and on Washington's birthday there was a reception and ball at the same hotel. The ballroom of the Hamilton is admirable on most occasions, but this time it was an attempt to put a quart into a pint pot. The crowd was terrible. A lane had been roped off, and slowly the crowd passed along and were presented to Admiral Sampson by Mr. Hurst. Once this ordeal was over, dancing became general, and the admiral disappeared. He had won golden opinions from all by his courtesy and geniality. The next function was the reception and dance given by the admiral on board the New York, at which there was a large crowd. A local photographer took an admirable picture of the American and British admirals, Sampson and Fisher, standing together. In the evening the officers of the Worcestershire regiment gave a dinner in honor of the admiral and his officers at the messroom at Prospect camp.

The smaller fry of the navy were not forgotten, and various entertainments were given in their honor. The noncommissioned and warrant officers of the British West Indian squadron invited the Americans of the same standing to smoking concerts and other entertainments, where the fraternity and good will between the two were deeply toasted. On the morning of Friday, Feb. 24, the American warships left.—New York Sun.

Unanimous.

The elevation of Dewey to the rank of admiral of the navy is a gift from the whole American people. Seventy million souls indorse and acclaim the action of congress and the president. We do not think that in the length and breadth of the continent there is one dissenting voice.—Washington Times.

Greek Political Parties.

The Greeks ought to be happy. In their new chamber they have 112 Theokokists, 13 Deligeorgists, 6 Dragoumists, 4 Carapinists and other fearsome creatures.—London Globe.

MATRON AND MAID.

The pride of the life of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Skeats of London was that she was the mother of six policemen.

Miss Helen Gould has read law and, did she desire, could pass the examination for entrance to the New York bar.

Most of the chairs in Mme. Patti's boudoir at Craig-y-Nos are draped with ribbons taken from the numberless bouquets thrown to her.

Mrs. Sheridan and Mrs. Logan are among the largest women pensioners of this country. They receive respectively $2,500 and $2,000 a year.

Mrs. Charlotte Roulez Charlier of Roselle, N. J., left an estate worth about $20,000, practically all of which, it said, was made by telling fortunes.

Queen Victoria has conferred on Lady Curzon, vice reine of India, the decoration of the Imperial Order of the Crown of India. This is exclusively a woman's order, and Lady Curzon is the sixty-fifth to receive the honor.

Lady Thompson of Toronto waited upon the Ontario cabinet recently with some friends and asked that the sale of cigarettes to boys under 18 years of age be prohibited. She was promised that the matter would be given immediate attention.

Lillian Russell was born on Dec. 4, 1861, in Clinton, Ia. She made her first appearance on the stage as a professional in the chorus of the Park theater, Brooklyn, and joined Rice's "Evangeline" company in the fall of 1878 as a principal singer.

Adele Marie Rickey, in a lecture in New York recently, said colors in every apparel have a decided effect on health and disposition. Green, for instance, is bad for people with nervous maladies, and royal purple is beneficial for people having a tendency to sore throat.

Miss Ellen Terry's favorite hobby is one which is probably not followed by any other leading actress or otherwise. She has quite a passion for collecting the eyeglasses of celebrities, and whenever she begs a pair she invariably gets the wearer of them to write his or her autograph upon them.

Mme. Modjeska, the famous actress, is one of the few people who can do two entirely opposite things at the same moment. She will sit upon the stage apparently writing a letter that causes her the greatest grief and agony—the tears running down her cheeks and the sobs shaking her whole frame—and on the paper that lies before her she draws funny caricatures of persons she knows.

In every city or town in the Netherlands you will find a Rosemary street. In olden days only undertakers lived in them, the rosemary being, in the language of flowers, specially dedicated to the dead.

Many of the tall old houses in the residential streets and even squares of the inner belt of London, which less than a century ago were the houses of the well to do, have been cut up into tenements in the perpetual search for rooms to live.

Old sayings are being wrecked daily. Queen Victoria now finds great difficulty in keeping awake notwithstanding the statement that uneasy lies the head that wears a crown.—Philadelphia Times.

Sir Thomas Lipton continues to give evidence that he has got money to burn. A little thing like the purchase of a $400,000 steam yacht by him will have to be set down as one of the incidental expenses of the next international yacht race.—Boston Herald.

JEWELRY JOTTINGS.

A watch guard of sporting character carries out in gold and aluminium a curb chain and snaffle bit design.

Buckles and slides for shoulder straps, ribbon bow centers and throat bands represent all shapes, being square, round, oval or oblong, as well as assuming many fanciful variations of these outlines.

The pendant fad seems to threaten in rings, in which, however, it appears a precarious and inconvenient indulgence. In this case the ring should be a slender band to which the pendant gem or gems are attached.

The favor in which richly colored stones are held extends this season to the engagement ring. While the diamond, of course, continues to be the standard stone many women prefer something more individual in character, and accordingly the now fashionable emerald, the ruby and the sapphire serve as very chic emblems of betrothal.—Jewelers' Circular.

UPPER CUTS.

Fitzsimmons and Sharkey are now engaged in an unlimited round contest to see which can escape fighting the other.—Memphis Commercial-Appeal.

Judging by the caution and evasion indulged in by Sharkey, Fitzsimmons and Jeffries the trio of pugilists believe the old prize ring adage, "A match well made is half won."—Boston Traveler.

—We copy the following paragraph from the Somerville Citizen and heartily endorse what it says: The Boston authorities have declared war on English sparrows. It is high time. They are a nuisance to be abated. Dirty in habit, pugnacious in disposition, noisy and numerous, they constitute a class that is a libel on bird society, and cause those not familiar with more agreeable bird companions to wonder what there is about birds for one to admire. They drive away the better class of birds, for those of more refined habits of speech and life do not care to live in such company, if, indeed, these barbarous and selfish hordes would allow it. That they are a nuisance can easily be imagined by one who has seen the dirty work that even a small company of them make when they get established on a building.

Castle Square Theatre.

"The Prodigal daughter" continues in great favor with the amusement public, and the Castle Square theatre management is again compelled to announce this famous, realistic, sporting drama for another week to meet the demand for seats to enjoy its performances. The coming week will complete a run of five consecutive weeks, or sixty performances of this play, all of which will, undoubtedly, be given before audiences limited only by the capacity of the theatre, a record which speaks volumes for the good work done by the Castle Square theatre players in this production, as well as for its admirable characteristics in every way. Some very effective additions are promised in the stage settings of the coming week, which gives promise of being the most successful of the entire run. "The Girl I left Behind Me" and "The Idler" are in active preparation to follow the present attraction at this theatre.

The U. S. Life-Saving Service.

One of the most interesting features which has ever been offered in the continuous vaudeville at Keith's Boston theatre, is announced to be given there the week of March 20. It will be a dramatic recital of the work performed by boat crews engaged in the United States life-saving service, in an illustrated storm on the coast. Every word and action of the life boat men when they are engaged in rescue work will be faithfully depicted. In connection with it, Mr. J. E. Comerford will deliver a thrilling and powerful reading, "The Old Volunteer Crew," which will be beautifully illustrated with colored views. Some of the pictures will be Race Point and Peaked Hill Bar life-saving stations and crews, Capt. Isaac Fisher of Wood End, who has been 18 years in service and has a record of saving over 200 lives, and Capt. James of Hull, king of life savers.

QUINCY DAILY LEDGER.

Vol. 11. No. 66. QUINCY, MASS., MONDAY, MARCH 20, 1899. PRICE 2 CENTS.

FOR RENT.

Furnished Rooms Open All Night.

We wish to announce the arrival of spring. Possibly you didn't know that spring, gentle spring, had sprung. "She have."

You may find a little snow in patches up on President's Hill or the ground may be a little frozen this morning, but, nevertheless, spring has sprung, for a few unmistakable signs have been noticed lately. Some Robins have been reported by Chief Joe Hayden. Spring beds have been noticed in the furniture stores, and just now there seems to be a greater variety of spring water to select from for culinary purposes than usual.

As our ad. man was walking down Kneeland street in Boston, last week, he saw a sign that made him think that at least one man thought it was going to be warm; for on one of the buildings there he read: "For Rent. Furnished rooms open all night." That man surely wouldn't expect to rent a room that was open all night, to a man in cold weather.

The surest signs of spring are at the Quincy Clothing Co.'s counters, nowdays. New things for spring. When they say new things it MEANS NEW things. It don't mean things that were once upon a time new, or that were new last spring and have been brushed up and fixed up for this spring; but it means goods that were made for them for spring of 1899.

Every part of our store is showing new things. On some counters you find new Men's Suits, new Pants, new Spring Overcoats. The Boys' counters show new Suits, and the leader, the Little Magnet Suit, all wool, double seat and knees can be found there at $1.98.

The Furnishing counters show new Hats, new Neckwear, new Shirts, new Gloves, and new Hosiery. Is fact, every corner of our store has something new in it. Bought to be sold at the cheap store prices.

We invite you to look through our store at new things we have bought for your benefit—and ours. We caution you about looking at the Spring Overcoats unless you want one—for you can't help buying one when you see the nobby ones at $5 50, the swell ones at $7 50 and the top notchers from $9 98 to $16 00.

GOTHAM'S HOLOCAUST.

Sixteen Persons Dead and Forty-Three Reported as Still Missing.

But Little Progress Made In Removing Debris.

Workmen Handicapped by Smoke and Gases Arising From the Ruins.

New York, March 20.—Very little progress was made yesterday in removing the debris of the Windsor hotel fire in the effort to discover the bodies that are supposed to lie buried there. All day long over 200 men labored as much as the misty, muddy, steaming mass of broken stones, twisted iron and crushed brick would admit. A heavy, stifling vapor arose continually, retarding progress of the workers and keeping them for the most part away from the center of the ruins.

The ruins still smoulder, and the smoke and gases blowing into the faces of the workers made their task one of great toil and hardship. From time to time men were compelled to desist for a few minutes. By midnight the laborers had excavated back from the front building line and to the sub-basement for a distance of 15 feet.

The death list remains at 16, and the list of missing has been reduced to 43, as a number of those previously unaccounted for reported in person or had been located by friends.

The great value of jewels and jewelry in the wreck made the men work carefully. Each shovelful of the refuse was carefully examined before being placed in the carts. Policemen, both in uniform and in the guise of foremen, mingled with the workingmen and carefully watched their every movement. More than five men were searched at the end of their shifts. Many of the men resented this, saying it was unnecessary and protesting that no man would think of taking such property, and especially under the circumstances. The contractors and the officials of the building department were obdurate, however, and said they would take no chances, and that everyone must be searched.

One of the strange sights of Sunday to the police was the curiosity of the crowd. The sightseers numbered thousands while daylight lasted, and even after nightfall the number of visitors was uncomfortably large. So much did they annoy the police that late in the afternoon the lines were shoved out to Sixth avenue on the west, to Forth-ninth street on the north and to Forty-fourth street on the south. This made it impossible for the crowds to see anything, but they still remained on the edge of the forbidden territory. Many persons of prominence visited the ruins during the day. Richard Croker was a visitor, and many other prominent politicians and business men also got inside the fire lines.

From Fifth avenue much of the debris that had fallen into the street had been cleared away and the men were able to reach a portion of the first floor. What small portions of wall that could be blasted down were levelled, but the great pillar of brick at Forty-seventh street end still stood. It was in such a threatening condition that the police notified the residents of the house across the street to remain in the rear of their dwellings to prevent any fatalities when the crash came. Up to midnight no bodies had been discovered and no more deaths from injuries received at the fire were reported from the hospitals, but a number of the injured were still in a serious condition.

A large force of men were at work during the afternoon on what was the main entrance to the hotel. It was expected that bodies would first be found there. A large amount of small articles, principally the personal property of guests, was found.

Daniel Sweeny, the emergency wrecker of the building department, and three men, had a narrow escape from injury and possible death about 5 o'clock. The four men were on top of the six-story wall, which was still standing on the 47th street rear corner of the hotel, tearing it down. A stiff north wind blew up rather suddenly, and Sweeny felt the wall trembling beneath him. Sweeny cried out a warning, and the men hurried from their dangerous perch. They were just outside the danger line when a great section of the wall, 30 feet or more square, and including that portion where they had been working, went down with a roar. A portion of it fell on the roof of the house back of the hotel, wrecking the roof. The house had been emptied by order of the building department, and nobody was injured.

The work of demolishing the fragmentary portions of walls on the east and north sides of the burning building was begun yesterday, and later the work of removing the rubbish was pushed as vigorously as was practicable.

The fire lines are more rigidly kept than ever before, and all persons without a special permit are kept outside.

During the day the workmen were engaged in picking to pieces the six story wall that is standing on the 47th street side of the hotel site, in order to make the search in the ruins safe. The second 85-foot chimney was dynamited shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The explosion wrecked a number of plate glass windows and doors in nearby residences.

The Herald says that a mass of testimony is accumulating tending to show that the Windsor hotel fire was of incendiary origin, and that the motive was robbery, and that in some cases the thieves were successful.

Among the large number of those reported as missing as a result of Friday's fire are the names of these New Englanders:

Mrs. Mary Laurie and daughter, Mary, Bennington, Vt.

Miss Annette Upham, Montpelier, Vt.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander B. Johnson, Newburyport, Mass.

C. E. Hasbrook, Boston.

Alexander B. Johnson and wife left Newburyport for New York a few days ago. His brother-in-law of Newburyport has been unable to ascertain if he is safe, and it is feared that both Mr. and Mrs. Johnson perished in the fire. Mr. Johnson is a lawyer in New York city and about two years ago purchased some property on High street in Newburyport for a winter residence.

A. P. Demorest notified the police yesterday that he had a small safe filled with jewels valued at $10,000 in the ruins of the fire. He, his wife and daughter and son occupied rooms on the third floor near Fifth avenue and Forty-seventh street. They were all in their rooms when the fire occurred. His daughter when the fire was discovered, went to the small safe containing the jewels and tried to open it, but forgot the combination in her excitement.

The funerals of Mrs. Warren F. Leland and Miss Helen M. Leland, wife and daughter of the proprietor of the Windsor hotel, who died from injuries received at the fire, were held yesterday at the Church of the Heavenly Rest. The bodies were sent to Chicago. There were two large baskets of Easter lilies near the caskets, the gifts of President and Mrs. McKinley. Mr. Leland and his son, Charles W. Leland, accompanied the remains to Chicago.

A Fire Trap.

Kansas City, March 20.—"The Windsor hotel was a veritable fire trap,' says George T. Stockman, manager of the Midland hotel. Mr. Stockman lived at the Windsor for five years as superintendent before coming to this city "The trouble was that the hotel was built on the instalment plan back in the 70s The man who stared it went broke on Wall street, and new capital completed it. The walls were very light. I don't think there was any wall thicker than 18 inches. Then, too, there were several courts or stairways that were open to the roof. These shafts we always knew would act as flues in case of a fire, and make it impossible to battle against the flames. Everything was wood, but the walls."

Sensational Testimony.

Leavenworth, Kas., March 20.—The army beef court of inquiry concluded the taking of testimony at Fort Leavenworth yesterday and departed for Chicago, where the sessions will be resumed The sole witness examined yesterday was Sergeant Edward Mason, troop A First United States cavalry, located at Fort Robinson, Nebraska, who served as regimental commissary sergeant at Lakeland, Fla., and during the Cuban campaign. Sergeant Mason's testimony was probably the most direct that has been adduced since the court left Chicago, witness declaring that meat received at Lakeland for use in his regiment was "undoubtedly chemically treated." "An agent of Armour & Co.,' he said, "told me at the time that this meat had been treated with what was called preservatine." Witness had refused to accept the meat. Sergeant Mason was interrogated individually by each member of the court and could not be shaken in his testimony. He told of the meat furnished on the voyage from Tampa to Cuba. No complaints were made of the canned roast beef, but the meat was tasteless and unsatisfactory generally and had to be thrown overboard. In Cuba the men of his regiment would not eat the canned roast beef, and as a rule it was thrown away. The refrigerated beef issued after the surrender was good, but as a rule it was spoiled before it could be used.

A Dynamite Cartridge?

Boston, March 20.—The Globe says: A disaster, which would in all probability have resulted in the death or injury of scores of people, was averted Saturday night at the Park street station of the subway. It was only a case of good fortune that a cartridge, eight inches in length, and filled with what is believed to be explosive material, failed to explode. It was thrown on the front platform of a car by a man, but struck the floor on the non-explosive end. The motorman picked up the cartridge, thinking at first that it was a wad of paper, but afterwards concluded that it was dynamite. He thrust it into his overcoat pocket, and made two trips before reporting the matter to the officials of the road, none of whom would talk of the affair last night.

NEATLY ENTRAPPED.

Combination of Rebel Forces Scattered by Wheaton's Troops.

Two Hundred Filipinos Lost In the Battle.

Americans' Kindness to Prisoners Powerfully Influencing Insurgent Army.

Manila, March 20.—Some of the rebels recently expelled from Cavite and the small towns in the vicinity of Pasig combined forces and Saturday night attacked a company of the Washington volunteers, a detached post at Taguig, about a mile and a half southeast of Pasig. General Wheaton immediately reinforced the Americans with two companies each of the Washington and the Oregon regiments.

The post had held the enemy in check, and the fire of the reinforcing companies repulsed them, driving them across to an island formed in the estuary. They were thus in front of the Twenty-second regulars.

On discovering that they were entrapped, the rebels fought desperately, aided materially by the jungle and the darkness, but they were completely routed, with heavy loss, after two hours of fighting. The Americans lost two killed and 20 wounded. Among the latter was Lieutenant Frank Jones.

General Wheaton decided to punish the natives, and at daybreak yesterday his brigade started in the following order: The Sixth artillery holding the extreme right, the Oregon volunteers holding the center, the Washington regiment keeping to the lake, and the Twenty- second regulars occupying the right of the line, which swept the whole country along the lake, in a southeasterly direction, toward General Ovenshine's position. The line, thus extended over two miles of country, rough and covered with thick jungle, advanced 11 miles. The enemy fled, the last of them being seen about 3:30 in the afternoon. At scarcely any time did the Americans get within 1200 yards of them.

The troops are returning to Pasig, exhausted by the hard work under a hot sun. The Oregon regiment had one man killed and four wounded, and the Twenty- second regulars one wounded. According to the official reports no fewer than 200 Filipinos were killed.

General Otis says that the American army and gunboats now command the lake. He estimates that property of the insurgents valued at $500,000 has been destroyed, while quantities of rice and sugar, and 400 tons of coal, which is very valuable here, have been captured.

The armed tugs Laguna de Bay and Oeste have returned to San Pedro Macati and reported the results of their tour of the lake. On Friday morning last they shelled the town of Morong, the rebels fleeing without making any response to the fire. The Americans landed a party, which destroyed a quantity of stores and all the stone buildings, except the church.

The expedition then proceeded to Majayjay, where a sugar mill and sawmill were destroyed.

On arriving at Santa Cruz, a town of 1200 inhabitants, it was found that the enemy was strongly entrenched and prepared to defend the position, assisted by two gunboats and several launches. Moreover the mouth of the river was blocked with rocks and bamboo. A few shells caused an exodus of the citizens, but not of the enemy's troops. The Americans did not attempt a landing.

Captain Grant, who is in charge of the expedition, asks for reinforcements, and will probably take Santa Cruz tomorrow.

The troops that accompanied the expedition were a detachment of the Twenty-third regiment, under Captain Pratt, which was towed by the gunboat Ona Casco—a square-ended, flat-bottomed boat, used by the Filipinos as a lighter.

Many of the prisoners represent that the Filipino soldiers are weakening. The generous treatment that the Americans administer to the native prisoners and wounded seems to influence the insurgent army powerfully. In the opinion of the Americans, however, the Filipino leaders will continue to provoke fighting just as long as they can retain their hold upon their followers, because they have everything to gain and nothing to lose.

The enemy have twice as many men on their firing lines as they have arms, and the fact that so few arms are captured by the Americans is because the guns of the wounded Filipinos and of many who surrender are spirited away.

The United States distilling ship Iris, which left Honolulu for Manila with the battleship Oregon on Feb. 20, arrived yesterday. The San Joaquin, the last of the overdue English steamers sailing under American registers that were detained by the insurgents on the northwest coast of Luzon, also arrived.

Southern Cyclones.

Memphis, March 20.—A series of terrific wind storms swept through portions of Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas, doing an immense amount of property damage and killing a number of people. The storms covered a radius of several hundred miles, destroying telegraph wires and cutting off communication with a large part of the affected country.

Drift of Opinion.

☞The Cuban military assembly in the impeachment of Gen. Gomez seems to have dug its own political grave, and the Cuban people may be trusted to attend to the interment of the body, judging by the tone of the dispatches from the island. The result shows that Gomez is of more consequence to the Cuban mind than this bumptious military assembly.—Brockton Times.

☞The Newton public school system is under fire. A number of leading citizens of Newton have expressed the opinion that essential studies are being neglected in the Newton schools, and ornamental branches substituted. A good many old fashioned people outside of Newton have the idea that the public schools of the present day do not give as good a practical education as children got in the public schools twenty or thirty years ago. — Somerville Journal.

☞A properly conducted printing office is as much a secret as a Masonic lodge. The printers are not under oath of secrecy, but always feel themselves as truly in honor bound to keep office secrets as though triple clothed. Any employe in a printing office who willingly disregards this fact, in relation to printing office secrets, should not only be scorned by his brethern of the craft, but should lose his position at once. We make this statement because it sometimes happens that a communication appears in a newspaper under an assumed signature which excites comment, and various parties try to find out who is the author. Let all be saved the trouble of questioning the employes of the printing office. They are know-nothings on such points as these. On such matter, they have eyes and ears, no mouth, and if they fail to observe this rule, let them be put down as dishonorable members of the craft. It is the same in job printing. If anything is to be printed and kept secret let proper notice be given of the desire for secrecy, and you might as well question the Sphinx as one of the printers, so that even the secret books of lodges are printed without fear.—New England Press.

☞There is little danger that the sparrow will be exterminated for a long while to come, even if the most persistant efforts are made. Whether one approves of extermination or not it is certainly well enough to try to thin them out a little, by destroying the eggs in hatching season. Boston seems to have made an unfortunate begining in the wholesale tearing down of the nests, the bewilderment and distress of the birds; and all its efforts will go for little so long as nests remain under the coving of buildings and in the thousand and one odd places where they find to build. Driving them from the common probably means driving them to some place where they may be even more troublesome.—New Bedford Standard.

A GREAT GAIN.

Quincy's Temperance Victory Celebrated.

The Seventeenth Anniversary of No-License.

Praise for Henry H. Faxon and Others.

In February of 1882 the Citizens' No-License Committee was organized in Quincy to overthrow the saloons which then existed. The first celebration of that victory and those of each succeeding year was observed Sunday evening at Bethany Congregational church. The audience was small because of the storm, but it was an interesting occasion. Several of the members of the W. C. T. U. in 1876 were present by special request.

The programme included hymns, scripture reading by W. F. Hoehn, prayer by Rev. E N. Hardy, and short addresses.

Mr. Theophilus King, for the first twelve years the president of the committee, presided. At the outset he said: A great gain! A tremendous gain for Quincy. He came here to reside 25 years ago, and it was sad to contemplate the situation then. There were 42 licensed places then for the sale of liquor. He recalled the Reynolds movement and the organization of the Reform club. Then Quincy had many old topers, and not only the evils of drink but gambling. It was a serious state of affairs. It then cost Quincy four times as much in proportion to care for its poor as now.

It was a great thing to stop the creation of an appetite for drink. This has been accomplished. Saloons and gambling don't exist here now, and he did not recall any old topers.

The original No-License Committee of 1882 included fifty with Theophilus King as chairman and H. M. Federhen as secretary. For eight days previous to the annual March meeting they held temperance meetings daily and bombarded all parts of the town with literature, etc. A house to house canvass was made, and effective work done at the polls and it was a grand success.

But it was to the enforcement of the No vote, largely through the efforts of Henry H. Faxon that the illegal sale was suppressed. He hoped Mr. Faxon would live many years to see the law enforced. There was a mighty difference in Quincy between 1882 and today. More comfort in the homes, and security and safety on our streets. We are free from temptation and should do all we can on side of temperance.

Dr. C. T. Sherman the president since the resignation of Mr. King said he was influenced twelve years ago in selecting Quincy as a home because there were no saloons. He was glad to meet and rejoice. He congratulated the original committee. He did not consider the saloons a social necessity. There was danger in Quincy so long as 1,100 men voted "Yes" on the license question.

A letter of regret was read from Rev. George B. Lawton one of the original workers. He doubted if any place had a poorer chance of success in 1880 than Quincy and he was pleased with the result.

Mr. King extended the right hand of fellowship to Henry H. Faxon, Esq., who was the next speaker. He said in substance:

Ladies and Gentlemen: I take this opportunity to thank the good people of Quincy for the encouragement and support which they have given me during the years of my crusade against the dens of vice which at one time, threatened to engulf the morals of this historic city, and bring lasting discredit upon its fair name.

When the saloon was present with us, the Sabbath, instead of being observed as a day of rest and devotion was utilized by many as a day of debauchery and blasphemy.

For more than sixteen years Quincy has been one of the most law-abiding, temperate and prosperous municipalities in the Commonwealth. The average no-license majority during this period has been 794, which is a creditable record considering the heterogeneous population which has settled in our midst. Closing the saloon has decreased crime, prevented excessive drunkenness, purified politics and largely increased wealth, prosperity and happiness within our borders. From a careful estimate, I find that more than $100,000 was annually spent in the dram shops of our city, under license, with a population not one-half as large as at present.

The difficulties which I have encountered, the abuse received and the money expended in my battle for the destruction of Satan's strongholds—the former liquor saloons of Quincy—count as nothing, in comparison with the results which have been secured.

For the past twenty years I have expended in the work of the temperance reform in Quincy upwards of $50,000. Had it not been for the giant evil of intemperance and all that follows in its train, this money would have been directly applied to the upbuilding of the moral and religious institutions of our city. However, the extermination of the dram shops has been the most gratifying work of my life, and I owe my success to the influence and assistance of the churches of this place, as well as of the aid which has been rendered me by the noble women who are always on the right side of all moral questions.

Henry H. Faxon.

I do not believe that there is a city in this State where it is so difficult to purchase intoxicating liquors as in Quincy. Nevertheless, while we are congratulating ourselves on the encouraging features of our present condition, we must not be blind to the fact that our "Yes" vote has averaged 774 during these years, and that there is no security outside of constant vigilance.

The License element that is still holding on here is a constant menace to the best interest our citizens. In order to perpetuate the good work we must elect none but honest officials at the head of our city government, those who will tolerate no man upon our police force who is derelict in enforcing the laws regulating the sale of intoxicating liquors and kindred evils.

Secretary Jewell of the Masschusetts Total Abstinence society was the last speaker and brought congratulations of the society and the Stoneham No-License people. He was pleased to see the church and the Y. M. C. A. interested. He was familiar with the work of Mr. Faxon and complimented him and the committee upon what had been achieved. He spoke of temperance work years ago and in other places in recent years.

Selections by a quartette composed of Miss L. D. Drake of Roxbury, Mrs. E. V. Fitts, Mr. Hayden, and Mr. E. E. Miller and a solo by Miss Drake were interspersed.

A review of the work of the Citizens No-License Committee is being compiled by W. F. Hoehn, the secretary.

In opening the service Rev. E. N. Hardy called attention to the early stand which his church took for temperance, having adopted Sept. 2, 1834, the principle of total abstinence from the use of ardent spirits as a beverage. Assent to this principle, extending to the traffic as well as use, is required of persons admitted to membership.

In the Sunday Globe was a symposium upon a question having an intimate connection with Quincy's success, viz: "Are the present drunk laws ineffective?" Henry H. Faxon wrote as follows:

"The only certain remedy for intemperance is to shut up the rum shops. Under any other condition save that of prohibition, drunkenness must prevail to a greater or less extent.

"Good laws work well if administered uniformly and without caprice on the part of judges. The present law, for example, with some necessary modifications, would be as effective as can be expected of any punitive measure for the relief of the evils of intoxication.

"The existing system, under which the probation officer flourishes, is a stumbling block in the prevention of drunkenness. The law permits the prisoner charged with the first offense to absolve himself by a mere statement which is rarely investigated by the probation officer, and which as infrequently is susceptible of verification.

"I would change the law so that the occupation of the probation officer would be gone and the court could exercise only the function of punishing the prisoner according to an inflexible scale of penalties.

"For the first offense the prisoner should be fined $5 or be sentenced to imprisonment for 30 days; for the second offense the penalty should be $15 or imprisonment for 90 days; for the third offense the prisoner should be fined or imprisoned as for the second offense, but in addition should be disfranchised as a vote in the municipality in which he lives.

"This plan of unvarying legal penalties for drunkenness would do

Division 6, A. O. H., celebrated its fifteenth anniversary at Clapp's hall Friday evening. After a brief musical entertainment, dancing was enjoyed until twelve o'clock, when a banquet was served by Caterer Nash of Quincy. The affair was most successful and great credit is due to President John B. Whelan and his aids: Patrick Coleman, William Burns, William P. Green, Samuel Cushing and M. C. Bailey. Rilley's orchestra furnished music.

A pleasant entertainment was held Saturday night at the St. Paul's Swedish M. E. church under the auspices of the Ladies' Sewing circle. An exceptionally good audience was present. Music on violins and guitars was given, also songs by the choir and Rev. and Mrs. H. Larson. Mrs. Frank Edwards of Lowell gave a very good lecture on "Our Life's journey. Refreshments were served. Meetings will be held the Swedish St. Paul's church every night this week except Monday and Saturday nights.

Former pupils of Miss Russell, for some time a teacher at the Wollaston school, will be pleased to learn that she is living at Grassmere (Goffstown), N. H., with her brother. It will be remembered that in 1896 she was stricken with blindness and also other infirmities, in consequence of which she was compelled to relinquish her position as teacher. Her sight was never restored. At the coming sale of the Junior King's Daughters of Wollaston she will have on exhibition an intricate piece of her handiwork, showing how deft a person can be with their fingers, although bereft of sight.

A GREAT GAIN.

away with the abuses that arise from the interference by politicians in the administration of a law which is flexible and capable of a wide latitude of interpretation.

"We often see men sentenced for 30 days who are released in one-third of that time, offenders sentenced for six months who serve only 30 days.

"These abuses could be remedied if we took discretion from court and other officials and made the law rigid and unchangeable.

"Personally I have very little sympathy with the cry that Boston is sending up just now against the burden of expense which she is forced to bear in the treatment of her drunkards that are manufactured in her thousand licensed rum shops.

"The city is perfectly willing to take the enormous revenue derived from the business, but is averse to paying the expense entailed by license.

"The liquor dealers are always harping about the revenue which the city of Boston obtains from the traffic in rum, but they are strangely silent in regard to the cost of caring for the products of the saloon.

"Boston invites all the criminals in the state to come here to its exhibit of attractions; why should she not shoulder without complaint the expenses and responsibilities attending the show?

"In conclusion, I would say that in my opinion no law governing the sale of intoxicating liquors in Boston can be effectively enforced by the present board of police commissioners, if we are to judge from their conduct and record of the past."

SOCIAL DEMOCRATS.

Representative Carey Finds Many Sympathizers.

The storm did not prevent a large audience at the Socialistic meeting at Hancock hall Sunday afternoon. The hall was in fact crowded, and the audience expressed considerable sympathy with the sentiments advanced by the speaker, by frequent applause.

T. Walter Good presided and briefly introduced James T. Carey the Representative to the House from Haverhill. His subject was the universal brotherhood of man, and he spoke for nearly two hours propounding to himself many questions, and answering them to the evident satisfaction of his hearers. He dwelt at length on the limited power of the producers in contrast with the lavish wealth of the non-producers.

As a result of the meeting a branch of the Social Democratic party will be organized in this city, and it will probably become a factor in the State and municipal elections next fall.

MAY YET PARADE.

Gov. Wolcott Anxious to Review Fifth Mass. Regiment

With Co. K, 5th Mass. Reg't.,
Camp Wetherill,
Greenville S. C., Mar. 17,

Dry, clearing weather has once more set in. The afternoon of yesterday was so warm as to make it necessary to have the blue shirt call sounded. These two days are something delightful.

A review and "trooping of the colors" were the main features of today. Major Morrison had the honor to be the reviewing officer. K company escorted the colors from headquarters to the parade ground, where the other companies were "at parade rest" waiting the arrival of the colors. This ceremony is very pretty, and is always displayed on festival days.

This afternoon company drill was gone through.

Sergeant McGrath was in charge and drilled the company. Captain Neilson was officer of the day.

The three squads who were quarantined were discharged by the medical department and have returned to their company streets.

Two more cases of measles were discovered in E company of Medford. The one affected was a sergeant, he was sent to the hospital, while his mess mates, the other sergeants of the company will have to go to quarantine for 12 days. This will leave no sergeants in E company, as they were all in the same squad.

Colonel Whitney has returned to duty after a long spell of sickness, but Lieutenant Colonel Weaver commands the regiment until the colonel is relieved from the duties as brigadier general of the 2d Brigade, 2d Division, 2d Army Corps.

The cry is heard every morning as the days pass by "This is — days and a breakfast," meaning that on the 31st there will only be a breakfast issued.

At evening parade Colonel Whitney read a communication from Governor Wolcott, in relation to the regiments coming home as a body. It is desirous that the 5th Massachusetts return home as an organization. This is the explicit wish of the citizens of Massachusetts. The companies will again act upon this communication tomorrow. This is the second time the regiment has voted on this same issue. Special rates have been obtained, giving the regiment a stay over in Washington of six hours and in New York of twelve hours before the Fall River boat leaves for Boston. It is the intention to leave Greenville, Friday, March 31, arriving in Washington Saturday for the stay over. Then proceed to New York arriving there Sunday for another stay over. Embark on boat arriving in Boston sometime Monday, parading through Boston for a final review by the Governor at the State House, and dismissal at the South Armory, where the rifles which the State will loan for the parade will be turned into the armorer. If the companies act upon this communication favorably, which they did not of the first issue, arrangements will be made immediately for their transportation.

The State of Massachusetts has offered cars to be used by the medical departments as hospital cars. These cars will be used to convey the sick now in our hospitals, and convalescent sick, back to Massachusetts. No sick nor convalescent sick will be permitted to remain in the southern states. The sick that are now inmates of our hospitals are considered as very favorable. Within twelve days will be ready for removal.

K company has no one seriously sick. The convalescent members of K are regaining their health and strength. VOLUNTEER.

☞ It remains for the esteemed state of Missouri to bring to the fore a novel plan to prevent lynching of prisoners. At least a Populistic member of the legislature proposes a plan, which is for the sheriff to arm the prisioners with shot guns when the mob swoops down and demands the keys. After killing the mob the prisoners are expected to stack arms, we presume, and march chain step back to their cells. It hardly need be said that the proposer of this brilliant scheme was a Populist. It has all the earmarks.—Beverly Times.

BLINDED BY ELECTRICITY.

Strange Pranks Played by Lightning at Winsted, Conn.

During a severe electrical storm that passed over Winsted, Conn., early the other morning a bolt of lightning ran into the house of Louis Curtiss and blinded the Rev. C. F. Chesebro, 36 years old, of the North Goshen Methodist church, who is ill with appendicitis in the Curtiss homestead.

The minister occupied an old fashioned bed with a low headboard in a room adjoining the dining room on the ground floor. A ball of fire entered the bedroom and descended the wall to within eight inches of his head, where it apparently burst. The Rev. Mr. Chesebro was stunned for a considerable length of time, and both his eyes were completely blinded, but physicians think he will eventually recover his sight.

On a bookcase beside the bed were a lighted lamp and a leather case, containing the clergyman's eyeglasses. The lightning extinguished the light and melted the glasses and the frame that held them. The case was hurled under the bedclothes. A gilt frame in the bedroom was turned black. On the wall paper back of the head of the bed a broken line was made by lightning extending from the ceiling to within eight inches of the spot where Mr. Chesebro's head was. The lightning then passed into the dining room, where it splintered the top of a sewing machine and ran out of a window, removing the putty and nails from the pane.

Mr. Chesebro says that he felt the heat from the lightning from the top of his head down as far as his hips, and it seemed to raise that part of his body off the bed. Some fear is entertained that the shock may kill him.—St. Louis Republic.

MEDICAL CURIOSITY.

Mike Kelly Outlived Three Professors Who Had Looked After His Case.

After spending 25 consecutive years as a patient in Bellevue hospital in New York Mike Kelly, 64 years old, died in ward No. 3 of that institution the other afternoon.

In many respects "Old Mike," as Kelly was known, was a remarkable character. He was suffering from fibromuscular tumors. One of them, nearly two feet long, was on the side of his head and hung down over his left cheek, making his appearance hideous. The old man wore a long beard and always carried a heavy stick. He was looked upon as a freak by visitors to the hospital.

Kelly was admitted to Bellevue on April 23, 1874. His ailment did not confine him to his bed, and almost every day the old patient could be seen roaming about the hospital grounds. In the early days of Kelly's sojourn at the hospital he took great interest in surgical operations and kept well informed on all the interesting cases.

Stories are told how Kelly made considerable money by the repeated sales of his head. Professor John R. Wood of the hospital, who admitted the aged patient, was said to be the first person to make a contract with Kelly for the latter's head after death. The professor was a specialist in such diseases as afflicted the old man. He pronounced the disease incurable and said that the removal of the growth probably would cause death. The professor exhibited Kelly as a curiosity in which he had a proprietary interest, and proudly told his fellow physicians of his purchase. He died, however, long before Kelly did. It is said that Kelly outlived four other physicians with whom he had made similar contracts.—New York World.

Hotels In Porto Rico.

Everybody who comes from Porto Rico complains of the hotels and describes the pecuniary advantages that will be enjoyed by enterprising Americans who will go down there, erect modern structures at San Juan and Ponce and equip them with modern and comfortable furniture. Several Americans have gone for this purpose. One enterprising hotel man carried with him a shipload of furniture, bedding, crockery, kitchen utensils and supplies, but none has been able to find suitable buildings, and it will be necessary to erect them. The cost will not be large. A hundred thousand dollars, it is said, would be sufficient, and a site can be obtained at a nominal price. There are a number of hotels in both cities, but they are filthy and uncomfortable, and people accustomed to the clean American hotels can scarcely tolerate them.—Chicago Record.

Winter Grazing In the Klondike Region.

The Bartlett Bros. of Toronto, the biggest firm of forwarders in Canada, have no less than 25 horses turned out to grass this winter. These horses are wintering up the Klondike river, about 25 miles from Dawson. They have had nothing to eat all winter except what they could find, yet they have done well and look well. Thus far every horse turned out is alive, and the Bartlett Bros. are confident that they will come out in the spring all right.—Toronto Globe Dawson Letter, Jan. 27.

Home Hypnotism.

A new electric hypnotizing sleep persuader is the invention of a Frenchman. The would be sleeper lies down, with an electric wire at the back of his neck, while two mirrors rotate in opposite directions in front of him. He watches the movements of these mirrors while the current through the wire acts upon the cervical vertebræ. The combined action produces sleep.

Better Than Osculation.

Lieutenant Hobson has by nomination of the president been advanced ten numbers on the navy list. This amounts to more than 10 receptions and 1,000 kisses at each. It is certainly a more dignified recognition of bravery.—Kansas City Star.

called Grain-O. It is a delicious, appetizing, nourishing food drink to take the place of coffee. Sold by all grocers and liked by all who have used it because when properly prepared it tastes like the finest coffee but is free from all its injurious properties Grain-O aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. It is not a stimulant but a health builder, and children, as well as adults, can drink it with great benefit. Costs about 1-4 as much as coffee. 15 and 25c.

HEADACHES

Are almost invariably the result of defective eyes, and a common and serious defect is Astigmatism, the amount and axis of which is not always perfectly corrected by the methods in ordinary use.

We use the opthalmometer to discover astigmatism. This instrument is relied on by oculists and will reveal the trouble where other tests fail.

If you have a difficult case consult us. We will give your case careful and special attention, and we feel sure that you will not be disappointed at the result.

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION

NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

The Great Unknown.

It was many years before the "Great Unknown" was identified. At the publication of the "Lay of the Last Minstrel," "Marmion," "Lady of the Lake" and finally of a novel called "Waverley," popular curiosity was excited, and the whole of England rang with the fame of the "Great Unknown," as Scott was called.

The secret was well kept. Sir Walter Scott, who all his life had been storing material and training his mind to such concentration that he could work in the midst of interruptions and was able to turn out volume after volume with a rapidity, two a year, that made his readers doubt their very senses. His incognito was all the more perfectly preserved in that he kept open house at Abbotsford, devoting much of his time to entertaining his guests and visiting. It was not until the embarrassment of his publishers occurred that the identity of the author of the "Waverley Novels" was discovered.

The case of Scott furnishes one of the many illustrations of the power of deceiving the public in literary matters.

Shot Wife and Himself.

Chicago, March 20.—Charles L. Blackman, an engineer, yesterday shot and mortally wounded his wife. He then sent a bullet into his own breast, dying almost instantly. Blackman and his wife had been separated for some time. A quarrel, resulting from Mrs. Blackman refusing to live with her husband, culminated in the shooting.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

The shoe factory of Charles F. Fry at Lynn was badly damaged by fire, and a number of other occupants of the building also suffered.

John L. Breck, 40 years old, one of the best known landscape artists in the country, was accidentally asphyxiated by gas at the St. Botolph club, Boston.

While cleaning an elevator shaft in the Devonshire building, Boston, Joseph Curran was instantly killed, his head being almost cut off between the car and a beam.

A HUNDRED REASONS

Can be given why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the best and most effectual cure for every form of indigestion.

They are in the tablet form which retains their good qualities indefinitely while liquid preparations become stale and useless with age.

They are convenient, can be carried in the pocket and taken when needed. —They are pleasant to take.

After each meal dissolve one or two of them in the mouth and, mingling with the food, they constitute a perfect digestive, absolutely safe for the most sensitive stomach.

They digest the food before it has time to ferment, thus preventing the formation of gas and keeping the blood pure and free from the poisonous products of fermented, half digested food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only remedy designed especially for the cure of stomach troubles and nothing else.

One disease, one remedy; the successful physician of today is the specialist, the successful medicine in the medicine prepared especially for one disease.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make the complexion clear by keeping the blood pure.

They increase flesh by digesting flesh forming foods.

A whole package taken at one time would not hurt one, but would simply be a waste of good material.

Over six thousand men and women in the State of Michigan alone, have been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package. 3t-20-22-24.

HAVANA DISTURBANCE

Resulting From Interference With Demonstration In Honor of Gomez.

Bitter Feeling Aroused by the Action of the Police.

Serious Riot Saturday Night May Be Followed by Others of Like Nature.

Havana, March 20.—The workmen's demonstration in favor of General Gomez yesterday afternoon was a successful affair, some 500 men and women forming on the Prado and marching with music and banners to the Quinta de los Molinnes, the residence of General Gomez, where they were joined by a similar procession from Guanabaoa.

A serious conflict between the police and people of Havana Saturday night resulted in considerable shooting and clubbing. From 20 to 50 people were wounded, some seriously. Among the injured is Police Captain Estampes, formerly a colonel in the Cuban army.

Ever since the police interference about a week ago with the demonstration in honor of General Gomez, they have been unpopular with the populace, who jeer at them and declare them inefficient. Certain newspapers let no opportunity escape to criticise the force, denouncing the arrests as unfair, and charging the police with "trampling upon the rights of a free people." The police are virtually in the position of men who have to make the people fear them in order to secure obedience, as they have no record to fall back upon for example.

Saturday night's trouble occurred at a public mulatto ball in San Jose street, an unsavory quarter of Havana. Many Cuban officers, colonels and captains among them, attended the affair. A policeman on duty in that street, following orders to prevent a crowd collecting in front of the building where the ball was in progress, asked a group of men to go in or to disperse. His request was unheeded, and, after repeating it, he was attacked by the group, whereupon many issued from the building, set upon him, took away his club and revolver, and handled him roughly.

The policeman immediately notified headquarters, who ordered 20 reserves to the scene of the trouble. The crowd had prepared for their arrival. It is said they opened with a revolver fire upon the police, which the latter returned, the shooting being kept up until the ammunition was exhausted. The opponents of the police acted in the affray with determination. Many who were in the building mounted to the roof, which is comparatively low, and fired upon the police from that point. They were apparently well armed, and this fact, together with the resolution with which they fought, seems to confirm the belief that the attacking party was mostly made up of Cuban officers, as ordinary civilians would have fled from the revolvers of the police.

Many women were wounded. A report is in circulation that two of the injured civilians have succumbed to their wounds, but this is not confirmed.

Public opinion respecting the police is conflicting. Some sustain them, and others charge them with interfering with the rights of the people. As the facts become known, however, opinion is increasing in favor of the force. It is reported on good authority that many who were wounded withdrew hastily, because they were unwilling to have it known that they were present.

American troops were called to the scene when the trouble was over, and numerous arrests followed. Police Captain Estampes, who is well known in Cuban military circles, is so badly injured that fears are entertained that he will not recover. Police Inspector Arango, who came into notice on the day of the Gomez demonstration, because of his attempts to break up the procession, and who subsequently challenged General Rodrigues, chief of staff of General Gomez, for having accused him of clubbing a woman, is credited with bravery and coolness in his efforts to restore order.

Numerous permits have been issued for similar balls, including one for an affair at the same house, and it is feared that there may be further trouble. Those who ought to know say that they are really against the law and that the permits should be revoked.

Shortly before 9 o'clock it was reported that another conflict between the people and the police had taken place last evening in the outskirts of Havana, and two policemen and several civilians, all wounded, were conveyed to police headquarters. It is asserted also that two policemen were killed, and that the reserves had been called out.

There is also a rumor that a policeman was stabbed to death yesterday afternoon.

Severely Pummelled.

Gardiner, Me., March 20.—George H. Johnson, one of the overseers of the poor, was assaulted and severely pummelled by Nelson Campbell, an inmate of the poor farm. While Johnson was sitting in his office Campbell came in and demanded some medicines. Johnson's refusal to get them unless prescribed by the city physician seemed to enrage Campbell greatly and, seizing a chair, he knocked Johnson onto the floor and then began jumping on him, pounding his face almost into a jelly, at the same time screaming with all his might. The physicians believe that Mr. Johnson will lose his left eye and have his face badly disfigured. He is 60 years of age.

Death Came Quickly.

Boston, March 20.—Rev. A. S. Gumbart, pastor of the Dudley Street Baptist church, one of the best known Baptist clergymen in New England, died at his home here yesterday from heart failure. Dr. Gumbart was taken ill at 5 o'clock yesterday morning of angina pertoris, and although attended by three physicians died in four hours. Dr. Gumbart was born in Roxbury Nov. 25, 1853. He was of Huguenot descent. He was ordained to the ministry in 1878 at Port Richmond, Staten Island.

PATRICK WALSH DEAD.

Noted Newspaper Man and One of the South's Most Earnest Workers.

Augusta, Ga., March 20.—Patrick Walsh, ex-senator and mayor of Augusta, died yesterday after three months' illness from nervous prostration. There was little hope in the community of his recovery, but his death was not thought to be so near at hand.

PATRICK WALSH.

Mr. Walsh was one of the most prominent men in Georgia, and had national recognition as the earnest champion of southern development, and was, perhaps, the best authority on the material resources and manufacturing products of the south.

Mr. Walsh was born in Ireland, Jan. 1, 1840, but his father's family came to America while he was a boy and settled at Charleston, S. C. At 12 years of age Patrick Walsh was apprenticed in the Charleston Evening News, and in due time became a journeyman printer. He came to Augusta in 1862, and has ever since been identified with the press of the city. In 1870 he became a member of the city council. From 1872 to 1877 he served in the state legislature. In 1880, 1884 and 1896 he was delegate to the Democratic convention, and served for four years as a member of the Democratic national executive committee. He served as member-at-large for the world's fair commission; in 1894 was appointed by Governor Northern to the United States senate on the death of Senator Colquitt; in 1897 was elected mayor of Augusta, which office he filled at the time of his death.

His funeral will take place from St. Patrick's Catholic church. The mayor and city council, the city officials, county officials, local organizations and public school children will attend the funeral. Mr. Walsh left no children, but his nephews, who have been associated with him on the paper, will continue to run the Augusta Chronicle.

To Please the Pope.

Rome, March 20.—A committee consisting of the pope's chamberlains and other papal functionaries has issued an appeal to the foreign press to send the committee copies of all newspapers which have published anything respecting the pope's recent illness, the appeal adding that it is "intended to incorporate them into a volume which will be presented to his holiness."

New Athletic Field.

Worcester, Mass., March 20.—Holy Cross athletes are rejoicing over the announcement by the faculty of plans for the construction of a new athletic field at the foot of Mount St. James, to cost not less than $10,000. A baseball diamond, quarter mile track and stretches for the dashes are included in the plans for the new field. The money is to be raised by subscription.

Haze Was Erratic.

San Francisco, March 20.—The report that ex-Corporal John W. Hayes of company L, First California volunteers, turned traitor and was killed in the Philippines, is supposed here to refer to a man named Haze. There was no J. W. Hayes in the regiment. Haze served in the United States navy and was said to be a brave soldier, but fond of liquor and rather erratic.

No Danger of Uprising.

San Juan, March 20.—The reports contained in newspapers just received here alleging that danger exists of an uprising of the natives are regarded with astonishment, and are absolutely without foundation in fact. The only disturbances that have occurred here have been local fights between the American volunteers and the lower class natives.

The Hot Springs Riot.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 20.—The coroner's jury on the riot of last Thursday night, in which five men were killed, rendered a verdict against Sheriff Robert Williams and Deputy Sheriffs Coffee, Williams, Spear and Watt, holding that the killings were not justified and committing the above men to jail to await the grand jury's action.

Dropped Lighted Lamp.

Northampton, Mass., March 20.—Miss Emma Clark, 40 years old, was fatally burned early yesterday morning. She went to the bathroom with a lighted lamp, and is supposed to have dropped it either accidentally or by falling in a fit, to which she was frequently a subject. She was dead when found.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—5:46; sets, 5:58.
Moon sets—2:48 a. m.
High water—7 a. m.; 7:30 p. m.

Since Saturday night the storm has moved from Kentucky to the Massachusetts coast by way of the District of Columbia, and has steadily increased in energy. The storm has caused severe westerly gales along the entire Atlantic coast, a maximum velocity of 72 miles an hour having been reached at New York city. Fair weather will prevail generally, except in Maine, where snows are indicated. The temperature changes will be unimportant. Northwesterly winds will prevail on the Atlantic coast, remaining high in New England. Storm signals are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Hatteras to Eastport.

HIGHWAYMEN FOILED.

Horses Faced About and Their Drivers Exercised Presence of Mind.

Lowell, Mass., March 20.—A hack with a driver and four occupants was held up in Middlesex street, just over the line in North Clemsford, at about 1 o'clock yesterday morning by six highwaymen. The place where the holdup occurred is in a hollow in a strip of dark woods, and is the lonliest spot at night within five miles of Lowell.

At the time the affair happened the team was being driven at a rapid pace. The men sprang suddenly from the side of the road and three shots were fired almost simultaneously, one whizzing by the driver's head. The horses, being frightened by the flashes and the reports, swung short around and the driver, not unmindful of numerous unpleasantries that have occurred in this vicinity of late, encouraged them in their "face about" by applying a loose rein and a free lash. The team had barely turned when another fusillade of eight or 10 shots followed, but luckily did no damage, and in another minute the hack got out of range. Arriving at the house of ex-Superintendent of Streets Fowler, the hack driver aroused the household and telephoned to the Lowell police.

Acting Captain Brosnan hastily formed a posse of six, and taking two teams and plenty of small arms and ammunition started to the scene. The desperadoes had escaped, leaving only their tracks behind and they have not been apprehended.

Troops Will Preserve Order.

Laredo, Tex., March 20.—The work of removing smallpox patients to the pest house, under the direction of State Health Officer Blunt, was begun yesterday. After 10 had been removed the officers encountered a mob of several hundred Mexicans, who menaced them in such a manner that the chief of police was telephoned for. Marshal Barthelow and Assistant Marshal Idar hurried to the scene, and when they attempted to arrest the leaders of the disturbance they were assaulted with stones and fired upon. Idar was knocked down and severely beaten, and one of the rioters was wounded. About 20 shots were fired. A dozen arrests were made, and the mob dispersed. The health officers resumed their work, but were soon met by another mob of 500 or 600 Mexicans, many of them armed. As they could not contend with this force, the health officers desisted, and Dr. Blunt opened telegraphic communication with Governor Sayers. The war department telegraphed authority to use the troops at Fort McIntosh. The Mexicans are much excited, and a fight is probable when the regulars arrive.

Two Dead, One Insane.

Boston, March 20.—Thomas Carroll Boone, the telegraph operator in the famous war balloon in the battle before Santiago, died yesterday at the Massachusetts general hospital, as the result of an operation on a wound received in the fall of the balloon after it had been shot to pieces. Boone, with two government officers, performed heroic work in the great airship which was a target for the Spanish gunners, until it fell into the trees and threw all three men out. Boone was caught in the drag anchor and was fearfully wounded, from the effects of which he never fully recovered, although since last fall, up to within two days of his death, he continued his work as a telegrapher. He was born in Annapolis, Md., in 1876 Calamity has overtaken all three of the men who were in the unfortunate balloon. One of the officers died as the result of his injuries, while the other is an inmate of an insane asylum.

Barker and Donnelly.

Houston, March 20.—Milton Park of Dallas, chairman of the Populist reorganization committee, has issued a manifesto setting forth the nomination of Wharton Barker for president and Ignatius Donnelly for vice president and the adoption of a platform at Cincinnati, Sept. 6, 1898, and saying:

"To insure the success of the People's party, there is nothing needed but effective organization, and in order to press this work successfully, I have selected to assist me well-known Populists, to each of whom I have assigned a group of states to organize by counties and precincts."

Mr. Park assigns Maine, Massachusetts, Vermont, Connecticut and Rhode Island, New Hampshire, New York, Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania to L. C. Bateman of Auburn, Me.

Resigns Boston Position.

Boston, March 20.—Herbert Putnam, librarian of the Boston public library, will accept the appointment to the librarianship of the library of congress, he having made the authoritative announcement. Mr. Putnam has placed in the hands of the president of the trustees of the Boston Public library his resignation as librarian and clerk of the corporation. The date when this resignation will take place has not yet been decided.

A General Freeze-Up.

Boston, March 20.—The cold rain storm which prevailed throughout New England last night seriously impeded telegraph and telephone service through the freezing of the rain on the wires. In many localities the fruit trees, borne down by masses of ice, were broken. The central and eastern sections of New England seemed to suffer the most, and at Worcester the electric lights were extinguished.

Further Explosions.

Paris, March 20.—Although there is no evidence that they were caused by foul play, explosions at the government ammunition factories Saturday, following so closely upon the terrible disaster near Toulon, have caused widespread public alarm. The greatest precautions have been adopted at the factories, the sentries being doubled at all powder magazines and military establishments.

Continues to Improve.

Washington, March 20.—The continued improvement in ex-Secretary Sherman's condition was noted in a cablegram received by General Miles yesterday. The dispatch was dated Kingston, Jam. This is the point to which the cruiser Chicago has been sent to bring Mr. Sherman to the United States if his friends want this done. The cruiser is due at Kingston today.

Hardy Crew Chosen.

Deer Isle, Me., March 20.—The crew of the new defender of the America's cup have been selected by Captain Weed. The task was a difficult one, as 231 of the best seamen of the island made applications for a place among the crew. The restriction that those selected should be under 30 years of age assisted Captain Weed to some extent, but at the same time it excluded several of those who were on the old Defender in 1895. Every man is strong and hearty, and, like all Deer Islanders, has spent his life in battling with the sea and storm along the Maine coast and on the fishing banks.

Alger Going to Cuba.

Washington, March 20.—Secretary Alger returned to Washington last night from his brief visit to Boston and Montreal. The secretary said he expected to leave Savannah Thursday for a trip to Cuba on the regular trip of the transport Ingalls. He has never been to Cuba, and takes the trip both to familiarize himself with the conditions there and to get a brief respite from official duties at Washington. Whether he would go further than Havana the secretary would not say, but indicated that that would depend upon circumstances.

Spain's Complaint.

Madrid, March 20.—Senor Silvela, premier and minister of foreign affairs, had a conference yesterday with the French ambassador regarding the liberation of Spanish prisoners in the hands of the Filipinos. Spain, it is reported, has determined to protest to the civilized world against the attitude of the Americans in hindering the efforts of General Rios, Spanish commander in the Philippines, to liberate the prisoners.

FOR RENT.

Furnished Rooms Open All Night.

We wish to announce the arrival of spring. Possibly you didn't know that spring, gentle spring, had sprung. "She have."

You may find a little snow in patches up on President's Hill or the ground may be a little frozen this morning, but, nevertheless, spring has sprung, for a few unmistakable signs have been noticed lately. Some Robins have been reported by Chief Joe Hayden. Spring beds have been noticed in the furniture stores, and just now there seems to be a greater variety of spring water to select from for culinary purposes than usual.

As our ad. man was walking down Kneeland street in Boston, last week, he saw a sign that made him think that at least one man thought it was going to be warm; for on one of the buildings there he read: "For Rent. Furnished rooms open all night." That man surely wouldn't expect to rent a room that was open all night, to a man in cold weather.

The surest signs of spring are at the Quincy Clothing Co.'s counters, nowdays. New things for spring. When they say new things it MEANS NEW things. It don't mean things that were once upon a time new, or that were new last spring and have been brushed up and fixed up for this spring; but it means goods that were made for them for spring of 1899.

Every part of our store is showing new things. On some counters you find new Men's Suits, new Pants, new Spring Overcoats. The Boys' counters show new Suits, and the leader, the Little Magnet Suit, all wool, double seat and knees can be found there at $1.98.

The Furnishing counters show new Hats, new Neckwear, new Shirts, new Gloves, and new Hosiery. Is fact, every corner of our store has something new in it. Bought to be sold at the cheap store prices.

We invite you to look through our store at new things we have bought for your benefit—and ours. We caution you about looking at the Spring Overcoats unless you want one—for you can't help buying one when you see the nobby ones at $5 50, the swell ones at $7.50 and the top notchers from $9.98 to $16 00.

TWO SHOCKS.

Execution by Electricity of Mrs. Place.

Retained Her Courage to the Last Moment.

Did Not Appear Afraid to Meet Her Fate.

Death Came So Quickly That It Was Hardly Noticeable.

Prison Officials Say the Affair Was Successful In Every Respect.

Sing Sing, March 21.—Mrs. Martha M. Place of Brooklyn borough was executed here by electricity yesterday for the murder Feb. 7, 1898, of her stepdaughter, Ida Place. Jealousy of the father's affection for his daughter seems to have been the cause of the act. Mrs. Place tried to kill her husband at the same time, and he was seriously injured, but recovered.

Mrs. Place was convicted and sentenced to death, but she never believed she would be electrocuted. She at first claimed that she could remember nothing of the murder, and later the plea of insanity was submitted in her behalf. It was not until Thursday last that Warden Sage announced to her that Governor Roosevelt had absolutely refused to interfere with the course of justice and that she must die on Monday. It was a great shock to the woman, but during the last four days she bore up wonderfully well. She suffered in two ways after she learned that she must die, from sleeplessness and from loss of appetite. Again, Sunday, the warden visited her so that there might be no misunderstanding, and told her she must be ready at 11 o'clock Monday morning.

She was ready at that hour, and no one who watched her could understand what change had taken place in the woman's nature to so dull her senses that she could go to her death so calmly and impassively as Mrs. Place did. It had not been expected that she would do so. Mrs. Place hardly uttered a sound. She merely murmured a prayer, with closed eyes, her face turned partly upward and seemingly unconscious of things about her.

This was the 26th electrocution at Sing Sing prison, but none before was so successful as that of yesterday. Not only was there no scene, but there was no delay. Within three minutes after coming through the iron doors the order of the law had been carried out. There were 12 witnesses present, and only those who watched every movement witnessed Mrs. Place's death. Few were able to see the raising of the body as the electrical shock passed through it; it was only when the current was partly shut off that they could see the body relax.

During the last few remaining minutes of her life, Mrs. Place was again and again urged to go bravely to her death and she promised that she would. She had told her pastor that she believed that her sins had been forgiven and asserted her faith in the hereafter. She was buoyed up with this feling when the warden came for her to lead her to the chair.

She was dressed in black, a gown that she had made herself, simple and plain. She had expected to wear it at her new trial or when she received her liberty. A white band was around her throat, and her light brown hair, now turning gray, was brushed back smoothly over her forehead. It was clipped away only where the electrode was to be placed.

As they came over the threshold Mrs. Place gave no sign of fear, nor did she even seem to know what was about to happen. The warden held her up still more firmly, and the women assisted her to the chair. She picked her way almost like a bind woman across the short space that separated her from death. She was gently pressed down into the frame, and Dr. Irvine, who was in waiting, stepped in front of her. He motioned to the women, and they came up on either side. It took but a moment to strap her in. The edge of her skirts was lifted quickly, the black stocking drawn down over the low tan shoe, and the electrode fastened by one of the women to the right leg. Then the skirt was dropped. The head cap was clamped on, the straps buckled across the face and a pad dropped over the forehead. Two women stood with outstretched skirts, with Dr. Irvine and a male attendant on either side, almost shutting out the view of the witnesses, and the signal was given.

Quicker almost than a flash the electrician threw down the lever, the body straightened, the fingers gripped tightly into the palms and the little prayer book she held in her left hand was drawn across the wrist. No one had expected that the shock would be given so quickly, and the body was relaxing almost before the witnesses were conscious that the execution had occurred. Only the woman's mouth was visible, and it changed merely in the drawing down of the lips and a little darkening of the skin. Mrs. Place had murmured as she was seated in the chair: "God help me; God have mercy." There was not a sound after that, not even a moan.

The visible effect of the shock was less than had ever been observed in the death house before. There was not the slightest distortion of a feature. The eyes were covered, and when the straps were removed they were still closed. On the second shock, the body straightened out again, and a little foam oozed from the lips. When the current was shut off the body reposed naturally in the chair.

Dr. Irvine called upon the woman physician to make an examination, which she did by merely opening the waist and placing her stethescope between the folds of the dress over the heart. She performed her work quickly, and then the other physicians present were asked to complete the examination. Dr. Irvine gave it as his opinion that death had been instantaneous.

After it was all over, Warden Sage said he had no statement to make beyond simply saying that he was gratified at the manner in which the execution had been carried out. The body was allowed to remain in the chair until all of the witnesses had retired, when it was taken to the autopsy room, and a post mortem examination was held. No one was present but the operating surgeons, and their report was sealed and will be filed in Kings county, together with the other documents relating to the woman's death. The autopsy was a rapid one and, although no information was made public, the indications are that the organs were found in a healthy condition

The Havana Riot.

Havana, March 21.—The excitement growing out of the conflict between the police and the populace is rapidly subsiding, and it is not likely that there will be further trouble. The mob has been taught a lesson, which will probably prove sufficient. Law breakers now fear the police and realize that the latter will not tolerate resistance to their authority. During the affrays of Saturday and Sunday three policemen were killed and about 15 wounded, while of the populace five were killed and between 60 and 70 others wounded, some so seriously that they will probably die. The condition of Police Captain Jose Estrampes is serious, but it is expected that he will recover. Sixty arrests have been made and orders have been issued to the police not to hesitate to shoot hereafter should occasion require it.

Got Life Imprisonment.

East Greenwich, R. I., March 21.—The trial of Samuel Lindsay, colored, for the murder of Lottie W. Church, white, at Pawtuxet on Nov. 5 last, was begun yesterday. No testimony was introduced as it is claimed that the defendant had said repeatedly that he killed the woman was glad of it and expected to get about 10 years, after which he would get out and fix Jack Caesar, the man of whom Lindsay is said to have been jealous Counsel for Lindsay admitted that the state had proven that the prisoner shot and killed the woman, but argued that the crime was only manslaughter and not murder. The jury considered the case about an hour and returned a verdict of guilty of murder. Lindsay was sentenced to imprisonment for life.

Boomerang For Germany.

Washington, March 21.—The restrictions upon the importation of American meat into Germany have operated unfortunately at Strassburg, according to United States Consul Baehr, at Kehl. He says that the home supply of meat has been curtailed by the prevalence of disease, and with the restrictions upon American meat there is a scarcity and prices are high, beef costing from 14 to 33 cents per pound. Poultry and game are so expensive that only the wealthy can afford them, and many families are using horse flesh, the price of which ranges from 6 to 8 cents per pound.

Buried In Snowslide.

Levis, Que., March 21.—A freight engine drawing several cars was buried under an avalanche when it was passing Hadlow, near here. A wrecking train with 100 men was sent to the spot, and while they were at work another snowslide occurred and 20 of the men were buried under it. They were all rescued finally.

Winter In Great Britain.

London, March 21.—There has been a return of winter over the British Isles. In London there has been a heavy fall of snow, snowstorms have swept the midlands and the north country and outdoor work is at a standstill. Storms have also raged over the North sea.

LYNCHING NOT UNLIKELY.

A Kansas Man Suspected of Having Killed His Five Children.

Hutchinson, Kan., March 21.—The home of John Moore burned yesterday, the result of a lamp explosion. Moore's five children, ranging from 3 to 12 years, lost their lives. Firemen found the children lying side by side in their bed on the floor, all dead, but not badly burned

A coroner's jury investigated the case, and, in accordance with its return, Moore, the father of the children, was arrested on a charge of murder. There is talk of lynching him.

When the firemen and the neighbors reached the burning house, the father was the only member of the family of seven found on the outside. While the building was still burning he took a horse from his stable, and rode away. The firemen found that the skull of each of the children was deeply indented, and from the dents long fractures extended. All but one of the children had been stabbed in the neck.

Moore testified before the coroner's jury that he believed that the explosion of a lamp had caused the fire, and that his children had met death in the flames. His riding away from the fire he explained by stating that his wife was away attending a sick friend, and that he went to tell her of their loss.

New Corporations.

Trenton, March 21.—Articles of incorporation of the National Salt company, with a capital of $12,000,000, were filed yesterday with the secretary of state. The company is authorized to produce and deal in salt.

Articles were also filed of the Boston and Seven Devils Copper company, capital $5,000,000. The company is authorized to mine, smelt and deal in copper and other metals.

Cincinnati, March 21.—A Muncie, Ind., special says a $15,000,000 trust of the bar iron manufacturers of the country will soon be completed by George M. Bard, who will bring almost all bar iron plants under the same management.

New Haven, March 21.—The Register is authority for the statement that a consolidation of the screw manufacturers throughout the country, to be known as the National Screw company, is being perfected. The trust will be capitalized at $10,000,000.

Miles' Argument Supported.

Chicago, March 21.—The principal witness on the list to appear before the government court of inquiry yesterday, Dr. Nicholas Senn, was unable to be in the city, whereupon the court recessed at noon until this evening, when Dr. Senn will be heard. During its short session yesterday the court received the evidence of four witnesses who had been called upon at the request of Major Lee, the representative of General Miles. According to their testimony the canned beef was always unpalatable and distasteful, and in their judgment it was a contributary cause of sickness among the soldiers and unfit for an army ration. Critical reference to the refrigerated beef was also made by the witnesses.

Doors to Open.

Washington, March 21.—The Hampshire County National bank of Northampton, Mass., has been authorized by the comptroller of the currency to resume business as an active national banking association. This bank suspended payment April 30, 1898, and on May 23 following was placed in the hands of a receiver. Its creditors have been paid in full, with interest, and its stockholders and directors having complied with the conditions imposed by the comptroller precedent to resumption, it will reopen its doors with an unimpaired capital stock of $100,000.

Manslaughter Charged.

New Haven, March 21.—Deputy Coroner Callahan yesterday rendered his finding in the fatal head-on collision between two freight trains, which took place at Bradley's station, six miles west of Waterbury, on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad March 12. He finds that Engineer Hickey of the west-bound freight was criminally responsible for the deaths of Engineer Dean and Fireman Kennedy of the east-bound freight, and he will be prosecuted on the charge of manslaughter.

Smallpox and Bullets.

San Antonio, Tex., March 21.—State Health Officer Blunt, in charge of the smallpox situation at Laredo, asked for more state police, and 24 men were sent him yesterday. A company of United States troops went from Fort McIntosh and were marched to the scene with a Gatling gun and an ambulance.

Naval Movements.

Good Afternoon.

Each succeeding Mayor of the city finds it an almost impossible task to keep the current expenses of the city within the $12 per $1,000 limit, and the present administration is no exception. The requests of the departments are invariably larger than the sums recommended to the City Council by the Mayor and City Treasurer, and the necessity for improvements is urgent. While such a condition exists, extravagance in current city expenses cannot creep in to any alarming extent.

In view of the scarcity of pails and water at the recent blaze in the Wollaston school building, it would seem to be a good idea for the city to follow the rule which the Boston Board of Fire Underwriters rigidly enforces—the keeping of three or more pails filled with water on each floor of a mercantile building. As the city does it own insuring, the enforcement of such a rule may sometime save the taxpayers thousands of dollars.

The record of the Citizens' No-License Committee is a record to be proud of and it is fitting that the seventeenth and each succeeding anniversary shall be celebrated. It reminds one that all temperance work should not be done in the fall of the year, but in the spring as well, and also throughout the year. Henry H. Faxon, Esq., may also feel proud of his share in restoring Quincy to peace and order. We are a model city in more respects than one.

Drift of Opinion.

☞Haverhill is to enter upon the work of grade crossing abolition. Brockton's splendid showing in that particular has put energy into the effort in other places. The time is not far distant when grade crossings will be unknown in the state, and the sooner it comes the better.—Brockton Times.

☞President McKinley, unlike two of his predecessors, is not much of a fisher. Grover Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison were great at catching fish. William McKinley is a great vote catcher. Possibly that is why predictions are so frequently and positively made that William McKinley will be the next president.—Fitchburg Sun.

MAYOR'S ESTIMATES.

His Honor Finds It Difficult to Keep Within the Limit.

Appropriation Voted for a Reception to Co. K on Its Return.

It was financial night with the City Council Monday evening, as the estimates of the Mayor and City Treasurer for 1899 were submitted. The annual reports of the City Treasurer and City Auditor for 1898 were also presented in print, and also the March 1 monthly statement of these officials.

Twenty of the Councilmen were present; the absentees being Messrs. Blanchard, Nash and Dugan.

Ozro M. Whittier was drawn as grand juror.

The estimates of the Mayor and City Treasurer for 1899 were presented in print. They were read by title only and referred to the Committee on Finance. The communication and estimates:

"Gentlemen—We submit for your consideration the following recommendations for appropriations for the executive departments for 1899. We find that under the law we can raise by taxation only $402,365.90. Deduct from this sum $143,157.70, the amount of the debt and interest payable this year, and $98,900, the amount asked for by the School Committee and there remains $160,308.20 available for the current expenses of all the other departments. As most of these naturally require a larger amount each year, we have found great difficulty in bringing their estimates within the sum specified. In almost every instance we have been obliged to reduce the sums asked for by the heads of departments, and we fear that in many cases the efficiency of the public service will be impaired, if the appropriations are made as here indicated.

"If, however, the bill to refund a portion of the City Debt, which is now before the Legislature, becomes a law, and the Council avails itself of its provisions, the necessities of the departments may be satisfied and at the same time a lower tax rate may be secured."

The appropriations of 1898 accompanying the estimates in the list below are inserted by the Ledger. They include only the appropriations made in the annual order.

PETITIONS.

Several applications for licenses, soldiers' relief and State Aid were received and referred to committees.

Caroline F. Newcomb presented a petition for the refund of $51.60 for taxes illegally assessed and paid from 1890 to 1898. Referred.

RERORT.

A report granting the petition of R. J. Teasdale to sell gunpowder was adopted.

The Committee on Streets reported an order for a hearing April 3 on an order laying out a new street from Granite street to Water street. Adopted.

Also an order for a hearing April 17 on the petition of the Q. & B. street railway for double track from Chubbuck street to Quincy Point bridge.

An amendment was reported to the order relative to Billings road and it was accepted and the order took its second reading. Referred to Finance Committee.

The Committee on Lights reported an order for lights on Phipps, Payne, Sea, Ryden, Grove, Washington, Bigelow, Copeland, West, School, Beach and Centre streets, Furnace avenue, Bates avenue, Standish avenue, and Billings road. Read once and referred to Committee on Finance.

SEWER APPROPRIATION.

The Committee on Sewers reported ought to pass, on order for the appropriation of $75,000 for extension of sewer mains.

Chairman Pinkham of the Committee said the report had been delayed because of a conflict of authority between the City Council and the Sewer Commissioners. The latter would not say just sewer extensions were proposed and claim the sole authority to determine streets. An opinion had been obtained from the City Solicitor, and hence the report. He called for the reading of the opinion.

The opinion was a lengthy one and concluded as follows:

It is therefore my opinion that the City Council of the city of Quincy,

THE TRUE TONIC TRUE'S ELIXIR

is not a stimulant but a blood purifying, cleansing and harmless mixture of vegetable ingredients which cures disorders of the digestive tract and expels worms. It does not whip the tired organs into temporary activity as most remedies do, followed by an equal reaction, but True's Elixir removes the cause of the trouble and its tonic effects are due to good, sound digestion and pure blood, which follow its use. A favorite family medicine for 47 years. Its popularity is due entirely to its cures. Ask your druggist for it. 35 cents a bottle. DR. J. F. TRUE & CO., AUBURN, ME.

CO. K. TO PARADE.

Will Show That They Appreciate Kindness of Quincy People.

With Co. K, 5th Mass. Regt.,
Camp Wetherill,
Greenville, S. C., Mar. 19.

Frequent rain storms throughout yesterday interrupted the boys in their pleasures of a Saturday half holiday. Last evening we encountered a heavy thunder storm with vivid streaks of lightning. These storms are very heavy and strong through the southern states.

Again with regret and deep sorrow we are called upon to escort the remains of one of our comrades. Company C of Newton is once more the mourner of another victim from their command. At 2 A. M. Saturday, Private Michael Murphy passed away at the hospital. Private Murphy was admitted to the hospital on the 15th. The cause of death was pneumonia.

The remains will be escorted to the depot today. From Greenville the remains will be carried to Boston. This makes the twelfth man that the 5th Massachusetts has lost.

A very pleasing occasion occurred last evening in K mess hall, while the boys were partaking of their supper. Lieut. Colbert, formerly 1st sergeant, was presented, by the members of the company with a handsome sword and belt. Private Frank Pierce made the presentation speech in a creditable manner. Private Pierce in behalf of the company, paid the best respects and spoke of the esteem in which K held the Lieutenant. Lieutenant Colbert has always been held by the company with the highest of honor. The company has respected him even when a non-commissioned officer. The boys hope he may wear the sword with pride and honor, and hope for his success throughout his military career.

Action was taken on the communication received from Governor Wolcott, this time the voting seemed more favorable. K company, with the other companies, has at last decided to return home as an organization. So that now, if nothing unforeseen occurs, the 5th Massachusetts will hold a parade in Boston. K company is also contemplating holding a parade in Quincy, at a later date when the boys arrive home. This will be given complimentary to the citizens of Quincy who have so generously contributed to the welfare of K company. The kindness and foresight of Mr. George H. Wilson and his friends will always be long remembered, and they are highly respected by the boys of the "Braintree Light Infantry," who left their homes on the country's call, when our country was in danger and peril. Although not gaining the honor of fighting under fire, we can say that we have faithfully served our country, and awaited her orders. Now that our duty is accomplished, we wish to return home honorably.

The medical department discovered another case of measles, the affected man was Sergeant Cavanaugh of Co. F of Waltham. It seems that Captain Gindrat of F together with the sergeant and two privates, were busily engaged on the muster out pay rolls for the last week. They working in the same tent as their captain, made it necessary to place the captain and his two privates in quarantine for 12 days. So that now all can take leisure for a few days.

2d Lieutenant Gustafson of K is detailed on provost duty with the 3d battalion who are now guarding the city of Greenville.

The 5th Massachusetts Regimental Band are to give a farewell concert on the 22d and 23d in Washington Street hall, to the citizens of Greenville. Through the efforts of Sergeant Lynn, we are said to possess the finest band in the brigade.

The boys continue to count the number of days in which to remain in the service.

The health of K company is favorable. VOLUNTEER.

to the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach, ruins the digestion, effects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25c. per package.

MAYOR'S ESTIMATES.

after adopting a system and general plans for the same, have no authority beyond appropriating money for the building of that system, to restrict the expenditure of the money to any particular class of work or any particular locality within the system. It is a matter which, according to my interpretation of the act, is left exclusively, within the province of the commissioners. The City Council can at any time stop appropriating money to be expended by the commissioners, but they have no authority to direct how, and where, it shall be expended within a system which they have adopted.

Councilman Swithin had heard that $40,000 was for a certain part of the work.

Councilman Pinkham said that two of the Sewer Commissioners favored the extension of the trunk line to Brewers Corner, if the new street was laid out; also work on the westerly end of Wollaston. But committee had no direct information.

The order was ordered to a second reading and referred to the Committee on Finance.

PLAYGROUNDS.

The Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds reported ought not to pass on each of the orders for the improvement of the playgrounds in Wards Six, Three and Four.

Councilman Hill championed the expenditure of $500 at Atlantic.

Councilman Clark and Hill favored appropriation for the Ward Three grounds.

Councilman Hogan, Badger and Hill favored $500 or even less for Ward Four.

Chairman Poland of the committee said it was because of the financial condition of the city that the committee recommended a delay. They had not visited the playgrounds.

Councilman Packard would like to see the playgrounds improved but thought the streets and sidewalks needed it much more.

Each of the adverse reports were adopted.

RECEPTION TO CO. K.

Councilman Packard offered an order providing for a Committee of eight on reception to Co. K on its return, and the appropriation of $250. Under a suspension of the rules the order was adopted.

INSPECTOR CONFIRMED.

Councilman Bryant had the appointment of the Mayor of Robert T. Johnson, as inspector of Animals and Provisions, taken from the table, and the question came on confirmation.

Councilman Newcomb opposed on the ground that inspector should be a veterinary.

Councilman Bryant thought the duties related more to meats and provisions than live stock and favored appointment.

The appointment was confirmed.

CURFEW LAW.

Councilman Packard offered the following ordiance:

Section 1. No child under sixteen years of age, shall loiter or remain upon any street, highway, park or other public way or place in this city after the hour of half past nine o'clock in the afternoon of any day, unless accompanied by, or under the control or care of a parent, guardian or other adult person, or performing or returning from employment or from the performance of some duty, directed in writing by said parent, guardian or other adult person, and no such child, while performing such duty, or returning from the performance thereof or from employment, shall loiter upon any such street, highway, park or other public way or place.

Section 2. Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding five dollars for each offence.

Referred to Committee on Ordinances.

PLAYGROUND IMPROVEMENT.

Councilman Packard offered a resolution requesting the Park Commissioners to report a comprehensive scheme for the development of parks and playgrounds.

Councilman Hill desired light on what the Councilman was driving at. Councilman Packard explained.

Councilman Pinkham opposed rushing the resolution through, and moved to refer. Voted to refer.

The order in the calendar transferring a sum to the credit of the support of poor for 1898 was passed.

Adjourned at 8.48.

ON PRINCIPLE.

Representative Sprague Objects to Carney Hospital Resolve.

Representative Sprague of Quincy was a conspicuous figure in the Massachusetts House Monday in the debate on the resolve to appropriate $10,000 for Carney Hospital. The proceedings are reported by the Herald as follows:

Mr. Sprague of Quincy opposed the appropriation, on the ground that it was for a sectarian institution. "I may as well tell the whole truth," he added, "and say I am opposed to it because it is for a Catholic institution. I believe it is a good institution, doing a glorious work, and the patriotic Catholics of this city ought to raise enough money to support it. Archbishop Williams, with millions of trust funds in his hands, should help the institution. The Liquor Dealers' Association, most of whose members are Catholics should come to the support of the hospital."

Mr. Crouch of Northampton favored the bill. He regretted the reason which Mr. Sprague had assigned for his opposition, for, in his opinion, the resolve ought not to be ejected because it was for the benefit of an institution under Catholic auspices. The hospital, he said takes in all sects, relieving the other hospital of cases they cannot accommodate. It is to late in the day, he declared, to object to anything because it is Catholic.

Mr. Sprague again got the floor to say that he appreciated the grand and glorious work of Carney Hospital, and also of the Emergency Hospital, but he opposed the granting of public money where there is no return. He did not blame the Catholics for wanting to get this money. They always like to handle "the stuff." If Carney was so good a thing, he was ready to be one of 100 to give the $10,000 to it, but he could not vote this money.

Mr. Morse of Belchertown was ready to be taxed his part of the $10,000. On Saturday he received a paper, the first name of the title being "American." He despised it, and it might place his picture on its first page if it wanted to.

Mr. Saunders of Boston said he opposed the bill, although he employed an orphan girl who was a Catholic as stenographer, and the only article he ever wrote for publication was for a Catholic magazine, by request of the editor, and without compensation. He said the separation of the church and state had been going on for years, from the days when no man could vote who was not a member of the Congregational church. Since 1891 no money had been given Carney Hospital. It was a mistake to say Carney Hospital was non-sectarian; every church door stands open to everybody but it is none the less sectarian. The evidence is conclusive that this hospital is in the control of the Sisters of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul. The state has no right to appropriate public money to sectarian objects, and where there is no public control. This is not in accord with the sentiment of the people of Massachusetts.

Representative Whipple of Brockton felt himself in honor bound to stand by the unanimous report of his committee on public charitable institutions. The House of 1898 passed a resolve granting $15,000 to the Women's Charity Hospital, of which Mrs. Micah Dyer, one of the previous speaker's constituents, is president. He read from a publication which claimed this bill to be a demand from Rome. He read a long list of people who vouched for Carney Hospital. Of 2,000 patients last year, 515 were Protestant.

The adjournment cut off further debate.

Over Two Hundred Thousand Trial Bottles Sent Free.

By special arrangement with the manufacturers of that justly famous Kidney medicine, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the readers of the Daily Ledger are enabled to obtain a trial bottle and pamphlet of valuable medical advice absolutely free, by simply sending their full name and postoffice address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mentioning this paper.

Of course this involves enormous expense to the manufacturers but they have received so many grateful letters from those who have been benefited and cured of the various diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder, and Blood Rheumatism Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation and all weaknesses peculiar to women that they willingly send trial bottles to all sufferers.

Upon investigation it was found that 91 per cent. of those who had used the trial bottle had received such benefit from it that they purchased large sized bottles of their druggists. It matters not how sick you are or how many physicians have failed to help you send for a trial bottle of this great medicine it costs you but a postal card and benefit and cure will most certainly be the result.

Put some urine in a glass tumbler let it stand 24 hours if it has a sediment or if it is pale or discolored, milky or cloudy, stringy or roppy your Kidneys or Bladder are in a bad condition. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy speedily cures such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, inability to hold urine, a burning scalding pain in passing it, frequent desire to urinate especially at night, the staining of linen by your urine and all the unpleasant and dangerous affects on the system produced by the use of whiskey, wine or beer. Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

Economical

Some "penny-wise" people practice a kind of economy that is not economical. They save a penny on soap and lose a dollar on clothes. Sooner or later they learn that cheap, common soaps rot clothing by burning the thread with strong alkalies. Then they wish they had used which contains no alkali, no impurities, nothing to injure the most delicate fabric. There is still greater economy in using Fairy Soap, because it lasts longer than common soaps. It's

FAIRBANK'S

THE BORDER DISPUTE.

America and England Realize That Prompt Action Is Necessary.

Strained Relations With Our Canadian Brethren.

Governor Brady of Alaska Reports That Encroachments Continue.

Washington, March 21.—The British ambasasdor, Sir Julian Pauncefote, conferred yesterday with Secretary Hay in reference, it is understood, to a modus vivendi to be observed along the Alaska border in order to obviate the possibility of a clash pending the final determination of the border. The need of this has been emphasized within the last few days by reports of a battle between the Canadian and the American prospectors on the Porcupine river. These reports have caused considerable uneasiness in official circles in London, and efforts have been made to learn the facts.

There has been no official information, however, either here or in London. Just such a clash has been expected, and the reports have served to direct the attention of officials to the need of effecting a border arrangement. The preliminary move in this direction was made as soon as the Anglo-American commission adjourned without settling the border question. Sir Julian then suggested that a temporary arrangement be made. This would maintain the status quo, each side making no further advance pending a final agreement on the boundary. A temporary line probably would be run by the two governments. This would not affect permanent interests, but would serve as a legal barrier between the lawless fortune seekers in that locality. The plan is favorably received on both sides and is likely to be carried into effect, although no agreement has been entered into thus far.

Some important statements concerning the Alaskan boundary line situation are given in official correspondence now on file in the state and interior departments, which has never before been made public. The controversy between the miners on either side of the line has within the past week led up to a number of casualties.

Governor Brady of Alaska, as long ago as the latter part of February called attention to the threatening condition of affairs. On Feb. 21 Governor Brady, who was here, had a conference with both Secretary Bliss, who was then just leaving the cabinet, and Secretary Hay, in which he urged that the aggressive acts of the Canadians be promptly met. He submitted a formal note of warning of the impending trouble, and the possibility of bloodshed. The note was considered at the next cabinet meeting. On Feb. 23, the archives show, the governor submitted a formal communication to the secretary of the interior, in which he speaks of the bitter feeling along the line that makes the presence of troops, in his opinion, imperative, and among other things says:

"The Canadians, from our way of looking at matters, have constantly shown a spirit of aggression so far as the boundary line is concerned. This is shown in three instances. There is a point upon the Stickine river which for years has been regarded as upon the boundary line. Thousands of miners have passed up and down the river, merchants have done an immense business and this was always recognized as the boundary line. An American citizen is operating a quartz ledge six miles below the recognized boundary. The Canadian officials have gone down six miles below him, thus making a gap of 12 miles. They compel him to pay duties upon his supplies which he carries in to operate this ledge.

"Last year, in February, an order went out to the customs officials of the mounted police to move from the recognized stations on the boundary lines to the summit of the passes. Our people had no notification of such intention, but they made the move, and some of our citizens were at that time in favor of going up and compelling them to move back by force, but when I was sounded upon it, of course I premptorily forbade any such act. I took the trip to the summit of Chilcoot pass, and found the British flag flying there, and the customs officials collecting duties from all who had their goods piled up there upon the snow. I asked the officer in charge by what authority he had moved from the lake to the summit, and he replied by the command of his superior officer. Now our costoms officials at Skaguay have not recognized these lines, so far as sending convoys over with British goods. The convoys get compensation from the persons they convoy so far as Log Cabin, the point from which the British moved to the summit of the White pass.

"Recently the news has reached us here that two convoys were imprisoned for undertaking to continue to convoy as far as Log Cabin for two days. Late last autumn, the gold diggings were discovered on a creek called Porcupine creek, which is a tributary to the Chilcat river, which is upon the third trail, viz: the Dalton or Chilcat trail. These discoveries are proving to be very rich, and they are very close to the 30-mile limit, where, also, we have regarded the boundary line. The claims have been worked during the winter, and the people are satisfied of their richness, and many men have gone in with stocks of goods, and propose to start in business with the prospects of a lively mining season. This immigration has been extensive, from the fact that a few weeks ago the parliament of British Columbia passed an alien act, which would throw part of the intended immigration into the Atlin country into the Porcupine district instead. The same aggressiveness which has been shown upon the Stickine and the passes would impel the Canadians to move down and claim this country as belonging to them.

"I think I know the temper of our people, and feel sure in saying that if such a step is attempted on the part of the Canadians conflict will ensue. This danger is so imminent that I deem it wise that our troops in Alaska be ordered to take possession on these lines, and maintain our sovereignty over the soil which we claim. I see no other step for us to take if we want to avoid a conflict with Great Britain. I regard the Porcupine district especially as the point of danger."

Secretary Hay on Feb. 23 wrote to the interior department in which he adverts to the boundary negotiations. Among other things he says:

"In the whole district of the coast boundary line between Prince of Wales island and Mount St. Elias there are but two localities in which a boundary has been provisionally established, pending the eventual determination of the entire question of that frontier, namely, on the Stickine river and at the passes north of Dyea and Skaguay."

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 21.—Among the reports in the legislature yesterday was a bill to provide a fine for desecration of the national flag by advertising matter. Also, adverse reports were given on the petition of the Woronoco Street railway for authority to furnish electricity for power, and on a bill to make a pharmacist's certificate a sufficient evidence of fitness to hold a sixth-class liquor license.

The house, after a short debate, adopted a resolution protesting against the admission of Brigham H. Roberts of Utah to a seat in the Fifty-sixth congress.

The end of a lively contest over the question of admitting a Newburyport bill to abolish the water board there came in the house. Admission of the bill was refused on Friday, but reconsideration of the bill was secured. Admission was again refused, however, the vote being 59 to 122. A bill was reported exempting loan companies and associations from taking out licenses from local license boards. A resolve was reported appropriating $1500 for a state exhibit of drawing in the public schools. Ought to pass was reported on the bill to prevent the coercion of employes. HAD ORDERS TO FIGHT.

"Fighting Joe" Wheeler's Men Were Not Ambushed at Las Guasimas.

Other Alleged Inaccuracies Are Pointed Out.

Commander of Cavalry Brands Certain Statements as Absolutely Untrue.

Washington, March 21. — Adjutant General Corbin yesterday made public the statement which General Wheeler has felt called upon to make, in order, as he says, "to refute certain allegations which reflect upon the cavalry division which I had the honor to command."

General Wheeler begins with the declaration that some statements were made before the war investigation commission regarding the battle of Las Guasimas which do great injustice to that part of the army which fought that battle.

Stephen Bonsal states that General Wheeler was guilty of disobedience of orders. General Wheeler says that to remain silent and neglect to refute the untruthful charges made by Bonsal would be disloyal to the soldiers and to the country. He notes that it is with the approval of Major General Miles, the commanding general, that he makes the explanation now submitted.

General Wheeler points out that Shafter was the only officer in Cuban waters senior to him; that he, Wheeler, was the senior officer on shore, and of course much was left to his discretion. He quotes Shafter's testimony before the commission, to the effect that the fight had good results; that it taught the Spaniards that they had different men from the Cubans to fight.

Wheeler quotes General Lawton's statemnet that he had been ordered by Shafter to proceed against Siboney and declares that practically his orders were the same as Lawton's. Says General Wheeler:

"The least delay and this opportunity would have been lost.....I knew that he (Shafter) wanted the enemy to be impressed with American bravery and determination. I knew that the American people and the administration had sent us to Cuba for a special purpose, and that a prompt attack on the Spaniards would aid in attaining that purpose.....This (dread of yellow fever) added to and emphasized the imperative necessity of prompt action upon my part.

"The victory was due entirely to the chivalric courage of the 964 brave American soldiers who fought the battle. The statement that 'they were ambushed' was absolutely untrue. The statement that they were aided in any way, shape or form by any other troops is also untrue.

"The nearest American troops were about four miles off when the fight commenced and the victory had been won and the enemy had been in precipitate retreat fully two hours before they reached the field."

General Wheeler points out the difficult position of the troops at the end of the battle, drenched with rain, hungry and tired. He claims the victory was due to the cavalry division entirely and quotes the Spanish reports to show that the Spaniards believed the American force which whipped them and drove them from the field was 10 times as large as it actually was. He refers to a statement by Bonsal that Lawton had declared that every man who had fallen in the Guasimas fight had been needlessly sacrificed, and he says:

"It is my duty to say that this statement is absolutely untrue."

He tells how General Lawton, after the fight, congratulated him. He says the statement that the Guasimas fight had the effect of drawing the troops five or six miles into the interior was also a mistake. The advance was only three miles and would have been necessary in any case to find proper camping ground.

Taking up the charge that Wheeler had been relieved of command on the night of the 30th, and had no command during the battle on the following day, General Wheeler says that all of these statements are positively false.

He says that on the 28th, 29th and 30th he suffered from fever resulting from exposure, but nevertheless continued his duties, and was not put upon the sick report.

He admits that he was ignorant of the conference held by Shafter and his generals on the 30th, but Shafter explained this by saying that he understood that Wheeler was sick, and his physician had advised against letting him know of the proposed battle the next day. Notwithstanding this, Wheeler says that he learned that active preparations were being made for operations, and at daylight the next day he rode to the front and exercised command. He tells of the weakness of the line at San Juan, and says that many officers insisted that the ridge could not be held, and he learned that the same statement had been made to Shafter. Says Wheeler:

"I did everything in my power to discourage this feeling."

General Wheeler says of the statement that he had told General Kent of his desire to retreat was absolutely untrue, adding: "I was emphatic and positive and earnest against retreating from the time we took San Juan hill until July 16th, when Santiago surrendered."

He attaches General Kent's denial of this same statement along with considerable other evidence of the same character. He says that the publicity of the errors which he wishes to correct has brought to him many offers from army officers familiar with the facts to write to him on the subject of refutation, and he adds, in the shape of an appendix to his own report, a number of letters from such officers. He quotes General Lawton in a letter to himself as pronouncing his (Wheeler's) history of the campaign "a very just and accurate description of what occurred."

FOR RENT.

Furnished Rooms Open All Night.

We wish to announce the arrival of spring. Possibly you didn't know that spring, gentle spring, had sprung. "She have."

You may find a little snow in patches up on President's Hill or the ground may be a little frozen this morning, but, nevertheless, spring has sprung, for a few unmistakable signs have been noticed lately. Some Robins have been reported by Chief Joe Hayden. Spring beds have been noticed in the furniture stores, and just now there seems to be a greater variety of spring water to select from for culinary purposes than usual.

As our ad. man was walking down Kneeland street in Boston, last week, he saw a sign that made him think that at least one man thought it was going to be warm; for on one of the buildings there he read: "For Rent. Furnished rooms open all night." That man surely wouldn't expect to rent a room that was open all night, to a man in cold weather.

The surest signs of spring are at the Quincy Clothing Co.'s counters, nowdays. New things for spring. When they say new things it MEANS NEW things. It don't mean things that were once upon a time new, or that were new last spring and have been brushed up and fixed up for this spring; but it means goods that were made for them for spring of 1899.

Every part of our store is showing new things. On some counters you find new Men's Suits, new Pants, new Spring Overcoats. The Boys' counters show new Suits, and the leader, the Little Magnet Suit, all wool, double seat and knees can be found there at $1.98.

The Furnishing counters show new Hats, new Neckwear, new Shirts, new Gloves, and new Hosiery. In fact, every corner of our store has something new in it. Bought to be sold at the cheap store prices.

We invite you to look through our store at new things we have bought for your benefit—and ours. We caution you about looking at the Spring Overcoats unless you want one—for you can't help buying one when you see the nobby ones at $5.50, the swell ones at $7.50 and the top notchers from $9.98 to $16.00.

General Taylor and Others Make Interesting Addresses.

Boston, March 22.—The banquet tendered to General Miles by the Merchants' club at the Algonquin club house last evening was in many respects a remarkable occasion.

The character of the assemblage was worthy of the guest, and the warmth and cordiality of the welcome extended to General Miles was such that at times he seemed to be quite affected.

The governor was there, and the 200 or more guests represented the best of Boston's social, business and professional life. The decorations of the banquet hall was among the most magnificent seen in Boston for a long time.

After the dinner was over President Little called to order, and after brief but appropriate remarks he introduced General Taylor as the first speaker of the evening.

GENERAL TAYLOR.

In the course of his speech, which combined most agreeably humor and convincing logic, General Taylor called attention to the point of view from which the recent war was judged. He illustrated that in the Civil war the soldiers for the most part had not had what we term modern conveniences in home life; they had not traveled enough to realize the boundless resources of their country, and few of them knew to what ends human skill and ingenuity had combined to make life delightful. So when the soldier went to war he put up with whatever came. Unless he had been favored above the average in his civil life he found his new experience at least novel, and sometimes comforting, because they relieved him of what promised to be greater hardships. The soldier willingly rode on cattle cars, with their privations, because it was an easier method than marching on foot. General Taylor quoted some of his own experiences as instances in point, and then, continuing, referred to the soldier of 1898. He said the soldier was accustomed to palatial steamers and railroad trains in their every-day life; and knowing that they were under a government which had boundless wealth, it was not necessary to crowd him onto a transport, or a railroad train which was bare of the actual necessities. General Taylor said that if he had been one of these soldiers, representing $90,000,000,000 of wealth, he would have resented it. He said that he had the greatest respect for the guest of the evening, and his closing sentiment was: "Here's to General Miles, the soldier who has been in more battles than any man who has ever wore the American uniform."

Governor Wolcott received a warm greeting, and he, too, welcomed the distinguished guest, as he said, in his official capacity as governor of the commonwealth. He said that Massachusetts was proud of the record of her honored son, now returned, and that his deeds had always been closely followed with great interest. The governor referred to the beef investigation, and said that General Miles has the confidence of the people.

Colonel Pope gave a short sketch of General Miles' career, in his business as well as in his military life. A number of anecdotes of the general were greatly enjoyed.

In behalf of the Grand Army of the Republic, John E. Gilman, the department commander of this state, gave General Miles a most cordial greeting.

With these preliminary speeches finished, President Little then introduced the guest of the evening, who arose amid great cheering and applause.

General Miles prefaced his remarks by expressing his great relief that Mr. Sherman was still alive. He said that he had been greatly depressed since being informed of his death, and that the good news was such a reaction that he asked the club to join him in a toast to the man who had been his dear friend for so many years, and who had served his country so well. The toast was drunk amid great enthusiasm.

General Miles said: "A welcome home thrills the heart with the sweetest emotions one can enjoy. It recalls the happiest hours of youth, joyous recollections of childhood and boyhood days. All come back again with sacred memories of the past. After many years in the public service in every section of our great republic, as well as in other distant lands, it is one of the happiest moments of my life to return to my native state, and to be assured of such a reception in this commonwealth.

"Especially is it gratifying to be so cordially received by this distinguished body of gentlemen engaged in the great marts of commerce, for it recalls to my mind days when I was being instructed in the principles, duties and responsibilities of commercial affairs. The honor, the integrity of the merchant was a sacred obligation handed down through thousands of years from merchant prince to apprentice, or from father to son, and as a principle ever worthy to be honored and respected. The character that a commercial house maintained for honesty of purpose and for honorable business relations was something to be highly respected, and should be an example to be forever followed.

GENERAL MILES.

"Grasping avarice, sharp practice, the taking of merciless advantage, forming of unscrupulous combinations for the aggrandizement of a few to the injury of all others, was something—lightly considered today, yet unknown at that time and should be forever discountenanced.

"It was a time when the boy or young man could enter the service of the merchant with absolute confidence that his employer was his best friend, and that he would take a fatherly interest in his welfare. Simplicity of life, economy of expenditures and a sterling, unswerving integrity were of daily practice and constant adherence. I have never ceased to respect the kind admonitions, the excellent words of counsel, the commendable example given by the head of the house in which I spent some years of my early life in the city of Boston. We were advised that in all of our relations with men, frank honesty of purpose, kindness and civility, were principles never to be forgotten, and they are principles that are beneficial in every sphere of life.

"As the political affairs of the nation became more serious, and the great questions finally resulted in civil war, we believed it a duty to give our best efforts to the service of our country. It was my good fortune to be a member of that great body of patriots that responded to their country's call in 1861, and to take an active part from that time to the close of the great drama.

"No one who has not experienced the duties and responsibilities of the camp, the hardships of the campaign, the terrible scenes of the battle, can appreciate, much less describe them. The recollections of disaster, misfortune and defeat before an exultant foe, the witnessing of acts of splendid heroism, fortitude and sacrifice, consciousness of success fairly won, the glorious exultation of victory, the sublime realization of the cessation of hostilities, the triumph of a just and righteous cause, produced emotions enjoyed only by the soldier engaged in the service of our government and in maintaining the honor and perpetuity of a country we all love and revere.

"The army of the United States has its inspirations from one of the loftiest characters in history. In fact the cause that kindled the most heroic emotions in the breasts of patriots made its first positive demonstration in this vicinity, and called our fathers from their farms, forests and industries to the fields of Lexington, Concord and Bunker Hill. This is indeed hallowed ground.

"It was near this spot that John Hancock lived, Warren fell, and where Washington first assumed command of the colonial army. From that time to this Washington's influence, example and principles have been the chart, compass and beacon light to the American army for more than a hundred years.

"In our last war with a foreign country Massachusetts was found well equipped and in complete readiness, like the minute men of Revolutionary days. The record of the Second and Ninth Massachusetts in Cuba, and of many of her soldiers and sailors in the far distant Occident, was only equalled by the action of their brothers in the Orient.

"I noticed a very interesting picture on the 21st of last July, when the good battleship Massachusetts turned its prow to the east in the waters of the West Indies. That majestic vessel was commanded by a gallant admiral from this commonwealth, was followed by a cruiser freighted with that splendid regiment, the Sixth Massachusetts, which in its turn was followed closely by the Gloucester and a fleet of transports, carrying light and liberty to the west, to plant our flag in a country which had been occupied for hundreds of years by Spanish power.

"We may well expect that it will ever be thus; that in every enterprise requiring skill, fortitude and patriotism, Massachusetts will hold a conspicuous place in the interest of progress and the welfare of mankind.

"As a son of Massachusetts, I believe that the same principles of truth, integrity, independence and patriotism that have prevailed in this grand commonwealth for centuries will continue and be perpetuated in every sphere of life, be it civil, political or commercial."

The speaking closed with a few remarks by Winslow Warren on the soldier of '76.

INFLICTED THREE WOUNDS,

Deliberate Shooting by a Man Who Was Jealous of His Divorced Wife.

Chicago, March 22.—John T. Shayne, a wealthy furrier and a prominent Democratic politician, was shot and probably fatally wounded yesterday by Harry H. Hammond, a tailor. The shooting occurred in the cafe of the Auditorium annex, where Shayne was sitting at lunch with Mrs. Hammond, the divorced wife of Hammond, and two other ladies.

The party had been seated at the table for some time before Hammond appeared. He walked into the cafe, and stood there a few minutes, and then walked out. In about 10 minutes he returned, pulled off his gloves, and then walked up to Shayne, who was sitting with his back toward him, and drew a revolver. Shayne attempted to rise, but stumbled over the legs of his chair and fell to the floor.

As he was trying to rise, Hammond fired a bullet into his back. Shayne fell under the table, and Hammond, pulling up the table cloth, fired two more bullets into Shayne's back. He then walked into the office of the hotel, where he stood until arrested.

Shayne, who is a widower, had been in company with Mrs. Hammond a great deal since her divorce, and there was talk of an approaching marriage between them. Last night, when it was thought that Shayne's death was a certainty, it was proposed he should be married to Mrs. Hammond. Later, however, the physicians declared that Shayne had a faint chance for his life, and the marriage was postponed.

Mrs. Hammond secured a divorce from her husband nearly a year ago, on the ground of habitual drunkenness. The shooting is attributed to Hammond's jealousy.

A Bad Crowd.

Augusta, Me., March 22.—Cora E. Witham was brought to the county jail last evening from Chelsea, charged with assault with intent to kill upon Alexander Leighton. She is the elder sister of the celebrated Rose Carson White, who was convicted of killing her husband. The alleged assault is said to have been committed in the same room where the murder occurred. Mrs. Witham had but recently been released from jail, having served a 15 months' sentence for liquor selling. Several men and women are said to have been on a drunk at the famous Carson home, and Monday night Cora assaulted the man Leighton with an axe or a knife.

Looks Suspicious.

Paris, March 22.—The series of explosions in government ammunition depots, which commenced with the terrible disaster near Toulon, followed on Saturday with explosions at Bourges and Marseilles, was continued last evening, when an alarming explosion occurred in a laboratory of explosives attached to the war department, where experiments were being made with a new kind of gunpowder. Three officials were injured. All the windows in the neighborhood were smashed, and considerable other damage was done. Although it is not believed that the explosion was the result of foul play, great excitement followed.

A Slippery Customer.

Boston, March 22.—Mary Ann Taylor, the alleged notorious shoplifter, 60 years of age, who was arrested Monday, was in court yesterday morning with her lawyer and bondsman, and the hearing was set down for 2 o'clock. When the court returned, after recess, the bondsman of the woman, Isaac Cohen, rushed into the courtroom and excitedly announced that the woman had slipped away from him. Clerk Ingalls waited half an hour before calling the defendant, but she had not put in an appearance up to the time the court was about to adjourn, when the clerk finally called the defendant and subsequently had her defaulted.

Good Afternoon.

Some papers seem to have a knowledge of just how the Mayor of the city with the cooperation of the committee of the City Council are to receive the members of Co. K, 5th Massachusetts regiment, on their return home, although the committee has not yet met. Said paper then proceeds to ridicule its imagination, and set up another plan. If the committee decide to have a banquet, and to place tickets on sale, it may not be so much of a junket as the editor of that paper might wish. The reception should be a rousing one. The city and the citizens owe it to the young men who volunteered for their country, and who for nearly a year have suffered many privations. Let the celebration be a day that the "Boys of '98" will remember as long as they live, and a lesson in patriotism for the children as well. Let there be music, speeches, singing, and as much of a jubilee of possible.

The objection to this appropiation reminds us of a recent editorial in an exchange, which is applicable to kickers in general. It has our endorsement, and is given in full.

There is more than one way to kill a cat. There is more than one way to kill many other things. A great many different towns that ought to have prospered and blossomed like the rose, have been frosted, blighted or killed by the negative course of the people who lived in them. Natural location and peculiar advantages count for something in the growth of a place, but they will never avail much unless they are coupled with a genuine and progressive public spirit among the people who settle there. The ways in which towns are annihilated or stunted—and one is as bad as the other—are innumerable.

There is that strange creature, worse than a snake in the grass, who, in order to satisfy some petty revenge or the requirements of a small and malicious nature, will set to work deliberately to destroy the business credit or break down the reputation of his neighbors. Then there is his close kinsman who ascribes to every man who is alert in pushing on improvements and in manifesting public spirit, some unworthy motive.

Belonging to another class, but equally detrimental to the common welfare are those twins of monumental egotism and conceit, one of whom derides and pronounces chimerical and unsafe anything proposed in which he is not a prominent factor, and the other who takes equal delight in hindering and opposing everything which does not directly put dollars and cents into his pockets.

Again, there are those counterparts of one another, one imagining that he has a patent right on the town. He owns it. When anything is proposed it must first have his O. K. stamped on it in large plain letters, or else it doesn't go. The other who is opposed to all progress on general principles. He was born that and has never had sufficient energy to reform.

In addition to these there are those people who make it a point to buy everything outside the town that they need or desire, having no concern about building up home industries. Happy the community that has the smallest possible number of these kind of folks.

They are dead weights and only serve to clog and obstruct the pathway of bright, enterprising, large-hearted men who believe in building up values about their own firesides and who watch every opportunity to help their town grow.

The commander-in-chief of our armies is doubtless a brave soldier, but his name is not one that easily lends itself to poetic uses, and it would be difficult to weave it successfully into the stirring war ballads as was done in the case of a hero of the civil war. In Buchanan Read's immortal poem on the battle of Winchester, for instance, how much less impressive the ringing lines would sound if, instead of "And Sheridan twenty miles away," we should substitute Miles for Sheridan and read, "And Miles twenty miles away." Poetry is poetry and after all, good sounding names have something to do with it.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The cradle manufactures are in a combine to keep up prices and now the casket manufactures are to form a trust for their own protection. Thus from the cradle to the grave is the toiler to be pursued and hounded by the tryant trusts.—Lowell Sun.

☞ Springfield and Newton have become disgusted with present methods of education, and are taking steps to get back to the "little red school house" system, whereby children learn something useful. That is the tendency on all sides.—Worcester Telegram.

☞ Now that the bicycle riders in Springfield have combined and submitted a petition to the Board of Directors of the street railway company seeking privilege to carry wheels on street cars, it will interest other people more than ever to know what their future accommodations are to be.—Lynn Item.

☞ Crocker's Jefferson day dinner will cost the diners $10 each. This is rather costly for "Jeffersonial simplicity," so the Chicago platform Democrats are to compete with a dinner at $3 a plate. Mr. Bryan is expected to grace this dinner with his presence, and to cheer with his oratory the plain people who will gather around the $3 board. What is to be done for the plainer and the plainest people, to whom a $3 dinner is as impossible as a $10 one does not appear. Perhaps they will be satisfied by reading the menus in a one-cent newspaper.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ What is there in Christian Science to attract scores of people from the churches? Why don't the churches hold their own? It cannot be claimed that the growth of Christian Science is ephemeral, for it has been for years taking root. The thing for opponents of this sect to do is to find out wherein their own actions and teachings are at fault and stop picking flaws with the Scientists If they have succeeded in laying hold upon a great truth we all want to profit by it. So far as proceeding criminally against these people is concerned, it cannot be done under any law governing the practice of medicine for the simple reason that they administer no drugs.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞ A cruel war of extermination against the English sparrow has been begun in Boston. These saucy little chatterers, no doubt, have their faults, but are they worse than those other pests which they were introduced into the country to destroy? Those who remember how the elm trees used to be stripped of their leaves every spring as if by fire, and how it was often necessary to carry an umbrella to keep the pestiferous little green worms from falling down one's neck or striking against one's face while walking along the street, will think twice before giving their approval to any drastic measures. It should not be forgotten that it is a choice of evils which is offered. The sparrows, to be sure, are not all that could be desired as regards their manners, but the question is, are they worse than the worms?—Providence Journal.

Memorial Church.

The pulpit at the Memorial church Sunday morning was occupied by Rev. Francis A. Fatte of the Broadway Congregational church of Taunton, in exchange with the pastor. His text was Acts. 16:9. He rejoiced that all men had or could have visions of something higher, nobler, holier, than anything they had yet attained. That it was the reaching out and attempting to grasp the unattainable that gave expansion and development of character.

Rev. Mr. Fate preached again in the evening. Mrs. Frazier sang finely and with great musical skill and expression two soprano solos. Mrs. Frazier who is now a resident of Atlantic was formerly the soprano soloist at the Baptist church in Fall River. Atlantic may congratulate itself on this addition to its musical talent.

After the evening service a short special prayer service was held.

CO. K RECEPTION.

The Y. M. C. A. Have Been Planning for One.

The Y. M. C. A. was one of the first to move relative to a reception to the Co. K boys. Taking their tip from the Ledger early in March the directors have quietly held two meetings and they are planning for a grand time. It was the intention to have a banquet with specially invited guests. Gov. Wolcott has been approached and has signified a desire to be present if an open date can be arranged. The plans will be modified some by the action of the city committee, and the reception may be combined.

Car Accident.

The employes at the Tubular Rivet works who came to Quincy on the special car after work Tuesday evening received quite a fright. The car had reached a point near Butler road when the right hand seat wheel broke. The car slid about twice its length after the break. It was filled with passengers, but none are reported injured. Miss Clara Farrell of West Quincy fainted and was taken home in a carriage. Another car was sent down and a transfer made, and the journey continued.

It Is Our Duty.

Editors of the Daily Ledger:

I was very much surprised when my attention was called to an article in the Advertiser, headed "Is Illegal," and calling the proposed entertainment of Co. K "a political junket."

The truth of the matter is this, all the cities and towns that furnished men for the war will have receptions to the returning veterans.

Many of us recollect the rousing reception to Co. H, Fourth Regiment, in 1861, on its return.

Thinking we should be remiss in our duties to our constituents, and that it would be a lasting disgrace if we did not do something I offered the order.

Now it is possible, if the citizens desire it, to have just as big a time as they like if they will contribute. At any rate the committee will meet Co. K officially.

When the Advertiser says that a room in a hotel should be hired and Co. K should occupy it alone, it knows that they would feel insulted.

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION
NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

Mrs. James E. Bagley of Wollaston is forming classes for conversational French.

Measles are prevalent at Wollaston. Gordon Jameson, son of Councilman Jameson is sick with them.

Bay View, L. O. L., has appointed a committee on reception to be given the members of the order who belong to Company K, 5th Mass., on their return home from war.

The second of Miss Thompson's talks will be given in the parlors of Mrs. George Saville, Greenleaf street, this afternoon. The subject will be "Israel Zangwill: the Wit and Writer."

A rare opportunity is offered to those who wish to take lessons in modeling architectural, statuary, etc. Mr. Rapetti of Paris is an accomplished teacher and his studio is on Ranolph avenue, near academy school, Milton. His announcement will be found in another column.

A goodly number attended the services at the First United Presbyterian church Sunday, although the weather proved unfavorable. Two able sermons were delivered by the pastor, Rev. W. W. Dornan, B. D., taking for his subject for the morning sermon "A Good Name; Proverbs, 22d chapter, 1st verse: A good name is rather to be chosen then great riches. In the evening, Mr. Dornan preached on the subject, "playing the fool; first Samuel, 26th chapter, 21st verse.

Monday Club.

At the Atlantic Monday Evening club this week Mrs. Sanford Small entertained with a delightful paper on "The Women in America." The discussion which followed and a paper on "Current Events" by Mr. Charles Hall were sources of enjoyment. Mr. Hennessey sang two songs and recited with realistic effect two character sketches.

At the next club meeting, Miss Mercy A. Bailey of the Normal Art School of Boston will give a paper on "Art in America" and Miss Florence Gray will write on "Current Events."

With the Fifth.

The 5th Massachusetts, from the day they assembled at South Framingham, July 1, have had an excellent Association work. Z. C. Collins, formerly general secretary of Attleboro, has been in charge. He is assisted by Arthur Rudman of Mount Hermon. They, as the workers, have been aided constantly by the cooperation of the officers and men. Chaplain House has given most cordial and effective assistance. From the start the rooms have been crowded. A Bible class is maintained with excellent success. At several periods an average of 900 letters were written daily.

W. Y. C. New House.

Subscriptions are being solicited for the new club house of the Wollaston Yacht club, and success attends the movement. The building will be about 50 by 75 feet and in the colonial style of architecture. The house is to have a large assembly hall and a ladies' room on the second floor, and smoking, reading and billiard rooms on the first floor, with ample locker space and broad piazzas. It is proposed to light and heat the house so that it may be used in winter as well as summer.

A HUNDRED REASONS

Can be given why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the best and most effectual cure for every form of indigestion.

They are in the tablet form which retains their good qualities indefinitely while liquid preparations become stale and useless with age.

They are convenient, can be carried in the pocket and taken when needed. —They are pleasant to take.

After each meal dissolve one or two of them in the mouth and, mingling with the food, they constitute a perfect digestive, absolutely safe for the most sensitive stomach.

They digest the food before it has time to ferment, thus preventing the formation of gas and keeping the blood pure and free from the poisonous products of fermented, half digested food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only remedy designed especially for the cure of stomach troubles and nothing else.

One disease, one remedy; the successful physician of today is the specialist, the successful medicine in the medicine prepared especially for one disease.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make the complexion clear by keeping the blood pure.

They increase flesh by digesting flesh forming foods.

A whole package taken at one time would not hurt one, but would simply be a waste of good material.

Over six thousand men and women in the State of Michigan alone, have been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package. 3t-20-22-24.

IN THE MINORITY.

House Not With Mr. Sprague on Carney Hospital Resolve.

The House took up the Carney Hospital bill, again Tuesday. The Journal says, Mr. Sprague of Quincy opposed it. He cited from reports of the Interior Department for the past eight years to show that the Catholics had received from the United States Treasury for the education of the Indian, $2,366,416, while all other religious sects received but $1,401,000.

The Catholics were too zealous in the scramble for public money. He was against the bill as a matter of principle.

Mr. Parker of Boston favored, the bill. He said the hospital was doing a good work. The question of religion had nothing whatever to do with it.

Mr. Mellen of Worcester said he had received a telegram from H. H. Smith, dated Boston Highlands, asking him to vote against the bill. He said the member from Quincy had made a malignant attack upon his religion. He hoped no one would be deterred from voting for the bill by fear of an attack upon them at the polls. This was not a sectarian institution. It was a charity for Boston's poor.

Mr. Carleton of Haverhill defended the bill at some length. He said there was no other hospital in the city which took care until the end of chronic and severe cases. He was broad enough to take in such cases as the Carney Hospital, which was doing Christly work and vote for it.

Mr. Saunders of Boston was sorry that Mr. Sprague of Quincy had brought in issues to confuse this question and that Mr. Mellen of Worcester had continued to confuse it. He would never himself vote for a bill to give State money to a sectarian institution.

Mr. Haskins of Rockport said he had been a resident of Boston for nearly 30 years and he knew many of the doctors there, and many of them were not Catholics. This was a question of granting $10,000 to a noble charity. Carney and 150 free cots and all it asked was to be refunded for some of the work it had done.

Mr. Francis of New Bedford was satisfied that this bill was wrong. He believed that it was doing a noble work. But Boston and not the small cities and towns should pay for it. The Legislature had no right to vote money for sectarian purposes.

Mr. Whipple of Brockton said that he was surprised that any one should seek to set aside the unanimous report of two committees hurling the word Catholicism at the bill.

Mr. E. J. Donovan of Boston said the Church of Rome needed no defence from him, even were he able to do it. This measure was one that appealed to every charitable man. The church and State never had and never would be separated, meaning by church the Christian religion.

The resolve was ordered to a third reading on a viva voce vote. Mr. Sprague of Quincy doubted the vote. A rising vote gave 137 for the resolve and 19 against it.

Illustrations.

In Wollaston on Monday evening "The Utopian Society" held its second meeting at the chapel of the First Baptist church. A large audience was present. Subject for the evening "Modern methods of illustration."

Mr. George E. B. Putnam of Boston gave an interesting talk, in which he told of the various ways in which pictures are produced. The old method of wood engraving was explained and then the process plate, the half tone and photography in colors. There was also a short description of the way newspapers artists work. His talk was illustrated by a large number of paintings and drawings by leading artists, the originals of book, magazine and newspaper illustrations. The technique of each style was explained and wood cuts, zinc etchings, electrotypes and half tones were exhibited. The total collection being valued at $2,000. Many specimens were loaned by Copeland & Day and L. C. Page Co., publishers, also the National magazine.

Mr. Wilde of Wollaston rendered a solo in his usual pleasing manner, assisted by Mr. C. A. Pinkham, accompanist.

Mr. C. E. Goodspeed of Wollaston explained the method of ancient book illustration which was exceedingly interesting.

Certainly those who attended this meeting will appreciate their books all the more, because of the interesting talks given on that subject.

Suit for Damages.

The second trial in the case of John McKay of Quincy, as administrator of the estate of his son, vs. The New England Dredging Co., was held at Rockland, Me., this week, in the Supreme court. The case which was a suit for $5,000, was the outcome of an accident at Bald Island, near Rockland, Me., Oct. 7, 1897, which resulted in the death of William McKay, the 23 year old son of John McKay of Quincy.

At the time of the accident, William was employed as an assistant on a steam drill in a quarry at the above named place. On the morning of the accident, William with the man in charge of the drill, was at work in the quarry when an over hanging rock fell and killed William. His companion escaped by jumping.

The claim was that the company was negligent and did not use due care for the safety of the men and that the parents of William were largely dependent upon him for support.

The evidence was that the rock that fell weighed in the vicinity of thirty tons; that it rested on a shelf; that efforts had been made the day before and on the day of the accident to throw the quarry with black powder, dynamite and by bars, but without result; that men were then put to work to drill the rock and break it up; that the drill had been at work but a few moments when the rock suddenly started and fell into the quarry crushing William.

It was claimed by the plaintiff that McKay had been assured by the superintendent that it was safe to work beneath the stone, and that he had been ordered there at the time he went, and had no knowledge that any one was at work on the overhanging rock.

The plaintiff testified that William had always been industrious, and that he gave his mother all of his earnings, except what he needed for his own use and for his board when away from home.

The defendant testified that while McKay and his foreman had been ordered to break the rock in question, no definite time had been specified in the order; that due and proper care had been exercised. The claim that William was a help in the support of the family, was offset by two witnesses, who testified that in conversation with Mrs. McKay, the mother of William, she had stated William had never contributed a cent of his earnings or ever given her a cent for board or anything else. These conversations were not denied as a whole, but as to the above mentioned part.

Charitable Work.

The annual meeting of the West Quincy Branch of the Young Ladies' Charitable Association was held at the residence of Mrs. Peter Donaher's, 119 Willard street, on Thursday evening, March sixteenth.

Miss Elizabeth Power, president of the association, addressed the members and exhorted them to work energetically and zealously for the sick poor. Several new members were received into this branch.

The following officers were elected:

President,—Mrs. Robert J. Teasdale.
Vice President,— Miss Annie F. Burns.
Treasurer,—Miss Nellie O'Brien.
Financial Secretary,—Miss Margaret E. Burns.
Recording Secretary, — Miss Elizabeth J. McNeil.
Corresponding Secretary, — Mrs. William D. Burns.

Pay of Teachers.

To our School Committee:

In looking over Mr. Lull's report last night I could not help seeing how unfair it was in the matter of salary. He speaks of giving $100 more to a teacher in the High school because she will have to teach the music. I think the Teachers of the High School get altogether too much salary now compared with the salaries of teachers in the other schools of Quincy. The teachers in the High school have shorter hours, smaller classes and fewer studies to teach than any Grammar grade teacher has, yet Mr. Lull wishes to add $100 to somebody's salary there.

If the hundred dollars must be spent why not give it to Mrs. Smith who surely deserves it for her excellent work there in the High school in the past. From some of the pupils it is learned the singing is anything but encouraging there. I hope the school committee will look over the school report and see if what I say in regard to salary isn't true.

'TWAS A FALSE ALARM.

Report of John Sherman's Death Gained Ready Credence.

Gloom at the Capital Was Later Turned to Joy.

Latest News Concerning the Venerable Statesman Says He Is Better.

Washington, March 22. — The profound impression made at the capital by the report of the death of ex-Secretary of State Sherman was equalled only by the relief that came with denial of the rumor.

Immediately following the report of the venerable statesman's demise President McKinley was notified by a special dispatch from the state department thereof. The department also notified Mrs. Sherman to like effect.

The two Ohio senators, Mr. Foraker and Mr. Hanna, were absent from the city, Mr. Foraker being in New York and Mr. Hanna at Jekyl island with the president, and indeed very few senators or public men with whom Mr. Sherman had been associated were in town.

A dispatch from the signal office confirmed the report of the death and gained ready credence, as it was known that the ex-secretary, who was a passenger on board the American line steamer Paris, now making a tour of the West Indies with a party of Americans, had been in very poor health recently.

The first report, which came from New York, was received at 3 o'clock and was circulated in the departments just before they closed. The announcement seemed to follow naturally the other cablegrams of the day stating that the venerable statesman's condition had grown worse since Monday, and there was a universal expression of regret and in many cases of personal distress over the news. Cabinet ministers, senators and members of the house expressed deep sorrow, speaking in terms of admiration and respect of the ex-senator's public career and dwelling with loving kindness upon his personal character.

The contradiction of the first report did not arrive until 8:30 o'clock. It came to the Associated Press in the shape of the positive statement from Santiago. This dispatch was immediately given as wide circulation in the city as it was possible for it to receive at that hour. Secretary Hay was placed in possession of a copy of the dispatch, as were also Mr. Sherman's family. "A most marvelous condition of affairs," remarked the secretary. He then expressed his great relief that the first news was not confirmed.

The report of the death of Mr. Sherman took many persons, friends and others to his house on K street. Among others who were congregated there were the two former private secretaries of Senator Sherman, Mr. Babcock and Mr. Valle, as well as Miss Kate Willack, a niece, and Mrs. Colonel Charles Hoyt, whose husband was a cousin of Senator Sherman. They and others present read the dispatch stating that the senator was still alive with tremulous joy.

The reading of the glad message had scarcely been concluded by those present when Mrs. McCallum, the adopted daughter of Senator and Mrs. Sherman, burst into the room, accompanied by the daughter of General Miles. They had received the news through a telephone message while at General Miles' house and had hurried over to impart it to the rest of the family.

"It has been a trying day," said Mrs. McCallum, "but all is well again." There were heartfelt rejoicings on the part of all who had assembled at the house when they realized it was true that the invalid was better and might yet be restored to them.

Mrs. Sherman was the one person of the senator's household who neither suffered from the first announcement nor rejoiced over the second. She was not informed of either. Mrs. Sherman has been quite ill from a paralytic attack for several months and had never been informed even of the senator's serious illness for fear of its effect upon her.

Today's dispatches from Santiago say that it is incomprehensible how the reports of Mr. Sherman's death originated. Steamer Paris arrived there last evening before dark, and it was reported that Mr. Sherman was not only alive, but better, resting easily, and expected to recover. He will be transferred, if all goes favorably, to the United States cruiser Chicago on Thursday. The cruiser is now coaling at Kingston, Jam.

Rival of the Standard.

Parkersburg, W. Va., March 22.—Very important negotiations have been closed whereby the Henry Oil company, the Fearless Oil company and the McDonald Oil company become one corporation, which will be one of the largest oil companies independent of the Standard in the world. The combined production of the three companies will aggregate 2400 barrels of oil daily, all of which is sold to the Standard Oil company.

Theatrical Man Killed.

New York, March 22.—P. H. O'Connor, assistant treasurer of the Garrick theater, was instantly killed yesterday by an electric car. O'Connor had been around placing tickets for a benefit he was to receive April 16. His head was cut clear off at the bridge of the nose and was frightfully crushed. The motorman and the conductor of the car were arrested.

Boiler Exploded

Cumberland, Md., March 22.—The sawmill boiler at the plant of Hudson Shuss, near Mattie, exploded yesterday, killing three men and wounding three others. The boiler had been in use many years. The fly wheel, weighing about a ton, was thrown a great distance. The big steel saw was broken into bits.

An Arkansas Lynching.

Texarkana, Ark., March 22.—A negro named Duckett was taken from the sheriff of Little River county by a mob yesterday and hanged. He confessed the murder of James Stockton, a planter.

KITCHENER UPHELD

In His Killing of Wounded Dervishes Who Feigned Death.

London, March 22.—The dispatch of Lord Cromer, British diplomatic agent in Egypt, embodying the reply of General Kitchener of Khartoum to questions regarding the alleged mutilation and useless slaughter of Dervishes in the battle of Omdurman, has been laid before parliament.

LORD KITCHENER.

The sirdar says that the only wounded Dervishes killed by his troops were those who feigned death in order to obtain opportunities for killing. "Whatever was done," he continues, "was done with all possible considerations of humanity."

The sirdar justified the destruction of the tomb of the mahdi and the dispersal of the prophets' remains on the ground that, if the mausoleum had been left intact and unprofaned, it would have become the center of fanatical pilgrimages, causing endless trouble. He says he himself ordered the demolition.

Lord Cromer endorses the statements of General Kitchener.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 22. — Representative "Jim" Mellen, the Democratic warhorse and legislative veteran, stands suspended from his privilege as a representative on the floor of the house of representatives, and that portion of his speech which was declared "unparliamentary" by Speaker Bates has been referred to a special committee of five of his fellow members for their judgment. It is a case of either Mr. Mellen apologizing or the committee justifying his remarks, or the speaker reversing his decision before the aggressive member from Worcester can be heard again. Mr. Mellen was not in a mood to make a retraction last night. The words "nonsense, buncombe and rot," applied to Somerville members during a warm debate of sectarian character upon giving $20,000 to the Carney hospital, a Catholic institution, led to the suspension. The measure was passed.

A resolve was offered expressing the confidence of the legislature in the national administration in its difficult work of solving the problems resulting from the war with Spain.

The committee on cities reported a bill to regulate the use of carriages by the Boston aldermen. Ought not to pass was reported on the resolutions calling on the secretary of the navy to loan the commonwealth a training ship. Leave to withdraw was reported on the petition for incorporation as the Cape Cod Canal company. Ought not to pass was reported on a bill to compel employers to admit walking delegates to their employes for an interview. Leave to withdraw was reported on the petition for regulation of the awarding of contracts by county, city and town officials.

The senate has accepted the report recommending that the bill to authorize the practice of osteopathy in this state be sent to the next general court. A bill requiring officers of prisons to furnish measurements of criminals by the Bertillon system when requested to do so by the police of towns and cities, was passed to be engrossed, as was also the bill requiring cold storage companies that run pipes through the streets to obey the same laws that now govern the use of streets by gas companies.

Both branches of the legislature received a visit from General Miles in the afternoon, after which the regular business was resumed.

Doctor Sued For Damages.

New Haven, March 22.—Papers were served yesterday in a suit against Dr. B. A. Cheney, brought by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Jenks to recover damages of $5000, alleged to have resulted from improper professional treatment undergone by Mrs. Jenks at the hands of Dr. Cheney. The action grows out of dissatisfaction on the part of the plaintiffs with the results of an operation for the removal of tumors. The plaintiffs allege that the wound made during the operation never healed, and that the victim has been invalided for life.

Soldiers Didn't Like It.

Chicago, March 22.—The government court of inquiry last night examined two witnesses with reference to the beef question—Dr. Nicholas Senn and Lieutenant Colonel Corliss. Dr. Senn entirely disapproved of canned roast beef as an army ration for any length of time, and Colonel Corliss told of the soldiers' dislike of it. The court expects to leave for New York this evening. The remaining witnesses will be those suggested by Major Lee, in behalf of Major General Miles.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—5:42; sets, 6.
Moon sets—3:45 a. m.
High water—8:45 a. m.; 9:15 p. m.

The Pacific coast storm has reached Illinois, but is lagging on the west side with a secondary center of disturbance in the Texas Panhandle. There are some indications that the storm will be divided into two parts by a high area moving southward by way of the Missouri valley. The temperatures show a general and substantial rise from the gulf states northward, while elsewhere the changes have been unimportant. Rain or snow is indicated generally for New England. It will be warmer. Increasing easterly winds will prevail on the Atlantic coast.

A POINT FOR MOLINEUX.

Grand Jury Minutes Will Be Inspected by Permission of Court.

Counsel Claims That the Evidence Is Unlawful.

If Contention Is Sustained He Will Move For Quashing of the Indictment.

New York, March 22.—Judge Blanchard, in general sessions yesterday, granted the application of counsel for Roland B. Molineux, accused of having poisoned Mrs. Kate J. Adams, for permission to inspect the minutes of the grand jury that indicted Molineux.

Judge Blanchard in his decision says: "Among the reasons pointed out by the defendant why this application should be granted, it appears that at the inquest the district attorney insisted that the testimony given by the defendant and other witnesses indicated that the defendant had committed the alleged murder, but it does not appear but that the defendant, had he been permitted to do so, might have furnished testimony in his own behalf which would have tended to explain or nullify the testimony adverse to him.

"And the defendant's counsel, in his moving affidavit, makes allegations which, in effect, charge that the indictment in question was found upon evidence that is insufficient in law to sustain it. This contention of the defendant is sustained by abundant authority. If the indictment was found without sufficient legal evidence to sustain it, it is not an indictment in contemplation of law, and cannot stand.

"We find nothing in the record before us upon the application to indicate that the learned district attorney has not fully performed his duty as public prosecutor in a faithful and efficient manner, but it has not been shown that the inspection by the defendant of the minutes of the proceedings of the grand jury, upon which the indictment against him was found, will in any way be detrimental to the people's case, or to the due administration of justice, or against public policy, and after a careful consideration of the arguments of counsel and of the facts as presented by the motion papers, I am of the opinion, that in the interest of the proper administration of justice and fairness to the defendant, the motion for the inspection of the minutes of the grand jury should be granted."

District Attorney Gardiner said after the decision had been rendered that he did not think it would affect the case at all. He said the indictment was found by the jury without a dissenting vote. Should a motion be made to quash the indictment because of the inspection of the grand jury minutes, he would then have to decide what action to take.

Mr. Weeks, counsel for Molineux, said that as soon as he had been given the minutes of the grand jury he would prepare a motion to be made to Judge Blanchard for the quashing of the indictment, on the ground that it was found on unlawful, irrelevant and incomplete evidence.

McKinley and Reed.

Brunswick, Ga., March 22.—President McKinley enjoyed a full day of quiet and rest in the retirement and fine drives of Jekyl island, and night fell without any conference with Speaker Reed or any difference in the relations between the two Republican leaders, as a result of their simultaneous presence on the island. There was an informal sort of reception in the Baker cottage, at which all the members of the island colony were presented to the president and Mrs. McKinley. Speaker Reed called rather late and spent a few minutes, shaking hands with the president and chatting with him and the others present.

A Peculiar Fatality.

Richmond, Me., March 22.—Daniel Morton of East Bowdoinham, after partaking of his noon-time meal yesterday, started out with an ax under his arm for the purpose of chopping some wood a short distance from his residence. When about an eighth of a mile from home he slipped and fell, his neck coming across the sharp edge of the ax, cutting a gash three inches long and two inches deep. He crawled the entire distance to his house, making a trail of blood in the snow. He reached the house with great difficulty and died shortly after his arrival. He was 40 years old.

Cassin Was Excited.

Havana, March 22.—Major F. Martinez of the Cuban forces, who was shot at the Hotel Inglaterra by Police Lieutenant Cassin, the former trumpeter of the Rough Riders, who accompanied Theodore Roosevelt on his campaign tour through New York state last autumn, is not expected to live. Cassin, who is an Italian by descent, has been placed in jail. His action is generally condemned as unwarranted and as due to his excitable temperament.

Fatal Fire at Omaha.

Omaha, March 22.—Fire broke out in the third floor of the Patterson block yesterday and spread so rapidly that people were compelled to jump for their lives. Two women were killed and three were fatally and 20 more or less seriously injured. The dead and injured were all members of the Ladies of Macabee, and who were holding a meeting in the building.

Bailey Reaching For Senate.

Houston, March 22.—The Post announces that Congressman Joseph W. Bailey will be a candidate for United States senator to succeed Mr. Chilton, whose term expires March 4, 1901. Mr. Chilton will stand for re-election.

Mayor Says No.

Marlboro, Mass., March 22.—Mayor Plunkett has vetoed the order passed by the board of alderman and common council, granting the strikers the free use of the city hall for four Sundays, commencing last Sunday.

The Fisheries Dispute.

St. John's, March 22.—Special significance attaches to the appointment of Commodore Gifford to command the British squadron in Newfoundland waters during the coming fishing season. No officer so far advanced in the British navy list was ever before appointed to this command, he being the senior of every officer in the British North American fleet, except Admiral Fisher. His selection is regarded as indicating a determination on the part of Great Britain to enforce a settlement of disputed questions in this quarter by strengthening the squadron.

Yellow Fever Aboard Ship.

New York, March 22.—The British steamer Dunstan, which arrived yesterday from Para, Brazil, lost two of her crew during the voyage from yellow fever. The Dunstan, while at Para, sent three of her crew ashore to a hospital, suffering from the same disease. On the arrival of the steamer at quarantine, Dr. Doty decided to hold her for a thorough disinfection. There were no other cases of sickness during the voyage.

Engineer Hickey Held.

Waterbury, Conn., March 22.—Daniel Hickey of East Hartford, an engineer on one of the freight trains that collided at Bradley's station, March 12, with the loss of two lives, was yesterday arrested on a bench warrant charging him with manslaughter, and arraigned before Judge Roraback. Probable cause was found, and Hickey was held for the superior court in $1000 bonds.

Started at Last.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 22.—After a number of postponements for various causes, the trial of Dr. Nancy A. Guilford, on a charge alleging second degree murder, in having caused the death of Emma Gill of Southington, through a criminal operation last September, was begun yesterday.

Fell on Red Hot Stove.

New Haven, March 22.—Bridget Malone, aged 72, died yesterday as the result of burns received last week by falling on a red hot stove during a fainting spell. She was very badly burned about the face and head.

Prediction by the Sockless.

Wichita, Kas., March 22.—Jerry Simpson, who is in town, expresses the opinion that the Democratic campaign in 1900 will be anti-expansion and anti-trust, with the money question a subordinate third.

C. PATCH & SON

FOR RENT.

Furnished Rooms Open All Night.

We wish to announce the arrival of spring. Possibly you didn't know that spring, gentle spring, had sprung. "She have."

You may find a little snow in patches up on President's Hill or the ground may be a little frozen this morning, but, nevertheless, spring has sprung, for a few unmistakable signs have been noticed lately. Some Robins have been reported by Chief Joe Hayden. Spring beds have been noticed in the furniture stores, and just now there seems to be a greater variety of spring water to select from for culinary purposes than usual.

As our ad. man was walking down Kneeland street in Boston, last week, he saw a sign that made him think that at least one man thought it was going to be warm; for on one of the buildings there he read: "For Rent. Furnished rooms open all night." That man surely wouldn't expect to rent a room that was open all night, to a man in cold weather.

The surest signs of spring are at the Quincy Clothing Co.'s counters, nowdays. New things for spring. When they say new things it MEANS NEW things. It don't mean things that were once upon a time new, or that were new last spring and have been brushed up and fixed up for this spring; but it means goods that were made for them for spring of 1899

Every part of our store is showing new things. On some counters you find new Men's Suits, new Pants, new Spring Overcoats. The Boys' counters show new Suits, and the leader, the Little Magnet Suit, all wool, double seat and knees can be found there at $1.98

The Furnishing counters show new Hats, new Neckwear, new Shirts, new Gloves, and new Hosiery. In fact, every corner of our store has something new in it. Bought to be sold at the cheap store prices.

We invite you to look through our store at new things we have bought for your benefit—and ours. We caution you about looking at the Spring Overcoats unless you want one—for you can't help buying one when you see the nobby ones at $5 50, the swell ones at $7.50 and the top notchers from $9.98 to $16 00.

America, England and Germany to Protect Rights at Shanghai.

Foreign Settlement Incident Is Becoming Acute.

Attitude of Isolation Assumed by France a Source of Irritation.

London, March 23.—Sir Claude MacDonald, British minister to China, has received leave of absence, and will start from Pekin for England on Thursday. Lord Salisbury will endeavor to preserve the status quo in China until he is able to confer with Sir Claude upon the entire question.

A dispatch from Pekin says that the British, German and American ministers at Pekin have addressed notes to the Chinese foreign office demanding a settlement of the Shanghai foreign settlement extensions question, the French minister, M. Pichon, agreeing to withdraw the protest of the French consul against the extensions on the condition that the proposed extensions do not include that portion of the land forming the immediate hinterland of the present French concession.

There is a legitimate necessity for the extension of the Anglo-American settlements at Shanghai, which have long outgrown their original limits. The demand made on this ground involves no territorial pretensions, since the purchasers of and within these settlements are left free to register their titles with their own consuls. The identity of American and British interests at Shanghai has already been recognized, and the British protest against further concessions to France has been vigorously seconded by the minister of the United States at Pekin, and now by Germany. That is a demonstration of the promptness with which joint action is likely to be taken when Anglo-American-German interests in China are assailed, which is not likely to be lost either on France or on the power without whose adhesion French aggression in China would present but little danger.

The extension of territory demanded by the French in Shanghai was warranted neither by the extent of their trade nor the number of their residents. At the date of the last census, out of 5114 foreigners in Shanghai, only 430 were in the French settlement. Out of 3,887,000 tons of shipping entered at Shanghai in 1897, only 114,609 tons were French. U dre treaties with China, made over half a century ago, there were three so-called foreign settlements—British, American and French—marked off for the residence of foreign merchants. At one time there was a disposition manifested to administer them in equal lines. The French authorities withdrew, in 1868, from the general scheme of administration which had been agreed upon by the three consuls in 1854; and published, in 1868, a code of regulations which gives the consul something like gubernatorial power. The fusion of the British and American settlements had, in the meantime, been complete. They formed, and continue to form, one municipality, administered by a single composite council, whose members are elected annually by the votes of property owners and ratepayers upon the nature of whose qualification the residents have agreed. Other powers have gradually come upon the scene. Austria, Germany, Holland, Italy, Japan, Norway and Sweden, Portugal, Russia, Spain, Switzerland and even Peru have made treaties with China in the intervening years, but all have sought and found hospitality within the great cosmopolitan settlements officially designated as Anglo-American. The French alone have stood aloof, keeping in their own hands the administration of the territory originally assigned to them.

This attitude of isolation is accompanied by certain pretensions which are all the more irritating because there are no substantial interests to justify them. It is the French theory that their consul general has the sole power to give titles to property within the French settlement. A similar claim, made 50 years ago, was withdrawn on the protest of the consul of the United States. It is now being reaffirmed in uncompromising terms, and it lately took the form of a demand that a British settlement holding property in the French settlement, under register in the British consulate, should take out fresh titles. In trying to assert the principle of territorial sovereignty over their settlement at Shanghai, the French came into contest last July with a native association known as the Ningpo Guild. Twenty years ago an agreement had been solemnly made with the members of this community, under which their cemetery and house property, lying within the French limits, were assured to them "free from all question of removal or interference," forever. This agreement was made under the auspices of the then French minister and the Chinese foreign office, in settlement of a riot which had been excited in 1874 by an attempt to prolong a road across land belonging to the guild, which was used as a burying ground. In the attempt to do what this agreement specifically debars them from doing, another riot was incited, in which a score of Chinamen were killed.

The opportunity was promptly seized to demand a great extension of the French settlement, as compensation for the "insult" which the riot implied. The fact that if any compensation is due it is from the French to the Chinese government merely illustrates the absolute lawlessness of the demands to which the Chines government has to submit, being merely, as the London Times puts it, "a machine to register external pressure." The French demands at once assumed international interest when they were known to include the cession of Pootung, on the opposite bank of the river to Shanghai. Here the French have no interests whatever, but there are docks, wharves and warehouses owned by citizens of Great Britain and the United States.

They Want Their Pay.

Madrid, March 23.—A band of repatriated troops made a demonstration yesterday in front of the prefecture. The prefect advised the soldiers to disperse immediately, adding that otherwise he would be compelled to resort to force. The demonstrators left, informing the authorities in a threatening manner that they had better pay the arrears due the troops within a month.

Where Honor Is Due.

London, March 23.—Lieutenant J. C. Colwell, naval attache of the United States embassy in London, responding last evening to the toast "Our Guests" at the annual banquet of the institute of naval architects, paid a high tribute to the institution, declaring that without its aid the United States would not hold their proud position today.

Under $30,000 Bail.

London, March 23.—G. R Birt, the former chairman and managing director of the Millwall Dock company, who was arrested March 16, after having disappeared in February last, leaving a deficit of over $1,000,000 in the accounts of the company, was remanded yesterday until April 11, bail being allowed in the sum of $30,000.

Yokohama, March 23.—According to a report from Seoul, the whole Corean cabinet has been dismissed, and two of the ministers have been banished because of wholesale changes made by the cabinet in provincial offices.

Honor For Hichborn.

Washington, March 23.—A notable compliment has been paid to Chief Constructor Hichborn by the greatest technical society that has to do with naval shipbuilding, namely, the Institution of Naval Architects. Admiral Hichborn received a cablegram yesterday from London, announcing that the institution had elected him to honorary membership, a life connection of great dignity in naval circles. The chief constructor has been for 30 years an active member of the institution, and he is professionally well known to the British and other foreign architects through the leading part played by him in the construction of the new American navy.

COMMODORE PHILIP HICHBORN.

Sherman Is Comfortable.

Santiago, March 23.—It now turns out, respecting the report of Mr. Sherman's death, that the announcement was made by the French Cable company and the signal corps within 10 minutes of each other. When Chief Signal Officer Leigh ascertained that the report was erroneous, he communicated with the Guantanamo station to discover the cause of the blunder. The man in charge of the station replied that he visited the manager of the French Cable company, who assured him that the report of the death was well founded. Thereupon he telegraphed a confirmation of the rumor, having no reason to doubt the assurance given him. The French Cable company's officials here claim to know nothing regarding the matter. Mr. Sherman's condition continues about the same. He rested quite comfortably throughout yesterday, and, if anything, is somewhat improved. He expects to go on board the United States cruiser Chicago today.

Our Alaskan Possessions.

Washington, March 23.—Captain Abercrombie and party left last night for the west, where they will explore the Copper river country in Alaska. The war department yesterday named three stations on the Copper river all American route to the Klondike country in Alaska. The stations are Seward, Tetling and Slahna. These stations will be occupied by detachments of United States troops under similar duty performed by Canadian mounted police. The postoffice department has been making some inquiries regarding the Copper river route and will endeavor to make contracts for carrying the mails over it.

TELLER'S PREDICTION.

Bryan the Nominee and Finance the Issue In Next Presidential Campaign.

Cleveland, March 23.—Senator Teller of Colorado was asked here yesterday what, in his judgment, would be the Democratic issue in the next presidential campaign. "I think there is no doubt," replied Senator Teller, "that the Democratic party will make the financial question the issue."

SENATOR TELLER.

"Who will be the Democratic presidential nominee?"

"Undoubtedly Mr. Bryan will be the choice of his party," promptly replied the senator.

In regard to Mr. Bryan's controversy with Perry Belmont, Senator Teller said: "I think Mr. Bryan did perfectly right in taking the position he did. Those fellows in that organization are not Democrats. They are Republicans masquerading under Democratic colors. They opposed Mr. Bryan's election in 1896, saying his election 'would endanger the nation's welfare,' and he did perfectly right in declining to accept the invitation."

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 23.—Mr. Mellen of Worcester yesterday retracted the objectionable words used by him in debate Tuesday, and apologized to the house of representatives. The committee appointed to take charge of the case had a long discussion over the proper course to pursue in straightening out the tangle between Speaker Bates and the Worcester man, and had Mr. Mellen before it to make a statement. Later, when the house convened, the special committee reported that the house should sustain the speaker in his action in naming Mr. Mellen, that the latter should be given an opportunity of retracting, and that, on retraction, he should be reinstated to full privileges of membership. This report was accepted, and Mr. Mellen was then recognized by Speaker Bates. Amid a hush of interest, Mr. Mellen withdrew his remarks and apologized.

Bills were reported for sessions of the superior court in Barnstable on the Tuesday after the first Monday in April; to constitute eight hours a day's work for city and town employes; to change the name of the Haverhill police court to the central district court of northern Essex; as to granting street railway locations in towns; for protection of shade trees; for licensing dealers in securities; for inspection of nurseries and investigation of insects injurious to cranberries; for reclaiming and improving waste lands with labor of prisoners from jails and houses of correction.

In the senate the committee on drainage reported a bill to provide that the treasurer of the commonwealth shall pay to the city of Worcester such sums as the trustees of the Worcester lunatic hospital shall designate in lieu of sewerage assessments, or betterments. The committee on cities reported a bill to provide for the division of sewer assessments into annual payments in cities, it being the "Newton bill," which was recalled from the governor, and made general in its provisions at his request.

Mrs. Witham In Court.

Augusta, Me., March 23.—Cora T. Witham was given a hearing yesterday before Judge Stevens of the Chelsea municipal court on a charge of assaulting Alexander Leighton with intent to kill. She pleaded not guilty and was held in $2000 bonds for her appearance in the superior court. In default of bail she was committed to jail. Mrs. Witham was also arraigned on four charges of selling liquor and was given six months in jail on each.

Governor Won't Sign It.

Dover, Del., March 23.—Governor Tunnell yesterday discovered a bill that practically licensing all kinds of gambling in this state at $500 per year. It had been slipped through the legislature the last day of the session, and ostensibly provided a penalty for gambling, in accordance with a section of the new constitution prohibiting gambling in this state. Governor Tunnell will not sign the bill, and it will not, therefore, become a law.

Good Afternoon.

Considerable attention has of late been attracted to the expenses of the Water department, and perhaps that item in the Mayor's budget has caused more comment than any other. At first glance it looks as though quite a reduction had been made, the appropriation in the annual order of 1898 being $14,250.00, and the estimate of 1899 set at $10,270.00. But let us analyze it a little.

First, it will be observed that the appropriation was increased during the year to $15,420.24, and that $15,379.03 were expended.

This year the expense of the pumping station will be saved, and inquiry discloses the fact that the cost of maintenance of the station in 1898 was upwards of $6,500. The Mayor has also stated publicly that a saving of $2,500 will be effected by the transfer of the water works to the Department of Public Works, which is about to be consumated.

Adding these two items, a saving of $9,000 is plainly figured. Deducting the $9,000 from $15,379.03, the cost of maintenance last year, and the result is $6,379.03, which should be sufficient for maintenance this year. A little might be added for the cost of maintenance of the pumping sation since Jan. 1, but this has been small as there has been no pumping.

The sum of $6,500 should be sufficient to maintain the Water Department for 1899, and it would not be seriously handicapped with $6,000. Yet the Mayor recommends $10,270.

The report of the City Treasurer for the year showed the income from the water supply was $48,742.49, including $1,899.52 received on account of 1897. The expenditures were $15,379.03 for maintenance, $29,375.00 for interest, and $28,500 for maturing debt, a total expense of $73,254.03; not including $1,010.55 paid on account of 1897 for maintenance, which we suppose was paid from a balance of the 1897 appropriation, and $34,817.60 paid for construction. Were all these expenditures included, the grand cost in 1898 was $109,082.18.

But aside from the last two items, the cost of the Water department to taxpayers, over and above the income, was $24,511.54, or $1.30 per $1,000 valuation, and all this in addition to the water rate which the property owners paid. At the same time the water debt was not reduced as the loan authorized for extensions was $30,000, and the payment on maturing water debt but $28,500.

The maturing water debt this year is $29,500, and if the city is ever to reduce its water debt it is time to begin. This can be done only by making a smaller appropriation for extensions. Many extensions not urgent or necessary were made in 1898, and a much smaller appropriation for 1899 will suffice. The sum of $10,000 should be ample.

The sooner a curfew law goes into effect the better it will be for the peace of mind of the good people who wish to enjoy their evenings undisturbed. The only criticism made on Councilman Packard's proposed ordinance is that the time proposed,—9.30 o'clock,—is too late to reach some of the most serious cases. There seems to be a feeling at Wollaston that nine o'clock would meet the requirements better. If the parents would supplement this ordinance with an occasional dose of oil of birch, vandalism, which for years has run rife in that and other wards, would be pretty thoroughly stamped out. "Boys will be boys" is an old asying, but when it originated it was not supposed that they would be vandals. Vandalism and fun are two different kinds of amusement.

The boys of Co. K answered the country's call in marching to the front, and Quincy is not so poor but what it should hire a band and buy a few fireworks to give the soldiers a warm welcome on their arrival home. Let all be patriotic.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ A woman has paid the death penalty in the electric chair in New York, and justice is satisfied as regards that particular case. Although there has been a regular procession of men shocked into eternity by this modern means of satisfying the requirements of law, the question may well be asked what good is accomplished by the barbarous practice of the continuance of the death penalty on the statue books.—Brockton Times.

☞ The house of representatives in this state made itself silly Monday by frittering away time debating a resolution against the seating of Congressman-elect Roberts of Utah. The resolution was finally adopted, 68 to 59. The Massachusetts Legislature has just about as much to do with this subject as with the tuning of harps in the celestial city or with regulating bills of fare in the hotels of the moon. It had better spend its time attending strictly and industriously to its own calendar and not try to regulate the moral ethics of the whole universe.—Milford Journal.

Twenty-four Tables at Whist.

The weather Wednesday evening prevented many from participating in the whist party given by the members of George L. Gill lodge, Daughters of Rebekah. Enough were present however for twenty-four tables and twenty-six hands were played.

Prizes were awarded as follows:

First to ladies, a silver spoon, to Mrs. L. A. Pendleon of Wollaston, 40 points; second, a vase and violets, to Miss Annie L. Hobart, 40 points; third, fifty visiting cards, to Mrs. Beatrice Porterfield, 9 points; booby, a bottle of catsup, to Carrie M. Hatch.

First to gentlemen, a china card case to F. A. Hobart, 46 points; second, a case and cigars, to George Westland, 44 points; tihrd, fifty cards, to Charles Hersey; booby, a package of tacks, to E. M. Litchfield.

Those in charge were Miss M. Lizzie Furnald, Mrs. Beatrice Porterfield Mrs. Kate A. Hayden, Miss Jennie Davis, Miss Dora E. Good, Archibald McLoud, Arthur W. Stetson and Edward L. Goodridge.

Health Inspector.

A civil service examination for Inspector of the Board of Health has been ordered and will be held in the City Council chamber Saturday morning at 9.45. There are but four applicants to take the examination, viz. James H. Cunningham, Edward Lennon, Albert Keating, William Parker.

Timothy J. Ford, who is now acting as inspector of the board, is not to take the examination for he is now upon the eligible list as Inspector of the Water department, and should he make application as Inspector of the Board of Health his name would be immediately dropped as a water inspector. This indicates that he is sure of being appointed Water inspector in the near future.

Of the four applicants for inspector of the Board of Health, three are veterans and they must be given the preference in case they receive the required per cent.

☞ Baby Carriages and Go Carts. The slickest line on earth, $2.98 to $25.00. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

WOULD HOLD CUBA.

Joseph C. Morse Writes Interestingly from Havana.

Havana, Cuba,
March 16th, 1899.

We arrived here yesterday forenoon after having a break in the machinery, which left us helpless forty miles from the coast in rough water for about three hours.

We were met in the harbor by about thirty small boats, which had awnings, to carry the passengers ashore.

Every hotel had its own boat and a guide to solicit passengers to go to his hotel.

The boat to this hotel (Inglaterra) took fifteen of the passengers from the steamer, which by the way was the "Olivette." We hoisted a spritsail, and landed at the Custom house, where our small luggage was examined before we were allowed to go. We left the key to our trunk with the Custom house officials for them to examine and forward later. We received our trunks at the hotel about six hours after landing.

We anchored very near the wreck of the poor Maine and Mrs. Morse took two snap shots of it.

We were very fortunate about our room at this hotel as by waiting we secured a front one, one flight up, facing on the square, which is covered by foliage.

The hotel keepers here in Cuba had better go to the states and take lessons in running a hotel. Although this hotel is called the best here, still in New York it would be called fourth class. The majority of the rooms have no windows and very little air or light. Not a room in the house with a bath. Two meals only—breakfast from 9 to 12; dinner from 5 to 10.

The police here carry their revolvers and billies in plain sight. I should judge by their appearance that it would take about three of them to handle one American.

The United States soldiers are quartered all about the city, and they look and conduct themselves splendidly.

We had to be examined by the American doctor here before we could purchase our tickets for Florida and had to have still another certificate from him twenty-four hours before leaving on any vessel, or else they will not let you go. This is a precautionary measure against smallpox.

I have tested a good many of their fine Havana cigars here, but I fail to find any which suits my taste as well as the old Waitt & Bond which I bought of John F. Merrill in Quincy and brought with me. The boys at the Granite City club in Quincy who are kicking at the brands they have there and want Key West and Havana had better be contented with our own make.

We stopped six hours in Key West; went over the largest cigar factory there; and also saw cocoanuts, bananas and dates growing. The city is situated on an island about eight miles long by two and one-half wide, and reminded me somewhat, of Nantucket.

We saw turtles there ten feet long by six feet wide.

I like Cuba much better than Florida. The soil here is fertile and rich. Corn is in tassel now, and the early vegetables are on, while in Florida everything was killed by the frost there last month, which by the way is going to hurt her very much. The natives get discouraged and leave their plantations of orange trees, and the people from the north who go to Florida for warm weather will also stop going. They are keeping the streets here very clean since Americans took charge of the city. They also have a very good fire department.

I had a $10 bill changed into Spanish money and they gave me $13 for it.

They have very good horses here and the price for carriage hire is very reasonable. We took a drive this forenoon all through the different camps around the city, and the soldiers seem to be contented and happy, with plenty to eat. No canned beef! Mrs. Morse took two snaps at Morro today, which I hope will turn out all right.

I believe in the United States holding on to this country, now that they have it, as I think that such fertile soil will produce lots of good stuff which we shall want in the future.

No electric cars here, all three horse or mule cars. They drive the oxen here with reins, putting a ring in his nose, and putting the rope between his horns. He has to go along.

MEASLES AT CAMP.

May Delay Muster Out of the Fifth Regiment.

With Co. K, 5th Mass. Regt.,
Camp Wetherill,
Greenville, S. C., Mar. 21.

The 3d Battalion of the 5th Massachusetts, which comprise companies F of Waltham, D of Plymouth, G of Woburn and B of Cambridge were this morning released of provost duty in the city of Greenville. The 201st New York were detailed to finish their tour of duty. The whole battalion will be quarantined on the grounds originally occupied by the 4th Missouri. While on provost duty, several cases of measles were discovered, thereby making it necessary to keep this battalion intact from the other two battalions of the 5th. This time of year down south is when the measles commence to show themselves. K company has been very fortunate up to the present date, no cases have been discovered. The 1st and 2d Battalions will remove their tents from their present site to more favorable grounds. It is not known as yet, whether or not it will become necessary to keep the whole regiment in service until these cases have been disposed of. The officers are awaiting action from the medical department.

The state of affairs as they now stand are critical. The boys of the other two battalions are anxious to ascertain if they will be held after the 31, the date set for mustering out of the regiment.

The 5th has been in hard luck since camping in Greenville. After losing a number of our boys we are again in the midst of another epidemic. This state of affairs is not very encouraging to our boys.

2d Lieutenant Gustafson of K was also detailed to one of the companies while on provost duty. The Lieutenant will also have to go into quarantine.

Private Johnson and Jones have been appointed corporals to fill vacancies in the company.

The weather is at present quite favorable to health, with fine warm days and beautiful moonlight nights. Today the sun is shining brightly and is quite warm, reminding us of our June days. We are in hopes that the weather will remain clear until our mustering out. The new drill schedule has been issued, prepared by Lieutenant Colonel Weaver. It calls for no duty in the afternoon. All ceremonies and drills are held in the morning.

Volunteer.

The letter of Gov. Wolcott upon which the regiment voted reads as follows:

THE GOVERNOR'S REQUEST.

Commonwealth of Massachusetts,
Executive Department,
Boston, March 13, 1899.

Col. J. H. Whitney, Fifth Regt. Mass. Inf. U. S. V., Greenville, S. C.

My Dear Sir: I am receiving numerously signed petitions of persons interested in the welfare of the Fifth Regt. Mass. Inf. U. S. V. requesting "that every effort be made to have the men brought home under the regimental officers and mustered out on Massachusetts soil, and that they be furnished as many properly fitted hospital cars as are needed to transport those of the sick who cannot safely be moved."

I write to inform you that from information that has reached me regarding the wishes of both officers and men of the regiment, that they desire to be mustered out at their present place of encampment, I have not felt it my duty to take any action looking to a change of what I understand to be the purpose of the War Department. I do desire however to say to you that for the honor of Massachusetts, and for other reasons, it seems to me important that if mustered out at Greenville the regiment should return to this Commonwealth either with the entire organization intact or with its several companies as individual units. The people of this Commonwealth and especially the citizens of the several municipalities which have furnished companies to the regiment, desire to extend a hearty welcome home to the men of your command and I believe that for many reasons it would be a disappointment to them, as well as a misfortune in itself, to have the command come home as individuals or in small detachments.

As regards the second prayer of the above petition, I should be glad to be informed whether any provision for drawingroom or hospital cars, should, in your opinion, be made by the Commonwealth to transport hither the sick of the regiment. As I have already informed you, I stand ready at any time to do the utmost in my power to transport such accommodation as is herein suggested or other supplies that may promote the health and comfort of your command. The feeling of anxiety that was perhaps naturally aroused by the lamentable death of certain members of the regiment, I think, has been much allayed by your own letters as well as by other letters that have come from your command.

With best wishes for the continued health and welfare of your command, believe me,

Very truly yours,
[Signed] Roger Wolcott.

BARRELS OF SAMPLES.

Over Two Hundred Thousand Trial Bottles Sent Free.

By special arrangement with the manufacturers of that justly famous Kidney medicine, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the readers of the Daily Ledger are enabled to obtain a trial bottle and pamphlet of valuable medical advice absolutely free, by simply sending their full name and postoffice address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mentioning this paper.

Of course this involves enormous expense to the manufacturers but they have received so many grateful letters from those who have been benefited and cured of the various diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder, and Blood Rheumatism Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation and all weaknesses peculiar to women that they willingly send trial bottles to all sufferers.

Upon investigation it was found that 91 per cent. of those who had used the trial bottle had received such benefit from it that they purchased large sized bottles of their druggists. It matters not how sick you are or how many physicians have failed to help you send for a trial bottle of this great medicine it costs you but a postal card and benefit and cure will most certainly be the result.

Purity Itself

The purer the soap, the more effectual it is and the better it does its work, without harm to clothes or skin. Fairy Soap is absolutely pure—it contains no resin to gum the clothes, no alkali to rot the threads or fade the colors, no coloring matter or impurity of any kind to injure the skin, the finest lace or most delicate fabric.

FAIRBANK'S

is unequaled for toilet, bath, nursery and fine laundry uses, and is more economical than common soaps on account of its lasting qualities and the saving of fabrics. It's handy because it's made in three sizes—a small size for the toilet, a medium size for the bath and nursery, and a large size for the laundry.

MADE A CONFESSION.

John Collins Throws Blame Upon Mrs. Ingersoll In Kidnapping Case.

Woman Said She Had Found the Child In Chicago.

Little Gerald Lapiner Restored to His Mother by an Ohio Judge.

Painesville, O., March 28.—John Collins, who was arrested here Tuesday with Mrs. Ann Ingersoll on the charge of abduction of Gerald Lapiner in Chicago about a year ago, has made full confession.

Collins says he is an old soldier. He was an inmate of the national military home at Los Angeles, Cal. There he met Mrs. Ingersoll. She told him she had a farm at Painesville, and asked him to come east and live with her. They came to Chicago, where they arrived a few days before the last of May, 1898. On Decoration day, Mrs. Ingersoll came to him with the child. She said she had found the little one on the street. They remained in Chicago a few days, and then came east to Painesville.

Collins said he had no suspicion that the child had been abducted, and he believed Mrs. Ingersoll when she said she had found the little one. Collins was held in $300 and Mrs. Ingersoll in $3000 bail for the hearing on Thursday.

The prisoners have secured attorneys and will fight against removal to Chicago, where they have been indicted. Late yesterday notice was served on the county clerk to summon an examining court to pass upon the sanity of Mrs. Ingersoll, which seems to indicate that the defense will be insanity on her part. A hearing was had last night on a writ of habeas corpus and Judge Clark of the common pleas court awarded the custody of the child to Mrs. Lapiner, who has returned to Chicago.

Chicago, March 23.—The grand jury yesterday indicted John Collins and Ann Ingersoll, who are under arrest at Painesville, O., for kidnapping Gerald Lapineer, aged 4. The indictment was drawn under the section which makes the abduction of a child under 12 years of age a felony. Requisition papers will be issued and officers will go to Painesville to bring Collins and the Ingersoll woman to Chicago for trial.

Nine Witnesses Examined.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 23.—The trial of Dr. Nancy A. Guilford, on a charge alleging second degree murder in causing the death of Emma Gill of Southington, may now be said to be fairly begun. When the court opened yesterday one juryman was still lacking. Out of an extra panel of 14 talesmen, 12 men were examined before the jury was complete. The trial proper was then taken up. Nine witnesses in all were examined up to the time of adjournment. In the main their testimony was of a technical character, dealing with the finding of the portions of Emma Gill's body in the Yellow Mill pond, and the various events connected therewith. From the spectators' standpoint the trial was very tedious. All of the witnesses were minutely examined by counsel for the defense, and obliged to go into great detail. Mrs. Guilford stood the ordeal of the trial better than expected. She seemed very nervous, but her health is evidently improving very rapidly.

Story Comes Rather Late.

New York, March 23.—William Johnson, who is serving a term of eight years in Sing Sing prison for burglary, informed the detective bureau here that Susie Marlin, an 11-year-old girl, whose mutilated body was found in a Hell's Kitchen cellar in March, 1894, was murdered by a colored man, James Billings. Johnson stated that Billings told him a few days after the killing of the girl that he had dragged the girl into the cellar after giving her a few pennies, assaulted her, choked her to death and then cut up the body. Billings heard that he was wanted and surrendered himself in Brooklyn yesterday. He denied all knowledge of or participation in the murder.

Dewey's Presence Desired.

Washington, March 23.—A committee of citizens who are arranging for a peace jubilee in Washington next May called at the navy department yesterday to secure, if possible, the attendance of Admiral Dewey on that occasion. Their application was made directly to Secretary Long. They stated that the proposed peace celebration was to be practically national in character, and this would justify the request that the hero of Manila bay be summoned to attend. The secretary replied that he would confer with the president on the subject. It would be a question, he said, simply as to whether or not the occasion would justify the admiral in leaving his duties at Manila.

Serious Rear-Ender.

New Boston, Mich., March 23.—A rear-end collision between two freight trains occurred yesterday on the Flint and Pere Marquette railroad, the result of a heavy fog. Lewis Hales, fireman, was killed, and Joseph Rose, engineer, badly injured. Two brakemen also sustained serious injuries. The damage amounts probably to $100,000.

Poor Folks Won't Suffer.

New York, March 23.—It is said in Wall street that the principal champagne importers of this country have completed a combination and will form a corporation which will control all popular brands of imported champagnes. The new company will be capitalized at $50,000,000, half preferred and half common stock, much of which is to be taken in Europe.

Lodge Goes Abroad.

New York, March 23.—Senator Lodge, his wife and their two sons were passengers on the steamship St. Louis, which sailed for Southampton yesterday. Senator Lodge and his family will make a brief stay abroad. The senator said that he did not care to talk for publication.

ANOTHER TURN ABOUT.

Joseph Fogg, Jr., Entitled to Champion's Belt as a Prevaricator.

Ellsworth, Me., March 23.—Joseph Fogg, Jr., who is now in the county jail here under $5000 bail, awaiting the action of the grand jury, on the charge of perjury for testifying that he assisted William T. Treworgy move the body of Sarah Ware, the victim of the Bucksport murder, and then retracting his story, now says that his first story was true. This statement was the result of the affidavits made by Fogg's parents, that he told them of the moving of the body before the murder was known by the authorities. Sheriff Hooper read the affidavits to Fogg yesterday. At first Fogg said his father and mother had sworn to a lie. Then he said he did not remember whether he had told them or not. Having thus committed himself, he asked to talk with Sheriff Hooper alone, and then told him in confidence that he did help Treworgy move the body, and did tell his father and mother and Joseph Mink before the body was discovered.

He said he retracted his story and made himself a perjurer under threats from interested parties. Fogg's retraction of his first story removed the only incriminating evidence against Treworgy, and he was admitted to bail. Fogg's latest story takes the case back where it was before. County Attorney Bunker has been notified, and it is not known whether steps will be taken to have Treworgy recommitted to jail or not.

Federal Offenders.

Boston, March 23.—The United States district court grand jury made a partial report yesterday. Charles F. Barrows, a letter carrier at the Newton postoffice, was indicted for the embezzlement of letters. He pleaded guilty. William Franklin, a footless colored youth, indicted for the larceny of a mail pouch, pleaded not guilty. William L. Grady, a clerk in the Dorchester postoffice, is indicted for the alleged embezzlement of a letter containing money. Charles E. Clark, a Springfield letter carrier, for stealing letters containing money, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to the Massachusetts reformatory at Concord for two years. Clarence Hill of Hudson, aged 16, for operating a device and artifice to defraud. He pleaded guilty.

Dr. Kennedy's Trial.

New York, March 23.—The entire day was occupied before Justice Williams in the criminal branch of the supreme court yesterday in securing a jury for the trial of Dr. Kennedy, charged with the murder of Emiline C. Reynolds. Eleven jurors were chosen. A sensational turn was given to the trial when Lawyer Friend moved that the panel of talesmen in the case be excused, on the ground that they had been tampered with. Brandon E. Blanchard, a broker, admitted that in a conversation in a restaurant he "might have expressed an opinion about the merits of the case." "You are excused for the term," the judge said, after a severe cross-examination. Lawyer Friend's motion, however, was denied.

Dr. Cole's Conviction.

Albany, March 23.—Governor Roosevelt has received a letter from Rev. David Cole, who attended Mrs. Place at the time of her execution, and who was the first person to bring the question of her alleged insanity before the governor. In his letter Mr. Cole says: "The clear confession of Mrs. Place at a late hour having swept away all ground for the impression under which I had so confidently rested of her irresponsibility for her act in killing her stepdaughter, I hasten to say that I have nothing left to my manhood sense but to sustain your action in her case throughout. In your position, it was your duty to execute our law as it is, and your course has been beyond criticism."

Forty-Nine Still Missing.

New York, March 23.—Forty-nine persons, who are supposed to have been in the Windsor hotel when it was destroyed on Friday, are yet unaccounted for. No bodies were recovered yesterday, but shortly after 6 o'clock last night a fragment of charred flesh was found on the Fifth avenue side of the ruins, near where other bodies were found, but deeper down. Rain interfered to some extent with rapid progress of the work, and it was not until the afternoon that the workers succeeded in getting steadily down to the removal of the debris. The fire department still has its lines about the ruins, isolating a considerable section of one of the busiest parts of the city.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Horace Wall, a theatrical manager, shot and killed himself in his room in the Putnam House, New York.

An order for the organization of a new company at the United States barracks at Columbus, O., is believed to mean that all posts in the United States will be garrisoned by recruits, while the regulars will be sent to the Philippines. The cavalry only is expected to be retained for duty in the west.

A brakeman named Meyers was killed in the switch yards of the Central New England railway at Maybrook, N. Y.

S. B. Armour of the Armour Packing company of Kansas City is reported dangerously ill with pneumonia. He is 70 years old.

The Minneapolis went out of commission at the League island navy yard yesterday. The Monadnock sailed from Hong Kong for Manila, the Marietta arrived at La Guayra and the Machias at Caimenera.

Paul Deschanel, president of the French chamber of deputies, will marry, it is reported, a wealthy American.

Two cars came into collision in the Boston subway and passengers in each were considerably shaken up, while one man was forced to go to the hospital to have a number of cuts about the head dressed.

Youngstown, O., iron operators assert that the bar mill combine, which includes three rolling mills in that city, is now a certainty.

The proposed flint glass tableware combination has practically been formed and will soon be ready for business. Ninety-eight percent of the manufacturers have given options on their plants.

MILES AS AN EXAMPLE

Of Courage That Dares Duty Even Though It Brings Calumny.

President Eliot Pays Tribute to the General.

Harvard Boys Turn Out In Force to Greet Their Distinguished Visitor.

Cambridge, Mass., March 23.—General Nelson A. Miles addressed the students of Harvard university in Saunders' theater yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the Harvard Republican club. In order to insure the admission of members to the university, tickets were given out in the yard.

Without exception in recent years, Harvard's reception to General Miles was warmer than any remembered by the present body of students. No returning victorious eleven, not even the one that came back to Cambridge last November with the scalp of Yale, has ever received more heartfelt cheers from a large body of men than did General Miles.

General Miles' remarks were entirely impersonal, and contained no reference to the recent war or to the controversies concerning the war management. President Eliot, however, made an impressive eulogy of the man, who, he said, had shown the same courage and fortitude under calumny and misrepresentation as he had shown in camp and battle. This unstinted praise, coming from a man who measures his words as carefully as President Eliot does, made a great impression on his audience, whose sympathy was plainly manifested.

In introducing General Miles, President Eliot alluded to the fact that two years ago, before the war for Cuba had been thought of, the general had been given the degree of doctor of laws by Harvard university. "This was done," said President Eliot, "because he had won his position as commanding general by faithful service and high character. The universities are always glad to see these qualifications win recognition in any department of the public service." The president went on to say that General Miles was a Massachusetts soldier, and that from the earliest times Massachusetts had been pre-eminently the fighting state of the Union. "It is not," he said, "because General Miles is a doctor of laws of Harvard university that you have come to this place today. It is because you would like to see a man who has many times faced mortal peril for his country. Many of the men who enlisted from this university, last spring, did so particularly because they wished to know what that experience was like. But, after all, this ability to keep one's head and to look after the needs of one's self and others in moments of mortal peril is something that many men can cultivate. Cowardice is rare in our race. There is, however, a higher kind of courage, which at the expense of calumny and obloquy seeks fearlessly to make known the truth. And this is the sort of courage that General Miles has shown during the last four months."

General Miles received a second ovation when he rose to speak. He began with a few anecdotes, illustrating the way in which different men were affected by the dangers of battle. He urged the students to make the most of their advantages—advantages, he said, which were greater than those enjoyed by Washington, Franklin or Lincoln—and whether in civil or military life to use their endowments for the good of the country.

At the close of the address, General Miles shook hands with several hundred professors and students, who filed past him on the platform of the theatre.

On Republican Lines.

San Juan, March 23.—The leaders of the Radical party have decided to organize a Republican party in Porto Rico, with a thoroughly American platform. They will endeavor to unite all enemies. The platform will endorse the policy of President McKinley, will pledge fidelity to the American flag, hail the prospect of annexation to the United States, will express the belief that the Porto Rican courts can be trusted with the civil government of the island, but will express willingness to await the action of congress. The platform will also favor free suffrage, public schools, reform in taxation, free trade with the United States, the establishment of a gold basis for the currency, the American system for the judiciary, and will pledge the party to lend every effort towards civilization, and to teach the inhabitants to become loyal to the United States.

Ordinary Disorders.

Washington, March 23.—The war department has no information concerning the disturbances in Havana. It is said that General Brooke has not thought them of sufficient importance to report to the department. For this reason the troubles are not regarded as serious, and are not taken to mean that there is any revolt against the American government in the island, but simply disorders that might occur anywhere.

Shoe Cutters to Organize.

Brockton, Mass., March 23.—About 50 men, representing the cutters in this shoe district, met here in mass meeting last night. It was decided to perfect an organization and establish a uniform price of $2.50 per day for all cutters of outsides. A committee of seven was chosen to interest the cutters in the matter and to report April 5, when the organization will be perfected.

Noted Clergyman Dead.

London, March 23.—Rev. James A. Spurgeon, brother of the late Rev. Charles Haddon Spurgeon, for many years the celebrated minister of the Metropolitan tabernacle in London, was found dead in a railway carriage last evening on the arrival here of the Brighton express. It is supposed that death resulted from apoplexy.

Allen Says He Didn't Say It.

Lewiston, Me., March 23.—O. L. Allen, secretary to Speaker Reed, was seen by a Journal reporter at Alfred yesterday regarding the interview printed Tuesday in which he was made to say that Mr. Reed would not be a candidate for the presidential nomination in 1899. Mr. Allen emphatically denied having made such a statement, and said he did not know whether Mr. Reed would be a candidate or not.

DRINK GRAIN-O

after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about 1-4 as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

THE LAND OF LIBERTY.

General Miles on the Blessings of Independent Government.

Should Not Be Controlled by Partisanship.

Reference to Countries Which Have Recently Come Under Our Protection.

Fitchburg, Mass., March 24.—Though the weather was wretched yesterday the reception accorded General Miles and his wife was no less cordial than that accorded them in the city of Boston.

After lunch at the Johnsonia hotel, the party were escorted to the high school, where upwards of 1100 pupils were assembled, and sang a number of patriotic songs. The general spoke to them briefly, repeating some of the incidents as narrated in his address at Harvard university. A wreath of laurel and roses was presented to Mrs. Miles on behalf of the pupils.

A public reception was given the visitors in city hall, when over 3000 people shook the general's hand.

The evening banquet was preceded by a reception. Intense enthusiasm was aroused when the general entered the banquet hall, his entrance being the signal for long continued applause. President Rolph of the Merchants' association presided, and introduced Walter Perley Hall as toastmaster. Mayor Anderson was the first speaker, and briefly extended the welcome of the city. H. A. Goodrich followed with a poem complimentary to General Miles. The guest of the evening followed in an address, "Our Country."

General Miles said: "I am gratified to return once more to the scenes where I spent the happiest hours of my life, for they bring back pleasant recollections and sacred memories. I appreciate the reception of my fellow citizens and the cordial greetings of relatives and friends. Going back to the scenes of my youth I recall an incident that occurred many years ago while attending a place of worship in this city, at a time when our country was enveloped by dark and threatening clouds of impending war. It was after long years of prosperous peace, at a time when there was a general feeling of alarm, and anxious forebodings took possession of the people of our land. Doubt, uncertainty and almost despair filled the hearts of the strongest citizens as to the future of our country. It was a time, when, in every sphere of life, all men proclaimed and encouraged patriotic sentiments by every possible agency. On that occasion, as I recall it, at the close of the services, were read the beautiful lines and the whole congregation joined in singing our national anthem: 'My Country 'Tis of Thee.'

"I well remember these sentiments; how impressively they instilled into the hearts of all a feling of confidence and of devotion to the best interests of our beloved republic. We have seen our country pass through all the phases of gloom and adversity, and even to the very breach of dissolution. Again we have seen it restored to the firmament of universal confidence, and to absolute and imperishable security.

"What a government it is! When we realize the blessings and advantages of living in such an age as the present, and enjoying the benefits of such a government, well may we consider our advantage over other peoples of the earth. The republic established by the fathers, suitable and applicable to 3,000,000 people, we find equally adapted and highly appreciated by 80,000,000. And what a country in which to place free people. A virgin continent teeming with all the riches that contribute to the welfare and happiness of mankind; undeveloped treasures which have remained dormant for ages, only awaiting an enlightened people to contribute to their happiness, prosperity, comfort and wealth such as have never been known heretofore in the history of the world. Our republic has given shelter, protection, peace and prosperity to all the races that have desired to make their abode with us. We are today enjoying the largest measure of liberty, with the least restriction of government and with the least restraint for the enjoyment of our rise and in the pursuit of happiness of any people. The difference in all the elements conducive to our present liberty within the last 100 years from the constitutional government has been unequalled and unsurpassed in all history. Our fathers builded better than they knew. Such consummate wisdom has never been exhibited before in the forming of a constitutional government; drafted into three coordinate branches, each a check upon the other, with all blending and working into one harmonious whole.

"There are some great problems presented to the American people that must be met and solved. This nation is becoming too great to be controlled by personal interest, and the interest too important to be controlled by partisanship. Any combination of a few for the interest of a part, regardless of the welfare, the interests, the rise and the hopes of the great mass of our citizens can never prevail.

"Our relations in the past with all our people has established a government which, not only to those who have followed from other countries have found refuge, but those who have recently come under our protection and flag, must be governed by absolute honesty and sterling integrity and unquestionable justice. The rise and liberties of every state in every section of our country should be more secure and perpetual than what we are willing to accord to those who have recently thrown off the control of the government that was to them distasteful, whether they be in the far-distant Orient or the nearer Occident.

"I have the utmost confidence in the intelligence and patriotism of the American people, and there is no community in which I have greater confidence, or for whom I have greater respect, than for those living within the borders of my own native state, the commonwealth of Massachusetts. She has blazed the way for enlightenment, progress, general education, good government and progressive ideas for 100 years, and she will continue to hold her place in the front rank of enlightened civilization."

The sentiment "Our Distinguished Guest" was responded to by Congressman Weymouth. Albert Clarke, secretary of the Home Market club, spoke to the toast "Conditions of Prosperity." "Old Memories" was responded to by S. A. Stevens.

Secretary Long's Generosity.

Marblehead, Mass., March 24.—Soon after Captain B. H. McCalla of the cruiser Marblehead had returned from blockading duties in Cuban waters he expressed a desire to present to the town of Marblehead one of the bronze field pieces captured by the Marblehead from the fort of Caya del Toro. At the town meeting last evening a letter from Secretary Long was read, in which he says that while the navy department cannot present the gun to the town, it will place the same in its keeping for an indefinite period. The offer was unanimously accepted.

Not on the Program.

London, March 24.—The Vienna correspondent of The Standard says that the popular actress, Lolo Banzolla, exclaiming, "'Tis love that kills," shot herself with a revolver on the stage in full sight of the audience during a performance at Cilli, Styria, and was removed in a dying condition.

Eight Years For Manslaughter.

Woodsville, N. H., March 24.—Alfonso Smith was yesterday sentenced to eight years at hard labor in the state prison for manslaughter, being charged with killing Carlos A. Grant at Orford Sept. 7 last. Through counsel he pleaded nolo, the attorney claiming mitigating circumstances.

MUNKACSY IS DYING.

One of the World's Greatest Artists Is Within Walls of an Insane Asylum.

Berlin, March 24.—Michael Munkacsy, the famous Hungarian painter, who has been secluded in a hospital for the insane at Bonn for more than two years, is dying.

MUNKACSY.

Munkacsy is one of the greatest painters of the century. His "Christ Before Pilate" is regarded as one of the great masterpieces among the world's paintings, and his "Christ on Calvary" and the "Last Hours of Mozart" are scarcely less renowned. His "Christ Before Pilate" was bought by John Wanamaker of Philadelphia for $300,000.

Munkacsy has been virtually dead to the world since the paralytic shock which, in the latter part of 1896, compelled him to abandon all hope of ever working at his easel again. At that time he was at Goldesburg. For months he sat brooding and melancholy, until, in an excess of madness, he suddenly attacked and nearly strangled his attendant and his physician. He was immediately removed to an insane asylum, from which he was removed to his present retreat.

Jefferson Dinner and Lord's Supper.

Birmingham, Ala., March 24.—William J. Bryan spent yesterday in Birmingham and was given an enthusiastic reception. "What the Lord's supper is to a Christian, so a Jefferson banquet is to a Democrat. Just as a good Christian would revolt at having the sacrament administered by an infidel, so a good Democrat objects to having a Jefferson banquet presided over by Perry Belmont," was the epigrammatical manner in which Mr. Bryan referred to the much talked of New York banquet.

New York, March 24.—Perry Belmont, president of the Democratic club, was shown an interview in which Senator Teller was quoted as saying: "The members of the Democratic club are Republicans masquerading under Democratic colors." Mr. Belmont in reply issued the following written statement "Senator Teller is the leader of the silver Republicans—the allies of Mr. Bryan, upholding with him the Chicago platform, and naturally uniting with him in his purpose to create discord and division in the ranks of the Democratic party."

Jail Officials Exonerated.

Lowell, Mass., March 24.—Judge Hadley, before whom was held the recent inquest on the death of Charles W. Mayotte, whose body was found in a cell in the Lowell jail Jan. 17, concludes a voluminous report on the court's finding, with the statement that the cause of Mayotte's death was acute alcoholic poisoning, "and that his death did not result wholly or in part from the unlawful act of any other person or persons.'

On Road to Recovery.

Santiago, March 24.—Mr. Sherman is feeling much better, and his physicians regard his condition as much improved. During a part of yesterday afternoon he sat on the deck of the Paris viewing Santiago. The United States cruiser Chicago is expected here today, and Mr. Sherman will be immediately transferred to her. The anxiety of his relatives on the Paris is now virtually at an end.

A "Harmless" Lunatic's Deed.

Middletown, N. Y., March 24.—Stephen Carmichael, one of Orange county's insane paupers at the state homeopathic hospital, flew into a rage because of words addressed to him by John Daniel, a bed-ridden patient. Carmichael grabbed a large brush and struck Daniel over the head. The latter died within an hour. Carmichael has been considered harmless for some years past.

Counterfeiter Sentenced.

Boston, March 24.—Carl Hatch, 17 years old, who was arrested some time ago on the charge of making and passing counterfeit 5 and 10-cent pieces, pleaded guilty yesterday to an indictment in the United States district court and was sent to the Massachusetts reformatory for two years.

FOR RENT.
Furnished Rooms Open All Night.

We wish to announce the arrival of spring. Possibly you didn't know that spring, gentle spring, had sprung. "She have."

You may find a little snow in patches up on President's Hill or the ground may be a little frozen this morning, but, nevertheless, spring has sprung, for a few unmistakable signs have been noticed lately. Some Robins have been reported by Chief Joe Hayden. Spring beds have been noticed in the furniture stores, and just now there seems to be a greater variety of spring water to select from for culinary purposes than usual.

As our ad. man was walking down Kneeland street in Boston, last week, he saw a sign that made him think that at least one man thought it was going to be warm; for on one of the buildings there he read: "For Rent. Furnished rooms open all night." That man surely wouldn't expect to rent a room that was open all night, to a man in cold weather.

The surest signs of spring are at the Quincy Clothing Co.'s counters, nowdays. New things for spring. When they say new things it MEANS NEW things. It don't mean things that were once upon a time new, or that were new last spring and have been brushed up and fixed up for this spring; but it means goods that were made for them for spring of 1899.

Every part of our store is showing new things. On some counters you find new Men's Suits, new Pants, new Spring Overcoats. The Boys' counters show new Suits, and the leader, the Little Magnet Suit, all wool, double seat and knees can be found there at $1.98.

The Furnishing counters show new Hats, new Neckwear, new Shirts, new Gloves, and new Hosiery. Is fact, every corner of our store has something new in it. Bought to be sold at the cheap store prices.

We invite you to look through our store at new things we have bought for your benefit—and ours. We caution you about looking at the Spring Overcoats unless you want one—for you can't help buying one when you see the nobby ones at $5.50, the swell ones at $7.50 and the top notchers from $9.98 to $16 00.

Legislative hearing.
Attractive new house to let.

Good Afternoon.

That was a significant paragraph in the communication which accompanied the annual estimates of Mayor Keith and City Treasurer Burke which reads:

"If, however, the bill to refund a portion of the City Debt, which is now before the Legislature, becomes a law, and the Council avails itself of its provisions, the necessities of the departments may be satisfied and at the same time a lower tax rate may be secured."

While heartily in favor of refunding a portion of the maturing debt of 1899, for the relief of the taxpayers, we did not anticipate that appropriations for current expenses would be substituted. In that event there would be no relief for the taxpayers.

In 1898 the amount which could be raised under the $12 per $1,000 limit on the average valuation, was $210,270.31. This year it is $217,938.20. The increase of $7,667.89 should meet all the extra demand of 1899 over 1898, particularly as the water and sewer and debt accounts are not included within the limit.

Last year the Mayor's departments were given $150,165.00 within the limit, and the School Committee $95,000.00, a total of $245,165.00. This year the Mayor wants $159,525.13, an increase of $9,360.13; and the School Committee $98,500, an increase of $3,500. The combined increase is $12,860.13, against an increase of $7,667.89 in the limit. Such an increase will not be allowed under the law unless the receipts of 1899 outside of taxes are to be $5,000 larger. They were estimated at over $35,000 in 1898.

Quoting further from the communication of the Mayor and Treasurer:

"As most of these (departments) naturally require a larger amount each year, we have found great difficulty in bringing their estimates within the sum specified. In almost every instance we have been obliged to reduce the sums asked for by the heads of departments, and we fear that in many cases the efficiency of the public service will be impaired, if the appropriations are made as here indicated."

But some have not forgotten a part of the Mayor's inaugural, which led them to expect unusual economy. It reads as follows:

"So much for the amount we can raise and spend. Our next thought should be devoted to seeing how much of this we can avoid raising and still have the city's affairs managed properly. On this point we shall have need to exercise all our wisdom and by so doing we can gain the hearty support of our conservative fellow citizens in our efforts to lighten the burden of taxation which weighs upon them so heavily. The old question, "How to have an unlimited expenditure with a limited income?" will always be before us."

The Mayor in his inaugural address made a great point also against raising the valuation in order to keep down the tax rate, but now he complains because the valuation is not large enough to net the necessary revenue for current expenses.

It is a singular state of affairs when the City Council, which represents the assembled voters as a board of directors represents stockholders of a corporation cannot say in what direction the sewer system of the city shall be extended. The Sewer Commissioners are solely an administrative board, and the city charter says they shall never legislate. It would seem as if the Council had a right to know where the board desires to extend the sewer. Failing in this, it should refuse to make any general appropriation for extensions. If the City Council believes the sewer should first be extended to Brewers Corner or to Quincy Point, or to Atlantic let it make a special appropriation for the purpose, naming the streets. Certainly the money could not be used for any other streets, and we doubt very much if the commissioners would refuse to make the desired extension.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ A Boston clergyman told his congregation last Sunday that the ideal church does not exist outside of our imagination. No other ideal human institution exists outside of our imagination, either. The fact that it exists there is evidence that we are on the way towards it. If it did not exist in the imagination first, it would never exist at all, as no forward movement is ever made without a dreaming about it beforehand. The fact that the ideal church or the ideal society does exist in the imagination is one of the best encouragements to hope that sometime there will be a living approximation to it.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ Praise your own town! Be proud of its fire boys; of its homes; of its institutions! Whenever you have occasion speak well of its every interest, and do your own part to bring to a realization the best condition of which it is possible—morally, socially, educationally.—Beverly Times.

☞ The Springfield Republican is still hysterical over the "slaughter in the Philippines." The solicitude of of the Republican for the Filipinos is most touching. How much better off were they under Spanish rule?—Brockton Enterprise.

☞ Those who are tired of this world may be interested in knowing that Sir Robert Ball, an authority, asserts that within the relatively narrow sphere to which human observation is confined, there are not less than 300,000,000 worlds, in fact enough for everyone to have a world of his own.—Greenville Hera'd.

In Good Spirits.

A Washington dispatch of March 23 to the Herald says:

Maj. John A. Johnston in charge of the mustering division of the adjutant-general's office received a letter from Lieut. Col. Weaver of the 5th Massachusetts today stating that the regiment would leave Greenville, S. C., on a special train on the evening of March 31 or the morning of April 1, for Boston arriving in the latter place some time during Monday April 3.

The regiment will parade through the streets of the city after which it will disband the members proceeding to their respective homes. The members of the 5th will receive 50 cents mileage for every 20 miles between Greenvillle and their homes and an additional 30 cents for rations. The men will have to pay their railroad fare out of this, but the arrangement will be a great deal better for the men. Instead of getting a furlough they will receive an extra month's pay.

Col. Weaver adds that he is glad to say that "perfect harmony exists in the regiment and that we are going home in glee."

Dixon Coming.

Rev. J. K. Dixon, formerly the pastor of the Warren Avenue Baptist church of Boston, will speak in Hancock hall on Sunday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. His subject will be "shipwrecks." All men are invited to hear him.. Admission free.

Civil Trial List.

The following cases are marked for trial at the civil session of the District Court next Tuesday:

17—Hastings vs. Hall.
28—Gillooly vs. Douglass and tr.
41—Shea vs. City of Quincy.

CO. K RECEPTION.

The Arrangments Taking Shape.

A Parade on the Day of Return.

A Banquet and Jubliee at a Later Date.

The Committee on Public Welfare of the city, who were appointed to act in conjunction with the Mayor and President Sidelinger of the City Council in a reception to Co. K of the Fifth Regiment on its return after being mustered out, met Thursday evening. Mayor Keith presided. After some talk as to the best method of receiving the boys, it was decided to invite the Grand Army and Sons of Veterans to meet the company on its arrival from Boston with the reception committee, and escort them with a band of music of the Braintree line where special cars will take the Braintree boys home.

This is all that was accomplished at Thursday night's meeting. Another meeting however will be held Saturday evening at which the Y. M. C. A. committee will be present, when final arrangements will be completed for the banquet which has been proposed.

The Adjutant General is to be consulted to see if the company can retain its arms for the parade in Quincy.

Cars Wrecked and Burned.

Harvard, Mass., March 24.—On the Worcester and Nashua division of the Boston and Maine railroad yesterday a freight train known as the Nashua extra ran into the rear end of freight No. 57, which was standing opposite the Still River station. Both trains were bound for Nashua. No. 57 had stopped at Still River, and freight was being unloaded from one of the 38 cars that composed the train. Owing to a storm, the engineer of the extra did not see the stationary train until it was too late to avoid a collision. Seven cars of the regular freight and the engine and four cars of the extra were derailed, while the tracks were torn up for a long distance. Coals from the engine of the extra set fire to the wreck, and 11 cars were entirely consumed, together with nearly all their contents.

Nancy Regains Composure.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 24.—At the close of the third day of the trial of Nancy A. Guilford the state was still engaged in endeavoring to prove the fact that the particular crime alleged has been committed. It is evident that the state and the defense also is considering each step with great care and going into every point in minute detail. The witnesses introduced by the state yesterday testified chiefly to the disposition of the various packages containing the dismembered body of Emma Gill after they were found, and the subsequent identification of the body as that of the Southington girl. Mrs. Guilford is, apparently, regaining her health rapidly and seems to have her nerves under good control.

Reed Stayed Behind.

Brunswick, Ga., March 23.—President McKinley and party left Jekyl island yesterday on the return trip to Thomasville to complete his stay in the south. Both the president and Vice President Hobart are in better health as the result of their trip. A large part of the island colony boarded the cutter Colfax and steamed about the harbor with the president to Brunswick, where they bade him adieu. Speaker Reed remained at Jekyl at the San Sousi apartment house.

Sagamore Sunk.

Providence, March 23. — The four-masted Sagamore met with disaster while coming up the bay yesterday. Just south of Prudence island the big schooner struck Fiske rock. The sharp rock pierced the hull of the Sagamore and she settled to the bottom. Her cargo of coal must be lightered, and there will be heavy expense in getting the schooner ready for business again. A snowstorm and a buoy out of position are the causes of the casualty to the Sagamore.

Worth Receiving.

Buffalo, March 23.—Every employe of the Buffalo Smelting works, the local branch of the Calumet and Hecla Mining company, yesterday received an envelope containing a bonus of 10 percent of the wages earned during the past year. The gift to the employes is in lieu of an increase in wages.

NEEDS A GUARDIAN.

Serious Charges Against Officials of Town of Hull.

A serious state of affairs exists at Hull and Nantasket when at a hearing before the Legislature such charges can be openly made in a document presented by the counsel. Where there is so much smoke there must be considerable fire. The Journal says:

The legislative committee on Liquor Law gave a hearing yesterday on a bill and petition of F. G. Knight for the establishment of a board of Police for the town of Hull.

Harvey H. Pratt, Esq., appeared as counsel for the petitioner, and put in memorandum and specifications, 15 in number, why the bill should pass. The document was as follows:

The Selectmen, being the licensing power have used their official position to grant licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors to themselves and their partners in business.

The Selectmen have granted a license for the sale of intoxicating liquor to persons who paid a town official a large sum of money for his influence with the board in securing it.

The Selectmen have granted club licenses to innkeepers who, being unable to obtain under the Limitation law a license to sell liquor, have for this purpose formed clubs for the promotion of literature, music, good fellowship and sociability in their respective hotels, and thus violated the law.

The Selectmen, being the granting power, have, with their friends and relatives, organized themselves into a street railway corporation, given to themselves and their friends as such corporation a location for tracks and poles on the public streets of Hull, and, while such corporation existed only on paper, sold out its location and franchises for a large sum of money.

The Selectmen have, without authority and at the request of the purchasers of the franchise, mentioned in specification 4, relocated and rebuilt a sidewalk on Nantasket avenue in Hull in order that the tracks of the corporation might occupy a more desirable location.

Two members of the present Board of Selectmen have each received a large sum of money for their influence in causing the plant of the Hull Electric Light and Power Company to be purchase by the town at an exorbitant price.

One member of the Board of Selectmen has received a large sum of money for protection of gamblers in the prosecution of their games and business.

The police have been derelict of their duty in enforcing the law relating to the sale of intoxicating liquors.

The police have used threats to extort money from trades-people on Nantasket Beach.

The police have received large sums of money for protection to illegal liquor sellers, gamblers, and other offenders against the law in conducting their unlawful business.

The police have been derelict of their duty in enforcing the law against gambling.

Members of the police force while on duty have openly drank liquor at public bars and visited houses of prostitution for diversion and pastime.

The police have substituted fictitious persons for the real offenders in court.

The police have acted as "go-betweens," or middle men, from gamblers to men who have been cheated of their money at unlawful games.

The Selectmen have caused the summer census to be improperly and inaccurately enumerated in order that a larger number of liquor licenses might be granted than could lawfully be issued.

WHISTLE MISSED.

One at Water Station Not to be Relied Upon.

The Fire department is considerably handicapped just at present owing to the discontinuance of the automatic whistle that was located on the pumping station of the water works. There are a number of firemen who reside in this vicinity and at night they depend entirely upon the whistle to be notified in case of an alarm.

Mr. Spear who was the engineer at the pumping station has been discharged as such but has been given his rent in return for keeping the machinery in order and running a low fire.

Up to a week ago he was required to keep up sufficient steam simply to blow the whistle but as this was asking too much without a salary and also required considerable extra coal the Water department decided to curtail and hereafter there will not be sufficient steam at any time to blow the whistle automatically. If Mr. Spear is at the station the whistle may be blown by hand as was done for the school signal on Thursday.

Chief Williams when seen about the matter said the loss of the steam whistle was a serious one. Residents on Quincy avenue objected to having it located on the electric light station and this was not really the proper place for it. He had been trying to find some place at South Quincy but had been unsuccessful.

There were a number of places where there was plenty of steam for daytime but no place where 80 pounds pressure could be had at night. He had the matter under consideration and would probably recommend that a striker be placed on the bell in the Swedish Lutheran church on Granite street or that if such a thing were possible to have the whistle operated by compressed air whose pressure could be maintained by electricity.

MILTON.

It is expected that the Selectmen will make their appointments at tonight's meeting, and as some changes are anticipated there are several anxious ones.

A little son of Mr. J. F. Reed is quite ill with pneumonia.

Mrs. A. P. McClarne is remodelling her house on Bryant avenue.

Mr. A. A. Jones and family have returned from their extended visit to New Hampshire, and are occupying their new house on Edge Hill road.

The entertainment at the Baptist church last week was largely attended. There was vocal and instrumental music and a sale of home-made candy.

Rev. Nathan Hunt, formerly pastor of the Baptist church, but who is now located in Maine, has been visiting friends in town this week.

The Ladies' Sewing circle of the Congregational church hold a social at Ellsworth hall this evening. An old-fashioned spelling class will be one of the attractions.

Rev. Barnabas T. Sakar will preach on christian life in Japan at the Mission of Our Saviour church Sunday evening at 7 o'clock.

The Thursday Evening club held its regular meeting this week and passed a pleasant evening with games, etc.

There are some kicks over the recent appointments made by the Selectmen in the street department, but that was naturally to be expected.

WEYMOUTH.

As next Sunday will be Palm Sunday it will be observed in a proper spirit at Trinity church, Weymouth. The services and music will be in harmony with the day and Rev. William Hyde will preach special Palm Sunday sermons both morning and evening. The morning subject will be "The Prophetic Guest Chamber" and the evening subject "The Entry of Christ into Jerusalem."

As next week will be Holy Week the Parish Guild of Trinity church, Weymouth will hold no meeting during the week but instead it will meet on Thursday evening, April 6.

Co. K ANXIOUS.

Looking Forward to Parade in Quincy.

With Co. K, 5th Mass. Reg't.,
Camp Wetherill,
Greenville S. C., Mar. 22,

The first battalion has moved their quarters to that previously occupied by the 3d battalion.

No new cases of measles have yet been discovered in the 1st or 2d battalions.

The 3d battalion that is camped about 1 1-4 miles from the regimental camp on the 4th Missouri camp, was this morning examined by the medical department, the result being that three new cases of measles were discovered.

The 5th Massachusetts again mourns the loss of another member of their command. At 10 o'clock this morning the medical department reported to Captain Butler of D company of Plymouth, that Private Charles J. Homer had succumbed to that dreaded disease known as typho-pneumonia. His remains will be escorted to the depot tomorrow afternoon. It is painful to note that this is the thirteenth victim, and our boys are so near musing out.

The escort to the colors and troop parade was this morning reviewed by Lieutenant Colonel Weaver. K company had the honor to escort the colors. Captain Neilson was acting major of the 2d battalion, while Lieut. Whitney was acting battalion adjutant. Private James Dennison better known to our boys as "Major" Dennison, secured an elegant snapshot of K company, while they were "at present arms," previous to the colors being taken under guard.

The boys of K company are anxious that their commander, Captain Neilson shall parade with them through Quincy and Braintree. Captain Neilson is held in the highest respect and honor by the whole company. K company will in all probability parade with five commissioned officers, viz. Major Morrison, (an excommander of K), Captain Neilson, 1st Lieutenant Whitney, 1st Lieutenant Spear and 2d Lieutenant Colbert.

The boys are counting the number of remaining days. One called out this morning at reveille, that the company only had 9 more days and a breakfast.

Clearing weather has lasted long enough to allow the troop parade of this morning to be uninterrupted. This afternoon a rain storm set in with all force. The health of K boys is O. K. VOLUNTEER.

Cabin Passengers.

The following from a letter to a Tennessee paper will be read with interest as the captain was a Quincy boy.

"We were on a steamer en route to Cienfuegos; The passengers were a mixed multitude: American soldiers and civilians, Cubans of all grades; and a scattering of Germans and French. It was a very agreeable surprise to me to meet with Major Tyler, of Virginia, who is one of our paymasters and who was accompanied by his Chief Clerk, Mr. Hale, and a guard from the Fourth Virginia Regiment under Capt. Harry H. Sheen, the guard was made up of a very gentlemanly set of young fellows. It was easy to see that they had come from good homes.

An amusing incident happened in connection with the accommodations provided for them. The captain of the vessel, a Spaniard, insisted that they should go to the lower deck to get their meals. To his amazement Capt. Sheen objected, and was sustained by Major Tyler. "The cabin tables is for officers and gentlemen," said the Spaniard. "That may be," said Sheen, "but the presumption is always that an American soldier is a gentleman." Well, the men ate in the cabin.

When we reached Cienfuegos, the Spanish captain went at once to General Bates' headquarters and entered a formal complaint. Capt. Sheen followed him, and a compromise was effected, according to the terms of which the men were to be allowed the privileges of first-class passengers and the fact was to be formally certified to the owners of the boat.

A more remarkable certificate than the one which Capt. Sheen actually gave it would be hard to imagine. It was about this way: "I hereby certify that as lower deck of the steamer "Josefita" was too filthy to be occupied by any decent man. I insisted that the men under my command should have their meals in the cabin." Whether this unique document proved perfectly satisfactory to all parties I cannot say. Certainly the owners of the boat must be easily pleased if they are willing to agree to such terms.

A CARD.

The undersigned does hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cold or cough. He also warrants a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or no pay.

CANCER CURED
BY ABSORPTION
NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—if was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

A FIERCE RACE WAR.

Negroes In Arkansas and Mississippi Victims of Lynch Law.

Indefinite Number Killed In the Former State.

Three Taken From a Constable and Shot to Death In the Latter.

Richmond, Ark., March 24. — This county (Little River) is in the throes of a fierce race war, the white population having killed an indefinite number of negroes, it being the sequel to a plot by black men to pillage and kill.

The bodies of the victims of the mob's vengeance are hanging to the limbs of trees in various parts of the county. The country is in a state of most intense excitement. White men are collecting in mobs, heavily armed and determined. Negroes are fleeing for their lives. The exact number of negroes who have been summarily dealt with may never be known. Seven bodies have been found, and other victims are being hunted and will meet a similar fate when run to earth. The known dead are:

"General" Duckett, Edwin Goodwin, Adam King, Joseph Jones, Benjamin Jones, Moses Jones and an unknown man. Joe King and John Johnson were also taken in hand by mobs and whipped. They were afterwards turned loose and have disappeared.

Little River county is in the extreme southwest corner of the state, being bordered on the west by the Indian Territory, and on the south by Texas. The negro population is very large, and has for a long time proved very troublesome. Frequent murders have occurred, and thefts and fights have become common affairs. One or two negroes have previously been severely dealt with when the people found it necessary to take the law into their own hands, but it was not until Tuesday that the trouble assumed a serious aspect. It then developed that carefully laid plans had been made by a number of negroes to precipitate a race war, and that many white men had been marked for victims.

It is learned that 23 negroes were implicated in this plot, and the whites are now bent on meting out summary punishment to the entire coterie of conspirators. Seven have been killed, and the work of wiping out the entire list continues without relaxation. All implicated in the plot are known, and parties of white men, varying in number from 25 to 50, are scouring the country for them. Wherever one is found he is quickly strung up, and his body perforated with bullets.

The work of dispatching the first two or three was an easy matter, but the news soon spread among the negroes, who, instead of making the resistance and offering the battle they had threatened, became panic-stricken, and began getting out of the community as quickly as possible. Two whose names were on the list of conspirators got a good start, and succeeding in reaching the Texas state line before being overtaken. They were strung up without ceremony.

The trouble arose over the killing of James Stockton by Duckett. Just prior to the lynching of Duckett the negroes had planned the inauguration of a race war. Duckett was the leader, and at his death the negroes let the matter out. The citizens became greatly enraged. Joe King and John Johnson were taken to the woods and whipped. Other negroes made threats, but nothing occurred until Wednesday, when the wholesale lynching began. In the gang that was plotting for a race war were 23 negroes, and it is probable that the entire number have been killed. It is known to a certainty that the seven ringleaders are dead. The negroes are fleeing from the district. Three wagons filled with negroes arrived at Texarkana yesterday, having crossed the Red river at Index.

Taken From a Constable.

Jackson, Miss., March 24.—Three negroes were lynched by a mob near Silver City, in Yazoo county. After the negroes were shot to death, their bodies were weighted with bundles of cotton ties and thrown into the Yazoo river. The negroes were Miner Wilson, C. C. Reed and Willis Boyd. They were the ringleaders of the negroes in a race encounter on the Midnight plantation last week. They were arrested and taken to the Yazoo city jail. The offense with which they were charged having been committed in Sharkey county, the Sharkey authorities were notified. Deputy Constable Sylvester arrived, and the prisoners were turned over to him. The constable boarded the steamer Rescue with the negroes and reached Silver City with them. The negroes fell into the hands of the mob near Silver City, were shot to death and thrown into the river. The feeling against these negroes had been very bitter on account of the disturbance at the Midnight plantation, where they, with two other comrades, had fired upon two whites on the public road. A horse belonging to one of the white men was wounded, but the men were not harmed.

Debauched Young Girls.

New York, March 24.—The police of Paterson, N. J., were busy yesterday arresting Chinamen, about 40 in all, who are accused of improper conduct with young girls. Lizzie Becker, 14, and Jennie Nanta, 13 years old, furnished the evidence against the Chinamen. The girls have been prisoners in the Paterson jail for a week past on the complaint of their parents that they are wayward. They made a statement accusing nearly every Chinaman in Paterson and giving the names of other girls who had been led astray.

Monnett's Reply.

Columbus, O., March 24.—Attorney General Monnett, referring to an open letter from the Standard Oil company calling on him to produce the name of the men who, he alleges, tried to bribe him, says that he will produce the name of the man in his own time and in his own way.

RUSSIAN FAMINE HORRORS.

Pestilential Diseases Creating Terrible Mortality Among the Peasant Class.

St. Petersburg, March 24.—The newspapers of the city publish pitiable accounts of the condition of the so-called famine districts of Russia, especially Samara, in the eastern part of European Russia. The efforts of the Red Cross society have staved off the horrors of actual starvation, but the society's funds are almost exhausted, and the dire distress, compelling the consumption of all kinds of garbage, has produced an epidemic of terrible mortality from typhoid, typhus, scurvy and other pestilential diseases.

The peasants are compelled to sell everything, and are living in cold, damp and filthy cabins. Weakened by hunger, they fall ready victims to typhus and acute scurvy, and unless the government gives aid the Volga provinces appear doomed to a repetition of the horrors of 1891 and 1892.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 24.—In the senate yesterday the committee on probate and insolvency reported a bill for a weekly rest day for employes of transportation companies. The same committee reported leave to withdraw on a petition for protection of religious sects, other than Christian, on their rest day from arrest on civil process, citation into poor debtor's court, etc. The same committee reported against a bill to regulate sales under the power of sale in mortgages. A bill to authorize trust companies to act as executors and in other judiciary capacities was favorably reported.

Ought not to pass was reported in the house on the bill to give the voters of Lynn the right to vote on whether they shall remain in the metropolitan park district, and on a bill to compel steam railroads to equip their cars with platform gates.

Reference to the next general court was reported on the resolve for an amendment to the constitution, providing for the election, instead of the appointment, of judges of the courts and for the terms of six years only. A resolve was reported for the amendment of the constitution to provide for authorizing the legislature to enact a law that less than the whole number of a jury may return a verdict in civil cases in jury trials.

A bill was reported authorizing the Essex institute to hold $100,000 real estate and $200,000 in personal estate. Leave to withdraw was reported on a bill to make it a misdemeanor to defraud a hotel proprietor, and on a bill to impose such conditions on licenses granted to innholders and common victuallers as the mayor and aldermen or license commissioners may deem just.

Bills were reported to establish city and town seals, on the report of the record commissioner, placing in the hands of the district police the making of returns respecting steam boilers, and fixing the salary of the clerk of the third Middlesex district court at $1600.

The resolutions protesting against the admission of Brigham H. Roberts of Utah to a seat in congress were rejected in committee. The resolutions for a national constitutional amendment for uniform hours of labor were adopted.

The senate, by a vote of 20 to 18, practically rejected the bill to provide for the formation and disbursement of a public school teachers' retirement fund in Boston. Last week, by a majority of one, the senate ordered the bill to a third reading, and it came up yesterday for engrossment.

"Body No 9."

New York, March 24.—Nineteen dead, some 40 or more missing and about a score confined to their beds from injuries is the record so far of the Windsor hotel fire on Friday last. One more body was found yesterday. This brings the list of unknown dead up to nine. The fragments were dug up about 20 feet west of the annex on the Forty-seventh street side in a part of the ruins where no other bodies or bones have been found. The fragments consist simply of a portion of a spinal column with some of the ribs attached, a piece of the skull and some small bones and charred flesh. The remains were taken to the morgue and numbered "Body No. 9." Identification in this case, as in the case of the large majority of the other bodies at the morgue, will be impossible. The work of clearing away the debris proceeds slowly.

To Round Out Life In Prison.

Jackson, Miss., March 24.—The oldest criminal ever placed beyond the prison bars in Mississippi was brought to the state prison last night to serve a life sentence for murder. The prisoner is Dr. W. H. Lipscomb, formerly a well-known physician of Kemps county, and he is now nearly 75 years of age. Lipscomb was convicted of poisoning Charles Stewart, whose life was insured in his favor.

Warren Mill Closed.

Providence, March 24.—The committee appointed by the employes of the Warren Manufacturing company were unable to adjust the differences with the company and all departments of the mill were shut down yesterday. It is probable that the mill will be closed for several days at least.

Griffo Crazy.

Chicago, March 24.—Albert Griffith, the Australian pugilist, known as "Young Griffo," was declared insane yesterday by a jury of physicians. He was sent to Jefferson asylum. Little hope of his recovery is entertained.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—5:39; sets, 6:02.
Moon sets—4:32 a. m.
High water—10 a. m.; 10:30 p. m.

The storm is passing off the Massachusetts coast after causing rain or snow for 24 hours in the Atlantic states and lake region. Fair weather has prevailed over the remaining districts east of the Rocky mountains. Generally fair weather is indicated in all districts with higher temperatures. Storm signals are displayed on the Atlantic coast from Hatteras to Eastport.

THE BERLIN TREATY.

Repudiation Likely to Result From Present Samoan Troubles.

Germany Questions Authority of Two Consuls.

Weight of Testimony Thus Far Is In Favor of America and England.

Washington, March 24.—The Berlin authorities have communicated very freely on the Samoan situation within the last few days and, as a result of extended dispatches from the foreign office, Ambassador Von Holleben has presented a long note to the state department covering the latest phases of the case.

It is understood that the German advices confirm the arrival of Admiral Kautz, and the convoking by him of a meeting of all the officials on the 11th instant, but they do not show what resulted from the meeting. The German view is evidently one of apprehension lest serious results may grow out of the meeting, in which event the German view is that the responsibilities should be borne by those bringing about the meeting. Further than this, questions are arising as to the extent of authority of the British and American consuls, acting together, to do anything without the concurrence of Consul Rose of Germany. The German view evidently holds that the Berlin treaty requires the three consuls to act unanimously. Another question is as to the right of a naval commander to take any political action. The Berlin treaty, in their view, would restrict the rights of naval commanders within very narrow limits, leaving them simply to execute what the three consuls, by unanimous agreement, determined upon. In view of the questions involved, news of Admiral Kautz's action, following the meeting of the 11th instant, is awaited with much interest, and not a little concern.

Admiral Kautz has sustained fully the action of the chief justice of Samoa, so far as his investigation has gone. Ever since the first news of the emeute at Apia last January, the department of state, the German and British governments, have been separately pursuing investigations into the matter, and it was in pursuance of our branch of the inquiry that Admiral Kautz was sent to Apia. It is not understood that his investigation is complete, but at the point where he stands he has felt obliged to sustain the conclusions reached by the United States consul, Luther Osborne, and the chief justice himself. It also appears that these conclusions are in exact accord with those reached by the British naval commander, Captain Sturdee of the Porpoise, who was at Apia during the outbreak, and of Mr. Maxse, the British consul at Apia, who was also a participant.

Thus there is an array of four witnesses combined in their testimony, while opposed to them is the German consul, Dr. Rose. The German government is disposed to stand firmly in support of its representative, although it has been intimated to it that by his retirement Rose would facilitate a satisfactory and speedy adjustment of the complications in Samoa. It is manifestly impossible for the United States to discredit its representative, the chief justice, or for the British government to repudiate Mr. Maxse, in view of the weight of the testimony in their favor, so that a practical deadlock has been reached, so far as this matter of changing the representations of the three powers concerned at Apia is concerned.

Our government knows nothing as yet of the reported combined protest of the German citizens of Samoa against Mr. Chamberlain. If the German government cares to proceed to that length, it can, under the treaty of Berlin, request the United States government to withdraw him. But in accordance with the provisions of the treaty if the United States does not care to accede to this request, Mr. Chambers would continue in office unless the German government managed to secure the approval for its application of the British government.

In view of facts above stated this is not likely to be had. These conditions lead up to the belief that there is some danger of the repudiation of the treaty of Berlin, and in the present temper of the parties it would not be surprising if this happened without an attempt on their part to replace it. But it is believed that even in that event some manner of modus vivendi will be provided to prevent another such clash between the conflicting interests as happened 10 years ago, resulting in the treaty of Berlin.

Mr. Lapiner's Story.

Chicago, March 24.—A new phase developed in the Gerald Lapiner kidnapping case yesterday. According to a statement made by the boy's father, Mrs. Ingersoll and John Collins, the alleged abductors, had accomplices in Chicago. It is said that Gerald was brought to Chicago last October and a proposition made to turn him over to his parents upon the payment of a heavy ransom. It is claimed by Lapiner that a prominent lawyer, who gave the Lapiner family the first clue as to the disappearance of Gerald on Decoration day, had charge of the Chicago end of the negotiations.

Cuban Assembly to Dissolve.

Washington, March 24.—Advices from Cuba received by Senor Quesada, which he regards as trustworthy, are to the effect that the Cuban assembly will dissolve at once. Mr. Quesada regards this as a most satisfactory outcome, as the dissolution is brought about voluntarily and without that agitation which enforced action might have caused. It will clear the way, in his judgment, to a pacific adjustment of the affairs of Cuba.

Digby Bell In Debt.

Chicago, March 24.—Digby Bell, the actor, filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday in which he asks to be relieved of liabilities of $27,000. He states that he has no assets except an interest in a judgment for $228 given recently in New York.

"LIKE A DREAM."

John Moore Confesses to the Butchery of His Five Children.

McPherson, Kas., March 24.—John Moore, the Hutchinson murderer, yesterday made a signed statement of his horrible crime. Moore murdered his five children with a hatchet and knife, then burned the house over their heads. He and his wife had quarreled, and he claims they were about to separate. In the statement Moore says:

"I had been feeling pretty bad for the past two or three days. The children were all in bed asleep. I turned the lamp down and went to bed. I then had one of my worst spells and my head hurt me awfully and everything seemed floating before me, and the next thing that I remember after this was in trying to get out of the house. I have a recollection of going through a struggle like a dream that I half remember. All the recollection I have about this is that I would rather see my children dead than to leave them in the hands of my wife's people. It was like a dream to me that I did something to the children, but I do not recollect using the knife or hatchet. I loved my children and I lived for them."

Unity Club.

The regular meeting of the Unity club was held at the Wollaston Unitarian church vestry on Friday evening. President Finch presided and Mrs. Charles T. Baker was secretary, por tem.

Owing to the absence of Mrs. H. W. Lull who was to have conducted the meeting, Mrs. Alma Faunce Smith was requested to take charge.

Mrs. Lincoln F. Crowell presented a highly interesting paper on D'Agolb and his age.

Mrs. Alma Funce Smith read a paper on Palestrina, the papal chapelmaster of Pope Julius III. He was called upon by the council of Trent to compose a work in a more simple and devotional style than that of the prevailing music, and produced his celebrated "Mass of Pope Marcellus." Illustration of his works were sung by a quartette composed of Mrs. F. A. Page, Mrs. Edgar A. King, Mr. Charles F. Wilde and Mr. A. R. Moulton, who sang "Miserere" and "O Lord My God."

Mrs. Smith also spoke upon Pergolese, from whose Stabet Mater Mrs. Page and Mrs. King sang a selection and Mrs. Page also sang "Lina" by the same composer.

Mr. Emery L. Crane read a very bright paper on Salvator Rosa and his easel pictures, and also upon an Domenichino and his "Last Communion of St. Jerome."

Mr. George H. Collyer spoke interestingly upon Rossetti the Italian poet.

The next meeting of the club will be held on April 14.

Houghs Neck Cars.

The street railway is very anxious to rebuild its Houghs Neck line but do not wish to commence work until it is settled what is to be done by the City Council about widening Coddington and Sea streets. Expensive repairs must be made on the line before it can be operated, as the track along the causway was thrown badly out of shape by last November's storm. This however will be put on temporary repair so that cars can run soon on pleasant Sundays.

A GAIN OF TWO.

Quincy Will Have More Delegates to Republican Convention.

The apportionment of delegates among the cities and towns of the State to the Republican conventions next fall was determined at a special meeting of the Republican State Committee yesterday. The basis is the same as in 1898, but the increased Republican vote will give a larger number of delegates in most cases.

The basis of representation for delegates to all conventions but representative conventions will be: One delegate-at-large for each ward of a city and for each town; one delegate for the first 75 votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1898 in each ward of a city and in each town one delegate for each succeeding 150 votes cast for Republican candidate for Governor in 1898 in each ward of a city and in each town, or for a fractional part as large as 75 votes so cast.

This basis will give Quincy the following number of delegates, each ward being compared with 1898:

	1898 Vote.	Delegates 1898.	Delegates 1899.
Ward I,	424	4	4
Ward II,	235	3	3
Ward III,	411	4	4
Ward IV,	278	3	3
Ward V,	417	3	4
Ward VI,	211	2	3
Total,	1976	19	21

The gain is wholly in Wards V and VI, each gaining one. Ward I would have been been entitled to more had it cast one more vote.

The apportionment of delegates to representative conventions will be: One delegate-at-large for each ward of a city and for each town; one delegate for every 50 votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1898 in each ward of a city and in each town, or for a fractional part as large as 25 votes so cast.

The delegates to the Quincy Representative convention on this basis will compare as follows:

	In 1898.	In 1899
Ward I,	7	9
Ward II,	5	6
Ward III,	7	9
Ward IV,	5	7
Ward V,	7	9
Ward VI,	3	5
Total,	34	45
Majority	18	23

It will be observed that each of the wards gain two, except Ward II, and that the total gain is eleven.

Last evening the State Committee dined at Young's Hotel, Col. A. H. Goetting, the chairman, presiding. Hon. George von L. Meyer, the newly elected Massachusetts member of the National Committee, was the only invited guest. The First Norfolk Senatorial district, including Quincy and the towns of Weymouth, Braintree, Holbrook, Randolph, Milton, Hyde Park and Canton, is represented this year by Frank F. Prescott of this city, who succeeded Senator Woodsum.

Braintree Literary Club.

The club met on Tuesday evening with the president, Mr. E. E. Abercrombie. Quotations were from "Othello."

The subject of the evening was "Journalism."

"The Reporter's Duty" was treated by Miss Norris and "The Power of the Press," by Mr. C. A. Belcher.

"A comparison of American and European Journalism," which was to have been given by Mrs. F. W. Crooker was deferred until another meeting, on account of the unavoidable absence of the author.

The paper by Mr. Abercrombie upon "National Revenues and Expenditures," which he was unable to give at the last meeting on account of illness, was given at this time.

The work for the second hour was the reading of the play "School for Scandal."

Adjourned for two weeks.

Why at City's Expense?

To the Editor of the Ledger:

It was the custom years ago to require tramps, who were lodged at the lock-up and supplied with craker rations, to sweep the sidewalk in front of City Hall and the cemetery.

I would like to be informed why that practice has been discontinued. Perhaps the official who pretends to care for this class of wandering gentlemen is afraid that if the sidewalk is not attended to at the city's expense these men who claim to own the earth, would get their foot wear dusty.

BARRELS OF SAMPLES.

Over Two Hundred Thousand Trial Bottles Sent Free.

By special arrangement with the manufacturers of that justly famous Kidney medicine, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the readers of the Daily Ledger are enabled to obtain a trial bottle and pamphlet of valuable medical advice absolutely free, by simply sending their full name and postoffice address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mentioning this paper.

Of course this involves enormous expense to the manufacturers but they have received so many grateful letters from those who have been benefited and cured of the various diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder, and Blood Rheumatism Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation and all weaknesses peculiar to women that they willingly send trial bottles to all sufferers.

Upon investigation it was found that 91 per cent. of those who had used the trial bottle had received such benefit from it that they purchased large sized bottles of their druggists. It matters not how sick you are or how many physicians have failed to help you send for a trial bottle of this great medicine it costs you but a postal card and benefit and cure will most certainly be the result.

Put some urine in a glass tumbler let it stand 24 hours if it has a sediment or if it is pale or discolored, milky or cloudy, stringy or roppy your Kidneys or Bladder are in a bad condition. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy speedily cures such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, inability to hold urine, a burning scalding pain in passing it, frequent desire to urinate especially at night, the staining of linen by your urine and all the unpleasant and dangerous affects on the system produced by the use of whiskey, wine or beer. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold at all drug stores at $1.00 for a large bottle; six bottles for $5.00

IN HER OWN BEHALF.

Wife of Roland Molineux Issues a Statement to the Public.

Refers to "Cruel Slander" by the District Attorney.

Her Life No Different From That of Any Other Self-Respecting Woman.

New York, March 25.—Mrs. Blanche C. Molineux, wife of the man who is under indictment for the murder of Mrs. Adams, last night sent out the following written statement:

"Since the terrible tragedy culminating in the death of Mrs. Adams, and throughout the inexpressibly painful scenes that have followed, I have felt it to be my duty to bear in silence the cruel attacks that have been made upon me in the newspapers. I have made no answer to these attacks, nor have I made any effort to set myself right before the world, under the advice of the counsel for my husband, who has been subjected to this unfounded and infamous charge, and whose interests are, of course, next to my heart.

"But the statements in the newspapers of today, charging me by implication with having visited a hotel in Jersey City with Mr. Barnet, are so grossly and atrociously false that I feel, in justice to myself, my husband and my friends that I should make some statement.

"I may say in beginning that the cruel slander uttered by the district attorney in his address to the coroner's jury is, I believe, largely responsible for the subsequent attacks upon me. His official position gave his statements a weight that they did not deserve. The public has been slow to believe that a sworn public officer could, without a shadow of proof, villify and slander the reputation of a woman. But this was done by the district attorney and I have suffered in consequence.

"On the occasion to which the district attorney referred in making his slanderous accusations against me I was on a yachting trip, chaperoned by my married sister, and the testimony before the coroner failed to show a single instance of impropriety or indiscretion on my part, as indeed there was no such instance.

"During the lifetime of my parents I lived with them, as I testified before the coroner, and all my other places of residence were also testified to by me. Much of the time I lived with my married sisters, and always visited them and was visited by them. There has never been any mystery about my life or movements, nor has there been anything in my life different from that of any other self-respecting woman.

"My acquaintance with Barnet was through the introduction of Mr. Molineux, and my associations with him were merely those of friendship. I was never in Jersey City in my life, except in passing through to take a train.

"At the time stated in the newspapers when Mr. Barnet first visited the hotel, May, 1897, I had never met him. This slander is as baseless as the many others which have been published concerning me.

"In simple justice to myself, my family and my friends, I ask the public press to refrain from printing such wicked accusations, which the slightest investigation would show to be unfounded."

The police are anxious to obtain a parasol, a flimsy green and white affair, which, they say, may prove to be an important clue in the mystery. The parasol in qeustion was the property of a tall, stylish woman, who frequently visited the Washington hotel in Jersey City with H. C. Barnet.

It is retained by the hotel proprietors, who say the owner may claim it yet. Friends of Barnet say that his companion was a married woman, who had taken a liking to Barnet.

The visits to the hotel of Barnet and the woman whom he represented as his wife began in May, 1897. They last registered there on Aug. 9, 1898. The couple always registered as "Mr. and Mrs. C. Barnett," except once, when the woman came alone and on registering informed the clerk her husband would arrive later.

Mrs. Barnett kept to her room except when out for a walk, but "Barnett" was on terms of familiarity with the bartender and the clerk, and frequently stopped at the desk to chat with either the proprietor or the clerk while on his way from the cafe to his room.

J. B. Hamblen, Jr., said: "The Barnets stopped at our hotel many times, but we know nothing about them. Mrs. Barnet's parasol remains in our property room and will stay there until the owner calls for it, as she may do at any time. Whether the man was H. C. Barnet, who was poisoned, or the woman was the present Mrs. Molineux, we, of course, do not know."

Lawyers Weeks and Battle, counsel for Roland B. Molineux, have received from District Attorney Gardiner the copy of the minutes of the grand jury, which they had successfully argued for before Judge Blanchard in part I of the court of general sessions. Colonel Gardiner placed the promised exhibits in the case at the disposal of Molineux's counsel yesterday, when they were photographed.

Wanted to Go to Prison.

Hartford, March 25.—Ira Gladding, who has served nearly 30 years in the Connecticut state prison for different offenses, was arrested here yesterday for forgery, alleged to have been committed in Atlantic City, N. J., last week. It is alleged he passed a check for $65 on Samuel Rocholtz. Gladding is 67 years old, and says he forged the check so he could go to prison.

Hilton Not Dying.

New York, March 25.—Dr. Pearsall, who is attending ex-Judge Henry Hilton, denies the report that his patient is dying. He says that Mr. Hilton is resting quietly, and that there is no immediate danger of his death. Ex-Judge Hilton is suffering from acute gastritis and is no longer able to take solid food. He is 75 years of age.

FARM ANIMALS.

Interesting Figures In Relation To Their Number and Value.

Washington, March 25.—The annual report of John Hyde, statistician of the department of agriculture, on the number and value of farm animals, will shortly be ready for distribution. It will show an increase in the number of sheep and milch cows and a decrease in the number of horses, mules, swine and neat cattle other than milch cows, with a general increase in value. A decrease of 295,604 in the number of horses is accompanied by an increase of $32,712,406 in total value, the average value per head increasing from $34.26 to $37.40. Similarly a decrease of 1,269,972 in the number of neat cattle other than milch cows is accompanied by an increase of $25,634,501 in total value, the average value per head increasing from $20.92 to $22.79. In the case of milch cows there is an increase of 149,229 in number, of $39,420,099 in total values, of $2.21 in average value per head, and in that of sheep an increase of 1,457,493 in number, of $14,976,397 in total value, and of 29 cents in average value per head. Mules show a decrease in number of 56,069 and in total value of $146,255. The average value per head, however, is $1.08 higher than last year. In swine there is a decrease in number of 1,108,362 and in value of $4,241,666.

In nearly all the great agricultural states of the central Mississippi valley there is a decrease in average value per head, but throughout almost the entire south as well as in most of the eastern states and on the Pacific coast there is an increase in average value, the net result being an average differing only 1 cent per head from the average of last year. The total value of farm animals is conservatively estimated at $1,907,010,407, an increase of $108,355,482, or 5.74 percent, during the past year.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 25.—The gypsy moth bill, carrying $170,000 for the work, was yesterday passed to be engrossed in the house. The substitute of Mr. Mellen, appropriating only $100,000, the distribution of the money to be by apportionment among cities and towns, was defeated. The bill to reduce the number of licenses in Boston to 1000 was killed.

An order that the commissioner of prisons be instructed to report to the legislature the different salaries paid to officers employed in the county prisons was laid over. Reference to the next general court was reported on a bill for the licensing of surveyors of land. Ought not to pass was reported on the bill to prohibit the employment of women and minors in manufacturing establishments between 6 P. m. and 6 A. m.

In the senate a 58-hour bill for women and minors in mercantile establishments was refused a third reading.

Leave to withdraw was reported on a petition that the hours of labor of hospital nurses may be regulated. The same report was made on a petition for repeal of an act relative to evidence in actions against the estate of deceased persons.

Bills were engrossed to regulate the discharge of convicts committed to prison for non-payment of fine, to authorize trustees under the will of James M. Wood to convey an estate to the Lawrence home for aged people; to raise the salary of the justice of the district court of central Berkshire; to authorize Southbridge to maintain a system of sewerage; for tabulation of statistics of parent nativity in Boston.

The senate reconsidered its rejection of a bill to authorize the Manufacturers' Trust company to remove its principal place of business from Holyoke to Boston. It was then tabled.

A bill to require steamship companies with boats sailing from Boston to keep duplicate passenger lists was rejected.

A bill substituted for an adverse report to exempt registrars of voters from actions for dropping names from the voting list where they have acted in good faith was refused a third reading.

The legislative committee on liquor laws voted to report leave to withdraw on the petition and bill for a police commission in the town of Hull. The committee on election laws voted in favor of a bill for a single election day for state and city elections in Boston, and for a bill for two polling places in caucuses in Boston wards.

Famous Missionary Dead.

London, March 25.—A dispatch from Kimberly, in Griqualand, South Africa, reports the death of Missionary Mackenzie. Rev. John Mackenzie worked in the same sphere here as Dr. David Livingstone and Dr. Moffat, the former of whom died in 1873, and the latter 10 years later. He preceded Cecil Rhodes as deputy commissioner of Bechuanaland, and fought for the Bechuana natives against the immigrant boers.

The fourth count was nol prossed. The charge on which he was convicted in each instance was the passing of a counterfeit $5 bill. Sentence was deferred.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 26—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—True penitence.—II Cor. vii, 1-11.

In his first epistle to the Corinthians Paul severely rebuked the church for certain serious evils which existed in the church—schism, idolatry, gross sensuality and abuse of the Lord's supper. The rebuke, though severe, was administered from the purest motive and with the tenderest affection, and therefore produced a salutary effect. It led to a godly repentance, the ultimate end of which was salvation.

In describing the effects of this reproof Paul gives a comprehensive description of what true penitence or repentance is.

1. True penitence is preceded and caused by conviction of sin. We will never repent of our sins until we are convinced that we are sinners. David did not repent until Nathan pointed out to him his sin. Simon Peter did not go out and weep tears of repentance until the look of Christ brought to his mind a conception of the baseness of his treachery. The Corinthians did not repent until Paul's scathing rebuke made them to see their actions in their true light. The sins of men and the true character of sin need to be pointed out more persistently today, that men may be led to repentance. Salvation without repentance is impossible, and repentance is impossible without conviction of sin.

2. The characteristics of true penitence are: 1. Godly sorrow. Godly sorrow is here distinguished from the sorrow which the world feels because of sin. Godly sorrow is the sorrow that God feels because of sin as He looks upon it with His pure and holy character. The guilt and the pollution of sin are abhorrent to God. Only the consequences of sin are abhorrent to the world. The unregenerate, unrepentant man fears the consequences of sin; the repentant man loathes sin because it is transgression against a loving God and Father, and he sorrows above everything else because he has done that which grieves God. This is godly sorrow. 2. Renunciation of sin. To repent we must turn from sin, as the Corinthians did, with earnestness, loathing, indignation and vehement desire to serve and glorify God. We must "cease to do evil and learn to do well." We must give up sin and take up God and God's work in the world.

3. The ultimate end of true penitence was salvation. "Godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of." The only pathway to salvation and eternal life is that of repentance of sin and faith in Christ.

Bible Readings.—Job xi, 13, 14; Isa. i, 16-20; lv, 7; Jer. iii, 12-15; Ezek. xiv, 6; Hos. vi, 1-3; Joel ii, 12-21; Math. iii, 1, 2; iv, 17; Mark i, 14, 15; Luke iii, 1-9; xv, 1-10; Acts ii, 37-39; iii, 19; Rev. ii, 5.

Be Cheery.

Why should a person make himself a nuisance? What gain is there in grimness and sourness and unsociability? Few people care to listen to whining and complaint. On the whole, the world uses us as well as we deserve. It is very hard for the defeated to admit this, but it is a fact nevertheless, and if only admitted one of the chief reasons for defeat is removed. A cheerful philosopher is an important element of success. He who is perpetually suspecting others of ill treating him and keeping him down is not a welcome companion. Every man is of less importance to the world around him than he likes to think. But he can easily test it by asking how much he himself dwells upon the condition of others. By as much as their grievances do not particularly concern him by so much his own are matters of indifference to them. So let him be pleasant, bury his sorrows, pocket his affronts, make himself agreeable, trust to Providence and thankfully take what comes.—Zion's Herald.

Had to Take Them In.

Many years ago a German family applied for admission to the church in Hartford of which Dr. Joel Hawes was the pastor. Through an interpreter Dr. Hawes propounded to them elaborate questions concerning the atonement. They looked perplexed and shook their heads. As the questions were repeated in changed forms their faces grew stolid. Evidently they had given up trying to comprehend the subject. At last Dr. Hawes said impatiently, "Well, well, ask them if they love Christ." The question was put. At once their faces lighted. Their eyes grew moist. They answered in chorus, "Oh, ja! Wir Christus lieben. Ja wohl!" And the doctor's eyes glistened also as he said, "We shall have to take them in."—Congregationalist.

Ready to Be Used.

A noted gambler in Chicago was converted. His prayer to God was in gambler's slang, but God knew what he meant and received him. The man thought he ought to do something in his Master's service. He told his story; God blessed it, and in the power of the Spirit he has been telling it ever since, with wonderful success. He has won more souls than any man in my church.

If the world wants anything, it wants men and women set apart to God, filled with the Spirit and ready to be used.—Rev. E. P. Goodwin, D. D.

No Such Thing.

When through carelessness one speaks of "comparative religions" or "comparative religion," he exposes himself to a suspicion that he does not know what religion is. There is no such thing as comparative religion, although there is happily growing in favor the comparative study of religions—that is, study by the method of comparison.—Christian Register.

Be Courageous.

It takes courage to go into the world with a Christianity which you mean to make use of.—Anon.

FOR RENT.

Furnished Rooms Open All Night.

We wish to announce the arrival of spring. Possibly you didn't know that spring, gentle spring, had sprung. "She have."

You may find a little snow in patches up on President's Hill or the ground may be a little frozen this morning, but, nevertheless, spring has sprung, for a few unmistakable signs have been noticed lately. Some Robins have been reported by Chief Joe Hayden. Spring beds have been noticed in the furniture stores, and just now there seems to be a greater variety of spring water to select from for culinary purposes than usual.

As our ad. man was walking down Kneeland street in Boston, last week, he saw a sign that made him think that at least one man thought it was going to be warm; for on one of the buildings there he read: "For Rent. Furnished rooms open all night." That man surely wouldn't expect to rent a room that was open all night, to a man in cold weather.

The surest signs of spring are at the Quincy Clothing Co.'s counters, nowdays. New things for spring. When they say new things it MEANS NEW things. It don't mean things that were once upon a time new, or that were new last spring and have been brushed up and fixed up for this spring; but it means goods that were made for them for spring of 1899.

Every part of our store is showing new things. On some counters you find new Men's Suits, new Pants, new Spring Overcoats. The Boys' counters show new Suits, and the leader, the Little Magnet Suit, all wool, double seat and knees can be found there at $1.98.

The Furnishing counters show new Hats, new Neckwear, new Shirts, new Gloves, and new Hosiery. Is fact, every corner of our store has something new in it. Bought to be sold at the cheap store prices.

We invite you to look through our store at new things we have bought for your benefit—and ours. We caution you about looking at the Spring Overcoats unless you want one—for you can't help buying one when you see the nobby ones at $5 50, the swell ones at $7.50 and the top notchers from $9.98 to $16 00.

KILLED WIFE

Aged Man Was Insanely Jealous of Spouse.

Chased Her From His House and Shot Her.

Little Daughter Chief Witness of the Deed.

Boston, March 25.—Felix P. Canfield, machinist and inventor, 70 years old, shot and killed his wife, Grace D. Canfield, 39 years old, in front of their home, 50 Waverly street, Brighton, about 8:30 o'clock last night, and then calmly awaited arrest by Patrolman Woodman, who heard the shots and rushed to the scene of the homicide. Insane jealousy is ascribed as the cause.

The chief witness against Canfield is his daughter, Ellie T., 12 years old, who was in the house at the time, and described the shooting to the police.

Mr. and Mrs. Canfield had a son also, Samuel H. Canfield, 19 years old, who, though he was not at home when the shooting occurred, told the police that his father had been acting queerly for some time, and the young man seemed not very much surprised at what had occurred.

About 8:30 the entire neighborhood in which the Canfields lived was startled by three revolver shots, and everybody turned out to learn the cause. A score or more soon gathered round the home of Patrick Powers, and then learned the first details of the shooting from S. A. Mintzer and Edward G. Davis, who with Policeman Woodman were among the first to arrive, and carried the lifeless body of Mrs. Canfield into Patrick Powers' house, where later it was taken in charge by Undertaker Sullivan.

Officer Woodman had been patrolling Lincoln street several rods away, when he heard the shots. He rushed up Waverly street, and one of the first objects that met his gaze was that of old man Canfield calmly leaning over the gate in front of his home gazing apparently into vacancy, his features livid and expressionless, his left foot resting easily upon the lower gate rail, and his whole bearing that of one lost in moody reflection.

Instinctively the officer decided the old man had something to do with the revolver shots, and an instant's observation of the surroundings convinced him he was right.

Across the street in the yard of Patrick Powers' home there were excited figures. Mr. Powers was bending over the fallen form of the dead woman. She had been shot twice in the back as she fled from her own home, and dropped, dying almost instantly where the officer first saw her.

Officer Woodman upon learning briefly the details of the situation again approached Canfield, who was still standing at the gateway of his home, and arrested him.

"What have I done! Oh, what have I done?" cried the old man, in a voice of anguish, as the officer placed a hand upon his shoulder. That was his only utterance from the time of his arrest. Other policemen soon arrived and the gray-haired prisoner was taken to station 14.

Then the little girl of the family was sought out and, sobbing as if her little heart would break, she told the story of the shooting.

Her brother had gone out early in the evening, she said, and she and her mother and father were in the dining room, when the old man arose from the table at which he was sitting and went over to the mantel, on which there was a clock, which he proceeded to wind up.

The mother was walking across the room toward the kitchen door, when suddenly Canfield turned and drew out a leather case from his pocket and from which he extracted a revolver.

Mrs. Canfield, according to the child's story, remonstrated gently with her husband against the sight of the weapon, but had scarcely time to say more than a word or two ere it was aimed at her and she fled out to the hallway, thence to the front door, and opening it dashed into the yard.

Canfield pursued her hastily, and the next the child heard was a shot, followed by a scream, and then a second and a third shot, after which all was a blank.

The little girl had fainted. She recovered, however, before the officers arrived, and rushed out and over to Mr. Powers' house to find her mother dead and surrounded by a score or more of neighbors.

Canfield's son, Homer, was a couple of blocks from home when the shooting occurred, but soon heard of it, and rushed over to the house. He became almost frantic with grief. After regaining his composure somewhat he told the police that his father had been acting queerly of late, and that although he had not expected a tragedy such as this he felt that serious trouble might come if conditions remained as they had been.

Several of the Canfields' neighbors were seen, and they, one and all, spoke most highly of the principals in the tragedy. Some of them had noticed, they said, that Mr. Canfield seemed somewhat more dejected than usual, and apparently ill, of late, but this they ascribed merely to declining years, and none of them, all declared, had any thought of his being insane, although they had heard he was peculiarly jealous of his wife.

Muncacsy Is Better.

London, March 25.—A dispatch to The Standard from Vienna this morning says that Michael Muncacsy, the famous Hungarian painter, who was reported yesterday in a dying condition, is much better.

THE PUGILISTIC ARENA.

McCoy Easily Wins the Decision Over Choynski at San Francisco.

San Francisco, March 25.—With a superiority in cleverness, quickness and ring generalship, which was apparent from the first round, "Kid" McCoy was very properly awarded the decision over Joe Choynski at the end of the 20th round before the National Athletic club in Mechanics' pavilion last night.

"KID" M'COY.

It was a very pretty fight, but it was almost entirely in favor of the younger man. McCoy won, and won easily. He had the fight in his hands, and at any one of half a dozen palpable opportunities he could have administered a decisive and knockout blow, but again and again he failed to follow up his advantage and Choynski was considered lucky to be able to stay that 20 rounds.

McCoy was the aggressor in his own fashion, drawin gout Choynski, except in the second round, when Joe landed twice in succession, but not very effectively, and again in the 11th, when the "kid" was plainly resting and simply out of reach. In the fifth round Joe was apparently going under the furious rain of McCoy's blows, but Joe was saved by the gong, after a brief respite, rallied and fought his uphill task. But he did not seem to like the game. McCoy's stomach blows particularly were little to his liking, and he winced pitifully under the frequent punishment which he received. On the other hand, Joe could not effectively reach the "kid," who was entirely too clever for him in getting away. When Joe did land, it was frequently upon McCoy's small, hard head, and the blows did more harm to Joe's hands than to the objective point.

Manchester, N. H., March 25.—George Gardner of Lowell and Andrew Moynahan of Lawrence, Mass., met in a 12-round bout at 145 pounds here last night. Gardner rushed his man from the start, and had him bleeding freely before the end of the first round. At the end of the third round Referee Maguire awarded the decision to Gardner, stating that the bout was too one-sided.

New York, March 25.—McPartland and Connolly fought a 25-round draw at the Broadway Athletic club last night. The fight was interesting throughout. Both looked fit to go the 25 rounds. Twenty-five to 20 was freely offered on Connolly, with a few takers.

Garment Workers' Grievances.

Philadelphia, March 25.—The executive committee of the Garment Workers' union yesterday ordered a strike of the 6000 garment workers of this city, beginning today at noon. The purpose of the strike is principally to secure the abolition of sub-contracting, as well as higher wages and increased rates for government work. About 2000 of the strikers are women. It is expected that the strike will affect nearly every establishment in the city. The strikers claim that a more opportune time for a strike could not be chosen, as there is a rush of work in all directions, and the contractors will have difficulty in getting new hands. Joseph Swartze, chairman of the executive committee, stated that the sub-contractor was responsible for the sweat shop. "At present," he said, "pantaloon makers receive from 28 to 40 cents per pair. We ask from 40 to 50 cents. The price paid by the government is 50 cents, yet on some government work it is sub-let twice, the workers receiving less than 25 cents.

Guerra's Treachery.

Caracas, March 25.—The insurgent forces under General Guerra, formerly Venezuelan minister of war and marine, who last month started a revolution against President Andrade in the new state of Guarico, of which he had been appointed provisional governor, have been severely defeated by the government troops under General Fernandez. When General Guerra was appointed provisional governor of the new state of Miranda, he began almost immediately to foment a rising against President Andrade. The insurrection was recognized as a revival of Crespoism, Mme. Crespo, the late president's widow, furnishing the funds to pay Guerra's troops.

Carried Out His Threat.

Worcester, Mass., March 25.—Because his sweetheart had jilted him, Frank Swanstrom, a Swede, 25 years old, took prussic acid last evening and died almost immediately. Annie Lund was the object of his affections and notified the police Thursday that she wanted Swanstrom kept away from her restaurant on Park street. When Swanstrom was notified by the police of this he declared his intention to take his life and carried out his threat soon after returning from work.

Another Dull Day.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 25.—The fourth day of the trial of Nancy A. Guilford, the midwife, on a charge alleging murder in the second degree, has been equally as dull as the three days preceding it. Yesterday the witnesses without exception testified as to the identity of the dead girl's head. A number of witnesses, including five members of Emma Gill's family, were introduced by the state to show that the head was that of Emma Gill.

Aguinaldo Will Attend to It.

Madrid, March 25.—An officer who had been entrusted with a mission to the Philippines to endeavor to secure the liberation of the Spanish prisoners held by the insurgents has been ordered not to embark on the journey, as Aguinaldo will send an emissary here to negotiate the matter.

BRADSTREET'S REPORT.

The General Commercial Situation Is Considered Satisfactory.

New York, March 25.—Bradstreet's says: Stormy weather, retarding spring distribution in some sections, has imparted an irregular appearance to general trade, while some few reductions in prices of leading staples, notably raw cotton and wool, copper and some few other metals, serve to break the otherwise almost unvarying appearance of strength of staple values. The general commercial situation, however, continues to present much apparent strength, and the few lines that note a quieter tone of business find ready substitutes among other branches, which, as yet, have been rather backward. The see-saw of wheat prices has been upward this week. Better weather at the south, and especially improved roads, find reflection in a large volume of receipts of cotton this week, and the result is a fractional shading of prices. Coffee is slightly lower on the week, while the high price of copper seems at last to be affecting demand, which has slackened up, with a consequent drop in the value of that metal, sympathized by declines in tin and iron. The iron situation is still one of great strength, though the volume of business is concededly smaller than for some weeks past.

The boot and shoe situation with jobbers is quite encouraging. Hides, though dull, are firm, and the same is true of leather, while the current demand for the finished product keeps manufacturers busy. A feature of the week is the forming of an upper leather combination in the west.

Cotton goods retain all their old strength, though somewhat quieter in demand at first hands, while the talk of combination in the manufacturing branch of trade has seriously unsettled the price of wool, which is weaker and lower.

Sugar reflects steady buying in practically unchanged quotations.

Lumber is feeling the stimulus of the approach of active building operations.

Industrially the situation is satisfactory. While actual advances in wages are as yet confined to the cotton manufacturing and the iron and steel industries, the current work in other lines is running full, and the number of operatives who have gained some advantage from the activity in all industrial lines total easily 500,000.

Business failures for the week number only 182, against 215 in this week a year ago, 221 in 1897, 276 in 1896 and 232 in 1895.

Dragging Slowly Along.

New York, March 25.—Four more bodies were recovered from the ruins of the Windsor hotel yesterday. The record as it now stands is 23 dead, 40 or more missing and a large collection of small bones. The injured in the hospitals and other places are recovering. Anxiety on the part of friends of persons who have been reported missing has increased to a certainty almost that they perished in the fire. From the condition of the bodies so far recovered there is but little hope that they or any of the bodies that may be found hereafter can be identified. Body No. 13 was taken to the morgue early last evening and placed in a case by itself. It is in about the same condition as the other bodies recovered. It is simply a charred and blackened trunk with parts of the arms, legs and skull attached. The work of removing the debris is proceeding so slowly that residents and merchants in the district within the fire lines, extending a block in either direction from the scene of the fire, are making complaint.

Terrible Experience.

Lawrence, Mass., March 25.—Levi Merfield, employed in the Arlington mills as a caustic mixer, was standing over a large vat containing a solution of the acid, lost his balance and fell in. The tank was filled with the liquid, which had almost reached the boiling point. Merfield was dragged out by his fellow workmen. His body was terribly burned, but the injured man was conscious, and gave directions for the application of liquids to counteract the effect of the acid, but all efforts to save him proved fruitless, and he died in half an hour.

Good Afternoon.

Among the estimates of the Mayor and City Treasurer for 1899 is an item of $231.57 for the insurance of the Thomas Crane public library building. Inasmuch as the city does not insure any of the other property, it would seem unwise to make this exception. The wisdom of the policy of non-insurance lies in the fact that the city has so much property widely scattered that it can afford to take its own risk. To insure all the city property would cost thousands of dollars each year. The Assessors value the school property alone at nearly half a million dollars, and to this is to be added the City Hall, the central fire station and five hose houses, the almshouse and city stables, the pumping station of the water works, pumping station of the sewer works, and other buildings with their contents. If the public library was the only property the city owned, it should certainly be insured, but it is different where the city has over half a million dollars worth of property, and each building should not be considered separately. The library is practically a fire proof building and the risk of its being destroyed is small. We are aware it is a memorial hall, a gift to Quincy, yet we believe that should make no difference. The city would replace it if damaged, and the annual cost on loan extending over a term of years would not be as large as the annual premium on all the city property if insured. Here is a chance for the appropriations to be cut $231.-57, and a further reduction could well be made in library appropriations. The trustees are not limited to sums appropriated as they have the income of two or three funds besides, together with fines

Only a small percentage of the people of Quincy can recall the return of the soldiers from the Civil War. For nearly everyone, the return of the soldiers from war is witnessed but once in a lifetime. The return of Co. K on April 3 should therefore be a memorable day for the people of the City. While the parents and friends of the boys rejoice, let all the people celebrate. Have the church bells ring and the quarry whistles blow. Have every flag at the mast head, and the children liberally supplied with small flags. Make it a holiday and a grand Fourth of July, with fireworks and all of the enthusiasm of youth.

Much of the disgraceful state of affairs at Hull and Nantasket, might be abated if no exception was made relative to the town in the number of liquor licenses, if Hall was limited to one license as other larger towns under the general law, one temptation would be removed. A guardian is not in accord with the people's idea of liberty, and the police commission should be appointed by the State only in exceptional cases. Perhaps this is one of the cases. Cohasset is a good staid old town; how would it do to annex Hull to Cohasset or Hingham?

Councilman Packard is making a record as the live man of the City Council. It is not big schemes that interest him, but innumerable small matters which conduce to the comfort, benefit and pleasure of many. The Co. K reception, curfew law, and playground improvement order, were among the measures he introduced at the meeting this week.

We find in the Mayor's budget no reference to an appropriation for maintenance of the sewer system. We wonder if it is not the intention to to start up these works soon. There is a surprising delay in this matter, and the city is deprived of the financial benefit of the sewer assessments.

One of the criticisms of the Social Democrats, which operates against them in the opinion of many, is that they hold meetings on Sunday.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The practice of self-denial in the matter of Easter finery is largely governed by the "wherewithal."—Lynn Item.

☞ Again we are confronted with abominable walking, but other cities are similarly disfavored, so we cannot charge the trouble particularly to the condition of Brockton's streets.—Brockton Times.

☞ If a man becomes rich in trading in copper or other stocks, everybody is told of it, and to the person who remains poor, the opulent fellow is lucky, shrewd, smart, bold, a careful calculator, a bright financier, and a marvelous success. Nothing succeeds like success, and envy is always in order with those who claim to be fortunate. But a thousand men fail where one becomes rich and is successful. "Blessed be nothing" is a pretty good prayer, after all, and he who has a contented mind is vastly more to be envied than he who has wealth.—Lowell Courier.

☞ Some one has started the idea of making Governor Roosevelt the Republican candidate for vice president. We very much doubt whether he will allow himself to be kicked up stairs into a position of insignificance and obscurity simply to gratify a set of politicians who want to get rid of him, and can see no other way. He is too much wedded to an active life to be content to sit in a chair as president of the senate for four years, with practically nothing to do. The only value of the vice presidency is its possibilities, and these are too remote to make it an object of great ambition.—New Bedford Standard.

☞ No more recruits will be taken for the regular regiments now in the Philippines, as the ranks are full to the maximum. This is a timely comment on the opinion expressed not long ago, that it would be impossible to recruit soldiers for the Philippines. As a matter of fact it is easier to get men to go to the far East than to go to Cuba. American soldiers do not take kindly to provost guard duty. They prefer to be in more active service, and more men can be found to volunteer for the firing line than for the police squad.—Lynn Item.

☞ Advertisers are prone to fall into the error of considering one newspaper's rates high because an inch costs a dollar, and another's low for the reason that an inch can be bought for twenty-five cents. As a matter of fact the former may be the low rate and the latter the high one. A cheap pair of shoes very frequently proves to be dear at the price, and a newspaper that puts a low value on its space is quite certain to get every cent it is worth—and more.—Ex.

THE QUINCY BILLS.

None Yet Enacted in Either House or Senate.

Contrary to reports the Mayor's bills before the Legislature have not passed and the delay shows some opposition.

House bill 572 relative to the tenure of office of the Water Commissioners, was reported in the house March 13, two weeks ago; on March 16 it took its third reading, but not until Thursday of this week was it passed by the house to be engrossed. Whether action was taken in the Senate yesterday the Ledger is not informed, but the bill has four if not five more stages before it reaches the Governor.

House bill 554 relative to refund of part of the maturing debt, has been more successful. It was reported in the house at the same time as the other bill and has been engrossed in both House and Senate, passing the latter stage on Thursday. It has yet to be enacted in both houses before it goes to the Governor.

The third bill relative to a debt of $150,000 for street widenings was reported in the Senate; engrossed there on March 16, and took its third reading in the House on Thursday. It may have been engrossed in the House yesterday.

Although the hearing on the Quincy boulevard was held March 8 and closed that day, no report has yet been made to the Legislature.

Lodge Visitation.

The degree staff of Norfolk lodge, I. O. O. F., of Dorchester, visited John Hancock lodge of Wollaston, on Wednesday night, and conferred the second degree on three candidates.

The staff was accompanied by an excellent orchestra of seven pieces, whose fine music added much to the effect of the degree work, which was done in a way to bring much credit to Norfolk lodge. After the degree was worked, the entertainment committee served a fine collation. Cigars were then passed and speeches were in order. Very interesting remarks were made by many of the visitors, including some from Lynn, Weymouth, Quincy and Neponset. Past Grand Bondman of Maine was particularly enjoyed.

The good time broke up at a late hour and all united in saying that John Hancock lodge can entertain handsomely when the occasion requires.

A HANDSOME EXTERIOR.

And the Interior Keeps Pace With Outside Appearance.

[Copyright, 1899, by George Palliser, 32 Park place, New York.]

The good old book says that no man can serve two masters, for he will hate one and love the other. So it is in architecture. If we try to mix styles and use two foreign ideas in one structure, one of them surely spoils the other and the strangest contradictions present themselves. In all things a thorough understanding of the best principles will lead to a clear definition of them, and this knowledge will be the power that will determine correctness, prevent opposites and produce that fitness which is so admired as the harbinger of the greatest ideality put into practical form.

Man has grown to be a very luxurious animal. He wants many comforts. He lives in an age in which he sees others having these things and thinks he cannot get along unless he, too, has them. He must have all the latest and best improvements and the correct style and be in the height of the prevailing fashion. All this, of course, means cost and larger incomes. It is perhaps a safe prophecy that we are just entering upon an era of prosperity, a time when the building of homes will be general. In this era we can build better than before, can embellish, enlarge and equip with generous hands, for when money is plentiful is the time to spend it; when it is scarce, we must forbear. But let us profit by the past. Let us not rejoice in vainglories, but make the future bright with the greatest degree of common sense. Let fitness be our watchword, and suitability will become our portion.

By our homes we are justly measured, and they should therefore be pleasing and lasting.

What people really need nowadays for the home are a handsome exterior and a convenient interior, which we have tried to provide in this column. By carefully studying the plans we think they will say we are right and our judgment is good. This house contains every improvement and convenience known to modern home builders. It is a design that would be entitled to first prize in any competition.

Art and Decoration.

A new use for rugs in the house is to form a wainscoting around the room with them. In Turkey and Persia, where the exquisite oriental rugs are used exclusively for floor covering, they run the ends of a rug too large for a room up the sides of the walls and tack them there. The effect is strikingly artistic and far less injurious to the rugs than to turn the ends under. In several of the large importing houses in this country examples of this method of decorating the sides as well as the floor of the rooms with rugs are given. Long, narrow rugs of vivid patterns are even made for this side decoration. They take the place of the ordinary wainscoting, and when artistically arranged they produce an exquisite finish to the room. One large rug may be tacked up on either end, and the other two sides are filled in with special rugs made to fit the spaces. A room furnished in this way has a warmer and brighter effect than one carpeted.

A Box For Baby.

I saw a novelty in a box the other day. It was in the shape of a huge packing box, covered outside and in with bright cretonne. The inside was well padded, and the broad side had hinges. At the top there were two hooks. When baby was placed inside, with all her toys, she was supposed to hold sway for many a long hour while mother was busy with other duties or perhaps the nurse had a day off. —Cor. American Homes.

CO. K PREPARING.

First in Regiment to Turn Over Ordnance to government.

With Co. K, 5th Mass. Reg't.,
Camp Wetherill,
Greenville S. C., Mar. 23,

Clearing weather has once more greeted us, although windy and boisterous, we have a strong sun. Work was commenced this morning turning in all ordnance; this includes mess kits with knives, forks, spoons, meat plates and dippers, canteens, haversacks and knapsacks.

K company through the energetic efforts and persistance of Captain Neilson, holds the honor of being the first company to turn over their ordnance to the government. These were accounted for last night.

The rifles and cartridge belts are to be returned to the government next week.

Corporal Mathews, formerly of K company has had under his supervision the full charge of the sick reports of the regiments. The full completed reports of the sick of the 5th Mass. were finished and returned to headquarters this morning.

The troop parade and "escort to the colors," was postponed for this morning. The work of accounting for all government property making it necessary.

Guard mount was held at 11.30 as per schedule. No more drills are announced for today; this gives the boys ample time to prepare themselves for getting together all their equipments. Numerous clothes boxes and hand bags have been purchased by the boys.

This is a hustling time for the storekeepers at Greenvillle and they are reaping their harvest.

No new cases of measles have been discovered since those last reported. The members of the 203d New York, which belongs to the other brigade, escorted the remains of one of their number to the depot yesterday.

The members of K daily mark off the days on the calendar. The health is favorable. No one is reported as seriously sick. VOLUNTEER.

Cant Teach Gumption.

Dr. William Gallagher of Thayer Academy has the following in the last issue of the Journal of Education:—

Much of the discussion of the hour is based upon the old-time high school long since outgrown. In the best schools children are no longer forced to keep step. There is equality of opportunity. The difficulty is now with the parents rather than with the schools. Parents still think there is something wrong if their children do not take just as long steps as every other or any other child in the class. Educate the public, and the schools will do fairly well. The secondary school is more or less of a sieve, more or less of an incentive. It is to discover the natural leaders. It is not a question of number, but of leaders.

It is not such a burden to fit for college as it is represented. It is now broad scholarship that fits for college. The boy or girl who prepares for Harvard College with its present examination has many vistas opened up to him. There are requirements for entrance to Harvard today that were not heard of by those who graduated thirty years ago. The secondary school lad that fits for Harvard does much that would have paralyzed a man who graduated then. Where is there a secondary school man of today who could enter Harvard now. Certainly no man who graduated thirty years ago, even though he has taught ever since. Where is there a man who can teach gumption. It must be some one who has never taught anything.

Good teaching is not primarily a matter of machinery or of curriculum, but of personality. Text-books in ethics are of little or no use. There is no time that can be set apart for teaching ethics. Whenever a lad is found doing a mean thing, suspend the Anabasis or algebra, and see to it that the lad suspends his meanness then and there.

We are urged to use the methods of the university with the secondary school. We are given too many university text-books with secondary students. More children are sacrificed to wrong text-books than to wrong courses of study. Where one boy is sacrificed by doing too much of the wrong thing, twenty are sacrificed by doing too little of anything. We have worked this notion of the wrong course of study to the verge of nervous prostration.

WHEN LAMPS ARE LOW.

Let the rain beat,
And the wind without blow down the street,
And the echo come of the city's hum,
And the distant hurry of horses' feet!
For I rest within with my love tonight,
And the lamps are low, and the hearth is bright.

Ah, love is best
That ne'er is more than half confessed—
Just half, I say; eternity
Were all too short to tell the rest!
So we rest within with our love tonight,
And the lamps are low, and the hearth is bright.

—A. Boyd Scott in Madame.

TAKING THE REINS.

Lyford Merritt was certainly a most exasperating man. In this, for a wonder, the whole village concurred, with the exception of his wife. She maintained silence on the subject which was best, perhaps, inasmuch as she was the cause of it all.

"He's—he's the most downtrodden and meek sort of man you ever set eyes on, and it ain't right that it should be so," Mrs. Blake declared, as Lyford Merritt, then under discussion, shuffled along the dusty road. "It's dreadful to see a man so suppressed," she sighed. "It ain't nature one bit.

"Some men are born meek and would rather a woman'd go ahead and boss the house and him, too, and then you don't blame 'em, but Lyford ain't that kind. 'Fore his wife got hold of him he used to be as up and coming as any one."

A slight flush spread over her thin cheeks as she felt a critical glance upon her.

"That was the time he came a-courtin you, I s'pose?" her guest remarked blandly. "I always heard you had some sort of words and then he took up with the new schoolteacher and married her right away 'fore your face and eyes."

Mrs. Blake beat her cake vigorously.

"He ain't done nothing but be set on ever since," she declared at length, "so that he ain't himself at all. And that's what's so exasperating. No man with any natural stand up to him ought to give in the way he does. That's what's the trouble. He seems to think it's all right."

She poured the cake into a tin and shoved it into the oven and shut the door with a bang.

"We've all had spells of talking to him," she went on, "but there, it ain't no earthly good. He always sits so good natured and kind of nods his head as if agreeing, and when you come to stop he looks up with his blue eyes and says: 'Well, well, you don't understand. It may seem kind of hard sometimes to outsiders, Mis' Blake, but then, you see, she's got the nerves.'

"Nerves," scornfully; "as if any of us couldn't get up that kind of nerves if we wanted to. But Lyford, he just stands it always, and it's terrible exasperating."

She gave another glance out of the window. Lyford Merritt was not in sight. Unconscious of his neighbor's scrutiny and comment, he slowly crossed the stubby field and made his way to the barn. There he deposited the packages from the store and then went to the woodpile. He seemed in a sort of brown study, and his movements were uncertain.

"It ain't right for a man not to be master in his own house," he ruminated as if the sentiment had just been impressed upon his mind. "It really ain't, and I am going to assert myself."

The thought caused a stick to drop from his arms. He hastily picked it up with a backward glance over his shoulder.

"I wouldn't do anything to hurt Caroline for anything in the world. Of course I wouldn't. She's a good wife—a very good wife to me, and I'm thankful I've got such a good wife, and I hope I make her a good husband."

He paused and slowly laid two more sticks on to his burden and walked toward the woodhouse.

"And I've been thinking that perhaps it ain't good for her to have me always giving in to her," he continued as he returned for a second load. "I read somewhere the other day that women was like horses—they like to have their own way long's they can, but when you make 'em mind they go all the better. Not that I should ever try and make Caroline mind"—he paused aghast—"but perhaps if I kinder took things for granted that she wouldn't mind my doing more things I could do 'em, and she'd like it. I'm a-going to try anyway."

It was undeniable that Lyford Merritt's heart beat somewhat faster than usual as it neared 3 o'clock on the following afternoon. The town committee had ordained to have an extra meeting. It was usually held at the Perkins', but Mrs. Perkins was sick, and so Lyford had generously asked them to come there.

A few had already gathered and were sitting in the shade of the big elm. Others could be seen coming down the road.

"I suppose we might as well go in, seeing there are so many of us already," Lyford remarked.

It was an unwritten law that the meetings of the committee should always be held in some parlor or the church vestry. It was not compatible with the dignity of the committee to meet in barns or shops, as did other organizations.

The men sprang up and Lyford led the way to the front of the house, where they greeted the others. They stood a moment and chatted, while a few straggled up, then Lfyord put his hand on the door.

It refused to open. He made several attempts, but it would not stir. He grew red in the face with exertion.

"It's unlocked all right," he declared, "because I saw to that this morning. You see, we don't use it very often, and that's the reason why. I'll go inside and see if I can start it."

He left the men and skirted the house, avoiding the kitchen windows and stealing in the back way, where he removed his shoes and quietly passed through the upper rooms and down the front stairs, when he put on his shoes again.

He managed to open the door. It stuck, but he had forgotten that it opened in. In fact, he never remembered having opened it at all before.

The men filed into the stuffy parlor. Some one suggested that the windows be opened. Lyford stared for a moment. There were no screens in the windows.

"Oh, yes," he replied, with a deal of energy. "Of course. I meant to have them open and forgot. Mrs. Merritt has been very busy or she would have attended to it for me."

His blue eyes twitched and he drew a deep breath as he pushed up the windows and flung back the blinds. He saw a dozen flies dart in, and he gave a quiet chuckle. His emancipation had begun.

The meeting opened with its usual solemnity, but soon it grew exciting, and there was a busy hum of voices. The men had removed their coats, and they swung like draperies from chair backs; the family Bible on the marble center table made an excellent desk for the presiding officer, and ballots and papers were liberally distributed over the floor. Some of the men were smoking.

Lyford was making a speech—it was a very excellent speech—on the freedom of the individual. His audience was interested. Suddenly there was a hush. He turned, and Mrs. Merritt stood in the doorway. Lyford gave a little gasp. The eyes of the men were upon him, and he straightened visibly.

"The meeting of the committee, you know, my dear," he explained, with the faintest tremor in his voice. "I trust we have not disturbed you." His eyes were a bit beseeching.

Several of the men were on their feet. One was struggling into a coat. Mrs. Merritt did not reply. Her keen brown eyes swept the room, and a peculiar smile settled on her face.

"I was going to suggest"—Lyford made the great effort of his life—"I was going to suggest, seeing it was so very warm, that we prepare some sort of refeshment for the gentlemen, Caroline."

There was a note of inquiry in his voice. His wife turned, and with a hurried excuse he followed. A nervous laugh from one of the men broke the tension of the moment.

"We shall have to give him an office," some one suggested.

He was gone some time, and then his wife returned with him. He carried a big pitcher of iced tea, while she bore a platter of spice cake and jumbles, which she afterward supplemented with loaf cake and pickles.

It was a very social intermission that followed. Mrs. Merritt made herself very charmiing, and Lyford was in the highest spirits. Then she retired, and the meeting went on. Lyford was nominated for school committee. He accepted, of course. His wife had never allowed him to run before. It would make her nervous to think of the responsibility.

At 6 the meeting broke up. Lyford escorted them to the gate and watched them as they passed from sight. Then he slowly returned to the house, gave a long look at the disordered room, closed the door and shuffled off to the shed. There he sat for several moments and drew hard at his old pipe.

The supper bell rang. At the sound he hastily started for the door. His hand was on the latch; then he hesitated, his hand dropped, and he returned to the bench, sat down and ran his fingers through his hair.

The bell rang a second time. He laid his pipe down carefully, arose, gave his vest a pull, settled his hat firmly on his head and steadfastly walked into the kitchen.

His wife was sitting by the table, pouring the tea.

He hesitated a moment. She looked very pretty as she sat there—prettier than usual, somehow. Perhaps she had on a better dress.

"Was your meeting successful?" she queried, her eyes on the amber liquid.

"Very," he replied as he crossed the room to where his coat hung on the wooden peg. "They nominated me for school committee."

She nodded her head reflectively. "You will make a good one," she said. "They ought to put good men in office."

He stared at her back. "I'm sorry the parlor"— he began.

"You needn't be," she broke in sharply. "I guess"— She set the teapot down, and, arising carefully, walked around the table and set it down at her husband's place. "I guess that a man has a right to do as he wants to in his own house."

She glanced at him proudly. One arm was in his coat sleeve.

"It's pretty warm," she remarked, seating herself again, "and, Lyford, perhaps you'd be more comfortable if you didn't put your coat on."

He sent a keen glance in her direction, and his blue eyes twinkled. Mechanically he replaced the coat and took his seat at the table opposite her.

"I think that I should," he replied.

OUR WEEKLY FASHION PLATE.

GINGHAM COSTUME WITH SIMULATED OVERDRESS FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

A model designed especially for use in wash garments represents a gingham costume with gored over-dress and attached skirt. The latter extends under the over-dress about three and one-half inches, where it is stitched into position. The over-dress is faced with a fitted facing, a pattern of which accompanies the costume pattern. The skirt is circular, but has slight fulness in the back. The waist is tucked vertically down the back in groups of narrowest tucks and similar tucks extend on each side of the front to within a few inches of the centre, where the bodice ends in two long revers. The yoke is of tucked white duck, which also faces the sleeves at the wrist, and forms the shaped cuff which droops over the hand. The belt is of gingham, shaped and interlined with linen, and stitched on each side. The upper sleeves are diagonally tucked, marked indications for the tucks appearing in the sleeve pattern. The original model from which the design is taken was made for Harper's Bazar, and may be effectively treated in chambray, zephyr, or any of the checked linens. Great care should be exercised in matching the stripes in such materials, especially when bias effects are sought after.

To make this garment for a person of medium size, 12 yards of gingham 24 inches wide, will be required, and a half yard of white duck.

A HUNDRED REASONS

Can be given why Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the best and most effectual cure for every form of indigestion.

They are in the tablet form which retains their good qualities indefinitely while liquid preparations become stale and useless with age.

They are convenient, can be carried in the pocket and taken when needed. —They are pleasant to take.

After each meal dissolve one or two of them in the mouth and, mingling with the food, they constitute a perfect digestive, absolutely safe for the most sensitive stomach.

They digest the food before it has time to ferment, thus preventing the formation of gas and keeping the blood pure and free from the poisonous products of fermented, half digested food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only remedy designed especially for the cure of stomach troubles and nothing else.

One disease, one remedy; the successful physician of today is the specialist, the successful medicine in the medicine prepared especially for one disease.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make the complexion clear by keeping the blood pure.

They increase flesh by digesting flesh forming foods.

A whole package taken at one time would not hurt one, but would simply be a waste of good material.

Over six thousand men and women in the State of Michigan alone, have been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Sold by all druggists at 50 cents per package. 3t-20-22-24.

MEXICO'S FRIENDSHIP

Vouched For by Her New Ambassador to the United States.

General Purpose to Foster Reciprocal Trade.

Wonderful Progress Made Under the Statesmanship of President Diaz.

Washington, March 25.—The new Mexican ambassador, Senor Azpiroz, who succeeds the late Senor Romero, arrived here yesterday. Senor Azpiroz will be the first representative of Mexico to present credentials of the rank of ambassador, for while Senor Romero was commissioned to that rank, he died on the day set for the presentation of his credentials.

The new ambassador was seen at the Mexican embassy shortly after his arrival. He said: "Naturally, my main purpose in coming to Washington is to strengthen the good relations between the United States and Mexico in every way possible, and in particular to develop the trade and commerce which two good neighbors should have with each other. I notice that your papers reproduce Mexican press comments on the recent utterances of Cecil Rhodes, prophesying the absorption by the United States of Central and South American countries. But this press comment in no way reflects the views of the government. Mr. Rhodes utterances are no more than the opinion of any private individual, and receives no serious attention beyond that. Throughout Mexico the press and public are sincerely friendly to the United States."

The ambassador's attention was called to the statement of Correo Espanol, published in the City of Mexico, in reference to American depravity in Cuba.

"That is a Spanish paper," he said, "and the views expressed are merely those of the Spanish element. Under our liberal laws giving freedom of speech and freedom of the press, considerable latitude is allowed in editorial discussion, just as it is under the enlightened laws of the United States. But no significance should be attached to to utterances simply because they are made in the City of Mexico. Only a small element of our people are pro-Spanish by reason of ancestry or relationship. The great bulk of the people treat such matters with indifference, and regard the United States as their nearest and best friend."

Senor Azpiroz explained his reference to closer reciprocal relations between the two countries did not relate to any formal move for a reciprocity treaty under the Dingley law, but was merely expressive of his general purpose to foster reciprocal trade. This trade, he said, ran far into the millions, and was growing constantly. Mexico bought the bulk of her goods from the United States, instead of from European countries. He pointed out that the great mining, mineral and agricultural resources of his country created a large demand for American goods, and the people wanted our machinery and all the appliances of industry, preferring them to those of other countries. With the extensions of the railroad systems between the two countries, this mutual exchange was sure to increase, and the nations would be brought into close trade relations.

Referring to President Diaz, the ambassador said: "The president is enjoying the best of health. Although now about 69 years old, he looks 20 years younger, and he has the same vitality of mind and body that has served to give Mexico so wonderful an impetus under his administration. It is not too much to say that the country has made more progress in the last 20 years than she made in the entire period of her existence before then. And this great stride has been made largely through the statesmanship of President Diaz. It may be said that the United States and Mexico are walking hand-in-hand, one representing the highest type of the Anglo-Saxon, and the other of Latin civilization."

The ambassador spoke in the highest terms of the Americans in Mexico, and said the country invites them as citizens and investors. He also referred to the favorable impression made by the United States ambassador, Mr. Clayton, in his relations with the Mexican government and people.

Partial Agreement Reached.

London, March 25.—The Daily Graphic says: The Anglo-Russian negotiations have resulted in a partial agreement. The question of the Niu Chway railway extension loan contract has been settled on a permanent basis, completely satisfactory to England. Baron de Staal, Russian ambassador to Great Britain, represents that the Russian concession in this matter is due to the anxiety of Emperor Nicholas, on the eve of the conference for the limitation of armaments, to give Great Britain a tangible proof of his peaceful and amicable disposition. Th enegotiations regarding general questions are also well advanced, and there is every reason to hope that a convention will shortly be signed.

Given Up For Lost.

Gloucester, Mass., March 25.—Nine weeks ago, Jan. 21, the schooner A. M. Burnham and her crew of 12 fishermen sailed from this port on a hand-line Georges codfishing trip. The vessel took frozen bait from this port, and after reaching the bank is reported to have been seen before the big gale of Feb. 13 by two other vessels hailing from this port. During the gale the Burnham is believed to have been seen riding at anchor on Brown's bank, although she was not positively identified. Since that time no tidings of any kind have been received from her.

For Alleged Incendiarism.

Amesbury, Mass., March 25.—John P. Crosby of Lawrence was arrsigned in the second district court yesterday, charged with attempting to set fire to the cottage of Byron T. Eaton at Salisbury beach on the night of Feb. 11. Crosby was held in $800 bonds for the superior court.

BRAINTREE.

The adjourned meeting of the Union parish will take place Tuesday evening.

The Braintree Brass band will play in Norwood on the afternoon of Memorial day.

A quartette from Hingham will sing at the Universalist church, Pythian hall, Sunday morning.

A twelve pound daughter came to Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Hull of River street, Wednesday night.

The official board voted unanimously for the return of Rev. C. H. Williams at the last quarterly conference Monday evening.

The ladies connected with the South M. E. church met at the home of Mrs. H. H. Snow on Wednesday afternoon and evening.

The many friends of Mrs. W. E. Wilde will be glad to learn that she has recovered from her recent illness and is about once more.

B. A. Ham has taken a position as flagman at the Pearl street railroad crossing. He commenced his new duties on Saturday morning.

John E. Coughlan, who for the past twelve years has been the trusted engineer at the Williams, Kneeland, & Co.'s shoe factory, resigns his position tonight, to accept a similar position with the Derby Desk Co. at Somerville. His many friends will wish him success in his new venture.

Mrs. George E. Fogg of Quincy avenue is very ill with rheumatism and is being treated by a specialist from Boston.

The new house being erected on Norfolk Hills, by J. H. G. Robinson, has been sold to Mr. Charles Edwards superintendent at the Fore River engine works.

Dr. Ernest Bent has an afflicted household this week. His little daughter is just recovering from chickenpox, and his father and mother who are visiting them have been taken suddenly ill.

The adjourned town meeting held Monday evening was rather a quiet one, and like the preceding meeting went off without any arguments. The only interesting debate was on article 28 to appropriate a sum of money to reimburse Peter McConarty for his labor and expenses for watering the streets in 1898.

One great feature that strikes the visitor at the Fore River engine works is the great order and system in which the work is carried on. Some of the finest machinery in the world may be seen there and the most ingenious devices that man can devise. An interesting place to visit is the galvanizing room, where a tank containing 40 tons of hot metal kept constantly at a temperature of about 1,000 degrees, gives one some idea of the "fire that is never quenched."

The teachers of the Union school visited the public schools of Everett last Tuesday to study the Rational Method in Reading. This method has been in use in the Everett schools for nearly two years and our teachers are just about to introduce it here.

The Braintree bowling team "didn't do a thing" to the Weymouth quint at Burrell's alleys, Wednesday evening. It won three straight games, and the three string total, and defeating the Weymouth lads by the largest score of the season.

Boston Museum.

Viola Allen is meeting with the greatest success ever scored in Boston stage-history in Hall Caine's wonderful play, "The Christian," at the Boston Museum. The receipts for her first week, ending March 11, were $12,870, and for her second week, ending March 18, $13,371. If lack of patronage of a theatrical production indicates failure, such phenomenal receipts must be accepted as proof of success and remarkable public interest. Miss Allen's third week is very likely to show a further increase. Her advance sale, too, shows no sign of falling off. Seats being on sale for all performances in the next four weeks gives everyone an opportunity to secure desirable places.

Castle Square Theatre.

Interest in "The Prodigal Daughter" at the Castle Square Theatre seems to grow with its continued performances, the capacity of the house being tested every afternoon and evening by eager patrons. Week after week the management has planed to present new attractions only to find postponements imperative by reason of the unsatisfied public demand for seats for the current attraction. The merits of the play, as given by the Castle Square stock company, have gained such wide spread knowledge in amusement circles that it seems well-nigh impossible to estimate the possible patronage of its presentation at this house. It has been decided to continue the drama throughout the coming week, continuing meanwhile preparations for a brilliant series of attractions for the spring season.

Keith's Theatre.

The programme at Keith's for the week of March 27 will be headed by those favorite comedians, John and James Russell, who are widely known as "the Irish chamber maids," because of the characters in which they have achieved their greatest success. Ezra Kendall, wit and storyteller, has made such a hit that he will be retained for another six days. Kate Ryan, for several years one of the most popular members of the old Boston Museum stock company is to make her vaudeville debut, in character recitations. Others will be: Brothers Dunn, acrobatic comedians; the DeForrests, whirlwind dancers; Helen Luddington, contralto vocalist; Lovenberg Sisters, dancers and singers, and the Willett-Thorne company, in a roaring farce "At the Cafe." Joe Hart and Carrie DeMar, in "The Quiet Mr. Gay," are underlined for the week of April 3.

Manila, March 27, 7:40 a. m.—The The Americans have advanced along the line of the Dagupan railroad, driving the Filipinos from Malinta and Gycanyan, where there were 3000 inhabitants. Last night the brigades of General Harrison G. Otis and General Hale encamped in the enemy's trenches at Maycauyan, and that of General Wheaton at Malinta.

General Wheaton's brigade formed a junction with the remainder of General McArthur's division at Malinta, and the two, leaving General Wheaton there, marched along the railroad to Maycauyan. This place was fortified, and for 300 yards from it there were trenches on each side of the tracks. These were taken possession of by the American troops

BRIGADIER GENERAL WHEATON.

The movement of the Americans will be pushed in this direction.

The Filipinos, realizing that the railroad is the crucial line, have constructed row after row of trenches running diagonally, on both sides of the track, at a distance of a few hundred yards apart. This work was designed most intelligently, and has evidently been done under the direction of experts. It represents an enormous amount of labor. Most of the rebel positions are protected by thick earthworks, a majority of them topped with stones and provided with loop-holes. Some have sheet iron roofs.

The day's work of the United States troops consisted of storming the successive trenches. The Filipinos occupying them were completely hidden. The enemy poured a strong fire from every trench until they were disturbed by a flanking volley, when they would disappear into the woods and jungle, only to make a stand at the next line. The American loss was remarkably small, seven being reported killed, and 25 wounded. It is known that the Filipinos were so protected that they suffered but little. No dead insurgents were found in the trenches. Forty prisoners were taken by the Americans It is estimated that the rebel casulties numbered 20. The insurgents broke their guns when they were compelled to abandon them.

The United States troops, under General Lloyd Wheaton, captured the town of Malinta, beyond the Tullanan river, yesterday, after a sharp fight. Colonel Harry C. Egbert of the Twenty-second regular infantry was killed. Prince Loewenstein, formerly aide-de-camp on the staff of Brigadier General Miller at Iloilo, somehow got in front of the firing line, and was shot in the side, dying almost instantly. A German, who accompanied him, was wounded.

The American casualties yesterday were much lighter than those of Saturday, the total losses thus far reported since the engagement commenced being 15 killed and 145 wounded.

General Wheaton entered Malinta, which is a small collection of huts, at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The United States gunboat Helena and other gunboats have been shelling Malabon, about a mile northwest of Caloocan, for several hours.

The insurgents made a fierce resistance to the American advance up the railroad at Malinta. In addition to the fatal wounding of Colonel Egbert, several men of the Twenty-second infantry and several of the Oregon and Kansas regiments were killed.

Evidently anticipating a bombardment by the fleet, 1000 rebels evacuated Malabon Saturday night, leaving a few to burn the town. General Wheaton's brigade, composed of the Second Oregon regiment and the Twenty-second and Third infantry, stretched out along the railroad from Caloocan to the Tullahan river, was powerless to prevent the withdrawal, owing to the natural obstacles and to the strong opposition. A column of smoke at daybreak was the first intimation of the enemy's intentions, but others followed at various points, all soon blending in a dense balloon-shaped cloud. The flames of the burning rice mills and large buildings could be plainly seen from Caloocan, despite the strong sunlight.

By 11 o'clock yesterday morning the only building of importance not destroyed in the entire town was a large stone church, but even at noon fresh fires were started among the native huts in the outskirts of Malabon, although the general exodus took place much earlier. Many of the rebels sought refuge in the suburbs Navotas and Casag, or were driven inland by the shells of the Helena, Caloa, Ningdapan and Laguna De Bay

In the meantime General Wheaton's brigade held the railroad to the river, but was unable either to repair the bridge, which had been destroyed by the enemy, or to advance, owing to the opposition and the hills on the other side.

The calculations of both General Hale and General Harrison Gray Otis, whose brigades constituted General MacArthur's division, were much interfered with by the character of the country in front of both, and the enemy was able to take advantage of this so that the operations against Novaliches and Polo were delayed, though the right wing of the division swung out, sweeping the enemy in a northwesterly direction.

General Wheaton's headquarters Saturday night was a half mile south of the river, on the railroad. The opposite bank was protected by a blockhouse and intrenchments. Occasionally the artillery and infantry fired across the stream. Finally the engineers moved a construction train up to the bridge, the iron framework of which remained, and began to replace the floor. While this was going on the Second Oregon regiment crossed the river on the left and the Twenty-second on the right, with four companies of the Twenty-third infantry supporting the latter regiment. A rising, clear ground stretched away a distance of half a mile to Malinta, situated on its crest.

In front of the village were strong Filipino intrenchments, but no Filipinos were to be seen. Apparently they had fled. The Twenty-second regiment approached diagonally, with General Wheaton and his staff close behind, and scouts closely observing the ground.

When the Americans were within about 300 yards of the intrenchments the Filipinos suddenly volleyed heavily. The Twenty-second, which was holding the center, suffered considerably; but with the Oregons on the left and the Kansas on the right, in the woods, the fighting was kept up for half an hour, the Twenty-second infantry advancing up the slope through the thick grass under the hottest fire.

General Wheaton and his staff were all the time under a rain of bullets. Colonel Egbert, who was in the thickest of the fighting, was shot in the abdomen. He was placed upon a stretcher and an attempt was made to carry him to the cars, but he died on the way.

It was a most affecting scene. General Wheaton, baring his head, said: "You have done nobly." Colonel Egbert said in reply: "I must die, I am too old."

No Filipinos were found in the trenches. Though apparently their force was much smaller than that of the Americans they had an immense advantage in position and in opportunity to retreat.

General MacArthur's advance guard, the Third artillery and the Twentieth Kansas regiment, joined General Wheaton's brigade shortly after Malinta was taken, approaching along the Novaliches road westerly.

The soldiers were much exhausted, and there were several prostrations from the heat, which was intense. The dead and wounded were collected in the shade of the trees and carried on stretchers by Chinese across the river to the train.

After lunch General MacArthur's division advanced toward Polo.

The Second Oregon regiment encountered 1000 Filipinos west of Malinta, who were retreating from Malabon. The enemy had taken up a position behind four rows of intrenchment, but was driven out after an hour's heavy firing. One Oregonian was killed and five were wounded.

The Third artillery, acting as infantry, with two guns of the Utah artillery, and the Kansas, had a sharp fight east of Malinta. The Americans had but slight loss; five Filipinos were found dead and several were taken prisoners.

General MacArthur's division is advancing upon Polo along the railroad. As the bridge is destroyed and as the river cannot be forded, the advance is temporarily checked.

In the fighting west of Malinta, the Oregonians captured a Spaniard, but he denied that he was taking part in the battle.

The surgeons from the fleet and the British cruiser Powerful volunteered their assistance and were indefatigable in their services at the front.

Saturday's and Sunday's fighting furnished a specimen of the difficulties with which the Americans have to contend. The Filipinos never, except opposite Malabon, permitted their opponents to get within several hundred yards of them. They would fire a few volleys from their cover and then scuttle back to another cover, repeating these tactics for miles. Many of the trenches had gullies and connecting paths through the cane and brush, enabling them to retreat unseen.

The problem the Americans have to face is to drive or lure the insurgents to fight in force. The trenches seem thinly manned, except in the vicinity of Malabon.

The Americans, fighting a hidden foe, suffered greater loss in proportion than did the enemy. The loss of the Filipinos had formerly been estimated from the number of bodies found scattered in the swamp and through the brush. A larger percentage of the enemy's wounded died than of the Americans, many of them perishing from neglect, the Americans naturally attending their own men first.

The wounded, after treatment in the field hospitals, were brought to the Manila hospital by train. Several trips were made from Caloocan to the city. The first load to start for the city was composed largely of bandaged soldiers, who shouted, "Give 'em hell, boys."

Father and Son Asphyxiated.

Washington, March 27.—Dennis Kelly, aged 55, and his son, Edward, aged 16, of Milestrip, were suffocated at a hotel by inhaling illuminating gas. Their death appears to have been the result entirely of accident. The victims were evidently of the farmer class. The boy, who was sick, had been staying in southern Virginia, where the father had gone for him, the two stopping here for a brief visit on their way home.

Good Afternoon.

The 27th snow storm of the season occurred on Sunday. This record is almost unprecedented. The winter of '98-'99 will be handed down from generation to generation as the severest ever known. The loss on the sea alone amounts to millions. Scores of vessels and steamers have left port never to be again heard from. The loss on land is almost as great. Railroads, street railways of town and municipal corporations have been the principal sufferers. Railroad trains have been snowbound for as long a period as a fortnight and the passengers finally rescued by a relief party sent out by the government. May we live many years before we again see the equal of this last winter.

Drift of Opinion.

Memorial Church.

The Sunday morning service at the Memorial church was conducted by the pastor, who taught that sin was being out of harmony with God's plan for our spiritual life from the consequences of which we have to suffer. When we come into harmony with God's intentions for our lives we realize the change which Christ in his sacrifices portrayed for man. The subject of the pastor's evening talk was "Self Sacrifice."

A GRAND SUCCESS.

Reception of Miss Corlew's Pupils at Music Hall.

"Come trip it as you go,
On the light fantastic toe."

It was W. Ellery Channing who wrote of dancing: "This exercise is among the most healthful. The body as well as the mind feels its glad dening influence. No amusement seems more to have a foundation in our nature. The animation of youth overflows spontaneously in harmonious movements. The true idea of dancing entitles it to favor. Its end is to realize perfect grace in motion; and who does not know the sense of the graceful in one of the highest faculties of our nature?" Another writer has said, "Grace is to the body what good sense is to the mind."

All who attended the grand reception of the Quincy and Wollaston pupils of Miss Corlew at Music hall on Saturday evening will attest to the great accomplishment of the young people who gave an exhibition of dancing. All were graceful and proficient, and it was a happy and proud evening for all.

The classes numbered nearly one hundred, and the audience was limited only by the size of the hall. Eight well known society ladies were the matrons and were seated near the stage under the red glow of a piano lamp. Rugs and parlor furniture made it an attractive corner. On the platform and elsewhere were palms and plants. The matrons were: Mrs. John Downs, Mrs. W. H. Sayward, Mrs. Russell A. Sears, Mrs. F.H. Bishop, Mrs. Herbert F. Kneeland, Mrs. A. W. Thompson, Mrs. E. H. Sprague and Mrs. Geo. G. Saville.

Mrs. Bynner presided at the piano and furnished all the music, but it was sufficient and won many favorable comments. Much of the success was due to her skill.

Miss Corlew entered the hall a little in advance of her pupils and with the assistance of little Edith Willard and Muriel Badger received pupils in front of the platform as they marched in. It was a pretty sight as couple by couple the children addressed their teacher, and several of them presented flowers. Miss Corlew was also the recipient of a stickpin from the Wollaston class and a wreath pin with pearls from Quincy classes. A jewelled hat pin was presented to Mrs. Bynner.

The order of dances included a galop, waltz, two step, class day polka, schottische, the Lanciers, waltz minuet, French polka, German with different figures, waltz and march, and each was danced perfectly. The Lanciers were enthusiastically, while the waltz minuet by little Misses Elizabeth and Marjorie Kneeland, Dorothy Sayward, Grace Spear, Muriel Badger, Alice Dinegan, Edith Willard and Abbie Wilde was repeated on an encore. It was the intention to have a Portland fancy and Polka glide, but time did not admit.

At the conclusion of the grand march a table loaded with ices was brought into the hall, and Hendrie served ices and cake to the children. This concluded the festivities. Many lingered to congratulate Miss Corlew upon her success.

Among the pupils of the classes present were:

Morton Smith, Carl Marsh, Ethel Hersey, Helen Lincoln, Beatrice Graham, Alan Arnold, Minnie Hardwick, Dorothy Federhen, Harriet Spooner, Harry Redding, Grace Bishop, Frank Bishop, Chester Melville, Mollie Brown, George Brown, Elijah Swift, Esther Swift, Sadie Wiley, Ned Hall, Helen Sprague, Rathburn Sprague, Dorothy Sayward, Clara Totman, Penelope Willard, Edith Willard, Muriel Badger, Abby Wilde.

BANQUET FOR 500.

One of Features for Company K Reception.

The Committee on Public Welfare who have charge of the reception to Co. K, upon its return home after being mustered out of the United States service at Camp Wetherill, met again Saturday evening at the Mayor's office, City Hall.

Arrangements were practically completed, although some of the minor details yet remain.

The company is now expected to arrive in Quincy sometime during the afternoon of Monday next, April 3. Upon its arrival it will be met at the depot by the Mayor and members of the Committee, Paul Revere Post 88, G. A. R., and Francis L. Souther Camp, S. of V.

After the preliminary welcome, a line will be formed and headed by the City band the company will be escorted to the old Presidents' houses on Franklin street where special cars will be in waiting to take the company to the armory at Braintree.

At a later day, probably on Thursday afternoon, the company will be tendered a public reception in the Council chamber at City Hall, which will be handsomely decorated for the occasion. The plan is to have the company drawn up in two lines, one each side of the chamber, so that all citizens who desire can enter and pass around one side and out the other During the reception there will be music by the band. This will end the reception as far as the city is officially concerned.

The citizens committee will then take charge of the matter and that evening will tender the boys a banquet at Music hall where covers will be laid for 500. Admission to the banquet will be by tickets. The manner of distribution of these tickets has not as yet been arranged, but they will probably be placed on sale.

During the banquet there will be music by a band, and after cigars are lighted there will be patriotic speeches by prominent citizens.

An invitation will be extended to all citizens on the route from the depot to Franklin street to decorate.

This is the general plan as outlined at Saturday night's meeting.

Boys Steal Wire.

The American Telephone and Telegraph company whose wires pass through West Quincy have been sufferers of late from having their wires cut and carried off. The wires used by this company is copper and is worth thirty cents a pound.

The place where the wire was cut was near the Blue Hill's Reservation, and about $200 worth has been carried off. It was learned by the officers that the wire was stolen by boys, and Saturday evening Officer O'Neil of the Park police arrested two boys named Edward Riley and James Mulligan. Warrants were also sworn out against William Donovan, James Graham, John Mulligan and Charles Trentino who have been summoned to appear in court next Thursday.

The wire was cut by pliers, such as used by linemen, which the boys claim to have found near one of the poles. It is claimed that the wire was sold to a junk dealer for ten cents a pound.

$75,000 Fire.

The three upper floors of the Rice Kendall building on Federal street, Boston, were gutted by fire early this morning, entailing a loss of $75,000. The upper floors were occupied by Abbott's bookbinding plant and the Best Printing Co. The lower floor was not occupied.

The little Blue Hill chapel at Readville of which W. G. Corthell and Annie M. Corthell were original members, observed its tenth anniversary on Sunday.

T. H. Kingston has purchased a lot on the corner of Squantum and Holmes street containing 16,785 feet upon which he is to erect four two family cottages.

For eight days until today the noon temperature ranged between 32 and 39; rather cool for the season. A year ago the average noon temperature was about 50 degrees.

A dog was being carried away on a cake of ice at Quincy Point last Saturday, and it looked serious for him at one time, but the captain of the barge Durham came to the rescue and brought him safe to land.

The following gentlemen have been invited to serve as a Citizens' committee to prepare for a reception to Co. K: Dr. J. A. Gordon, W. T. Isaac, Frank F. Prescott, Delcevare King, Frank C. Packard, George H. Wilson, Charles F. Pettengill, A. W. Stetson, C. C. Sampson, W. F. Hoehn, F. F. Green and J. P. Sears. The committee will meet this evening.

The preparations for the second annual ball of Quincy Council, Knights of Columbus are about completed, and it is expected that this year's event will eclipse that of last year. The ball will be held on Easter Monday night in Music hall. Prominent members of the order in Massachusetts have been bidden to the pleasures of the evening, and also Mayor Keith, Postmaster Hammond, Representative Eben W. Sheppard and city officials. With the notable success of last year's ball in mind, the members of the Council are putting forth every energy that these annual events may win first place in Quincy's social calendar.

A Cat-astrophe!

A few years ago a leading lawyer of Quincy wanted an office boy, a boy who wanted to be a lawyer, who would grow up and be an ornament to the profession. He advertised for a boy. He had applicants by the dozen. He selected eight from the number and taking one of them into his private office, told him a story. The story was this:

A man was bothered by a cat which got on top of a neighboring barn and yeowled every night and kept him awake. He threw a brick at the cat, "but the cat came back." Next day he got a shot gun and loaded it. That night the cat selected a Wagnerian opera from his catagory and began. The man took aim and fired. The paper wad caught the dry shingles on the roof of the barn afire and they had to call out the fire department. The neighbor sued him for damages and he sued the neighbor for maintaining a Zoo inside the city limits.

The first boy yawned and asked who won the suit. He told it to the other boys in rotation. The second wanted to know what the damages were; the third wanted to know if there were any horses in the barn; the fourth, if the barn burned down; the fifth if it caught the house afire; the sixth whether it was far to the barn; the seventh, whether the cat was alone. The eighth, little Jimmie Malone, freckle-faced, pug-nosed, red-headed Jimmie slowly inquired, "Did he hit the cat?" Jimmie was hired, and now he is a prominent lawyer in a near-by city.

Why did the lawyer hire him? Because he never lost sight of the main point of the question. He stuck to one thing and all the side issues made to confuse him never made him waver.

One year ago the Quincy Clothing Co started out to build a Clothing business in Quincy; started to build it by selling good goods cheap, straight, and by dealing square. All the energies of our organization have been directed toward one thing—buying right and selling right.

Since we began in Quincy there has never been a time and there never will be when you can buy as good goods for your money anywhere else as you can here. Tomorrow we open a large shipment of Spring Overcoats for men at $5.65 to $10.00 that are marvels of merchandising. Even in the cheapest there is no shoddy flockings, flyings or cotton. It is half lined with guaranteed satin, and the better ones are what you pay $15.00 for.

Are almost invariably the result of defective eyes, and a common and serious defect is Astigmatism, the amount and axis of which is not always perfectly corrected by the methods in ordinary use.

We use the opthalmometer to discover astigmatism. This instrument is relied on by oculists and will reveal the trouble where other tests fail.

THEY RIDICULE IT.

Many People Ridicule the Idea of an Absolute Cure for Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles.

Ridicule, However, is not Argument, and Facts Are Stubborn Things.

Stomach troubles are so common and in most cases, so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on their acuteness in never being humbuged, especially in medicines.

This fear of being humbuged can be carried too far, so far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure inpigestion on the commonsense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure inigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digests the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists every where at 50 cents per package. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for little book on stomach diseases, sent free. Mar. 27-3t-27-29-31

THE INDOOR MEET.

Class of 1901 at Thayer Academy the Winner.

The most successful of the indoor meets ever held at Thayer academy was that of Saturday, in the White gymnasium. New school records were made in everything, except fence vault and the rope climb, showing the good work of Mr. George H. Arnold, the instructor, and interest on the part of the pupils. The judges were Messrs. L. W. Arnold and N. E. Hayden; the referee, Dr. William Gallagher; the starter, Mr. Theodore B. Allen; and scorer, Mr. Otis B. Oakman.

The events were in the following order and resulted as follows:

Standing High Jump—First, Uniac, 1901; height, 4 ft. 7 in. Second, McMalhon, 1901. Third, French, 1902

Fined for Assault.

Alex McDonald of Wollaston Park boarded the 7 40 car in City Square Saturday night for home. On the way down he began spitting upon the floor of the car which is not only a violation of the rules of the company but of the Board of Health as well. The conductor, Winfred H. Robinson, told McDonald he must stop. At this it is alleged that McDonald used some vile language and when he got off the car at Beale street, he hit the conductor in the face. A warrant was sworn against McDonald for disturbing the peace and for assault, and he was fined $12 in court this morning.

Signs Unheeded.

Pittsburg, March 27.—A freight wreck yesterday on the Fort Wayne and Chicago railroad at Jack's Run, just below this city, resulted in the death of two men, the probably fatal injury of another, and the complete destruction of an engine and 10 freight cars. The cause of the wreck is a mystery. The Fort Wayne train was standing still when an extra freight on the Pennsylvania road, heavily laden, came dashing up behind at the rate of 30 miles an hour, and crashed into it The telegraph operator and signalman both claim to have signalled the extra to stop, but no attention was paid to their warning.

Belmont's Attitude.

New York, March 27.—A public letter from Oliver H. P. Belmont calls on the Democrats to harmonize their differences and close up the ranks for the battle of 1900. He says: "Speaking for myself, I am a gold man, but I will unhesitatingly support free silver, 16 to 1, should it be made the platform sentiment of the party in 1900. I will give my full support to any candidate whom the convention selects. However, I do not regard the question of finance as of prime importance at any time. It will grow steadily less important between now and the next election."

With $10,000 000 Capital.

New York, March 27.—J. H. Hoadley announces that charter papers and contracts have been finished in this city for the incorporation of the Boston Autotruck company with $10,000,000 capital. The new company has secured rights of the Hoadley-Knight compressed air system in Boston. The manufacturing rights for the company have been secured by the International Power company, and the work will be done at the New England shops in Worcester, Mass., and Providence.

D'Ennery's Wit.

The Empress Eugenie once asked D'Ennery, the French dramatist, after the performance of one of his plays at the Tuileries, "How did your heroine get the poison that was so necessary for the denouement?" "Ah, your majesty," said D'Ennery, "that's just what I've never succeeded in getting her to tell."

Another time the directors of a theater where his drama, "The Two Orphans," was being rehearsed, asked him what he was dissatisfied with. "Oh," he replied, "it's only that each of you has got an imbecile for a partner."

A Sure Rule.

De Canters—Is there any sure way to tell the age of a horse?

De Trotter—Yes; ask the dealer and multiply by one-half.—New York Weekly.

A PRETTY PARTY.

The Gay and Fair Gather at Music Hall, Atlantic.

The closing subscription party of the season given in Music hall Atlantic, last Friday evening, was no doubt one of the prettiest and most thoroughly enjoyed party ever held at Atlantic. The hall was artistically decorated with green and cerise bunting, and that mingled with the handsome and attractive dresses worn by the merry dancers, made an imposing picture. The couples began to arrive at 8 o'clock and after dancing a few hours to the delightful music of Hunt's orchestra, a short intermission was had, during which ices were served by the popular caterer, M. R. Sparrow.

USE OF THE WEED.

Pleasing Comedy at King Daughters' Sale at Wollaston.

The annual sale and entertainment of the Junior King's Daughters was held at the Wollaston Unitarian vectry on Saturday afternoon and evening. Between two and three hundred people attended.

As the name of organization implies, consists of a number of girls who are pupils of the Wollaston school.

The patroness Miss Marden of the Wollaston school, to whom in a great measure the success of this sale, as well as previous ones, is due. A large part of the proceeds were given to the City Hospital.

The officers of the organization are as follows: President, Louise Bates; vice president, Marion Macleod; secretary, Mabel Hastings; treasurer, Kathleen Reece.

The vestry was tastefully decorated for the occasion. Tables for the sale of useful and fancy articles were arranged around the room. At the picture table were Miss Elizabeth Thayer, Louise Bates and Marion Macleod; at Easter table,—Cora Titus, Mildred Colgan, Harriet Fenton and Mable Hastings; at the flower table,—Jessie Ray and Blanche Rhoads; domestic table,—Ida Brown and Gertrude King; candy table, — Ethel Parker and Kathleen Reece.

But the best part of the whole affair was the comedy, "The use of the weed," which several of the members gave under the direction of Miss Sherman. It went off with a snap and smoothness that would have done credit to a professional organization. They were all stars.

The cast:

Miss Bookworm, principal of a young ladies' school, Ida Brown.

Pauline Smithers, and Roberta Smithers, guardians of Clarissa Harlowe, Eva Sheldon, Louise Bates.

Clarissa Harlowe, Fannie Young and Mary James, Pupils, Ethel Parker, Kathleen Reece and Mabel Hastings.

ARRIVAL OF TROOPS

Saved the Zeltner Brothers and Their Families From Mob's Vengeance.

One of Them Had Murdered an Attorney-at-Law.

Fled to Their Home and Killed a Neighbor While Defying Arrest.

Bowling Green, O., March 27.—Paul and John Zeltner, the murderers of Lawyer Westenhaver, who for 18 hours defied the authorities at their home at Hoyt's Corners, surrendered yesterday. The situation was for a time critical. When the Bloomfield Rifles arrived at Hoyt's Corners at 1 a. m., the greater part of the crowd had disappeared, and the excitement had subsided. In fact, before the militia arrivved, the guard around the Zeltners' home had been relaxed.

There was no demonstration when the fugitives surrendered, the people apparently being satisfied to permit the law to take its course. The Zeltners had to be assured by the sheriff, however, before agreeing to surrender, that they would be fully protected. Small crowds of people gathered at the stations along the railroad as the special train, which brought the prisoners to Bowling Green, passed, but there were no hostile demonstrations. A large crowd of people gathered at the railroad station in this city, and followed the prisoners, escorted by the militia, to the jail, but there was no disorder and no threats of summary justice.

It is not believed here that there will be an attempt to lynch the prisoners.

Developments since the capture of the Zeltners indicate that they not only deliberated over the bloody defiance of law, but also prepared for it, having a large stock of ammunition in their residence, two miles from Hoyt's Corner. E. H. Westenhaver, ex-solicitor of North Baltimore, had been their attorney in numerous cases and sued them for his fees. The jury and witnesses had been sworn Saturday before Justice Burgeon in the township house at Hoyt's Corner in Westenhaver's suit to recover fees, when Paul Zeltner demanded some papers of Westenhaver and attempted to take them from his pocket. John Zeltner then joined in demanding the papers and immediately fired the shot that killed Westenhaver. As the Zeltners had their horses ready for mounting and escape, it is thought that they had arranged to get Westenhaver into a fight for the purpose of "doing him," although they did not give the victim time to make any demonstrations toward them. The Zeltners kept up their firing till they mounted their horses and continued it as hundreds of citizens pursued them for two miles to their residence. After they reached their house they kept up constant fire the rest of the day and during Saturday night. They not only went to the trial fully armed, but had a large stock of ammunition stored at home.

While the feeling is intense around North Baltimore on account of the murder of Westenhaver, it is equally intense around Hoyt's Corner on account of the killing of their neighbor, Clarence Weidmeyer, who was with the sheriff's posse Saturday night. When Weidmeyer fell volley after volley was poured into the crowd from the upper story of the Zeltner house, and the Zeltners knew that they were firing on their neighbors as well as on the sheriff and his deputies. Before the arrival of troops during the night, a cannon used in shooting oil tanks in case of fire and a quantity of nitro-glycerine had been secured, so that there would have been trouble after sunrise if the troops had not arrived.

The Zeltner brothers and their families were no doubt saved by the prompt arrival of troops under the orders of Governor Bushnell. The troops stood between the firing from the house and the enraged crowd, and not only captured the desperadoes, but also protected them from violence all the way from the southern boundary of this county to the jail here, a distance of over 20 miles, with excitement at the highest pitch all along the route. In connection with the participation of the two women and four children in the Zeltner barricaded house, it is stated as further proof of deliberation that the Zeltners transferred their farms and other property on Friday to Mrs. John Zeltner.

Nothing to Save.

Halifax, March 27.—Captain Christie and Captain Burns arrived here yesterday from England to ascertain what could be done in the direction of saving the steamer Castilian, which was cast on Gannett rock ledges, near Yarmouth, two weeks ago. When they left England it was thought that the Castilian might possibly be saved, but now any hope of getting her off has been abandoned, as the big steamer has broken in two and she is a total loss.

Met by Chance.

Hot Springs, Ark., March 27.—In an interview last evening William J. Bryan stated that no conference of political significance had taken place here, and that there will be none. He says that though he finds prominent Democrats here from all parts of the country, they did not know of his coming and he did not know of their presence here when he came to deliver a lecture.

Suicide on the Ocean.

New York, March 27.—William Scott, a corn merchant of Liverpool, England, committed suicide on board the steamer Umbria, while she was en route to this country. He was found on the morning of March 24, in his stateroom, with his throat cut. He had inflicted the injury with a broken bottle. Scott was about 50 years of age. No cause for the act is known.

Combine of Breweries.

Boston, March 27.—It is now stated that a consolidation of 17 breweries in this city will be effected about the first of May, and that the capital of the new trust will be $11,500,000. It is possible that before the consolidation is consummated other breweries in the city will also be included in the trust.

PROTEST FROM BRITISHERS.

Claim That Their Position Under Kruger's Rule Is Intolerable.

London, March 27.—The Johannesberg correspondent of The Times says: A petition to Queen Victoria, signed by 21,000 British subjects in the Transvaal, has been handed to the British agent at Pretoria, praying her majesty to secure reform of the abuses from which the Uitlanders are suffering and complaining that their position is intolerable.

The Times, in an editorial based upon the dispatch, says: Will President Kruger continue to disregard these warnings until it is too late?

Exports of Cuba.

Washington, March 27.—Assistant Secretary Meiklejohn has made public a statement concerning exports of tobacco, etc., at Havana, during the month of February last. It shows the total shipments of tobacco as 13,488 bales. The great bulk of this went to New York. The total export of cigars for the month was 16,744,490. Of this number New York took 15,346,795. The total cigaret shipments for the month were 1,010,405 packages. The shipments of cut tobacco amounted to 38,354 kilograms. The exports free of duty during February reached 5,415,393 kilograms, chiefly sugar, pineapples, preserved fruits, old iron, etc. The total number of export entries was 506. The passenger traffic for the month is shown as follows: From the United States, 1983; to the United States, 1312; from Spain, 850; to Spain, 264; from other countries, 349; to other countries, 62; total arrivals, 3012; total departures, 1628.

About That $2,000,000 Estate.

San Jose, Cal., March 27.—The probate clerk here is in receipt of a letter from the manager of the Worcester Spy, inquiring about a $2,000,000 estate, said to be in the probate court here awaiting the heirs. Several columns of newspaper clippings from Massachusetts papers were inclosed. In these it is stated that Rev. L. F. Bothezer died intestate at San Jose, leaving an estate valued at $2,000,000. The clippings state that three young ladies of Worcester are the heirs, and that they have made the proof. There is no such estate in this county, nor such a man as Rev. Mr. Bothezer ever lived here, as far as the records show.

Headquarters For Sweaters.

Philadelphia, March 27.—The pantsmakers strike will affect the New York garment makers. One of the strikers says that Philadelphia is the headquarters for New York "sweaters." Garments come here from New York to be made up on the sweat shop principle. The highest price paid the local workers is 22 cents for each pair of pants, and the average is 18 cents. Three consignments arrived here from New York last week. They consisted of 50,000, 25,000 and 10,000 pairs of pants. The strikers will ask the state senate to investigate the sweat shop system.

"Trolley Baseball League."

Lowell, Mass., March 27.—Representatives of baseball teams in this city, Lawrence, Haverhill and Nashua met here yesterday and organized the American Trolley Baseball league. The idea of the projectors is to play Wednesday and Saturday games during the season, beginning May 6 and closing some time in September. Among the places in which the league contemplates locating clubs are Newburyport, Amesbury, Reading, Woburn, Wakefield, Stoneham and Melrose. The league adjourned to meet at Lawrence in two weeks, when officers will be elected.

George Bidwell Dead.

Butte, Mont., March 27.—George Bidwell, the elder of the Bidwell brothers who, with several confederates, gained fame by defrauding the Bank of England out of $5,000,000 through forged securities, died yesterday after two weeks of illness from pneumonia. The death of his brother, Austin, here three weeks ago was a great blow to him, and he took to his bed a few days after the younger brother died. Both bodies are at an undertaking room awaiting burial, and it is probable they will be interred by the county.

Mary Talks Politics.

Boston, March 27.—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Lease, the woman lawyer and orator from Wichita, Kas., has arrived here. In an interview, Mrs. Lease called Mr. Bryan a selfish demagogue, President McKinley a man who tries to please, but fails, denounced Secretary Alger and lauded General Miles. She endorsed the conduct of the administration in fighting the Filipinos, and concluded by saying that she hated and detested Democracy.

Despondent Over Wife's Death.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 27.—James W. Hayes of Meriden committed suicide at the Atlantic hotel yesterday by shooting. The bullet pierced his heart, and the revolver was pressed so close that it burned the flesh. Hayes was very popular in Meriden, and no reason can be assigned for his self-destruction, apart from the fact that he might have been despondent, owing to the death of his wife several months ago.

Stratton Sells a Mine.

Cripple Creek, Col., March 27.—It is reported that W. S. Stratton has sold his Independence mine to an English syndicate, and is on his way to England to complete the deal. The price is not known, but as two experts, after a thorough examination of the property last December, estimated the ore in sight at $6,000,000, it is assumed that the selling price is greater than was ever before paid for a Colorado mine.

Sampson Visits Morro.

Santiago, March 27.—The United States cruiser New York and the gunboats Vicksburg and Annapolis, arrived here Saturday. Rear Admiral Sampson and Captain Chadwick called upon General Wood. The warships left last evening for Kingston, Jam. Admiral Sampson visited Morro Castle, never having explored the interior before.

Mohammedan Uprising.

London, March 27.—According to a dispatch from Shanghai to The Daily Mail it is said there that a Mohammedan rebellion has broken out in the province of Kan-Su, the most northwestern province of China, between the provinces of Shen-See and Se-Chuen on one side and Mongolia and the desert of Gobi on the other.

AGRICULTURAL POINTS

Gleaned by Dr. Knapp In Japan, China and the Philippines.

Observations Embodied In an Interesting Report.

Natives of Philippines Would Make Good Mechanics If Properly Trained.

Washington, March 27.—Dr. S. A. Knapp, who was sent by the department of agriculture to Japan, China and the Philippines as an agricultural explorer, has returned to Washington and reported to Secretary Wilson the results of his labors. He was instructed to investigate such products of the farms, fields and forests of those countries as might be of advantage to the agricultural industries of the United States. Some of the observations of Dr. Knapp relating to the products of Japan already have been published in a preliminary report. On this branch of investigation, however, he has the following additional to say:

"All fear of competition from Japan along agricultural lines may be dismissed. On the contrary, it must become a large consumer of farm products drawn from the United States. The diffusion of knowledge and the introduction of new industries in Japan have had the effect of more than doubling the cost of labor in the last 10 years and, in proportion, of stimulating consumption by the common people. Future progress must be mainly made in the direction of manufactures. In such event the food for the operatives, the cotton and other fibre material for the fabrics, the lumber and iron for the construction of the factories and much of the machinery will be drawn from the United States.

"Of the fabrics, cotton and wool alone have made much progress under the factory system, and this is owing to the fact that they were not produced to any extent in the empire and hence no home system of manufacture had been established for them.

"The principal agricultural products imported into Japan are wheat, flour, sugar, cotton, butter, cheese and meat. The annual value of these articles is at present between $24,000,000 and $25,000,000 in gold. Under favorable treaty regulations Japan will import from the United States nearly all her flour, butter, cheese and meat, three-fourths of the raw cotton required, and from the Philippines nearly their entire surplus of the output of sugar."

Regarding China the report says: "The great area, the large percent of fertile lands and the enormous population of China stagger the observer on the threshold of investigation. Here, however, as in Japan, radical changes in agricultural methods or products must be made very slowly, if at all, because the food supply cannot be materially reduced or even changed with safety. Large areas devoted to fibre plants for the promotion of manufactures would be a dangerous invasion of the acres necessary for the food supply and must be speedily followed by importations from the United States." Dr. Knapp was deeply impressed by the alert, industrious and frugal character of the Chinese.

From China Dr. Knapp proceeded to the Philippines. Arriving at Manila he went by rail as far as San Fernando, passing through the rice section to the east and north of Manila on to the sugar lands to the north. The yield per acre, according to the best authorities, is about 1000 pounds of hulled rice on lands under rainfall irrigation solely, and 2000 pounds on lands artificially irrigated. This shows very careless husbandry.

The rich clay soil about San Fernando is well adapted to sugar cane. In Luzon the methods of sugar farming are quite different from those practised in the United States, while the factories are the crudest conceivable. The sugar is drained upon the open kettle plan. The proprietor furnishes land and factory and the tenant furnishes seed, does all the work in the field, delivers the cane to the mill and supplies most of the hands for making the sugar. The proprietor receives one-half the sugar and all the molasses. The tenant in theory is allowed the remainder, but in practice he usually receives about two-fifths of the sugar. Dr. Knapp was informed that in the island of Panay, Negros and Cebu the sugar farms and factories are much more improved than in Luzon. Sugar lands produce from 3000 to 8000 pounds per acre, depending upon the cultivation and the factory.

The Philippiners as farmers, as he observed, do not give as much attention to the production of nitrogeneous foods as the Japanese, and hence are less muscular.

Spanish statistical reports and interviews with Manila exporters satisfied the doctor of the prosperity of the tobacco and hemp industries with normal conditions.

Millet, maize, sago and indigo do well and are ordinarily profitable crops. Philippine coffee, of which there formerly were many plantations, has a peculiarly rich and pleasant flavor. Cocoanuts, pineapples, oranges, bananas, grapes, figs and many other fruits grow almost spontaneously.

The Philippine islands abound in valuable wood for building, furniture, dye woods, and some yielding costly gums. According to the best authority nearly two-thirds of the land is still public and passes to the United States with the title. If opened for settlement to soldiers many of our young men will remain and become permanent settlers. Some associations of this kind have already been organized. The price of improved land ranges from $4 to $200 per acre (gold), depending upon the location and value of the improvements.

Reports of the observatory at Manila show that the average rainfall for the last 30 years has been 75 4-10ths inches.

Prominent Philippinos assured Dr. Knapp that upon their estates the laborers were industrious and thrifty, and if encouraged these conditions would become general. A visit to the carpenter shops, machine shops and various small factories satisfied him that the Philippinos make good mechanics when properly trained.

HAD NIGHTMARE.

Tacoma Man Awoke to Find That He Had Killed His Wife.

Tacoma, Wash., March 27.—Dr. Charles Corey shot and killed his wife while she lay asleep. Corey was ill, and his story of the affair was that he was laboring under a nightmre, believing his wife was being pursued by a stranger, who was intent on killing her. In his dream, Corey says he followed the two from Tacoma to Washington, and just as he fancied that the man was about to stab her, he fired twice with his revolver.

He awoke with a start to find himself sitting in bed with a smoking revolver in his hand. Corey had drawn his revolver from its place under his pillow and had killed his wife. The relations between Corey and his wife have been very affectionate, and the authorities believe his story. He is nearly crazed with grief, and friends are watching him to prevent his suicide. Corey was not arrested.

Ready to Fight.

London, March 27.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail says: The dowager empress has ordered the governors of the maritime provinces of China to resist forcibly any landing of armed foreigners.

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

Supplies Kept Well Up With Fighting Lines.

Rebels Probably Making Their Own Ammunition.

Move Has Now Shifted to Pursuit by Our Troops.

Main Bodies of Opposing Forces Ten or Twelve Miles Apart.

Washington Officials Confident of Successful Outcome of the Campaign.

Washington, March 28.—The duration of the battle in the Phillipines is beginning to attract the attention of army strategists, as it is a very important element in determining the strength of the men, the supplies of ammunition and stores, and the spirit of the army. The first blow was struck before daybreak last Saturday, and the fighting continued all that day, again on Sunday and Monday, and probably today. The reports show little night fighting, except in repulsing an insurgent attack Saturday night.

With yesterday the fighting had lasted 72 hours. Judged by the standards of great battles, such as Waterloo, Plevna and others, this is a long and intensely arduous engagement. But the fighting about Manila is quite different from the standards of civilized armies, as it is a running brush conflict, with only occasional issues between organized bodies of troops.

Some of the battles of the Civil war lasted many days, notably the battle of the Wilderness and the fighting about Richmond. In speaking of the element of endurance General Sternberg said that he had gone for seven days in the continuous fighting around Richmond without renewing the supplies originally issued before the fighting began. The main question in these long continued fights is to have all supplies, stores, etc., kept abreast of the fighting force, so that there may be no exhaustion. In this respect all the reports of the fighting above Manila are most gratifying to the authorities here in showing that the quartermaster, commissary, medical and signal stores are well up with the fighting lines.

The belief is expressed at the war department that the Filipinos are manufacturing the ammunition that is being used with such recklessness. When General Greene was in the Philippines he went to the Filipinos' camps and remained some time among them. His report to the president shows that the Filipinos obtained a large supply of arms and ammunition when Dewey captured Cavite, and that they had previously obtained a supply of Remingtons and Mausers.

General Greene also found that the Filipinos had established a factory for the manufacture of ammunition for these rifles, and this factory probably is furnishing a sufficient supply to the insurgents.

The use of Chinese as litter bearers is said to be a device to save our own men for the more serious work. The Chinese carry a light bamboo litter, and being accustomed to the climate they can travel twice as far as an unacclimated carrier. The main point, however, is that the fighting force is kept intact.

While the casualty list is a source of profound regret in army quarters, it is said to be comparatively low, considering the number of men engaged and the duration of action. This is accounted for by the long range shooting of the insurgents, who do not shoot at a mark, but in the general direction of our forces. While these stray bullets do considerable havoc in our lines, it is far less than the results of close range volleys from solid ranks of insurgents in the open or from a considerable number of sharpshooters.

The third day of the fighting north of Manila brought little of a decisive character from which war department officials could judge what the final outcome of this movement would be. In all official quarters the most intense interest prevailed, but there was no excitement and none of that anxiety and tension shown during the memorable days of last summer when the decisive blows were being struck at Santiago.

Early in the day General Otis cabled the war department a brief, but comprehensive dispatch, summing up the situation. It disclosed that the fighting was going on, with our forces advanced as far north as Mariloa, while the insurgents, under the command of Aguinaldo, were being driven back with considerable slaughter. This and the press dispatches, satisfied the officials that the strategic movement or entrapping the insurgents between our lines had not proved as successful as designed, and that the move had now shifted to a retreat by Aguinaldo's forces and a pursuit by our troops.

The insurgents' retreat toward Malolos was slow and dogged, and advantage was taken of one after another of the lines of intrenchments, the burning of bridges and the interrupting of communications. General Otis' dispatch, although received early yesterday, was sent Monday evening, Manila time, and summed up the work of the three days. That the fighting would proceed into the fourth day was shown by his closing sentence: "The column will press on in the morning." This refers to today.

The engagement has now shaped itself so that it is looked upon as more of a chase than the execution of a strategic movement. With the American base advanced to Mariloa, and the insurgent base forced back to Malolos, the main bodies of the two opposing forces are about 10 or 12 miles apart. This could be quickly covered in a forced march under fair conditions, but it is 12 miles of innumerable difficulties and obstacles which our troops must cover before they reach the insurgent stronghold. It is expected that the engineers with McArthur are hastily repairing the burned bridges. This will permit the artillery to be taken forward as well as the infantry columns. It is expected that every mile of the distance to Malolos will be contested by the insurgents, for General Otis reports that it is a stretch of country covered with the intrenchments thrown up during the last three months. Our men, therefore, must advance slowly, repairing the roads as they go, and at the same time they must fight their way through well made rebel intrenchments.

Serious as the work is, there is no lack of confidence among the officials here as to the satisfactory outcome of the campaign. Malalos is the insurgent capital, where the assembly has been sitting and the insurgent government has been operating. It represents more to the Insurgents than any other place in the Philippines, and little doubt is entertained that they will make a desperate stand there.

The tactics of Aguinaldo are taking him gradually beyond the range of Admiral Dewey's guns. While the insurgents were at Malabon on Saturday they were within a mile of the water front, and easily within range of the fleet. But as they have moved northward they have gradually moved away from the bay. Malolos is about seven miles back from the bay, although there are shallow estuaries which would permit light draft boats to get within a mile or two.

of the supreme court under the charge of "badgering" Martin Mahon. She was, however, held in $1000 bail on the charge of stealing silverware from the Waldorf-Astoria.

Where Lobbying Prevails.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 28.—The house yesterday, after a sharp conflict, passed to engrossment the bill reducing passenger rates from 3 to 2½ cents a mile. In the course of the debate Mr. Dalzell held up a mileage book, which he said came to him through the mails, and pointing to the members opposing the bill said: "If the railroad would keep the red books in their offices you would do your duty in voting to regulate passenger rates."

Not Due to Violence.

Boston, March 28.—Medical Examiner Draper yesterday submitted his report on the autopsy performed on the body of Frank Pike, aged 14. Dr. Draper declares that death was due to congestion of the lungs, and not to violence. Immediately before his sickness the boy was punished in school, and his parents believed that the sickness and death were due to the treatment received at the hands of the teacher.

BUSY DAY FOR ALGER.

Matters Pertaining to Cuba Talked of by Department Commanders.

Anxious to Know Exact Policy of President McKinley.

War Secretary Furnished but Little Information In Reply to Questions.

Havana, March 28.—Secretary Alger says that his rather hurried visit to Cuba is because he wishes to get into personal touch with the current business of the island's government, and to talk with the generals who control the various military departments. In this way he expects to gain more vivid impressions than would be possible from any official correspondence. Moreover, he will be able to get some rest and to enlarge his notions of West Indian geography.

Thus far his experience has been busy, instructive and entertaining. He received callers on board the Ingalls before 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and at 9 he met the department commanders at El Vedado. A conference lasting three hours followed, and after lunch the secretary drove with General Brooke to Camp Quemados, where he reviewed the Seventh army corps. Last evening he was present at a reception given in his honor at the residence of the governor general.

At the morning conference, which was of a somewhat rambling character, some of the subjects discussed were the diminishing destitution, the slow revival of agricultural life, the peace that prevails in all the provinces, the excellent health of the United States forces and the unnecessariness of a large body of troops to maintain the existing order. Two of the department commanders said it would materially aid their labors if they knew President McKinley's exact policy with respect to Cuba—whether the American operation was to be long or short. Both described themselves as working a little in the dark with respect to the ultimate purpose of the United States government. This uncertainty as to the length of the occupation, they declared, tended to promote restlessness among the Cubans.

These observations, which were developed in a conversational way, did not elicit from the secretary of war any expression of opinion as to Washington's policy other than that the work ahead was to restore civil control, and to modify the Spanish system wherever the governor general found it defective.

General Brooke sent out for drafts of two important decrees, which will be promulgated in the course of the next few days. These were briefly explained to General Alger. One tears up the Spanish taxation system. Under its provisions all municipal assessments are to be applied to local administration.

The other decree about to be issued grants one year from April 1, 1899, to debtors whose indebtedness existed on Jan. 1, 1899, as a period of grace during which mortgages cannot be foreclosed or property sold for either principal or interest.

General Alger thinks of going to Pinar del Rio today, but has not decided as yet. He will go to Cienfuegos, stopping at Matanzas en route. The question of reducing the number of military departments he leaves to Governor General Brooke.

Now In Criminal Branch.

New York, March 28.—Justice Williams of the supreme court, at the request of District Attorney Gardner, yesterday transferred the case of Roland B. Molineux to the criminal branch of the supreme court, thus taking it out of the jurisdiction of the court of general sessions. This makes it necessary for Molineux's counsel to make a new motion of 24 hours' notice to Colonel Gardiner that the defense will move for the quashing of the indictment. The motion was to have been made today before Judge Blanchard in general sessions.

Negroes Attacked Whites.

Birmingham, Ala., March 28.—Negro miners made an attack on the camp of the whites at Dolomite, about 12 miles from here, shortly after midnight. The white men returned the fire, and several of the negroes were wounded. Reinforcements have been sent to the deputy sheriffs, who are trying to preserve order, and Sheriff O'Brien has just left with another strong posse. Negro soldiers recently mustered out are inciting the blacks. A race war is threatened.

Boardmen Take Action.

Leominster, Mass., March 28.—The property of Dr. H. M. Nash, former postmaster of Lancaster, who was suspended last week pending an examination of his accounts, has been attached, following the action of the government authorities in calling upon Dr. Nash's bondsmen to make good a shortage of between $16.0 and $1700.

Woman In the Case.

Halifax, March 28.—Ezekiel Hill was arrested near Digby yesterday for an alleged attempt to kill John Porter, whom he attacked while they were riding home on a lonely road. Porter is in a critical condition, and is expected to die. The men are farmers, and a woman figured in a law suit to which they were parties.

A Cat-astrophe!

A few years ago a leading lawyer of Quincy wanted an office boy, a boy who wanted to be a lawyer, who would grow up and be an ornament to the profession. He advertised for a boy. He had applicants by the dozen. He selected eight from the number and taking one of them into his private office, told him a story. The story was this:

A man was bothered by a cat which got on top of a neighboring barn and yeowled every night and kept him awake. He threw a brick at the cat, "but the cat came back." Next day he got a shot gun and loaded it. That night the cat selected a Wagnerian opera from his catagory and began. The man took aim and fired. The paper wad caught the dry shingles on the roof of the barn afire and they had to call out the fire department. The neighbor sued him for damages and he sued the neighbor for maintaining a Zoo inside the city limits.

The first boy yawned and asked who won the suit. He told it to the other boys in rotation. The second wanted to know what the damages were; the third wanted to know if there were any horses in the barn; the fourth, if the barn burned down; the fifth if it caught the house afire; the sixth whether it was far to the barn; the seventh, whether the cat was alone. The eighth, little Jimmie Malone, freckle-faced, pug-nosed, red-headed Jimmie slowly inquired, "Did he hit the cat?" Jimmie was hired, and now he is a prominent lawyer in a near-by city.

Why did the lawyer hire him? Because he never lost sight of the main point of the question. He stuck to one thing and all the side issues made to confuse him never made him waver.

One year ago the Quincy Clothing Co started out to build a Clothing business in Quincy; started to build it by selling good goods cheap, straight, and by dealing square. All the energies of our organization have been directed toward one thing—buying right and selling right.

Since we began in Quincy there has never been a time and there never will be when you can buy as good goods for your money anywhere else as you can here. Tomorrow we open a large shipment of Spring Overcoats for men at $5.65 to $10.00 that are marvels of merchandising. Even in the cheapest there is no shoddy flockings, flyings or cotton. It is half lined with guaranteed satin, and the better ones are what you pay $15.00 for.

HEADACHES

Are almost invariably the result of defective eyes, and a common and serious defect is Astigmatism, the amount and axis of which is not always perfectly corrected by the methods in ordinary use.

We use the opthalmometer to discover astigmatism. This instrument is relied on by oculists and will reveal the trouble where other tests fail.

If you have a difficult case consult us. We will give your case careful and special attention, and we feel sure that you will not be disappointed at the result.

Good Afternoon.

The economy of the consolidation of the postoffices of Quincy with Boston is not apparent. As Postmaster Thomas of Boston says, "If the arrangement is to be carried out, it will first mean a large amount of work and the expenditure of a goodly sum of the general appropriation. I have had in mind such a consolidation, and considered the feasibility of taking in all cities and towns within a radius of 10 miles of Boston. Such an arrangement would take in Newton. In the case of Malden, I found that the people there wanted, what most suburban places clamor for, a midnight collection. The carrying out of the plan of consolidation will entail a greatly increased force of carriers and the abolishing of the office of postmaster in the various towns and cities entering into the arrangement."

We can also see some disadvantages, for instance in drop letters; if these had to go through the Boston office the situation would be the same as it was before the direct mails were put on between Wollaston, Atlantic and Quincy were only worse if West Quincy and Quincy Point letters went to Boston. Quincy now has direct mails to and from New York and the South and West, and the letters could not come or go much quicker than they now do. Twenty-one mails now arrive at the Quincy office daily, and about an equal number close. It would be a disadvantage if there were only two to five deliveries in place thereof.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ Boston does not intend that the young people of that city shall be deprived of suitable places for recreation, as the bill before the legislature appropriating $200,000 for a system of 20 play-grounds shows. Such breathing spots for the young mean much for the health of a large city.—Brockton Times.

☞ Legislators are often blamed for the legislation which they enact, much as newspapers are critisized for articles which they print; but both newspapers and legislators deserve as much credit for the fool propositions which they kill as blame for matter which is allowed to come to the service.—New England Farmer.

☞ With ninety thousand New England workingmen about to get an advance of wages, this section ought to be for sometime to come a rather discouraging field for the socialistic agitators and the prophets of discontent generally.—Providence Journal.

☞ Senator William A. Clark of Montana is about to erect a superb residence of white granite on Fifth avenue, New York. It is to be in Louis XIII style and it will cost a million or so. The Fifth avenue is fast becoming a Westminster abby of wealth —a sort of millionaire Valhalla where the poor relations cease from troubling and the opulent are at rest.—South Framingham News.

CITIZENS' BANQUET.

Complimentary to Co. K, 5th Mass. Regt., U. S. V.

Committee of Young Men Enthusiastic.

Music, Speeches and a Grand Good Time.

The Citizens' Committee who are to supplement the word of the Mayor and Committee of the City Council, organized Monday evening with Dr. John A. Gordon as president; Delcevare King, Dexter E. Wadsworth and George H. Wilson as vice presidents; W. F. Hoehn as secretary, and W. T. Isaac as treasurer.

The dozen or more gentlemen present were enthusiastic over the reception to all those from Quincy who took any part in the recent Spanish war; not only Co. K but those who enlisted in other regiments and in the navy, artillery and signal corps. It will be remembered that the city of Quincy furnished about one hundred men for the war, not including the members of Co. K who hail from Braintree, Weymouth and other towns. This was one for every 250 of the population, and one for every 40 of the voters.

The following committee was appointed to meet Co. K in Boston on Monday next, April 3; give the boys a hearty welcome, and provide as far as possible for their comfort; Messrs. W. F. Hoehn, Dexter E. Wadsworth, J. P. Sears, Frank F. Prescott and Ephraim H. Doane.

It was voted to have a grand banquet on the next evening, Tuesday, April 4, at Quincy Music hall, and Messrs. George H. Wilson, Dexter E. Wadsworth and Charles F. Pettengill were appointed as committee. Mr. Remick of The Greenleaf was selected as caterer.

Arrangements will be made to accommodate as many as possible. The hall will be decorated, music provided, and a souvenir menu issued containing the "roll of honor." Mr. J. P. Sears will be chairman of the Reception committee at the hall, and Mr. Frank C. Packard will have charge of the decorations.

Mr. Theophilus King will be asked to preside at the post prandial exercises, and the speakers will probably include Governor Wolcott, Mayor Keith, ex-Mayor Sears, Capt. Neilson of Co. K, Capt. Kincaide of the Massachusetts Militia, Adjutant General Dalton, Secetary of State Olin, Hon. W. B. Rice, Rev. Edward Anderson, and others.

The cost of the banquet for 400, including caterer, hall, music, decorations, printing, etc., will be over $500, which must be met by about 300 people, as the dinner will be complimentary to Co. K and guests. It is proposed to raise the money by subscription, and the committee as a whole are circulating papers which read:

We, the undersigned, hereby subscribe the amount set opposite our name for a banquet to be tendered to Co. K, 5th Mass. Vols., on their return to our city, for which subscription (if amounting to $1.50 or over) I shall receive a ticket for the same.

It is hoped that everyone will if possible subscribe $2 or more that the committee may not be financially embarrassed. It is one of the times when "money makes the mare go," and enthusiasm should be unbounded.

Both Monday and Tuesday should be gala days in the city. Business houses and residences along the route are requested to decorate and every flag in the city should be at the mast head.

The Citizens' committe and also the City committee will meet nightly and perfect arrangements as fast as possible, and invite the hearty support of all.

The gallery of Music hall will be reserved for ladies. One ticket will be given to each member of Co. K for a lady friend and the remainder sold for fifty cents each to holders of dinner tickets.

Subscriptions toward the expenses should be promptly made to any of the gentlemen mentioned above or forwarded to Secretary Hoehn of the Y. M. C. A. or the City Editor of the Daily Ledger.

Subscription papers for the citizens' reception to Co. K are being circulated today.

Some pretty Easter novelties are being shown by our local milliners and furnishers.

Rev. E. W. Preble will attend the funeral of an old parishioner at Rockland tomorrow.

The polo game at Rockland Monday evening resulted in a victory for East Weymouth, 8 to 4.

Quincy people can show their patriotism by subscribing for the reception to Co. K.

G. B. Bates is moving his store from the Y. M. A. C. building to his building near the Quincy depot.

The churches of Quincy are making elaborate preparations for special Easter services next Sunday.

Pastors and choristers are requested to forward Easter programmes to the Daily Ledger at an early date.

The Co. K reception committees should try to secure the Fifth Mass. Regimental band for music next week.

The choirs of Christ church and St. Chrysostom's church will sing at the festival at the Church of the Advent May 20.

The street railway is getting its open cars ready for the summer service. Last year open cars went into service April 10.

There are outstanding bills of the Tenth District Republican Congressional committee to the amount of about $900.

Beginning Saturday of this week, the Quincy postoffice will hereafter be open on Saturday evenings until 8.30 o'clock.

The fire alarm tapper has been placed in the Electric Light & Power station but has not been cut into the circuit as yet.

Atlantic people think the City Council must have some grudge against them, in refusing to appropriate money to put the playground in condition for use.

Daily services are being held at Christ church this week. Tonight at 7.45, Wednesday at 4, Thursday at 7.45, Good Friday at 9, 2 and 7.45, Saturday at 4.

The percentages obtained by the four applicants who took the civil service examination last Saturday for Inspector of the Board of Health have not been received as yet.

Remember the sale and entertainment of the Dorcas society tomorrow evening. There will be home-made candy and ice cream, also aprons and fancy articles for sale. Go and see "Mr. Bob." It is an excellent comedy.

At a meeting of the Sewer Commissioners Monday evening it was decided to commence work in about two weeks. The first work undertaken will be to finish up a short section on Hancock street between Alleyne and Greenleaf streets, and a short section on Adams street.

Representative Sheppard of this city dissents from the report of his committee, which has reported a bill to repeal the civil service law. A referendum clause is attached to the bill, giving the citizens of the state an opportunity to vote on the acceptance of the act at the election in November.

George W. Jones means to outshine all his rivals, and certainly his large handsome store is now resplendent at night with its 42 lights. They are placed near the overhead beams and reinforced by Wheeler reflectors which light up every corner. It is one of E. S. Beckford's jobs, and of course is O. K.

Merrymount lodge, A. O. U. W., are arranging to hold a mass meeting at Music hall April 26. Supreme and grand officers will be present to address the meeting and other entertainment will be provided. Nearly 2000 tickets will be distributed so as to insure an attendance of a thousand. Ladies as well as gentleman will be invited.

Mrs. James H. Stetson is to have charge of the dance to be given in aid of the Home Science association, at Music hall on Saturday evening, April 29th, which will be a very swell affair, in fact the social event of the season in Quincy. Daggetts's orchestra has been secured, and already there is a demand for tickets, although the ball is a month away yet.

FAREWELL CONCERT.

Fifth Massachusetts Regiment Band Wins Praise.

With Co. K, 5th Mass. Regt.,
Camp Wetherill,
Greenville, S. C., Mar. 24.

Once more we enjoy the pleasures of a glorious, sunny day. The regular routine of ceremonies were passed through this morning. "The troop parade" and "escort to the colors" were finely executed, Company L of Malden, Captain Cutting, distinguished itself this morning by escorting the colors, K company must receive praise for their good aliguments and distances whiah were executed by them this morning. All movements were snappay and distinat. The saluting in passed the reviewing officer was splendidly executed.

Leiutenent Colbert has full charge of A company of Charlestown, Captain Stover is on special duty, while Lieut. Bray still remains quarantined.

The farewell concert that was given by our Regimental Band, received the highest praise from the citizens of Greenville. The hall was overcrowded and applause after applause was raised at the end of each piece, Private Capaccioli formerly of K, now attached to the band, rendered his part in the most pleasing and perfect manner. Through the persistant efforts of Sergeant Lynn Chief musician of the 5th Mass. band, they are today musicians which the regiment are proud of.

Mr Hennessey rendered his piece in the finest manner, and received applause after applause. Mr. Hennessey was a former member of the renowned Myles Standish Band.

The programme :

   A party of Vienna Club men start out to visit the Music Halls and make a night of it. The regiment is in hopes that the government will allow the musicians to purchase their own instruments. If they are permitted to do so, we can have a band to march through the city of Boston, that no 5th Massachusetts boy may feel ashamed of. It will be a set back if the ordinance officer will not permit it.

No drills are to be participated in this afternoon. A base ball game will take the place.

The 3d battalion, now under quarantine on the camp of the 4th Missouri will return to the regiment on Monday. No new cases have thus far been discovered. Another examination of the 2d battalion was held by the medical department this morning.

The remains of Private Homer of Co. D. Plymouth, will be sent, north this afternoon. The regimental hospital has for once got a vacant ward. The sickness has abated. Sick cases are now very light, with no patients to answer the calls. K boys are all O. K. We are still counting the days.

Volunteer.

Will the City Refund.

It is reported upon good authority that the bill to permit Quincy to refund $100,000 of its debt will go through the Legislature and be signed by the Governor this week. It is also said that the friends of the plan to refund intend to immediately take advantage of it and that the necessary order will be introduced in the City Council next Monday evening. The order will have to take two readings and will require a two-thirds vote, and the chances are that there will be a considerable flow of oratory before the order passes.

P. O. Consolidation?

Again it is reported from Washington that the post office department contemplates the consolidation of all the postoffices within a radius of several miles from Boston under the Boston office and into what will be known as the Greater Boston postal district.

The dispatch to the Herald says: A similar project of consolidation for Greater New York has been under consideration for the past year, and Assistant Postmaster-General Heath is about to visit that city with the purpose of arranging the plans for final action in the matter. The territory to be covered will be about 15 by 30 miles in extent, and the consolidation will involve the abolishing of more than 60 postoffices and the establishing of sub-stations in their stead. This will result in an enormous saving to the government, and at the same time increase the efficiency of the postal service in the entire district.

Regarding the proposed postal district of Greater Boston, its limits have not yet been determined. If the plans of the department are consummated the people of Boston and its environs for many miles out will be served directly by the Boston office, and this means a quicker and a far more efficient and satisfactory service, with a greatly decreased cost to the government.

Aside from the Boston district proper, the territory included in the proposed greater district would be served with from two to five mail deliveries daily directly from the main office.

BARRELS OF SAMPLES.

Over Two Hundred Thousand Trial Bottles Sent Free.

By special arrangement with the manufacturers of that justly famous Kidney medicine, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the readers of the Daily Ledger are enabled to obtain a trial bottle and pamphlet of valuable medical advice absolutely free, by simply sending their full name and postoffice address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mentioning this paper.

Of course this involves enormous expense to the manufacturers but they have received so many grateful letters from those who have been benefited and cured of the various diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder, and Blood Rheumatism Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation and all weaknesses peculiar to women that they willingly send trial bottles to all sufferers.

Upon investigation it was found that 91 per cent. of those who had used the trial bottle had received such benefit from it that they purchased large sized bottles of their druggists. It matters not how sick you are or how many physicians have failed to help you send for a trial bottle of this great medicine it costs you but a postal card and benefit and cure will most certainly be the result.

Put some urine in a glass tumbler let it stand 24 hours if it has a sediment or if it is pale or discolored, milky or cloudy, stringy or roppy your Kidneys or Bladder are in a bad condition. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy speedily cures such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, inability to hold urine, a burning scalding pain in passing it, frequent desire to urinate especially at night, the staining of linen by your urine and all the unpleasant and dangerous affects on the system produced by the use of whiskey, wine or beer. MUST SACRIFICE ALL.

Commander-In-Chief of Filipinos Issues a Circular to His Followers.

Americans Are Now Within Eight Miles of Malolos.

Large Body Commanded by Aguinaldo In Person Rou'ed With Great Slaughter.

Manila, March 28.—At every railroad station circulars have been posted, signed by the national commander-in-chief, Antonio Luna, ordering all spies and bearers of news to the enemy to be shot without trial, and instructing that all doctors and ravishers be treated in the same manner. Further, all towns abandoned by the native troops are first to be burned.

Deploring the existence of war, the circular maintains the undeniable right of the natives to defend their homes, lives and lands against would-be dominators who will kill them, their wives and children, adding that this motive ought to impel all natives to sacrifice everything.

When the American troops rested last night, after three days' battle, they were in possession of Marilao, which is within about eight miles of Malolos, the insurgent capital.

The resistance of the rebels yesterday was not quite so desperate as during Saturday and Sunday. They seemed more inclined to fall back on what they consider their only hope, the intrenchments at Malolos.

Nevertheless, the advance made by the troops yesterday was not permitted without a struggle. The insurgents made some fierce rallies, and in some cases they had to be routed from trenches at the point of the bayonet.

The decree has gone forth from Aguinaldo that if the rebels are compelled to abandon any of their cities or towns they are to set the place on fire before doing so. It was thus a big surprise to the Americans yesterday to find the important town of Polo and a number of the adjacent villages on fire. It had been expected that some hard fighting would have to be done before Polo was taken.

Probably the hardest fighting yesterday was done by MacArthur's division, which met a large body of insurgents commanded by Aguinaldo in person. They made quite a stand for some time, but were finally routed with great slaughter. They left nearly 100 dead on the field, and many prisoners and some small arms were captured.

Our casualties in yesterday's fighting are estimated at from 70 to 80.

The number of dead is much smaller than on either of the two days previous.

Last night every preparation was being made for the advance on Malolos today.

The intervening space is over very difficult country and the rebels are making the advance difficult.

Every place of importance up to Marilao is now in the hands of our forces.

Since the American troops left La Loma at daybreak Saturday morning they have followed pretty closely the line of the railroad which runs from Manila to Malolos, connecting the principal intermediate cities and towns. This line has been of great benefit in getting supplies and men forward.

The rout of the insurgents has left them but one avenue of flight; this is by the railway. Up this line the insurgents are retreating, while General McArthur's column pushes on to Bulacan. This is a few miles off the railroad, but a very short distance from Malolos.

If the statement of 35 prisoners captured today is true the main body of the enemy has retreated to Malolos.

The shelling of Paranaque yesterday was not premeditated. The turret ship Monadnock anchored off the town, and the insurgents, emboldened by the long silence of the warships on guard duty, opened fire on her with muskets, with the result that one man was killed and three were wounded. The Monadnock then destroyed half of the town, including the church.

The Washington regiment had an exciting experience and displayed much galantry. The soldiers found a band of insurgents concealed in a stone house, over which a French flag was flying. A private volunteered to set fire to the building. He did so, and the troops approached when it was burning and the natives had apparently fled. But the Americans were greeted with a volley from the balcony of the house. The building was then cleared of the enemy in short order.

Malolos is located in the province of Bulacan. This one of the smallest, but richest, provinces of the archipelago. It is bounded on the east by Neuva Ecija, on the south by Manila, on the west by the bay and province of Pampanga. The area is 965 square miles, and the population is 230,000.

In this province are in the neighborhood of 25 cities, all but one of which have a population of over 5000, and the population of some of which runs up as high as 20,000. In fact the province is so thickly settled that all these cities may be said to be but slightly separated divisions of one great city.

The United States Philippine commission proposes to issue a proclamation immediately after the insurgent government at Malolos is dispersed, believing that the most effective moment to secure the allegiance of the natives will be after they have received an object lesson of American power.

Earned His Reward.

Norwalk, O., March 28.—Ralph Hoyt, a well-known young man of North Fairfield, without any assistance save a Winchester rifle, has traced and captured three heavily armed burglars who robbed the postoffice and a store at North Fairfield a few nights ago. Hoyt found the three burglars asleep in a barn 4½ miles from Fairfield. He awakened them, pointed his rifle at them, demanded their surrender and they meekly marched to Fairfield and were handed over to the authorities. Hoyt will receive $600 reward.

GOLD GALORE.

This Year In the Klondike Promises to Be the Greatest Yet.

Seattle, Wash., March 28.—H. Miller and Thomas Scott, who arrived yesterday from Dawson, claim to have made the trip from Dawson to Skaguay in 10 days, which breaks the record by 48 hours. They report a great deal of gold coming into Dawson from the various creeks, indicating that this will be the greatest gold year the Klondilke has ever known. They estimate the yield at $15,000,000. Gold Run creek and the French Gulch bench claims are yielding well. Some pans on the Gold Run yield as high as $175. One claim on the French gulch has turned out $75,000.

"Bull quartz" has been found on the Fischer gold hill claim near Dawson. A nugget weighing seven pounds was dug up. It contained $200 in gold. The discovery is regarded as further proof of the quartz origin of the Klonkide gold and it has revived the search for the mother lode.

Advices from the Porcupine district say that gravel on Alder creek is turning out $40 per day for every man at work. The discovery of the creek is credited to the Paddock brothers and Calhoun brothers of Malone, N. Y.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 28.—In the senate yesterday the petition for a state highway along the shore from Boston to Lynn and for a 54-hour week for women and minors in mercantile or manufacturing establishments were referred to the next general court.

In the house a bill for the Cove street extension was reported. By this bill the Boston Terminal company is to share the cost of construction with the city of Boston. A bill was introduced in which it is provided that all hotels, apartment or lodging houses and all operative buildings must have iron balconies in addition to all other means of egress in case of fire.

Ought not to pass was reported on the bill making it obligatory on a wife to acknowledge a mortgage on personal property given by her husband.

The committee on election laws reported a bill to regulate the duties of assessors in the city of Boston.

Leave to withdraw was reported on the bill to give the school committee of Lawrence full power in regard to the purchase of land of school buildings and on the bill submitted by the Quincy Granite Cutters' union to allow labor organizations to maintain a patrol in the vicinity of a building or place where a strike is in progress.

Leave to withdraw was reported on the bill to discharge sureties on probate bonds in certain cases and on the bill to extend the civil service law to towns. Reference to the next general court was reported on the two bills for free employment offices. Ought to pass was reported on a bill providing for allowances by probate courts to widows or children pending the probate of a will or appointment of administrator.

No legislation necessary was reported by the committee on federal relations on the resolutions for a national eight-hour law.

The order that the commissioners of prisons report to the legislature the salaries paid to officers in the county prisons was adopted.

The committee on public service voted to report the bill to repeal the civil service law. A referendum proviso is attached to the bill. The committee on federal relations took no action on a resolution on the Spanish peace treaty. There were no important committee hearings.

The Boston teachers' retirement bill was killed in the senate.

Going Slowly.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 28.—The fifth day of the trial of Nancy Guilford closed with the state having concluded with the witnesses summoned to establish the identity of the remains of the young woman whose death Mrs. Guilford is alleged to have caused, and the prosecution has now entered upon the stage to show that a crime has been committed. As presaged before the trial opened, it promises to be a cause celebre, in which every particle of testimony will be carefully considered.

The Philadelphia Strike.

Philadelphia, March 28.—A meeting of the striking pantmakers was held yesterday for the purpose of approving demands formulated by the strike committee. At present nearly 900 operators and pressers are on strike, which throws out of employment 2000 basters, button hole makers and finishers.

Miss Fowler Insane.

New York, March 28.—Miss Lottie Fowler, once noted as a spiritualist medium, was pronounced insane by Dr. Fitch and Dr. Wildes. She was sent to the Manhattan state hospital. For several days she had been in the insane pavilion at Bellevue. Miss Fowler was born in Boston.

Objects to Receiver.

St. Louis, March 28.—Chris Von Der Ahe has appealed to the supreme court from the decision of Judge Spencer appointing a receiver for the Sportsman's park and club, recently sold under foreclosure. Von Der Ahe's bond will be filed Saturday for the approval of the court.

Roosevelt's Suggestion.

Albany, March 28.—Governor Roosevelt last night sent to the legislature a message recommending the appointment of a joint legislative committee to investigate the subject of taxing public franchises held by corporations and to report to the next legislature.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

Sun rises—5:32; sets, 6:07.
Moon rises—9:09 p. m.
High water—12:30 a. m.; 12:45 p. m.

The southwest storm has again developed to the northeastward and extends in a trough from the Texas coast to western Pennsylvania. The temperatures have fallen 10 to 26 degrees in the southwest and also in the south Atlantic states; elsewhere the changes were unimportant. Rain is indicated in New England, with increasing easterly winds. Brisk easterly winds will prevail on the Atlantic coast.

DEADLOCK UNBROKEN.

Contention Over Samoa Has Not Undergone Any Material Change.

Washington, March 28.—The lively discussion of Samoan affairs in the foreign press seems to be the sequel to the developments of last week, which have not been followed by any material change in the situation. Secretary Hay has held further conferences with Ambassador Von Hollenben and Ambassador Pauncefote, but these, it is said quite positively, have not advanced the subject toward a settlement.

The Berlin report in one of the London papers to the effect that the German had intended to abandon the support of King Mataafa, in order to induce the United States to withdraw Chief Justice Chambers, is not borne out by any preparations made here. It is the view of the state department that if the Germans withdraw support from Mataafa the trouble would practically be over, as the kingship is at the bottom of the present affair.

Thus far, however, there has been no intimation that the Germans would abandon Mataafa. On the contrary, the understanding has been that the contention between Mataafa and Malietoa would go over to await fuller information, the only action in the meantime being restricted to the controversy between German, American and British consular and municipal officers.

Six Persons Missing.

Chicago, March 28.—Fire destroyed the Armour curled hair and felt works here last night, caused a property loss of nearly $400,000, injured 11 employes, one fatally, and endangered the lives of 400 others who rushed to escape through blinding smoke. Employes on the floor on which the fire started said that a nail which caught in a "picker" caused friction, igniting the inflammable material with which the machines were fed. Flames spread to bales of curled hair, and in three minutes the entire floor was dense with blinding black smoke. Men and women left their posts in frantic rushes to the exits. Many ran to windows and descended by the fire escapes, but most of them groped through the smoke to the first floor and out the corner entrance. Six persons are missing and are believed to have perished.

The Z-ltners' Explanation.

Bowling Green, O., March 28.—The excitement which has prevailed in the vicinity of Hoytsville for the past two days, as a result of the murder of Attorney Westenhaver and the sensational resistance to arrest by the Zeltner brothers, who did the killing, has subsided. The Zeltner brothers state that Westenhaver had goaded them to desperation by threatening to expose a crime with which they were charged in Germany. They declared that the killing of Wittenmeyer, who was among the crowd that surrounded Zeltner's house, was accidental, and they regretted it. Westenhaver, they said, had tried to rob them and they were not sorry for killing him. He had, they declared, charged them $100 for collecting a debt of $75.

An Interesting Exhibit.

New York, March 28.—An important corporation has just been organized under Canadian and New York auspices to exploit to the world at the Paris exposition a perfect representation of life and work in the Yukon territory, including all phases of mining. An exact counterpart will be built representing a portion of the main street of Dawson. There will be Indian villages, dog teams, together with moving pictures, the latter to be the result of an entirely new machine, which Thomas A. Edison is now constructing. Arrangements have been made with the Canadian Bank of Commerce to have on exhibition $5,000,000 worth of gold in dust and nuggets.

Thousands For Education.

Cameron, Mo., March 28.—At the session of the mission conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at Cameron $72,000 was pledged for education, a part of the 20th century thanks offering. Of this $50,000 was pledged for endowment of the American university and $22,000 for the Missouri Wesleyan college at Cameron.

Advertisers Organize.

Chicago, March 28.—An association of leading advertisers has been formed under the title of "The American Society of National Advertisers," with membership limited to one individual in each competitive line of business. The leading industries of the country are represented in the membership.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

Socialists Disagree.

Berlin, March 28.—At a Socialist mass meeting at Jena yesterday, Herr Bebel said the Socialists would gladly renounce the idea of a general revolution if the wealthy classes would treat the prolatariat justly. He admitted there was a rift in the party and questioned how it would terminate, adding that if a split occurred now much ridicule of the party would arise.

Short of Cash.

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION
NO KNIFE.

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

THE PORTLAND WRECK

Definitely Located by Crew of the Fishing Schooner Maud S.

Articles From the Steamer Hooked Onto Trawls.

Possibility That Many Bodies Remaining In the Hull May Be Recovered.

Boston, March 29.—With the hauling to the surface of the waters of Massachusetts bay, entangled in the trawls, of a quantity of steamer furnishings by the crew of the schooner Maud S, the location of the hull of the ill-fated steamer Portland, after four months of conjecture, has been determined. The wreckage consists of two electric light brackets, a mattress, some minor cabin furnishings, a heaving line, and a portion of a woman's wearing apparel.

The point of the bay is given by Captain Thomas as 22½ miles east one-half north from Boston light, 17 miles south southeast of Cape Ann and 24 miles north, three-quarters west from Highland light, the depth of the water being between 50 and 60 fathoms.

Only a few weeks ago another fisherman, at very nearly the same place, brought up some wash bowl fittings, but these could not be positively identified. The articels just found, when brought ashore yesterday, were positively identified by Agent Williams of the Portland line as being a part of the furnishings in one of the cabins of the steamer.

Of the 200 human beings, more or less, who went down with the steamer in the terrific gale of Nov. 26-7, the remains of less than 30 were recovered along the shores of Cape Cod, over 30 miles away. It is possible, therefore, in view of the very plausible theory that a greater portion of the hull is still intact, that many of the bodies are in the wreck, and with careful grappling may be recovered. It will be impossible, however, owing to the great depth of the water, to use divers in exploring the hull, and grapples will have to be the sole means of bringing to light any additional portions of the vessel.

The finding of the steamer at this point is considerable of a blow to a great number of theories as to where the wreck occurred. The fact that all the wreckage came ashore at the end of Cape Cod led many of the most experienced mariners to believe that the hull of the steamer would be found within a mile or two of Peaked Hill bar. A careful exploration of these treacherous sands proved, however, the fallacy of that theory. Then, again, the fact that more of the wreckage was found inside of Cape Cod bay was thought to prove that the wreck was considerably outside the cape.

It is now believed, with the finding of the wreck nearly 25 miles north of Cape Cod, that the ocean currents in the bay during the storm ran much stronger than is ordinarily the case. The Portland left Boston shortly after 7 o'clock on the evening of the storm, Nov. 26, and was last seen off Thatcher island lights, Cape Ann, an hour before midnight. Allowing her to make some progress beyond that point, in spite of the increasing storm, and giving Captain Blanchard the credit of laying to the vessel in the gale, she probably consumed six or eight hours in drifting across the bay to a point where the wreckage was found. This would make the time of the wreck on Sunday forenoon, which corresponds to the time the watches stopped—about 9:30 o'clock. This was shortly before high water, and for the next six hours the current ran out to sea, while the wind blew hard from the northeast or north. This carried all the wreckage and bodies to the southeast, and at 7:30 that Sunday evening the first of it was picked up on Race Point, 18 miles distant.

At midnight the first body was discovered on the shore, five miles east of Race Point, and the next day three more were picked up still farther along the cape, to the southward. While the greater portion of the wreckage was found between Race Point and Highland light, on the end of Cape Cod, nearly all the bodies were picked up 15 or 20 miles south of that point.

A majority of those bodies recovered was found four or five days after the wreck, although but two weeks ago, or nearly four months after the steamer went down, still another victim was found on the shore off Chatham.

The disaster of the Portland was one of the most appalling that ever overtook a steamer on the New England coast, inasmuch as not a soul lived to tell the tale of the few terrible hours before the ship finally went to her doom. Plying as she did between this port and Portland, her passengers were, for the most part, from the Pine Tree state, so that the loss was almost a general calamity.

While the hurricane of Nov. 26-27 claimed the Portland as its special victim, it also included nearly 200 other vessels of all descriptions, in the harbors and along the coast from Norfolk to Eastport, and will undoubtedly go down in history as one of the greatest that ever devastated American shipping.

Agent Williams gives his opinion that the steamer was in collision with the schooner King Philip while the former was trying to weather the storm.

Albany, March 29.—Senator Thomas Platt arrived in this city yesterday afternoon. The senator was driven directly to the executive mansion last evening. Governor and Mrs. Roosevelt gave an informal dinner in his honor.

OLNEY FOR PRESIDENT.

Anti-Expansionist and Gold Man Not Objectionable to Silverites.

Milwaukee, March 29.—The Journal says: A movement now under way to made ex-Secretary of State Richard Olney the Democratic candidate for president next year is revealed in a letter from Boston to The Journal.

RICHARD OLNEY.

Mr. Olney's campaign is based on the theory that he is in favor of imperialism, while opposed to annexation. The writer of the letter referred to is very prominent in Democratic politics, and he says the movement in Mr. Olney's favor is well under way. It is urged in his behalf that he, though a gold Democrat in 1896, did not make himself obnoxious to the free silver element, and that on the expansion question he would be an available candidate, being opposed to the annexation of distant islands to the territory of the United States. Mr. Olney's views on the acquisition of foreign territory are very pronounced He believes in the United States striving with the other nations of the world for commercial greatness, but not for political extension.

Ravaged by Caterpillars.

Chester, Vt., March 29.—The maple sugar harvest in Vermont is believed to be a total failure this year, and the industry may be crippled for many years to come. It seems that early last summer, when the rock maples were putting forth their leaves, an army of caterpillars spread rapidly over Bennington, Windham and Windsor counties, entire orchards being stripped. No especial effort was made to fight the pest, and the owners of sugar trees gave little thought to the ultimate effect on the trees. Now the sugar making season has begun, and the makers find the trees are sapless. Some think that the trees are dead, but this can only be determined later in the season.

Charles Isn't Dead.

Chester, Pa., March 29.—The Metropolitan Life Insurance company is investigating what is alleged to be a fraudulent collection of a claim nearly two years ago. During the summer of 1897 the body of a man was found in a woods near here with a bullet hole in the temple and a revolver lying on the ground. John Hurst identified the body as that of his brother, Charles K. Hurst, whom he said had left home and, as he had fits of dementia, had killed himself. Charles was insured in the Metropolitan company for $200, and the money was paid. About a week ago the alleged dead brother was found in New Bedford, Mass., where he has resided for two years.

All Have Big Catches.

St. John's, March 29.—The sealing steamer Leopold, with 12,600 seals; Vanguard, with 25,000 seals, and Neptune, with 32,000 seals, arrived here yesterday. They report that the remaining 10 vessels of the northern fleet are almost loaded, and that the Walrus will probably secure a full cargo. The fishery is likely to prove the most successful on record. Not only have almost all the steamers obtained full loads, but the entire fleet will have returned here by Sunday next, thus saving the expense of maintaining the cruisers, as is usual, to a date much later in the year.

Americans Attacked.

Singapore, March 29.—Trouble is brewing in the island of Negros, where the inhabitants repudiate the self-constituted authority of Anisoto Lacson, president of the provisional government, to arrange affairs with the Americans, and have attacked the Americans. The censor at Manila suppressed the details. The insurgents in Luzon sent a message to Lieutenant Commander Cowper of the British gunboat Plover, when the latter endeavored to effect a compromise, suggesting that they were ready to treat for peace through a neutral great power.

Burned to Death.

Windsor, Conn., March 29.—Abraham Thompson, colored, aged 72 years, was burned to death in his home yesterday. Neighbors found Thompson lying on the floor of his kitchen, but in such a position that he could not be rescued. The cause of the fire is unknown.

ROBBERY AND MURDER

Systematically Carried on For Years by a Gang of Kansas Desperadoes.

Horse Stealing and Counterfeiting by Wholesale.

Committed Crimes For Which Innocent People Were Convicted and Punished.

Kansas City, March 29.—The Star prints a three-column story regarding the arrest of a remarkable gang of Kansas criminals, who have lived for years by means of robbery and murder. One of the gang is believed to be the murderer of Joseph New, who was killed in Greenwood county, two years ago, for which crime New's wife and George H. Dobbs are now serving life sentences. So firmly does Warden Landis of the Kansas penitentiary believe in the innocence of Mrs. New and Dobbs, that he will immediately urge Governor Stanley to pardon them.

Frank Altgood, alleged to be the real murderer, is in jail at Iola, under a charge of forgery. Alvin Ballard, serving an eight years' sentence in the Kansas penitentiary for horse stealing, has confessed that he, Altgood and "Bill" Turner were the murderers of New, and that Mrs. New and Dobbs are innocent. Turner has not been found.

It seems that the men who murdered New and robbed his dead body conspired afterwards to convict the widow and Dobbs. The supposed murderer, Altgood, according to Ballard, even tried to get on the jury which convicted them.

Ballard says that he, Altgood and Turner were members of an organized gang of thieves and murderers that operated in southeastern Kansas. As a result of his confession, 18 stolen horses, a bag of counterfeit silver dollars and a counterfeiting outfit have been recovered. Besides Altgood, B. L. Mathes, Mary Mathes and Herbert Simpson are under arrest. Fifty other horses stolen by the gang have been located. The officers are on the trail of the other members of the gang. Ballard also alleges that Altgood murdered William Coulter near Eureka, in 1889. Officers who have been working on the case have corroborated many of Ballard's statements.

Ballard confessed to the prison officials several days ago, and the arrests noted were the outcome. Ballard said: "We had runs from Texas and the Indian Territory all through No Man's Land and the Sand Hills south of Hutchinson, Kan. We stole horses, buggies and cattle. There are caves and underground houses all over the northern part of Kansas that were dug or found by the gang. Up in the sand hills they have lots of plate machinery, where we turned out the money. Mathes' ranch, near Hutchinson, is the headquarters of the gang. Mathes has a corral on the ranch in which stolen cattle and horses are driven from the territory and then shipped. There are tools hidden all around the ranch house, and a few grave tools, too."

Ballard described these graves, smiling as he said that no one knew who their occupants were. "A few stragglers," he said.

Mrs. Mathes, Ballard said kept a diary of the gang's doings, and was thus enabled to aid in procuring alibis. "This gang," continued Ballard, "did lots of things the Dalton boys were credited with. The older ones in the gang have robbed trains for 20 years, and are guilty of crimes others are suffering for. Three of the men who were in the Missouri train robberies have been robbing trains and stages in Texas and the southwest for 20 years. A band of eight men, every one of whom I knew, did a hold-up at Albuerque two years ago. Another robbery was of a train near Ardmore. There was a run, too, to Missouri and Nebraska. Altgood and Jim Kennedy made several hold-ups near the Blue Cut together. Altgood has done a term in some eastern penitentiary."

Kennedy is believed to be the notorious Jack Kennedy, now in the Springfield, Mo., jail awaiting trial for train robbery.

Services Next Monday.

New York, March 29.—Warren F. Leland, proprietor of the Windsor hotel, announces that arrangements have been definitely made for holding funeral services on Easter Monday over the remains of the unidentified bodies recovered from the ruins of the hotel. The services will be held in the Church of the Heavenly Rest. Rev. D. P. Morgan will officiate. Mr. Leland stated that it had been decided by a majority of the friends and relatives of the deceased that the interment should take place in Sleepy Hollow cemetery at Tarrytown, and that an appropriate monument would mark the last resting place of those who had perished in the flames.

Railway at Auction.

Newburyport, Mass., March 29.—The Newburyport and Amesbury horse railway was sold at auction yesterday by order of the United States court, the buyer being E. P. Shaw. The price paid was $190,000. There were several bidders for the property, among them being the Haverhill and Lawrence Street Railway company and the Lynn and Boston Railway company. The road is bonded for more than $270,000.

A Cat-astrophe!

A few years ago a leading lawyer of Quincy wanted an office boy, a boy who wanted to be a lawyer, who would grow up and be an ornament to the profession. He advertised for a boy. He had applicants by the dozen. He selected eight from the number and taking one of them into his private office, told him a story. The story was this:

A man was bothered by a cat which got on top of a neighboring barn and yeowled every night and kept him awake. He threw a brick at the cat, "but the cat came back." Next day he got a shot gun and loaded it. That night the cat selected a Wagnerian opera from his catagory and began. The man took aim and fired. The paper wad caught the dry shingles on the roof of the barn afire and they had to call out the fire department. The neighbor sued him for damages and he sued the neighbor for maintaining a Zoo inside the city limits.

The first boy yawned and asked who won the suit. He told it to the other boys in rotation. The second wanted to know what the damages were; the third wanted to know if there were any horses in the barn; the fourth, if the barn burned down; the fifth if it caught the house afire; the sixth whether it was far to the barn; the seventh, whether the cat was alone. The eighth, little Jimmie Malone, freckle-faced, pug-nosed, red-headed Jimmie slowly inquired, "Did he hit the cat?" Jimmie was hired, and now he is a prominent lawyer in a near-by city.

Why did the lawyer hire him? Because he never lost sight of the main point of the question. He stuck to one thing and all the side issues made to confuse him never made him waver.

One year ago the Quincy Clothing Co started out to build a Clothing business in Quincy; started to build it by selling good goods cheap, straight, and by dealing square. All the energies of our organization have been directed toward one thing—buying right and selling right.

Since we began in Quincy there has never been a time and there never will be when you can buy as good goods for your money anywhere else as you can here. Tomorrow we open a large shipment of Spring Overcoats for men at $5.65 to $10.00 that are marvels of merchandising. Even in the cheapest there is no shoddy flockings, flyings or cotton. It is half lined with guaranteed satin, and the better ones are what you pay $15.00 for.

Drift of Opinion.

☞ The investment of capital is to be welcome, when its prospective profits depend upon the ordinary and legitimate operations of business. The movements, however, that concentrated wealth by methods which, if used by the individuals, would place him deservedly in the penitentiary, succeeds in absolutely manipulating the market for any given material or product, advancing prices or diminishing output at will, then it becomes a serious menace to the prosperity of the people and the perpetuity of the republic.

☞ We want neither a rich man's party nor a poor man's party in this country. Such an arrangement is absolutely certain to make the present deplorable conditions infinitely worse. Money rules in the industrial and political world and if a conflict of this kind is to be precipitated all sense of right and justice will be lost in the hunger for victory. Nothing is to be gained and every thing lost by hatred and class warfare.—Taunton Herald,

☞ In the state house of representatives, the other day, Mr. Fitts of Somerville offered an order that the commissioners of prisons be directed to report to the legislature the different salaries paid to officers employed in the county prisons in the state. If this order ever goes through, it will result in some mighty interesting facts going to people who pay the bills. For this reason a most determined fight will doubtless be made against this order by parties in interest.—Milford Journal.

☞ The House of Representatives substituted Tuesday for an adverse report, a bill to provide that municipalities may take at the cost of duplication gas and electric lighting plants for municipal lighting purposes.

☞ The pipe organ builders now propose to combine, in order to be in tune with the rest of the industrial world. The daily music of trust formation is becoming monotonous, but by and by the people will manipulate the stops.—Manchester Union.

☞ Pianos, all kinds at a saving from 10 to 25 per cent from Boston Prices. Henry L. Kincaide & Co.

THE DATE CHANGED.

Reception and Banquet to Company K.

Will Now be Held on Thursday, April 6.

More Committees Appointed and Arangements Made.

The special Committee of the City Council who are to cooperate with Mayor Keith in the reception to Co. K, met again Tuesday evening with the Mayor at City Hall at which some of the minor details were perfected and sub-committees were appointed to look after the different matters.

The committees were appointed by the Mayor.

Music, Councilman Nicol.

Decorations and badges, Councilman Haltman.

Carriages, Mayor Keith.

It was also decided to appoint a committee to meet the boys in Boston, but this committee has not been announced as yet.

Owing to the inability to secure Music hall for next Tuesday evening, it was decided that the public reception should be held on Thursday as first arranged.

It is the desire to complete the Quincy welcome next week as it is understood that Braintree is arranging a celebration for the boys which will probably be held Monday evening, April 10.

Councilman Hultman, who has charge of decorating of the City Council chamber, will see to it that it is transferred to a thing of beauty.

The committee will meet again Friday evening.

Banquet for 525.

The Citizens' Committee on Banquet also met last evening, Dr. John A. Gordon presiding.

A Committee on Programme was appointed, including Henry M. Faxon, George H. Brown and James Thompson. They will act as reception committee of Quincy.

Chaplain House who has been with the Fifth Regiment, Speaker Bates of the Massachusetts House, and Gen. Curtis Guild will probably be added to the list of speakers.

The Banquet committee reported that Music hall would seat 550 and arrangements will be made to dine to the full capacity of the hall. The speakers table will be on the platform.

The Decoration committee reported that the alloted sum would do the work in good style at Music hall. The decorator promises to have an abundance of flags, pictures of Dewey, Sampson, Hobson, Miles and others, and also mottoes, etc.

Owing to the fact that Music hall is engaged for next Tuesday evening, the banquet will be held on Thursday evening, April 6, and the hour will be 6 P. M., instead of 7 P. M.

Tickets will be placed on sale at Hearn's drug store, C. F. Pettengill's and elsewhere on tomorrow morning. The gentlemen who are circulating subscription papers are requested to report daily to the treasurer, that the committee may be kept informed, and that tickets may be forwarded.

It was voted not to issue any complimentary tickets, except to members of Co. K and others from Quincy who volunteered for service in the Spanish war. All these are requested to make application immediately for tickets.

The Wollaston orchestra has been engaged for music at Music hall.

Caterer Remick reports that he will have a superintendent and fifty experienced waiters to serve the banquet, which should ensure good service. Many other details were talked over, and the meeting adjourned to Thursday evening.

Co. G at Woburn.

Quincy is by no means alone in its reception to returning soldiers. The Transcript reports that Woburn will do all that the city officials have authority to arrange for the reception to Company G of the Fifth Regiment, when it returns to the city next Monday. With $197 appropriated by the City Council, which is a percentage of a certain fund, and $100 given by the Volunteer Aid Association, the machinery will be started and the general public is expected to turn out en masse to meet the company on its arrival at the railroad station and to attend the banquet which is to be given a few days later.

Committees from the City Council and the Volunteer Aid Association held a joint session Monday evening in the Council chamber and decided upon a general outline of the celebration. Mayor Davis presided and announced the previous action of the aldermen in appropriating the money. The nature of the reception on the first day will depend somewhat upon the condition in which the boys return, whether they carry arms or not; but it

SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

To Consider Matter of More School Accommodations.

The School Committee held a regular meeting Tuesday evening; Messrs. Porter, Smith, Hallowell, Page, Record and Miss Adams were present.

The resignation of Miss Kauffmann of the Coddington school was reported. She is to devote herself to music.

The request of James P. Ryan of the Willard district, that his son be permitted to attend the John Hancock school, was referred to the sub committee of those schools.

Mr. Churchill, janitor of the overflow room of the Quincy school, requested to be relieved from further duty. Referred to sub-committee of that school.

It was voted to invest the interest of the Rock Island Fund this year in books for the High school library.

A vote of thanks was extended to the teachers of the Wollaston school for their promptness in extinguishing the recent fire at that building.

McMillon German text book was adopted for the High school.

Mr Harry W. Porter of the High school was granted leave of absence from June 15 to 28 inclusive.

The Superintendent announced that Miss Annie White would take Miss Boyd's place during her absence.

The Superintendent called attention to the crowded condition of the Willard and John Hancock schools which would be even more so when the schools opened again.

A general discussion of school accommodations followed, in which it was shown that at present there were 235 pupils that rightfully belonged to the Lincoln district that were attending school at the Adams, John Hancock and Willard.

A committee consisting of Messrs. Smith, Porter and Hunting were appointed to consider the matter of school accommodations.

The expenditures of the department for 1899 to date were reported as follows:

Salaries,	$22,040.14
Fuel,	53.58
Janitors,	1,542.45
Tranportations,	270.15
Books, supplies, etc,	2,311.53

Another Spring Poem.

Spring, gentle spring, is drawing near;
Listen with care, and soon you'll hear
The robins calling.
Already the bare maples blush,
The streets are ankle deep with slush.

The newest pinks, sweet peas and beans
The seedmen in the magazines
Are advertising;
And Gladys every offer reads,
And makes long lists of urgent needs,
And sends good money off for seeds,
Which she, elate,
Will cultivate
With zeal surprising.

Bicycle men are hustling now;
The farmer's hand turns toward the plow,
Business is humming.
The sunset each night later glows;
Your wife is buying Easter clothes;
The bottom of the coal bin shows—
In short, you'll see
All sights agree,
Spring, spring is coming!
—Somerville Journal.

Didn't Understand Banking.

Old Abraham Billings is a well known original character in southwest Georgia.

He once moved to a new town, where a bank was established on a small scale, and, having saved up $5 in the course of a year, deposited it in the bank.

The next day he was seen hovering around to see if the bank was still there with his $5, when some one called his attention to its closed doors, whereon was the sign: "Bank Closed. Legal Holiday."

He sat down on the bank steps disconsolate.

"Consarn 'em!" he said. "The durned cashier's done got a legal holiday and gone off ter spen' my $5! Ef I'd jest ha' listened ter reason I'd ha' buried it som'ers, but I never did have no business sense!"—Atlanta Constitution.

Pointed Paragraphs.

A Repetition.

My bondage of the past is broken,
I breathe the warm free air again,
I've seen my face, and thou hast spoken,
Snapped are the links that made the chain—
The chain of years that held me fast
And bound me to that long ago;
That sad time when we parted last;
You answered me, "I do not know.'

Six weary years since we had parted—
Again I sought thee yesterday.
I was not ever fickle hearted,
Yet I disliked the long delay.
"Lovest thou me?" I asked once more
And waited for thy answer low.
You spake the same words as before,
For you replied, "I do not—no."

Few Quincy stores make a more handsome show window display than does that of D. E. Wadsworth & Co. The one shown today is particularly attractive, as it is in the nature of a patriotic decoration. The rear, or more properly speaking, the background is of wide streamers of red, white and blue with the two edges of blue studied with stars. In the window aside from this there is shown a large line of furnishing in the way of novelties in Easter neckwear in patriotic colors.

A subscription whist party was held at the home of Miss Eugenia M. Hatch on Lincoln avenue, Wollaston, on Tuesday evening. The proceeds will be devoted for decoration for Easter Sunday at the Wollaston Unitarian church. There were twelve tables. The second was tied between Mr. William E. Howard and Mr. James C. Hall, Jr., each making 34 points. In the cut for the prize, Mr. Hall won.

OXLEY WAS NERVOUS.

Testifies as to His Connection With the Death of Emma Gill.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 29.—In the trial of Dr. Guilford yesterday Harry Oxley of Southington, who is said to have been responsible for the condition of Emma Gill, was called to the witness stand.

In his direct testimony, Oxley told of his connection with the crime; of his relations with Emma Gill; how he accompanied her to Nancy Guilford's house, and of the arrangements made with the latter to take charge of the case, and the financial consideration agreed upon. The defense sprung a sensation, however, in the cross-examination, when Oxley admitted that he had several times consulted a New Haven doctor before he had accompanied Miss Gill to Bridgeport, and that likewise he had entered into arrangements with a physician in Waterbury, and had accompanied Miss Gill to the physician's office on different occasions. The possible connection of other doctors with the case created a marked impression.

The report which had spread abroad that Oxley, who is now under indictment for complicity in causing the death of Emma Gill, had turned state's evidence and would be put on the stand yesterday, caused the largest attendance since the day the trial opened. The witness was very nervous when he went on the stand, and his voice was so low and trembling that it was impossible to hear him in the rear of the cort, and every minute or two the court was obliged to remind him to speak louder. At length, Attorney De Forrest, for the defense, moved to have the evidence stricken out, as the jury were unable to hear it. Oxley was then ordered to stand while testifying, which enabled the jury to hear him better. He did not stand the ordeal very well.

Dr. Jefferys, the noted bacteriologist of New York city, was the principal witness of the morning, and his testimony corroborated other medical experts introduced by the state to show that Emma Gill died from the effects of blood poisoning, caused by illegal treatment.

Sheriff Didn't Worry.

Holton, Kan., March 29.—Henry Sanderson, who murdered Mrs. Fleischer at Mayetta Sunday, was lynched near here yesterday. Sanderson attempted to shoot his sweetheart, Myrtle Fleischer, for rejecting his attentions, but struck her aunt, Mrs. John Fleischer, who died Monday night. Sanderson was brought to Holton Sunday night, and placed in a room in a restaurant, as he was suffring from an accidental gunshot wound, inflicted by himself. Sheriff Haas placed no guard over him except an unarmed attendant. Early yesterday morning the mob aroused the proprietor of the restaurant and covered him with revolvers. The door of the room where the prisoner was confined was kicked open and Sanderson, stupid from the effects of morphine, was placed in a wagon. The mob drove to a high bridge which crosses Banner creek. Here they bound Sanderson hand and foot, tied a rope around his neck and pushed him off the bridge. His neck was broken by the fall. The little band of farmers then went home quietly. The lynchers made no effort to conceal their identity. The sheriff, it is said, was warned that a mob would be in the city during the night, but no precautions to protect the prisoner were taken.

Jackies In a Riot.

Kingston, Jam., March 29.—The crews of the American fleet ashore on leave started rioting among themselves over an old feud about the flagship New York's alleged absence from the fighting at the battle of Santiago. The trouble lasted over two hours before the officers and police succeeded in suppressing it. Several men were slightly wounded and two men of the Texas were seriously injured. One had his bowels ripped and the other was twice stabbed in the side. Both men are in the hospital, where they are pronounced to be in a dangerous condition. The wounds were inflicted by a colored man named Johnson, also of the Texas, who is Jamaican born. He was surrendered to the commander of his ship by the police and is in irons awaiting the issue. All is quiet today.

THE DATE CHANGED.

has been practically decided upon that a committee of citizens will meet the company in Boston. A message will be sent to Woburn calling for the sounding of the military alarm the moment the young soldiers leave the railroad station in Boston, this alarm to serve as a summons to the people of Woburn to assemble at the railroad station there.

The Grand Army post and the High School Battalion will be called out to serve as a military escort, and the provisional militia also will have the privilege of marching in uniform. Church bells will ring and flags will be displayed while the procession marches from the railroad station to the armory on Montevale avenue, where the celebration of the first day probably will end. Then the boys will be allowed to return to their homes. Arrangements have been made for a banquet, the date to be decided upon later.

Other Receptions.

Cambridge has appropriated $500 to give a reception and public banquet to Co B of the Fifth Massachusetts and other soldiers from the city.

Malden also appropriated $400 for a celebration on the arrival of Co. L.

Medford is also making arrangements to receive Co. E, which will include a banquet.

EAGER FOR THE FRAY.

Americans May Be In Possession of Malolos Before Many Hours.

Its Fall Will Be Followed by Aguinaldo's Surrender.

McArthur's Division Is Now Within Eight Miles of the Objective Point.

Manila, March 29.—The American forces captured Bocavo this morning, and General McArthur's division is eight miles from Malolos.

The men are tired after three days' fighting, marching through brush, fording rivers and charging intrenchments in the blazing sun, but they are in great spirits and eager for the battle before Malolos, which, it is thought, will end the war, as the American officers have reason to believe that, with the fall of his capital, Aguinaldo will bow to the inevitable.

This belief is based on the statements made by prisoners taken Monday and yesterday, who report that the bulk of the insurgent forces are only kept in the ranks by their officers, who beat them into action. The prisoners also state that Aguinaldo declares that if the Americans succeed in taking his capital he will surrender.

Bocavo, which will be attacked today, is a difficult position, being well intrenched and protected by several streams. However, with the assistance of the smaller gunboats, little delay is anticipated in reducing the works, and the town would fall without very heavy loss on our part. It is expected that it will be in our possession before many hours.

When the army advances the men will take four days' rations with them and 400 rounds of ammunition. There is no shortage of food or supplies, the repairing of the breaks in the railroads enabling the supply trains to keep well in touch with the front.

The American line is about two-thirds of a mile from the intrenchments of the enemy, and there was a desultory exchange of shots during yesterday.

The engineers are busy repairing the bridges the enemy tried to destroy in retreating, and are finding the work not near as difficult as it was thought it would be, as the insurgents failed to destroy the iron work. The breaks in the railroad were not as serious, either, as it was feared they would be.

The engineers are reinforced in this work by men from the ranks who in private life were engaged in bridge and railroad building, and whose services are of almost inestimable value, for while they lack some of the technical skill that the men of the engineer corps possess, they are intensely practical and as a rule resourceful.

The Americans have now covered the worst part of their journey to Malolos, as from now on they will traverse a level country. There is no jungle ahead of them and but occasional patches of timber land. There is a number of streams, but not as many as in the country through which they have passed.

The American reports show 20 men were killed and 61 wounded on our side Monday. The Dakota regiment lost 10 men killed and had 37 wounded. According to prisoners in the hands of the Americans, Aguinaldo's generals, Garcia, Tofreo and Pacheco, were with the Filipino army Monday, and drove their followers into the first aggressive demonstration. The rebels attempted to charge across the plain east of the railroad, but the Americans charged to meet them and the Filipinos bolted after a few shots, leaving several men killed on the field.

One of the most brilliant and costliest achievements of the campaign was the charge of Major Howard's battalion across the river. Advancing at the double, they found the river beneath them, and splashed across with a yell, swimming and wading, with bullets spattering in the water, and rushed upon the rebel trenches. Ten men were killed and 11 wounded in the charge.

At the capture of Marilao there were several incidents showing the bravery of our troops. Some Filipinos were entrenched on an island in a bend of the river. The Americans approached in a triangular formation, with the Third artillery in the apex and the Kansas and Pennsylvania regiments forming the sides. Colonel Funston called for volunteers to swim the river. Two men crossed under fire and secured materials with which a crossing was eventually effected.

Major Bell of General MacArthur's staff, with company I of the Pennsylvania regiment and Lieutenant Abernathy and 10 men engaged in similar exploits.

After the Filipinos had raised the white flag many of them attempted to run, and several of them were shot for so doing.

In the churchyard of Marilao the Americans found 30 newly-made graves of Filipinos, and a dozen bodies were seen drifting down the river with gruesome wounds. The prisoners are digging their former comrades' graves.

Our troops captured four Spaniards who were fighting with the insurgents.

The United States gunboat Yorktown has arrived here with the Spanish steamer Mundara, owned by the Mondezona company of this place, which was attempting to run the blockade. The steamer was captured, after a stiff chase, in the gulf of Lingayeno, 25 miles north. When she was first sighted the Mundara was entering the gulf, but she headed seaward. The Yorktown fired two shots before the steamer was overhauled.

Investigating a Shipwreck.

Liverpool, March 29.—The board of trade inquiry into the loss of the Dominion line steamer Labrador was opened here yesterday. The steamer Labrador, Captain Erskine, from St. John, N. B., on Feb. 18, by way of Halifax, on Feb. 20, for Liverpool, went ashore during a fog about four miles from Skerryvore light, in the Hebrides, on the morning of March 1, and became a total wreck. All the passengers were saved.

MAINE'S LUMBER CUT.

Season of Prosperity Unequalled For Twenty Years Past Looked For.

Bangor, Me., March 29.—Maine's two great lumber rivers—the Penobscot and Kennebec—will have about 250,000,000 feet of logs this year, of which about 50,000,000 feet will be for the supply of pulp mills. The Penobscot cut will make a total of 128,000,000 feet. This cut does not include certain small brook drives, or the logs held up last season, which latter includes some 4,000,000 feet in Grand lake. Of the Penobscot cut more than 100,000,000 feet are for saw logs, the balance going to feed the pulp mills. On the Kennebec, the cut reaches a total of 77,275,000 feet of saw logs, and 24,000,000 feet of pulp logs, making the grand total of this year's cut run 101,675,000 feet.

The cut on the Penobscot is about the same as has been the case for several years part, while on the Kennebec is considerably larger than in 1890. Kennebec lumbermen report conditions favorable, but on the Penobscot the operators say that it has been, on the whole, a hard winter for hauling. Early in the season, with the aid of a fair amount of snow, there was a good chance to haul to the yards, but later in the winter, on account of the depth and dry quality of the snow, the roads were rendered almost impassable, and with poor footing for the horses, the work has been greatly retarded.

A general advance of from $2 to $3 over last year's prices is expected on spruce lumber this year, and the feeling is one of cheerfulness all around.

On the Androscoggin there is about the usual cut of saw logs, but a greatly increased cut of pulp logs. On the eastern rivers—the Machias, Narraguagus, Union and Columbia—the cut has fallen off greatly in recent years, and the cut this season will not aggregate over 50,000,000 feet.

On the Penobscot there is a good stock of logs for spring sawing—probably about 40,000,000 feet—and the mills will all start about April 20 to May 1, which is later than usual, but with plenty of orders. As a general conclusion, a season of prosperity unequalled for 20 years past, is looked for in Maine lumber circles this year.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 29.—After executive session yesterday the committee on mercantile affairs voted nine to five against the bill for placing the telephone companies of the state under state supervision of the gas commission. On the bill to place telegraph companies under state supervision the vote was the same. On the bill to fix the rate for telephone charges, the vote was the same. An adverse report was given on the compulsory temperance education bill, but the mill school tax bill was reported.

The committee on metropolitan affairs and drainage voted to refer to the next general court the bill for a high-level sewer from Worcester to the seacoast.

The committee on street railways voted to report in favor of referring the Waltham, Ayer and Pepperell street railway bill to the next general court. This was the scheme for a 40-mile freight-carrying road.

Instead of any of the resolutions regarding the new national territorial questions, the federal relations committee reported a substitute resolve, expressing confidence and pride in Massachusetts senators at Washington, and leaving them free to act untrammelled by any expression from the state house.

It was expected that the report of the public service committee, in favor of a referendum on the repeal of the civil service law would go in, but it was held back by the committee.

The committee on metropolitan affairs reported a bill that the city of Boston shall issue bonds not exceeding $500,000 to enable the park commissioners to continue the construction of public parks. Ought not to pass in a new draft was reported on the bill to authorize stockholders of any corporation to examine its books.

Leave to withdraw was reported on the bill to abolish the state highway commission and transferring its duties to the county commissioners and a state engineer. The same report was made on the bill to change the method of apportionment of money for state highways.

The house refused the age limit of child labor.

A Change About.

Washington, March 29.—Chin Pom Ye, the minister from Korea at Washington, has been transferred to Russia, France and Austria. His successor as minister plenipotentiary and envoy extraordinary to the United States will be Whan Young Min. He already has been designated for this mission and will arrive here in a few months, possibly in June.

Fifteen Hundred on Strike.

Chicago, March 29.—Fifteen hundred employes of Norton Bros.' tin can factory in Maywood struck yesterday. A year ago the company reduced the wage scale 10 percent, and the strike is for the resumption of the old scale. A majority of the strikers are women and girls.

Machias on Guard.

Washington, March 29.—The gunboat Machias has arrived at Livingston, Guatemala. Owing to the disturbed state of affairs in Guatemala and Honduras it was deemed wise to have one of our warships at hand to look after American interests in case of emergency.

Gifts of $3,000,000.

Montreal, March 29.—Sir William McDonald, Montreal's millionaire tobacco manufacturer, has made another munificent donation to McGill university. This time it is the school of mining which benefits, and the gift is large enough to provide the services of a lecturer, a demonstrator, an assistant and a complete staff of mechanics, which, with his recent endowment of the professional chair, gives that department a complete staff. Sir William's present donation said to be about $300,000, and it raises is said to be about $300,000, and it raises the total sum of money he has given to McGill to over $3,000,000.

Physicians Puzzled.

Beverly, Mass., March 29.—An unknown man was found on the platform of the Pike's Crossing depot yesterday afternoon, in an unconscious condition, and the authorities are unable to solve the mystery. At a late hour last night he had not regained consciousness, and his body showed no apparent life with the exception of a slight twinkling of the eyes at intervals. It is not known whether he jumped from an express train or was taken suddenly ill upon his arrival at the depot. The physicians have been unable to discover any injuries.

Will Stick to Quay.

Harrisburg, March 29.—A conference of friends of Senator Quay was held last night at the executive mansion to discuss the senatorial situation. It was decided that Mr. Quay would remain a candidate for United States senator, and, if there is no election by the present legislature, to submit the question to the people in the election for members of the legislature two years hence. Mr. Quay's managers deny that there are any signs of a break in their lines.

Crook's Freight of Heroes.

New York, March 29.—The United States transport Crook arrived here last night, having on board the bodies of the soldiers who died during the campaign in Porto Rico and the bodies of 671 of the soldier dead from Santiago. The work of taking the bodies off was begun today. Each body was positively identified before sealing the metallic caskets at the cemetery, and the department is sure that there will be no cases of mistaken identity. Bodies claimed by relatives will be expressed to destinations at the expense of the war department.

It is almost like coffee but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach, ruins the digestion, effects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise. 15 and 25c. per package.

THEY RIDICULE IT.

Many People Ridicule the Idea of an Absolute Cure for Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles.

Ridicule, However, is not Argument, and Facts Are Stubborn Things.

Stomach troubles are so common and in most cases, so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on their acuteness in never being humbuged, especially in medicines.

This fear of being humbuged can be carried too far, so far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure inpigestion on the commonsense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure inigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digests the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists every where at 50 cents per package. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for little book on stomach diseases, sent free. Mar. 27-3t-27-29-31

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.

Mataafa Backed by the German Consul.

Refused to Comply With the Terms of Treaty.

Samoan Villages Thereupon Shelled by Gunboats.

American and British Tars Fought Splendidly Together.

Bombardment Continued For Eight Days Up to Receipt of Latest Advices.

[Copyright, The Associated Press, 1899.]

Apia, March 23, via Auckland, N. Z., March 30.—The troubles growing out of the election of a king of Samoa have taken a more serious turn and resulted in a bombardment of native villages along the shore by the United States cruiser Philadelphia, Admiral Kautz commanding, and the British cruisers Porpoise and Royalist. The bombardment has continued intermittently for eight days. Several villages have been burned, and there have been a number of casualties among the American and British sailors and marines. As yet it is impossible to estimate the number of natives killed or injured.

THE PHILADELPHIA.

As Mataafa and his chiefs, constituting the provisional government, continued to defy the treaty after the arrival of the Philadelphia, Admiral Kautz summoned the various consuls and senior naval officers to a conference on board the Philadelphia, when the whole situation was carefully canvassed. The upshot was a resolution to dismiss the provisional government, and Admiral Kautz issued a proclamation calling upon Mataafa and his chiefs to return to their homes.

Mataafa evacuated Mulinuu, the town he had made his headquarters, and went into the interior.

Herr Rose, the German consul at Apia, issued a proclamation, supplementing the one he had issued several weeks before, upholding the provisional government. As a result of this the Mataafans assembled in large force and hemmed in the town.

The British cruiser Royalist brought the Malietoa prisoners from the islands to which they had been transferred by the provisional government.

The Americans then fortified Mulinuu, where 2000 Malietoans took refuge. The rebels—the adherents of Mataafa—barricaded the roads within the municipality and seized the British houses.

An ultimatum was then sent to them ordering them to evacuate and threatening them, in the event of refusal, with a bombardment, to commence at 1 o'clock on the afternoon of March 15.

This was ignored and the rebels commenced an attack in the direction of the United States and British consulates about half an hour before the time fixed for the bombardment.

The Philadelphia, Porpoise and Royalist opened fire upon the distant villages. There was great difficulty in locating the enemy, owing to the dense forest; but several shore villages were seen in flames.

A defective shell from the Philadelphia exploded near the American consulate and the marines outside narrowly escaped. A fragment struck the leg of a private, shattering it so badly as to necessitate amputation. Another fragment traversed the German consulate, smashing the crockery. The Germans then went on board the German cruiser Falke.

During the night the rebels made a hot attack on the town, killing three British sailors. A British marine was shot in the leg by a sentry of his own party, and one was shot in the foot, while an American sentry was killed at his post.

The bombardment continuing, the inhabitants of the town took refuge on board the Royalist, greatly crowding the vessel.

Many people are leaving Samoa, the captain of the Royalist urging them to go so as not to interfere with the military operations.

The Porpoise has shelled the villages east and west of Apia and captured many boats.

The Americans and British are fighting splendidly together; but there is a bitter feeling against the Germans.

Two men, a British and a German subject, have been arrested as spies.

The bombardment of the jungle was for a time very hot.

London Comment.

London, March 30.—The morning papers comment on the serious news from Samoa, the presumption being that the cruiser Tauraga was stopped at the Fiji Islands by the admiralty, because required for service at Samoa.

The Standard says: The rebellious chiefs must be coerced and punished, and something more than a nominal penalty will be required for the blood of British and American sailors. The German authorities at Apia have incurred a heavy responsibility. We cannot believe that Berlin will uphold their action, as it is not worth Germany's while to quarrel with England and America over Samoa.

The Daily Chronicle says: There is only one alternative. Germany must remove her consul (Herr Rose) or go out of the protectorate.

The Post, commenting upon the "mystery surrounging the affair" and the "impossibility of reconciling the events in Samoa with diplomatic assurances lately given by Berlin and Washington," says: Admiral Kautz and his coadjutors were not competent to dismiss the provisional government. The single bright spot in this dark business is that the Americans and British fought splendidly together.

The Daily Mail says: It is a consolation to think that, as in Crete, the spilling of British and American blood will bring a solution of the crisis. All three powers should recall their consuls, and as the friendship of Germany is the pivot of our foreign policy, her wishes should be respected in the final settlement.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 30.—The principal event in the legislature yesterday was the adverse action in the house on the bill incorporating the Street Railway Mutual Insurance company. The object of the proposed corporation is to insure street railway corporations against loss or damage on account of accident.

Leave to withdraw was reported in the senate on the petition that no woman or minor under 18 be employed in places where intoxicating liquors are sold or prepared. A bill to amend the "corrupt practices" act was presented, so that, when the aggregate receipts or disbursements of a political committee do not exceed $20, the treasurer shall certify to that fact to the secretary of the commonwealth within 30 days. A petition for legislation to prohibit the publication of anonymous advertisements and circulars, designed to affect the market price of stocks, etc., was referred to the next general court. A bill for an increase of $1000 in the salaries of the justices of the supreme and superior courts was reported.

Bills were reported in the house providing for an additional deputy sheriff of Middlesex, who shall act as permanent court officer for the probate court, and fixing Tuesday, after the first Monday, in November (election day) as municipal election day in Boston. Ought not to pass was reported on the bill to revise the caucus act. Leave to withdraw was reported on the petition of the selectmen of Revere for authority to borrow money for constructing highways.

Reference to the next general court was reported on a bill to give all express companies equal and reasonable terms upon railroads in this state.

Ought to pass was reported on a resolve appropriating $10,000 for repairs on the normal art school building, and a resolve appropriating $1800 for painting the building. A resolve for the printing of 12,000 copies of the "blue book" for 1899 was reported.

The committee on agriculture reported a bill providing for the election of tree wardens of towns at the annual meeting, he to have charge of all trees within the town limits. The town may appropriate money for the planting of shade trees, and no tree is to be cut down without the permission of the tree warden.

Ought not to pass was reported on the bill for instruction in physiology and hygiene in the pubic schools.

Oxley Gives Further Testimony.

Bridgeport, Conn., March 30.—Harry Oxley's testimony in the Guilford trial, which was finished yesterday, was very brief, corroborating his direct testimony Tuesday of the consultations and appointments made with a physician in New Haven and also one in Waterbury, and of Miss Gill's visit to the latter doctor. The principal evidence yesterday was offered with the intent of connecting the sections of the dead body found in the Yellow millpond with Nancy Guilford's house. One of the features of the day's proceedings was the recalling of the father of the victim, Henry Gill, to the stand. It was for the purpose of identifying some letters. Mrs. Guilford showed more interest in the proceedings of the past two days than she has manifested since the trial opened.

ANNUAL LOVE FEAST.

Members of Massachusetts Legislature Dine and Listen to Speeches.

Senator Hoar Speaks of What the State Has Done.

Accomplishments In Arts and Peace No Less Great Than Her Military History.

Boston, March 30.—The annual dinner of the members of the Massachusetts legislature at the Vendome last night was not very well attended, but prolific of a number of eloquent and witty speeches.

The legislature had as guests Governor Wolcott, Lieutenant Governor Crane and Senator Hoar, and all three made addresses, that of Senator Hoar being the principal one of the evening. The remarks of the different members of both branches were replete with sharp sallies of a personal nature, which were much enjoyed.

President Smith of the senate presided, and after a few words introduced Governor Wolcott, who was warmly greeted. Owing to his recent illness he spoke briefly, referring in a humorous vein to the recent act of the legislature in overruling his veto of a bill abolishing days of grace on drafts.

The remarks of Lieutenant Governor Crane were also short, expressing merely his appreciation of the honor and the hope that the session this year would be a profitable one.

The introduction of Senator Hoar called forth unbounded applause, and it was some minutes before he was allowed to begin his remarks. He spoke in part as follows:

The commonwealth, through the action of your predecessors, has four times elected me to a seat in the senate of the United States. No man can be more sensible than I am how imperfectly the duties of that great office have been performed. I have at least the consolation of knowing that I have done my best—I have at least the consolation of knowing that my service to Massachusetts has been not of my seeking, but of her seeking.

The Massachusetts house of representatives is, I believe, the oldest legislative chamber representing a free people on the face of the earth, with the single exception of the English house of commons. I spent an evening not long ago with the late Lord Herschell. I was much impressed with his intimate knowledge of what Massachusetts had done in the direction of civil and political administration, and with his admission of how much he had learned from her.

Yet, after all her accomplishments in the arts and the walks of peace, the history of Massachusetts from the settlement in the forest unto this hour has been largely a military history. Her soldiers have been famous on land and her sailors have been famous on the sea. Throughout this whole war the history of Massachusetts has been a tale of glory, and what is better than a tale of glory, from his excellency, the commander-in-chief of her own troops, from the brave and able and honest general in command of the armies of the United States, down to the humblest common soldier and common sailor her story has been a story of duty well and faithfully performed.

The key to the whole history and the whole power of Massachusetts is in her respect for the value of individual life, for the right of the individual citizen and the sanctity of the individual soul.

A letter from Senator Lodge was then read, in which he regretted his inability to be present. He wrote, however, that in the deciding of great questions in the senate he acted upon the deepest conviction of right and duty, and had always tried fitly to represent the principles of the Republican party, and of the traditions of Massachusetts. Continuing, he asserted that in the great movement of the time, the country has entered upon a new stage of national development, presenting new problems for solution. "I look forward hopefully," he said in closing, "to the future, and believe that the civilization we have built is strong and fully able to pass victoriously through the trials of the days to come."

Speaker Bates was also warmly received and made a speech, reviewing the work of the legislature and pointing out that the present one is somewhat behind that of 1898 in bills enacted and killed.

Among the other speakers were Senators Dallinger of Cambridge, Moran of Fall River and Representative Mellen of Worcester.

Fatal Elevator Accident.

Boston, March 30.—Mary Miles was caught in a freight elevator shaft on Bedford street yesterday and fatally crushed. She was taken to the emergency hospital and died before they could get her into bed. The elevator descending rapidly from above caught her by the shoulders and pinned her against the safety gate. There was no stopping the heavy car, and when the woman's screams brought two other women employed in the place her back had been broken and she was horribly crushed.

A Cat-astrophe!

A few years ago a leading lawyer of Quincy wanted an office boy, a boy who wanted to be a lawyer, who would grow up and be an ornament to the profession. He advertised for a boy. He had applicants by the dozen. He selected eight from the number and taking one of them into his private office, told him a story. The story was this:

A man was bothered by a cat which got on top of a neighboring barn and yeowled every night and kept him awake. He threw a brick at the cat, "but the cat came back." Next day he got a shot gun and loaded it. That night the cat selected a Wagnerian opera from his catagory and began. The man took aim and fired. The paper wad caught the dry shingles on the roof of the barn afire and they had to call out the fire department. The neighbor sued him for damages and he sued the neighbor for maintaining a Zoo inside the city limits.

The first boy yawned and asked who won the suit. He told it to the other boys in rotation. The second wanted to know what the damages were; the third wanted to know if there were any horses in the barn; the fourth, if the barn burned down; the fifth if it caught the house afire; the sixth whether it was far to the barn; the seventh, whether the cat was alone. The eighth, little Jimmie Malone, freckle-faced, pug-nosed, red-headed Jimmie slowly inquired, "Did he hit the cat?" Jimmie was hired, and now he is a prominent lawyer in a near-by city.

Why did the lawyer hire him? Because he never lost sight of the main point of the question. He stuck to one thing and all the side issues made to confuse him never made him waver.

One year ago the Quincy Clothing Co started out to build a Clothing business in Quincy; started to build it by selling good goods cheap, straight, and by dealing square. All the energies of our organization have been directed toward one thing—buying right and selling right.

Tomorrow we open a large shipment of Spring Overcoats for men at $5.65 to $10.00 that are marvels of merchandising. Even in the cheapest there is no shoddy flockings, flyings or cotton. Drift of Opinion.

☞Tom Lawson has made a million dollars speculating in sugar. This is the bright side of it At the very moment Bro. Lawson was rejoicing over the tangible results of his foresight, a New Jersey school master, who had saved $4,000 with which he speculated in the same article, and every penny of which he lost, was found starving in streets of New York. This merely proves that where there are winners there must of necessity be losers. It is safer not to monkey with the buz-saw of speculation, since every financial centre is filled with sharpers on the lookout for lambs to fleece.—Haverhill Gazette.

☞The war department has been the one weak spot in McKinley's administration, but judging from present indications, the preliminaries of the next national campaign will see installed at the head of the war department a man who will command the complete respect and admiration of the people. With the administration thus strengthened it would be a political impossibility to prevent McKinley's renomination even were the Republican leaders so disposed.—Burlington Free Press.

Mr. Tupper Nominated.

At the regular meeting of the Boston School Committee on Tuesday evening among the nominations which came up and were laid over for a fortnight, was that of Mr. Frederic Allison Tupper to be head master of the Brighton High school. The Quincy High school has always been fortunate in having had good masters. Mr. Tupper has made an enviable record, so much so that it has been seen for some time that the salary which the city paid him ($2,100) could retain him but a comparatively brief period. Boston pays her head masters of the High schools, $3,780.

A large crowd attended the entertainment which was given at Brasee's hall, Wollaston, on Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Wollaston Yacht club. WHO FOR MARSHAL?

One Needed for the Parade of Monday.

Quincy Roll of Honor During Late War.

Items in Connection with the Celebration.

In the making up of the sub-committees and the arrangements for the parade of Co. K, the Grand Army and Sons of Veterans, next Monday, one important matter seems to have been overlooked. That is the selection of a chief marshal.

As the matter now stands when the Company arrives at Quincy it will find, besides the two organizations, a dozen or more carriages which will be provided for the committee of the city government. If left to themselves there will be more or less confusion in the formation, for the parade; but if some gentleman familiar with military affairs is appointed as marshal he would have no difficulty in straightening matters out and starting the parade off promptly.

The selectmen of Braintree have been invited to participate and will be provided with a carriage. There will also be carriages for use of the members of Co. K in case any of them are unable to stand the parade.

The indications are that decorations on the line of march from the depot to the Braintree line will be general.

Gen. Curtis Guild, Jr., who was wanted as one of the speakers at the banquet regrets that he will be unable to be present.

It is the subscription papers, and not the tickets for the Co. K banquet, which may be found at the stores of C. F. Pettengill, C. C. Hearn and other members of the committee. All tickets are given entirely to subscribers so that none are for sale.

Councilman Hultman, who has charge of the decorating of the City Council chamber for the reception of Co. K next week, promises something out of the usual run of decorations.

ROLL OF HONOR.

The Committee on Programme for the banquet are anxious to learn the names of all from Quincy who volunteered for the Spanish war, whether in army, or navy. So far as known, the list, outside of Co. K includes the following. If there should be any additions to the list, they should be forwarded immediately to the committee or the Daily Ledger, that they may receive a complimentary ticket to the banquet, and also have their names appear on the souvenir menu.

PARADE IN BOSTON.

The Globe says, Adjt. Gen. Dalton has received a telegram from Lieut. Col. Weaver, from Greenville, S. C., that the 5th Massachusetts, U. S. V., will arrive in Boston on Monday morning, and will parade before the Governor at the State House, without arms, and will turn over the colors of the regiment.

After passing the State House the regiment will march to the common, where the various companies will be met by committees sent from the various cities and towns, and escorted to that stations, where trains will be taken for home.

It is to be regretted that the regiment could not have retained the arms which they took from Framingham last year, but the government would not allow them to be taken from Greenville.

Undoubtedly several of the Boston companies, comprising parts of the 1st, 6th and 9th regiments, would have been glad to have tendered an escort to their returning comrades, but, unfortunately, only three or four have received their equipment.

HERE AND THERE.

Local Brevities of the City of Presidents.

Joseph F. Costello is at present doing the Boston Globe work at Havana.

Miss Bertha Nichols of Botolph street is spending a week at Lawrence.

Yesterday and today have been too wind yto display bulletins at the Ledger office.

Mr. Harry Reed's children are spending the April vacation in Rhode Island.

Today was juvenile day at the District court and a number of cases were heard.

Easter church programs will appear in the Ledger tomorrow and Saturday, and also in the Patriot.

An assignee's sale will begin on Monday next at the Boston Bargain store; goods at unheard of prices.

Rural lodge of Masons is planning a reception to Lieut. Whitney of Co. K who is the second officer of the lodge.

The time to purchase spring suits, hats and neckwear is now, and the place is at the Granite Clothing store.

The two committees who have charge of the Co. K reception on behalf of the city and citizens, will meet Friday evening.

Mrs. Joseph Monighan of Old Colony street was called to Natick the first of the week by the death of her sister, Mrs Fiske.

It was ladies' night at the Granite City club Wednesday evening. Prizes were captured by Mrs. Henry F. Tilden and Mrs. Warren H. Rideout.

The trial of Michael Milan, for the murder of his wife, who was burned to death under suspicious circumstances recently, will come up before the Superior court at Dedham next week.

Miss Rena Bradt of New York who has been sojourning at Palm Beach, Florida, for a few weeks will spend Easter with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Rigby of Montclair.

In response to many queries the committee in charge of the coming ball of the Knights of Columbus has decided to follow the custom of last year, and will issue ladies' gallery tickets, to be sold for a merely nominal sum.

Although the sale of tickets for the Pi Eta theatricals, The Belles of Bellesley, under the auspices of the Quincy Yacht club, has surpassed expectations, many good seats are to be found at A. G. Durgin's and C. C. Hearn's.

An enjoyable evening was spent by the Wednesday Night club which met this week with Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Savin, of Botolph street. The evening was devoted to whist. Lunch was served at 10.30. The club meets next with Mr. and Mrs. F. K. Browne, of Squantum street.

Wednesday's wind storm was one of the few nor'westers which we have every winter. Yesterday's st orm blew all day with tremendous force. At times the wind spurted up to 50 miles an hour. The past winter has been unusually free from these blows nearly all of the gales having blown from the east.

ARBITRATION.

On Questions of Special Bargains and Number of Apprentices.

When the granite cutters' strike in Quincy was declared off March 14, and the men returned to work, there were two matters in the bill of prices upon which they could not agree, and which it was then decided should be settled by arbitration. These two matters were, the clause relating to special bargains, and that limiting the number of apprentices that should be employed to a gang of thirteen men.

The men asked that the number of apprentices be limited to two to a gang, while the manufacturers desired to let the matter regulate itself according to circumstances.

The State Board of Arbitration was the one selected to decide the matter, and this board visited Quincy on Wednesday in its official capacity, and met the two committees. Each presented its side of the case, after which the State board said they would take the matter under consideration and report its finding at a later date.

Bicycle, Whist and Checkers.

Clan McGregor held its regular meeting on Monday night in Doble's hall. When the ordinary business was over, Clansman George Robertson suggested that a bicycle club be organized for the summer months, and a whist and checker club for the winter months. Past Chief William Elrick and Clansman Alex. Souter made remarks in favor. Mr. Souter said as Clan McGregor was the largest order in Quincy, he could not see why it could not be a great success. Clansman William Taylor favored whist and checkers, and made some very good suggestions in his remarks. It was moved that the clansmen will meet in Doble's small hall on Friday at 7.30 P. M. It is hoped that a large number of the members will be present at this meeting to discuss this matter.

The third degree team of Mt. Wollaston lodge No. 80, visited John Hancock lodge, at Wollaston, Wednesday evening and conferred the degree upon three candidates in a very creditable manner. The degree team brought a large delegation with them from their own lodge. After lodge was closed the members retired to the banquet hall to partake of a collation. Then cigars were passed and speeches were in order. Remarks were made by Past Grand Stetson, Cobb and Goodridge, and Noble Grand Williams of Mt. Wollaston lodge. The brothers had a general good time until a late hour.

after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is healthful, invigorating and appetizing. It is made from pure grains and has that rich seal brown color and tastes like the finest grades of coffee and costs about 1-4 as much. Children like it and thrive on it because it is a genuine food drink containing nothing but nourishment. Ask your grocer for Grain-O, the new food drink. 15 and 25c.

The Comedy of "Mr. Bob."

The third annual sale and entertainment of the Dorcas society was held Wednesday evening in the Universalist vestry, which was well filled with people to listen to the entertainment prepared for the evening. It consisted of a two-act comedy entitled "Mr. Bob." It was a very bright play, and all the parts were well taken by the following young people connected with the church: Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Furnald, Miss Cudworth, Miss Barnes, Miss Gay, Mr. Frank Preble and Mr. Ernest Preble. Marnock's orchestra furnished music throughout the evening and the music was greatly enjoyed by all present. Along one side of the vestry were the different tables upon which were aprons, fancy articles, candy and ice cream, which found ready purchasers. The sale was a success in every way and credit is due to the young ladies who worked so hard and faithfully for its success. A neat sum will be realized.

BARRELS OF SAMPLES.

Over Two Hundred Thousand Trial Bottles Sent Free.

By special arrangement with the manufacturers of that justly famous Kidney medicine, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the readers of the Quincy Patriot are enabled to obtain a trial bottle and pamphlet of valuable medical advice absolutely free, by simply sending their full name and postoffice address to the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., and mentioning this paper.

Of course this involves enormous expense to the manufacturers but they have received so many grateful letters from those who have been benefited and cured of the various diseases of the Kidneys, Liver, Bladder, and Blood Rheumatism Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation and all weaknesses peculiar to women that they willingly send trial bottles to all sufferers.

Upon investigation it was found that 91 per cent. of those who had used the trial bottle had received such benefit from it that they purchased large sized bottles of their druggists. It matters not how sick you are or how many physicians have failed to help you send for a trial bottle of this great medicine it costs you but a postal card and benefit and cure will most certainly be the result.

Put some urine in a glass tumbler let it stand 24 hours if it has a sediment or if it is pale or discolored, milky or cloudy, stringy or roppy your Kidneys or Bladder are in a bad condition. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy speedily cures such dangerous symptoms as pain in the back, inability to hold urine, a burning scalding pain in passing it, frequent desire to urinate especially at night, the staining of linen by your urine and all the unpleasant and dangerous affects on the system produced by the use of whiskey, wine or beer. Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is sold at all drug stores at $1.00 for a large bottle; six bottles for $5.00

BUT FEW MILES MORE

And the Capital of Filipinos Will Be In Americans' Hands.

Aguinaldo Said to Have Moved on to San Fernando.

His Troops Continue to Burn the Towns From Which They Are Driven.

Washington, March 30.—The following advices from Manila were received by the war department last night from General Otis:

"MacArthur advanced at 6 yesterday morning from Marilao. Passed rapidly to Bocave.

"At 11:45 took up advance for Bigaa and at 3:15 this afternoon for Guiginto, 8½ miles from Malolos, reaching that point at 5.

"Casualties for the day about 70. Fierce fighting in the afternoon.

"Troops made crossing of river at Guiguinto by working artillery over railroad bridge by hand and swimming mules against fierce resistance.

"Column will pass on railroad to extreme front nearly repaired and will resupply troops today."

At daylight General McArthur's division had advanced from Marilao along the railroad to Bigaa, five miles distant, in the following order: The Nebraska regiment, the South Dakota regiment and the Pennsylvania regiment on the right. The Kansas regiment, the Third artillery and the Montana regiment on the left. General Wheaton's brigade was in reserve.

The American forces met with strong opposition in the jungle. First one Nebraskan, then one Pennsylvanian and afterwards two of the Montana regiment were killed and 35 were wounded, including one officer of the Kansas regiment. Thence the troops pushed on to Bigaa without opposition, the rebels burning the villages as they retreated in bad order toward Malolos. The enemy also tore up sections of the railroad in many places, and attempted to burn the bridge at Bigaa, but the fire was extinguished, owing to the timely arrival of the Americans.

The rebels had not finished their trenches along the line of yesterday's march, showing they were not prepared for our advance. It is believed, however, that there will be a hard fight before Malolos is taken. The Minnesota regiment re-enforced the division yesterday, marching from the waterworks during the night to Manila, and going to the front by train.

It is now apparent that the advance of the American troops has not produced the results anticipated when the movement began early last Saturday morning. General Otis expected to hem in and capture whole bands of rebels, and that Aguinaldo himself, with the best of his troops, would be captured on the way to Malolos, or at the worst in the capital itself.

But it cannot be denied the American officers are disappointed at the results so far. The rebels have shown an amazing proficiency in the strategy of retreat. In addition to this, the rebels have developed fighting powers which no one gave them credit for. They have fought at times with the ferocity of demons, and none but the most valiant troops could have made such headway against them as ours have.

When our troops capture a city or town they simply find a pile of blazing ruins. The rebels are burning everything behind them as they retreat, and nothing but a barren waste is left behind.

And now comes the report that Aguinaldo has moved his "capital" from Malolos to San Fernando, so that even when the former headquarters are captured, Aguinaldo himself will be no nearer capture than he was weeks ago.

Beyond Malolos is a great territory, and it is said that Aguinaldo can keep moving his "capital" for months to come. It may be that there will be determined fighting at Malolos, as has been expected all along, but it is now almost certain that when our troops finally capture the place they will find it in flames.

Light Guns For Otis.

Washington, March 30.—The six additional mountain guns asked for by General Otis a short time ago are now on their way to Manila. These guns are 2-pounders, and can be taken anywhere that mules or men can go. General Otis had eight of these guns, besides four guns of the Astor battery. The latter, however, are 12-pounders, and much heavier to handle.

Well Supplied.

Washington, March 30.—In reply to an inquiry from Adjutant General Corbin, asking whether General Otis had sufficient supplies, and if not to state what was wanted, the latter has sent a message stating that "supplies of all kinds sufficient for immediate wants."

Fishermen's Death Record.

Gloucester, Mass., March 30.—The annual memorial services for the fishermen of Gloucester who were lost at sea during the year 1898 were held at city hall last night. An appreciative audience listened to sympathetic addresses by Judge Pettengill of Malden and Rev. W. H. Ryder of this city. Mayor French presided, and City Clerk Somes read the list of 64 names of the brave and hardy fishermen who have lost their lives during the past year while in pursuit of their perilous calling. The records show that during the past 25 years 2413 fishermen have lost their lives, an average of 96.52 per year.

Desperadoes Disp sed Of.

Dallas, March 30.—Robert Lynch and Robert Finch were shot and killed at Brandon while trying to "run the town." They were drunk and proposed to shoot out the lights. Constable Hoakes tried to arrest them. They resisted and the shooting became general. After the smoke cleared away Lynch and Finch were found dead.

OTIS OUGHT TO KNOW.

Disagrees With Statements Made by an Officious British Officer.

Washington, March 30.—Some time ago an ex-officer of the British army wrote to Secretary Hay regarding the health of the troops in the Philippines and making suggestions relative to the preservation of the health of the command. He related the effect of hot climates on the soldiers where the British army had served, and indicated that the troubles which had overtaken the British army would be likely to come to the Americans. The letter was sent to General Otis, and he has sent it back to the war department with the following endorsement:

"Troops here soon become acquainted with and accustomed to the climate. The conditions prevailing, and the results of our occupation, in so far as the health of the command is concerned, are not known to the writer of the communication. At present, as affairs are somewhat critical, military duty is exacting. I think, however, that the health of the command will compare favorably with the British troops in India, there being only about 8 or 9 percent on the sick report for all causes. I do not think it necessary to consider the remarks of the writer further. The condition of this command is sadly misrepresented in the United States."

Shelter That Didn't Shelter.

Sandy Hook, N. J., March 30.—At the Sandy Hook proving grounds yesterday one of the 10-inch breech-loading rifles, under proof test, burst its breech, the block of which, flying backwards, penetrated the sand butt erection, killing Henry V. Murphy and injuring Privates Harrigan and Deemer of the ordnance department. They were supposed to be under shelter behind the sand butt. The block went further backwards and did some slight damage to the buildings in the rear, at last landing inside the machine shop. The accident was caused by the excessive pressure of the smokeless powder charge. The gun, which burst at the fourth round, was of the 1895 model. The gun is totally destroyed and it partially wrecked the barbette carriage on which it is mounted.

On a Week's Visit.

New York, March 30.—William W. Astor, the owner of The Pall Mall Gazette, arrived here yesterday on the Majestic. In answer to the interrogatories of one of the customs officers, he described himself as a foreigner and a resident of Great Britain. This reply relieved him of answering such questions as are required by law to be put to returning Americans regarding purchases made while abroad. Mr. Astor was accompanied by his two sons and his daughter. Mr. Astor took the trip to this country for the benefit of his health. He expects to return to England in about a week.

Matched at Last.

New York, March 30.—Managers Brady and Julian, acting for James J. Jeffries and Robert Fitzsimmons, have signed articles of agreement for a fight before the Coney Island Sporting club. The articles call for a 25-round bout, Marquis of Queensberry rules, to take place between 12 o'clock noon and 2 p. m., on May 26. George Siler will act as referee, and five-ounce gloves will be used. The fight will be for $20,000, with 66 2-3 percent of the revenue derived from the pictures to be paid to the men. Fitzsimmons, Jeffries and the club each posted $2500 to bind the agreement.

Invitations Declined.

Albany, March 30.—Ex-Senator Hill does not expect to attend the Democratic club dinner in New York on the evening of Jefferson's birthday, he having declined the invitation before the occurrence of the Bryan episode. He has also felt compelled to decline similar invitations for the same evening which he has received from the Democrats of Shelbyville, Ind., and the Jeffersonian club of Manchester, N. H.

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." EVACUATED.

Insurgents Then Set Fire to Malolos.

The Town Now Held by MacArthur's Troops.

Rebels Are In Full Retreat Toward the North.

Fought Fiercely, but Compelled to Fall Back at Every Point.

MacArthur and His Staff Had a Narrow Escape From Death.

Washington, March 31.—The following dispatch from General Otis was received at the war department last night:

"Manila, March 31.

"Adjutant General, Washington:

"MacArthur made dispositions yesterday for attack on Malolos today. Engagement opened at 7 o'clock this morning, and is now progressing. Casualties yesterday, four killed and 23 wounded, all brought to Manila last night. Hall moved out from camping station at daylight this morning with three battalions, northeast; attacked and has taken Mariquina, and is pursuing enemy; ordered to return this afternoon. Otis."

Manila, March 31.—11:53 a. m.—Major General MacArthur advanced to attack Malolos, the seat of the insurgent government, at 7 o'clock this morning.

Major General MacArthur entered Malolos, the seat of the so-called insurgent government, at 9:30 this morning, the rebels burning the city and simultaneously evacuating it.

They are now in full retreat toward the north, where Aguinaldo and the cabinet are said to have been for two days.

General MacArthur advanced to attack Malalos at 7 o'clock this morning. He met with strong opposition, the rebels resisting desperately, but losing heavily.

General Hale's brigade is advancing north from the waterworks and driving the left wing of the enemy across.

The rebels fought fiercely at times, but the dash of the American troops demoralized them and soon they were falling back at every point.

Their losses were very heavy. The casualties on the American side cannot be stated definitely at the present writing.

The United States troops rested last night in the jungle, about a mile and a quarter from Malolos. The day's advance began at 2 o'clock and covered a distance of about 2½ miles beyond the Guiguinto river, along the railroad. The brunt of the battle was on the right of the track, where the enemy was apparently concentrated.

The First Nebraska, First South Dakota and Tenth Pennsylvania regiments encountered the insurgents entrenched on the border of the woods, and the Americans advancing across the open suffered a terrific fire for half an hour. Four of the Nebraska regiment were killed and 30 were wounded. Ten men of the Dakota regiment were wounded and one of the Pennsylvanians was killed.

The Americans finally drove the Filipinos back. Although there were three lines of strong entrenchments along the track the enemy made scarcely any defense there. General MacArthur and his staff were walking on the track, abreast of the line, with everything quiet, when suddenly they received a shower of bullets from sharpshooters in trees and in housetops, but these were speedily dislodged.

The enemy's loss was apparently small, the jungle affording them such protection that the Americans were unable to see them and in firing were guided only by the sound of the Filipino shots. The American artillery was handicapped for the same reason.

Last night's long line of camp fires made a beautiful sight, with the Twentieth Kansas regiment on the left of Guiguinto station and the Pennsylvania regiment on the right, beyond the river.

The provision train was delayed by broken bridges; but the stores of grain and flocks of ducks in the locality furnished ample forage.

The hospital work is remarkably efficient, as it has been throughout the whole campaign.

The telegraphers keep abreast of the line and maintain a constant connection with the city.

Kennedy Convicted.

New York, March 31.—The jury in the Kennedy trial came in early this morning. The verdict was "guilty of murder in the first degree" in killing "Dolly" Reynolds. At the request of counsel for the defense Justice Williams had the jury polled and the 12 men signified their approval of the verdict as announced. Kennedy was very cool under the trying ordeal and never moved a muscle. None of his relatives were in court. Justice Williams remanded Kennedy to the Tombs and said he would adjourn the court until 2 o'clock this afternoon, at which time he will hear anything counsel may wish to bring to his attention.

Coming Home.

Columbia, S. C., March 31.—The Rhode Island regiment was mustered out yesterday, and is now on its way home. The paymaster did his work quickly, and there was no delay whatever. Many Columbia people were at camp to see the men off, and the members of the regiment were happy. All expect a big reception. The regiment is expected to reach Jersey City about 4 o'clock this afternoon, where it will immediately board the steamer Rhode Island. The boat will arrive in Providence tomorrow morning. The men boarded the trains for home shortly after being mustered out.

Bad Head-on Collision.

St. Louis, March 31.—Two passenger trains on the Belt Line, one from Springfield, Ills., and the other from this city, collided head-on at Haynes, Ills., yesterday. Two men were fatally injured; several passengers were hurt. The engineers and firemen of both trains jumped, and escaped without a scratch. Engineer Kearns said the brakes failed to work. The trains met with terrific force, hurling the passengers into heaps and smashing the cars, which were piled up.

Cissie Wants a Divorce.

New York, March 31.—The Herald says: Cissie Loftus McCarthy, an actress, has begun suit here for an absolute divorce from her husband, Justin Hanley McCarthy, son of the famous politician and author. He has filed an answer denying the charges, but it is understood that this action is formal. Mrs. McCarthy's complaint is based upon statutory grounds. Her husband makes no countercharges.

Straightened Out.

Portland, Me., March 31.—Mayor Robinson has settled the uncertainty concerning the police department that has prevailed since his recent election by reappointing Marshal Sylvester and naming two new deputies. Deputies Hartnett and Sterling are succeeded by Daniel D. Cheney, ex-county treasurer, and Willard F. Frith, ex-deputy sheriff.

Widow Sues For Damages.

Bowling Green, O., March 31.—Mrs. E. H. Westenhaver, whose husband was killed on Saturday last by John and Paul Zeltner, yesterday filed suit against them for $10,000 damages on account of the death of her husband. The sheriff yesterday sent to the Zeltner homestead and secured ammunition enough to stock a small arsenal.

A Daylight Holdup.

Boston, March 31.—Herman E. Knight of Marlboro reported to the police that he was held up at 6 o'clock yesterday morning on Western avenue, Brighton, by two men, who robbed him of $244, a gold hunting case watch and an I. O. O. F. charm. Knight, who was badly injured, said he had been kicked and beaten by the robbers.

Headed For Venezuela.

Kingston, Jam., March 31.—The American fleet left here today at daylight for La Guayra, Venezuela, with the exception of the training ship Essex. The sailors who were wounded in the fighting among themselves ashore are progressing favorably.

Aged Man Killed.

Meriden, Conn., March 31.—John Wells, aged 83 years, a well-to-do farmer of Wethersfield, who has been spending the winter in this city at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Hiram Yale, was instantly killed by a train on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad yesterday. Mr. Wells leaves three sons, one being Rev. Clayton Wells of Taunton, Mass., and two daughters.

Banker Under Arrest.

New York, March 31.—Fernando Baltes, the former president of the Mechanics' and Traders' bank, was held in $5000 bail for trial yesterday on the charge of hypothecating 200 shares of the stock of the bank, belonging to Ferdinand Sulzberger.

OUR SOLDIER BOYS.

Bay State Contingent Will All Be Home Within Two Weeks.

Boston, March 31.—Within the next two weeks all the members of the Massachusetts regiments that took part in the war with Spain will have returned to the old Bay State. But while the arrangements for the reception of the Fifth regiment without its arms and the Eighth regiment with theirs will be of a joyous character, their greeting will be saddened with the bringing back to the commonwealth at nearly the same time of the bodies of the brave men of the Second, Sixth and Ninth who gave up their lives at Santiago and in Porto Rico.

The Fifth regiment is expected in this city on Monday, but having already been mustered out at Greenville, S. C., the government will not allow the equipments to be removed and the regiment will reach the city with nothing except their clothes and personal baggage; even the band will leave their instruments behind.

The two flags, however, will be brought back, and after a short street parade they will be turned over to Governor Wolcott, as was done in the cases of the other regiments.

The Eighth regiment will, however, come from Cuba with its entire equipment, and will be mustered out at the armories in this city.

The bodies of the members of the Ninth regiment who died in Cuba will, before their arrival in this city, be taken to the armory, where they will lie in state until the funeral.

Haverhill Man Missing.

Haverhill, Mass., March 31.—Walter F. Huntley, local agent for a life insurance company, is missing, and there is considerable speculation as to his whereabouts. When his wife returned to the house yesterday after a few hours' absence she found a letter from Huntley, saying he was in financial trouble, was short in his accounts and thought suicide the best way to get out of it. His son, who resides in Lawrence, came here last night, bringing a letter of similar import he received yesterday from his father. The police find the last trace of Huntley in this city was at noon yesterday, when he confided to a friend his financial troubles, and inquired as to the extradition laws of Nova Scotia. Both his family and the police scout the idea of suicide.

A Cat-astrophe!

A few years ago a leading lawyer of Quincy wanted an office boy, a boy who wanted to be a lawyer, who would grow up and be an ornament to the profession. He advertised for a boy. He had applicants by the dozen. He selected eight from the number and taking one of them into his private office, told him a story. The story was this:

A man was bothered by a cat which got on top of a neighboring barn and yeowled every night and kept him awake. He threw a brick at the cat, "but the cat came back." Next day he got a shot gun and loaded it. That night the cat selected a Wagnerian opera from his catagory and began. The man took aim and fired. The paper wad caught the dry shingles on the roof of the barn afire and they had to call out the fire department. The neighbor sued him for damages and he sued the neighbor for maintaining a Zoo inside the city limits.

The first boy yawned and asked who won the suit. He told it to the other boys in rotation. The second wanted to know what the damages were; the third wanted to know if there were any horses in the barn; the fourth, if the barn burned down; the fifth if it caught the house afire; the sixth whether it was far to the barn; the seventh, whether the cat was alone. The eighth, little Jimmie Malone, freckle-faced, pug-nosed, red-headed Jimmie slowly inquired, "Did he hit the cat?" Jimmie was hired, and now he is a prominent lawyer in a near-by city.

Why did the lawyer hire him? Because he never lost sight of the main point of the question. He stuck to one thing and all the side issues made to confuse him never made him waver.

One year ago the Quincy Clothing Co started out to build a Clothing business in Quincy; started to build it by selling good goods cheap, straight, and by dealing square. All the energies of our organization have been directed toward one thing—buying right and selling right.

Since we began in Quincy there has never been a time and there never will be when you can buy as good goods for your money anywhere else as you can here. Tomorrow we open a large shipment of Spring Overcoats for men at $5.65 to $10.00 that are marvels of merchandising. Even in the cheapest there is no shoddy flockings, flyings or cotton. Drift of Opinion.

☞"A man efficient in helping the lowest," said Rev. B. Fay Mills at his Sunday evening meeting in Boston, "needs a faith in God and in man." These are the two essentials, or actually, they are together one essential, for neither faith can exist truly without the other.

☞The number of arrests for drunkenness in Boston decreased from 20,840 in 1896 to 16,628 in 1898, and the first two months of this year showed a corresponding decrease. This is ascribed to the facts that more people have employment and have no time to loaf around the bar rooms, that they are drinking more beer or ale and less "hard stuff" than they used to, and, lastly, to the beneficial effect of the probation system. — New Bedford Standard.

☞Admiral Sampson declares that the monitors are unfit for ocean service, and in this he is justified by experiences in the recent war, which show that their lack of speed made them a decided burden to a swift moving flotilla. They were designed to operate as seacost defense vessels, and as such are valuable. Swift battleships and cruisers are what the country needs, and no more money should be spent on monitors.—Lawrence Sun.

☞America has a right to think well of herself in many ways. Not to do so is to fail to come up to the full measure of her opportunities. Nations, as well as individuals must cultivate self respect if they wou'd have the respect of others. This is a great nation. We cannot emphasize that statement too strongly. Did you ever stop to think that we could be shut off from all the rest of the world and still live, provided with a'l the comforts and luxuries of civilization. — Beverly Times.

☞It is understood that the leaders of the Republican party in this state have come to the conclusion that the issue upon which the next political campaign is to be fought is government economy, and hence, to put themselves in a proper position, they are bringing such pressure as they can upon their party associates in the Legislature to force them to cut down with an unsparing hand any outgoes in the way of appropriations that can by any possibility be thus restricted. It's about time.—Milford Journal.

☞There seems to be a necessity for a spirit voice to declare what kind of a democrat Thomas Jefferson was. The anniversary of his birthday is to be observed in New York by several dinners, each of which claims to be the real thing—a Jeffersonian democrat dinner —Fitchburg Sun.

☞We hear of work being done in the interests of Speaker Bates and Col. Curtis Guild, Jr., for lieutenant-governor next year. It is a pity their ambitions arose the same year.—Attleboro Sun.

☞The Hon. William J. Bryant wants the people to have cheap money and eat cheap dinners. But the people are prosperous now and they don't like no cheap man.—Kansas City Journal.

☞Governor Roosevelt sensibly declines to approve a bill providing that New York judges shall not wear gowns He says it is "obviously and utterly unnecessary." He might have added that it is obviously and utterly silly.—New Bedford Standard.

The Quincy Bills.

As yet no report has been made in the Legislature on the Quincy boulevard bill.

The hearings on the South Metropolitan sewer have closed, but no report has been made.

None of the Mayor's bills have reached Governor Wolcott but two have been enacted in the House and have but to be enacted in the Senate these are the bill authorizing the refund of a portion of the debt, and the bill authorizing a loan of $150,000 outside the debt limit for street improvement.

The bill relative to the Water Commissioners has been engrossed in the house and took its third reading in the Senate March 28. It has yet to be engrossed in the Senate, and enacted in both branches before it reaches the Governor.

Is Marriage a Failure?

The above was the appropriate subject under discussion Thursday evening at the meeting of the literary auxiliary to the City Band. The subject was well debated by the society for an hour and thirty-five minutes, when they were served with refreshments by Mr. James Marr, the popular bass drummer of the City band, whose marriage reception will be held this evening, at his home No. 32 Intervale street. The society voted unanimously in the negative on the question.

A CARD.

The undersigned does hereby agree to refund the money on a 50-cent bottle of Greene's Warranted Syrup of Tar if it fails to cure your cold or cough. He also warrants a 25-cent bottle to prove satisfactory or no pay.

OVER 100 SOLD.

Demand for Tickets for the Soldiers' Banquet.

A good demand for tickets, and subscriptions averaging over $2, was the result of the reports to the Citizens' committee on the Soldiers' banquet at the meeting, Thursday evening. Some gentlemen were not at hand to make reports but returns received showed over 100 subscriptions of upwards of $1.50 each, while some are as high as $5 or $10 so that the average is over $2. Tickets are limited to 400 and the limit will probably be reached some days before the banquet, Thursday, April 6.

It was voted, should there be a surplus after the payment of all bills, to give it to the general fund of Paul Revere Post 88, G. A. R.

All the committees reported progress. Unfortunately receptions will be given to three of the other companies of the Fifth regiment on the same evening and Adjutant General Dalton will give a reception to the field officers. This prevents the attendance of some of the officers desired.

Other speakers have been suggested, however, who are always popular in Quincy, viz: Mayor Quincy of Boston, Congressman Naphen of this district, Col. Walker of the Ancient and Honorables, Col. H. A. Thomas, Col. B. S. Lovell and others.

The members of Co. K and all soldiers of the army and navy who will be guests are requested to wear the uniform of their office.

Other matters considered were ushers at hall, badges, cigars, gallery tickets, etc.

THE ROUTE IN BOSTON.

The Boston Post reports today that the arrangements have been nearly completed for the reception of the Fifth Regiment Massachusets Infantry, U. S. V., on Monday next, April 3. The regiment will arrive, one section at 9.20 the other at 9.25 A. M., at the Terminal station. Will form at once and march through Summer street to Federal, to High, to Congress, to Milk, to Broad, to State, to Washington, to School and Beacon street, to the State House where the regiment will form in line and turn over the colors to His Excellency the Governor. After this ceremony they will resume the march to the corner of Charles and Beacon streets, where they will be dismissed for their homes, where a reception awaits them.

MORE HEROES.

Additional names of Quincy boys for the roll of honor have been received since the publication of the list Thursday.

The Ledger is in hopes to get a complete list before Sunday; readers will please see that none are overlooked.

The additions include Sergt. Walter C. Jones, a son of Frederick L. Jones, who is a sergeant in Troop G, 1st U. S. cavalry. Sergt. Jones was in all the fights before Santiago, and one of the first to enter the city. He has been recommended for a medal for bravery in the charge up San Juan hill. He is now stationed at Fort Meade, South Dakota.

Edwin G. Prescott, whose parents live at No 5 Quincy avenue, and whose brother is the popular bookkeeper at the Quincy Beef Co, is a member of Co. L, 17th U. S. infantry now at Manila.

Another hero for the list is James A. Birnie of Goddard street, who is with Battery S, of the 2d Light Artillery. He was at Marino, Cuba.

New Relief Hose Wagon.

Under the new rules issued by Chief Engineer Williams, Hose 4 does not report to the central fire station at alarms from boxes to which it does not respond upon the first alarm.

Provision has, however, been made to cover the centre of Quincy, when the central station apparatus is out. As soon as the apparatus leaves the station a relief wagon, loaded with chemicals and hose is backed into combination No. 1 stand. This is in charge of Superintendent of Fire Alarm Gavin, and a relief crew, and responds to second alarms and to any box that may be pulled while the Central station apparatus is absent. This arrangement does away with taking Hose 4 out of its district at every alarm and leaving it unprotected.

Without Arms.

Boston, March 30.—Adjutant General Dalton has received a telegram from Lieutenant Colonel Weaver from Greenville, S. C., that the Fifth Massachusetts, U. S. V., will arrive in Boston on Monday morning, and will parade before the governor at the state house without arms, and will turn over the colors of the regiment. The regiment will then march to the common, where the various companies will be met by committees sent from the several cities and towns, and escorted to the stations, where trains will be taken for home.

Public Horsewhipping.

Lynn, Mass., March 30.—There was a sensational horsewhipping on the street here yesterday. Mrs. Isabelle Wyman, wife of a prominent real estate dealer, attacked Mrs. Alice Tuttle. It is said that Mrs. Wyman was jealous of Mrs. Tuttle. Mrs. Tuttle was walking up the street and Mrs. Wyman met her in front of a jewelry store, when she drew a long horsewhip from under her cloak and struck her across the face several times. People passing interfered. A warrant has been issued for Mrs. Wyman's arrest.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c. and 25c.

Gridley Bryant.

In the old State House in Boston hangs an oil painting owned by the Bostonian society. It is the only portrait in existence that represents Gridley Bryant in the prime of life. His son J. F. Bryant, who is eighty-three years old, is authority for this statement. The inscription on the brass plate attached to the picture frame is:—

GRIDLEY BRYANT,
ENGINEER AND BUILDER OF THE FIRST RAILROAD IN THE U. S., 1826.

Mr. Greene, principal of the Gridley Bryant school, has secured at the expense of considerable time and money, a life size crayon copy of the oil painting and a fac-simile of the plate. The portrait measures 25 by 30 inches, and when framed it will adorn the lower corridor of the school building.

Mr. Greene has also ordered 150 small photographs including the inscription. By a sale of them to the parents and other citizens, he hopes to be able to meet the cost of the large crayon. Mr. Greene deserves the commendation of all for his zeal and labor.

The New England.

The April number of the New England Magazine will be ten days late because of a fire in the bindery which completely destroyed the edition. It will, however, be worth waiting for, as it will have a valuable paper by Elizabeth Ballister Bates on "The New England Governors in the Civil War," At this great national crisis President Lincoln found men of singular wisdom and integrity holding the reins of state government in New England and ready to render their country efficient aid. Excellent portraits of these New England war governors are scattered through the article, and the whole is a fitting tribute to these stalwart leaders. Two articles treating of the anxious days immediately preceding the Civil War, are Rev. John White Chadwick's valuable account of the life work of Samuel May of Leicester—less widely known, perhaps, than his cousin, Samuel J. May, but equally zealous as an abolitionist—and Mrs. Abby Morton Diaz's interesting reminiscences of "Anti-Slavery Times in Plymouth, where even as a child she had a share in the work for the anti-slavery cause.

HOMEWARD BOUND.

Fifth Massachusetts Has Broke Camp.

Pleased to Learn of Welcome Ahead.

Health of the Command Is Now Excellent.

With Co. K, 5th Mass. Regt.
Camp Wetherill,
Greenville, S. C., Mar. 28.

The regiment has completed its returns with the ordinance department. All the rifles and cartridge belts were turned into the government. The final troop parade and escort to the colors, were participated in by the whole regiment. The 3d battalion that is quarantined on the ground vacated by the 4th Missouri also partook of the parade.

No drills or ceremonies are now held and the boys are having an easy time since all their ordinance was turned in. K boys have all their equipments and clothes ready to vacate Camp Wetherell for home.

The hospital and wards are closed. The hospital corps, which includes Sergeant Matthews formerly corporal of K, received orders to report to the 2d Divison, 2d Army Hospital Corps, to await the arrival of their discharges from the United States army. It is not known as yet whether the hospital corps will be discharged at same time as the regiment or have to wait five or six days later. The sick and convalescent sick will not be carried to Massachusetts until the 5th Regiment Hospital Corps have been discharged.

The Regimental band consolidated with the 201st New York band and partook in their evening parade. An artist who was discharged from the 4th Missouri has prepared a handsome roster of the whole regiment, with photographs of the staff and line officers. It is a valuable souvenir for every member to be proud of.

When this report has reached Quincy, the readers can think of the boys of K and the Dandy Fifth. For on Friday noon, in all probability the 5th will have boarded the train en route for Boston, via. the Fall River line. Three sections will leave the camp, one hour apart. These sections will pass through Quincy on Monday morning between the hours of 7.30 and 9 o'clock. It will be an interesting sight to see these sections they will pass at intervals of half an hour. We are in hopes to reach Quincy about noon to participate in the parade arranged by the good citizens of Quincy.

The boys of K appreciate the kindness and foresight of Councilman Packard in his proposition for the welcome home of the company. We are in hopes to retain the rifles that are to be loaned by the State, which will await us in New York,. The Quincy parade will look far better with the boys carrying their arms.

The banquet that was mentioned by the citizens to be held Tuesday in honor of the boys, would be better if held at a later date, for the boys will feel fatigued after their long journey.

1st Sergeant McGrath visited the 2d Division Hospital, in which Private John V. Mead is an inmate and reports Mead as much improved. The hospital corps will take charge of him when they return home.

A heavy thunder storm set in this afternoon, darkness set in, which lasted for about twenty minutes, after which it poured. The storm was something that the oldest citizens could not remember before.

All looking towards Friday.

Volunteer.

Larceny of Fish.

Joseph A. Earle, clerk at the Temple street fish market, was arrested this morning for the larceny of one pound of fish valued at ten cents. The circumstances leading up to the arrest are rather unique. It seems that Constable Furnald recently attached the goods in the store and placed a keeper in charge It is claimed that Earle, who is a clerk in the store, sold a pound of fish this morning and put the money in his pocket according to orders from the proprietor of the store. Earle, however, claims that he put the money into the money drawer.

Will It Be Lennon.

But two of the four gentlemen who took the civil service examination last week, for the position of inspector of Board of Health, got over 65 per cent, the amount required to have their names placed on the eligible list. The four to take the examination were James H. Cunningham, Edward J. Lennon, William Parker and Albert Keating.

Mr. Cunningham received 94 per cent. and Mr. Lennon just squeezed in.

By the civil service rules a veteran receives the preference, and a veteran if he receives the required per cent. must receive the appointment.

Special Easter services will be held at the Congregational church Sunday morning, and in the evening there will be a concert by the Sunday School.

The pupils of the Belcher school gave an entertainment in the school hall Thursday evening which was largely attended. The proceeds will be used in the purchase of pictures for the school.

The Selectmen's appointments have not been made public as yet. It is understood that the large number of applications for positions as day patrolmen is the cause of the delay.

John Graham of Church street was awakened between 1 o'clock and 2 o'clock Tuesday morning by a noise which sounded like some one in distress. He got up and upon going into the street found a man lying on the sidewalk who proved to be William Flanders. Mr. Flanders said that he came out from Boston on the late train Monday night and had slipped and fell. He had injured his leg in some manner so that he could not use it, and he had laid where he had fallen until his cries awakened Mr. Graham. He was assisted to his home nearby but did not call a physician until Wednesday when it was learned that he had received a bad fracture of the left leg. The fracture was of such a nature that it was thought advisable to remove him to the hospital, where he was taken Thursday afternoon.

Freeman Gray and Louis Staples, two East Milton young men, are reported as missing since Tuesday. The last seen of them was that afternoon, going toward Milton centre.

O. F. Bates is about to shingle his house.

The leading musical event held in Weymouth this season was the organ recital given by Mr. E. Russell Sanborn at the Baptist church Tuesday evening notwithstanding the severe rainstorm an unusually large audience was in attendance and manifested its hearty appreciation of the various numbers of the programme, by frequent applause. Mr. Sanborn was assisted by Miss S. Marcia Crafts, soprano, of Boston, and Miss Lena Trowbridge, the well known violinist of Melrose. "NEVER MORE HARMONIOUS."

Bryan Declares That Democrats Will Adhere to the Platform of 1896.

Topeka, Kan., March 31.—A Democratic conference and banquet, under the auspices of the Democratic state committee, was held here last evening. Prominent speakers, including W. J. Bryan, Champ Clark and others, were present. The meeting was in the nature of a conference of Democratic leaders, the policy of the party in the campaign of 1900 being touched on. Mr. Bryan himself was given the most prominent place, his subject being "Democracy."

Mr. Bryan stood out squarely for the Chicago platform, and said that there had been no retreating position taken in 1896. "We are not only holding our own," he declared, "but we are gaining back those Democrats who left us without fully understanding the nature of the struggle.

"Sometimes we hear pleas for harmony from those who opposed the party in 1896," continued Mr. Bryan, "but harmony, instead of being a thing hoped for, is at least a thing realized; not a pretended harmony between those entertaining antagonistic principles, but an actual harmony between those who are united in a common purpose against the common enemy. The Democratic party was never more harmonious and its harmony can only be disturbed by admitting within the fold those who are at variance with its principles and aspirations.

"The Democratic platform of 1900 will be written by those who stood upon the platform of 1896, not by those who tried to overthrow the Democratic party in that combination. The failure which attended those who organized the gold party and wrote the Indianapolis platform ought to restrain them from proffering their services as platform makers for some years to come."

Mr. Bryan declared that events had been vindicating the policies proposed by the Democratic party in 1896.

He then passed on to the subject of trusts and characterized them as the products of Republican methods. He gave this warning: "If the Republican party goes into the next campaign upon a platform defending trusts it will antagonize sentiments which are rapidly growing against them, even in the ranks of that party."

Mr. Bryan closed with a denunciation of militarism, and what he termed the tendency of the present administration toward imperialism. He said: "The Republican party came into existence in an attempt to apply the Declaration of Independence to the black man; it seems likely to go out of existence for its refusal to apply the same principles to a brown man—only half black."

Ninth's New Colonel.

Boston, March 31.—The officers of the Ninth regiment, M. V. M., elected a colonel and field officers last night, Major William H. Donovan of Lawrence, who commanded the regiment when it returned from Cuba, being made colonel. Two ballots were taken for colonel, and Major Donovan received 20 votes on the first ballot, while Lieutenant Colonel Logan had 12. The others went to Adjutant Kelley. Major Donovan was elected on the second ballot, and accepted the office in a speech. There was no contest for the other positions, Captain Murray being elected senior major, Captain Sullivan in command of the second battalion, and Adjutant Kelley junior major.

Fairhaven's Heavy Loss.

Fairhaven, Vt., March 31.—The Park View House, a four-story brick block, a millinery store and a hardware shop in the center of the town were completely destroyed by fire yesterday, entailing a loss to the owners and occupants of nearly $100,000. The fire was discovered in the hotel, and it is thought to have had its origin in the explosion of a lamp. Within half an hour the entire hotel was in flames, and the fire had crossed to the Peck block, which also burned with great rapidity. The local fire department was badly handicapped, and assistance was summoned from Whitehall, N. Y., nine miles distant.

C. PATCH & SON

KAUTZ IS SUSTAINED.

Acted Within His Instructions In Dealing With the Samoans.

Not Construed as an Overt Act Against Germany.

Joint Action of the Three Cabinets May Arrange Final Settlement.

Washington, March 31.—The only authoritative statement yesterday concerning the latest phase of the Samoan muddle came from the navy department, giving a brief dispatch from Admiral Kautz. This threw no light on the latest outbreak, and owing to a tangle of dates it served only to further involve the official mystery.

In view of the fact that the fighting was widespread and long continued, and that the foreign offices at London and Berlin had been officially advised of the affair, it was regarded as somewhat strange that the state and navy departments should be entirely without information on a bombardment by an American admiral. Up to the close of office hours it was stated that nothing had come from any of our representatives in Samoa dealing with the outbreak of hostilities. The calls of Sir Julian Pauncefote and Baron Sternberg were mainly for information, for at neither of the embassies had there been a report of the occurrences or instructions up to the time of the calls.

The president very much regrets that serious trouble has arisen in Samoa, but has requested full information from our officials in Samoa at the earliest possible moment. It is learned that the dispatch of Rear Admiral Kautz, dated Samoa, the 16th, to which he referred in his cable dated Auckland yesterday, gave the result of his investigations into the situation after his arrival. His conclusions fully sustained the contention of the British and American consuls, which was in exact accord with the conclusions already reached by the British naval commander, Captain Sturdee of the Porpoise.

At the foreign embassies, where the Samoan crisis has been a subject of consideration of late, considerable anxiety was shown yesterday lest the affair should assume a grave international aspect.

As to the German attitude it is stated positively in a quarter thoroughly familiar with German official sentiment that the outbreak now reported can under no circumstances be construed as an overt act against Germany, nor as a casus belli. This is far fro msuch a source that it largely removes the possibility of international complications.

Admiral Kautz acted within his instructions. There is no doubt, with the facts now at hand, that Admiral Kautz will be sustained by the United States government.

FEELING IN GERMANY.

Press and Public Inclined to Await Further Developments in the Matter.

Berlin, March 31.—Pending further information from Samoa, the German press refrains from comment calculated to embitter the controversy or to imperil the pending negotiations. The events that have occurred are deplored, mainly because they may influence public opinion adversely to the government's policy of cultivating England's friendship. It is feared they may give occasion to a suspicious and mistrustful section of the public to reproach the government with the first fruits of its rapprochment with England and the United States. On the other hand no inclination exists to form a premature judgment on the action of Admiral Kautz and the British and American officials.

The National Zeitung, commenting upon the Samoan situation, says: While it appears that the American and British representative thought the Mataafans were contravening the treaty the meeting held on the Philadelphia had no jurisdiction, because the unanimous approval of the three consuls is necessary to make any decisions legal. The National Zeitung adds that further information is necessary in orden to show whether the Americans and British had sufficient reason for resorting to armed intervention and concludes with remarking: "Thus far, the only result appears to have been destruction and anarchy."

Replying to the allegations of The Daily Chronicle of London that United States Ambassador White has been pro-German in his handling of the Samoan question, the Cologne Gazette says, semi-officially: For some time we have noticed that the efforts of the English press to create bad blood between the United States and Germany have again taken fresh impulse from the latest developments at Samoa. Not to mention other instances which show that mood of the English press, the London Times, a few days ago, circulated a false story to the effect that Germany was intending to withdraw from the Berlin treaty. Now the Daily Chronicle claims to know as a fact that the United States ambassador, Mr. White, has aroused great dissatisfaction in the United States because of his handling the Samoan question practically from the German standpoint. It would be honoring The Daily Chronicle too much if we were to endeavor to protect the American ambassador against that absolutely unproved accusation of a serious violation of his duties. For us it is sufficient to say again how bitterly and with what talent in inventing false reports the English press is pursuing everything which is suspected of being apt to foster the good and friendly relations between the United States and Germany.

The semi-official Post comments calmly upon the new situation, and says that Germany will remain neutral.

The German government was taken wholly by surprise with the news from Samoa. Imperial Chancellor Hohenlohe is at Baden-Baden and Minister of Foreign Affairs Von Buelow is enjoying a fortnight's vacation in Holstein.

A well informed individual says the government here is sceptical as to Admiral Kautz's instructions. He adds that the instructions for a bombardment were based on the British and American claims that Mataafa was contravening the Samoan act, but, the correspondent's informant points out, the contravention was not specified, and the government presumes that if the act was really infringed, Herr Rose, the German consul, would also have protested, as his government had instructed him to strictly conform to the act.

The assertion that Herr Rose protested against the deposition of the provisional government is doubted here, as, it is claimed, Herr Rose was instructed not to identify himself with Mataafa more closely than the representatives of the other powers.

There is considerable curosity in this city as to the effect the outbreak will have on the attitude of the United States and Great Britain, but the view remains that the final settlement will be in no way changed by the outbreak of hostilities, but must be arranged by the joint action of the three cabinets.

In the Interest of Peace.

London, March 31.—The Speaker this week, commenting upon the difficulties of the Americans in the Philippines and asserting that the new series of troubles which is said to be inevitable even after the capture of Malolos probably puts an end to the Filipino republic, continues: It must be noted throughout the present struggle that the Filipinos have put themselves in the wrong. The plea that they are fighting in defense of their rights does not hold good in the case of Manila, which is the center of European interests. America, through no fault of her own, has become responsible for the good government of the Philippine islands and is bound to suppress Aguinaldo. It may be possible hereafter to give the Filipinos local self-government, even independence, but for the present it is absolutely necessary to secure peace at Manila for the maintenance of the commerce of the islands. If, by threatening this, the Filipino government made itself impossible, the fault lies with itself and not with the United States, for the present gallant troops in the newer west are the mandatories of civilization and Europe and are carrying on the war in the interest of peace.

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 31.—The senate yesterday killed the resolution expressing confidence in the United States senators from Massachusetts, and passed the bill limiting the terms of the members of the board of pharmacy. The object of the latter bill is the removal of the chairman of the board, Henry M. Whitney, who is disliked by some members of the profession. The house also killed the bill abrogating the rights of abuttors to object to the granting of liquor licenses.

A bill was reported to permit Framingham to appropriate money to meet the expense of street watering during the muster of volunteers in 1898.

Leave to withdraw was reported in the house on a petition for a police board for the town of Hull.

A bill was reported to authorize the city of Waltham to widen, deepen, straighten and improve water courses within its limits.

A bill was reported to authorize the St. John's Catholic Cemetery association of Clinton to hold real estate, and to remove its dead; also a bill for a new bridge at Springfield.

Several bills were admitted on report of the committee on rules, among them a bill for fire escapes outside hotel buildings. Mr. Tolman wanted the reconsideration of the vote on the bill to prohibit unauthorized transaction of business under the name of a trust company until legal advice could be taken. The motion was tabled.

Attorney General Knowlton advised the public service committee that the civil service repeal bill, with its referendum clause, seemed to him not in accord with the constitution, and the committee has decided not to report the bill.

The Fitchburg street railway freight schemes were recommended to the next general court by the street railway committee.

On Friendly Terms.

Washington, March 31.—The Mexican ambassador, Senor Azpirez, presented his credentials to President McKinley yesterday. The formal expressions between the two were especially cordial, and each remarked with pleasure upon the existing friendly relations between the two peoples. Both President McKinley and Ambassador Azpirez spoke of the death of the late Minister Romero in feeling terms.

Telegraph Line to Dawson.

Washington, March 31.—Consul Brush, at Clifton, informs the state department that the Canadian government has decided to construct a telegraph line between Lake Bennett and Dawson City at once, and that it has also decided to establish telegraphic communication between British Columbia and the Yukon territory.

A New Departure.

Boston, March 31.—At a special meeting of the Boston Clearing House association yesterday, the report of the subcommittee on collection of country checks was presented and adopted. It is proposed to establish a sub-clearing house, under the supervision of the Clearing House association.

Weather Conditions and Forecast.

THEY RIDICULE IT.

Many People Ridicule the Idea of an Absolute Cure for Dyspepsia and Stomach Troubles.

Ridicule, However, is not Argument, and Facts Are Stubborn Things.

Stomach troubles are so common and in most cases, so obstinate to cure that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pride themselves on their acuteness in never being humbuged, especially in medicines.

This fear of being humbuged can be carried too far, so far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, no secret is made of their ingredients but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the commonsense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief. This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure inigestion and stomach troubles because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken after meals digests the food That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half digested is poison as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists every where at 50 cents per package. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich., for little book on stomach diseases, sent free. Mar. 27-3t-27-29-31

CANCER CURED

BY ABSORPTION
NO KNIFE.

The result of years of scientific research by America's greatest blood specialist. A pleasant treatment that relieves immediately, cures permanently all forms of CANCERS, TUMORS and CHRONIC DISEASES. Hundreds of wonderful cures effected in and around Boston. Read the following:

BLOOD EVIDENCE

Then come to our offices and investigate the hundreds of other marvellous cures produced by ABSORPTION when all other treatment failed. Consult this living patient. "Dr. James M. Solomon: Dear Sir: The following is my testimonial, which I hope will help others. That after suffering several years with something that was never reached, getting only temporary help from different doctors, and each attack being more severe, I was advised by a friend, who had been cured of a tumor, to see her doctor. I was then unable for any work, and feeling worse from day to day; realizing that something was preying upon me of a serious nature, I was discouraged about my condition, and sought Dr. Solomon with little faith—it was more of an experiment. He got my confidence on the first interview, when, without a word of description of my feelings from me, he at once located my trouble, and I could not help believing that he knew from what I was suffering, although was greatly surprised and somewhat terrified when he told me it was cancer of the stomach. I began treatment at once, Nov. 3, 1892, and was faithful to his directions, with just the results promised I would get, till the following June (1893) I felt like a new being, and the doctor pronounced me recovered. I am sure that I have, and I can never repay the gratitude I owe to Dr. J. M. Solomon. Sincerely, EBEN FISH, 232 Harvard St., Dorchester, Mass." Today he is one of the many living witnesses of the only painless method that positively CURES when all others fail.

We want you to call and examine references of people you know—people we all know, who would not vouch for ABSORPTION had they not been cured. Ask for references marked H.
